VALLEY SHOWS WILL SURPASS PAST EFFORTS

Red River Counties' Winter Exhibit at Crookston to Cover One Entire Week.

Every Phase of Farming Will be Covered, Both as to Products and Methods.

Marketing Problems Particular Topics With Special Reference to Wheat Crop.

An imposing program has been prepared for the Red River Valley Winter Shows, to be held in Crookston, beginning Monday, February 7, and continuing through February 11, when everything pertaining to the present day farm life will be discussed and expounded thoroughly.

Farmers from all Northwest Minnesota will be seen at the gathering, and activities will range from instructions on how to care for tractors and their various parts, to livestock exhibitions and judging contests, and will include a high school declamatory contest, a musical program and an address by Dr. L. D. Coffman of the University.

Day and Evening Sessions.

Both daily and evening sessions of the big four-day gathering will be held, beginning at nine o'clock in the morning and ending at 8:30 in the evening, but the evenings will be devoted chiefly to recreation.

Seven sectional meetings of the school week gathering are scheduled, comprising the farm engineering section, the livestock section, the farm crops section, horticultural section, farm marketing, poultry, husbandry and rural credit conference.

The farm engineering section will be a big feature of the gathering, these meetings being set for each of the four days, with instructors explaining the construction, operation and care of gasoline and kerosene engines, as well as tractors and their carburetors, belt lacing, rope splicing and soldering.

Many Stock Sales.

Several sales of different breeds of cattle and swine, as well as judging of livestock exhibits, farm crop exhibits and livestock judging contests will be held.

Women are expected to be prominent at the gathering, as several women's sectional meetings have been placed on the program for every day of the sessions.

Large attendance at the meeting is looked for, particularly on February 10 and 11, when marketing problems of the farmers will be discussed, with particular attention being paid to marketing of the 1921 wheat crop.

A band concert, spelling contest, community sing, Northwest school chorus, and the address of Dr. Coffman will bring the gathering to a close on Friday, February 11.

Many Going From Here.

Never since the winter shows were first launched has so much interest in their success been taken by the people of Pennington county, particularly the farmers, and indications are that there will be a large representation from this neighborhood present. Particularly will this be found to be the case on Thursday and Friday, which are the banner dates of the fair.

Dollar Buys 100 Cents Worth.

The Great Northern railway will help the public cut the high cost of living by reducing dining car prices beginning Jan. 10. The new prices to be put into effect will make the dollar look like a hundred cents, officials of the Hill road say. All western railways will follow suit, it is thought, as the downward trend of prices now is in full swing and cannot be avoided. The Hill road starts things by re-establishing the old time six-course dinner for a dollar.

Official notice has been given that one-fare and a half round trip rate will be granted on all roads leading to Crookston during the week of Feb. 7-11 for the farmers meetings and live stock and farm crops shows. The certificate plan will be followed.

The Farm Crops Shows premium list is out. You can secure a copy from your county agent or by writing L. R. Boyd, Crookston, Minn.

Wish to Locate Soldiers.

The U. S. Public Health Service requests a report on physical examinations of the following named men whose claims for government compensation are incomplete: Mitchell L. Blackburn and Richard Lund, Thief River Falls and J. L. Bredeson of Plummer. Anyone having information as to the whereabouts of the three men, is urged to get in touch with G. Howard Simth, secretary of the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion.

HALF A MILLION IS TAX BUDGET FOR YEAR 1921

State Tax Comes Within $2,000 of Amount Expended For County Purpose.

Special Assessments For Roads and Ditches Represents Big Part of Total.

One-Third of Moneys Collected in County Goes For Upkeep of the Schools.

Tax payers of Pennington county are destined to pay, either directly or indirectly, the sum of $447,853.98 at the county treasurer's office during the year 1921. That amount is the total tax levy for the year 1920, payable before November 1 of the present year, according to records recently compiled at the office of T. P. Anderson, county auditor.

It is estimated by county officials that less than 25 per cent of those residents of the county who will make substantial payments toward the sizeable sum of approximately a half million dollars, actually know for what purpose the money is used. To a goodly percentage of tax payers county records might mean nothing more than an endless sea of figures written into nicely ruled pages. A brief statement of the purposes to which the levies for 1920 will be devoted, is given as follows:

State Taxes.
State revenue—which includes the general maintenance of the state government, soldiers' relief, state road and bridge, prison building and other funds	$ 26,172.64

Grand total levied	$447,853.98

Two Per Cent Auto Tax Proposed For This Year

The proposal to tax all automobiles in the state at two per cent of their value under the provisions of the good roads amendment is now receiving the attention of the legislature. It is thought such tax would yield more money than is needed and that the amount can be cut down.

The Fords lead in numbers, there being at the present time 118,290 in the state. The tax on these cars would on the two per cent basis, amount to $12 each or a total of $1,419,480. Next in numerical order follow the Chevrolet, Overland and Buick. The tax on the Chevrolet will be $18, on the Overland $33 and on the Buick $44.70. The highest tax will be paid on the Pierce-Arrow, of which there are 156 in the state, their value being placed at $8,000 each and the tax at $160. Next comes the Locomobile with a tax of $140, the Packard $130 and the Winton $100.

DID YOU MAKE MONEY DURING THE PAST YEAR?

If So You Will Soon Have an Opportunity to Explain to Uncle Sam.

Penalty For Failure to Make Report is Heavy Fine and Higher Tax.

Specialist Will Aid in Finding Anything That May Have Been Overlooked.

Work has begun on the collection of the income tax for the year 1920. Uncle Sam, through the Bureau of Internal Revenue, is addressing to every person in the United States the question, "What was your net income for 1920?" The single person whose net income for 1920 was $1,000 or more and every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more is required to file a return under oath with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which he lives on or before March 15, 1921.

The penalty for failure is a fine of not more than $1,000 and an additional assessment of 25 per cent of the amount of tax due. For willful refusal to make a return the penalty is a fine of not more than $10,000 or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both together with the costs of prosecution. A similar penalty is provided for making a false or fradulent return, together with an additional assessment of 50 per cent of the amount of tax evaded.

Women Must Pay Tax.

The income tax applies to women as well as men. Husband and wife must consider the income of both plus that of minor dependent children, and if the total equals or exceeds $2,000 a return must be filed. A minor who has a net income in his own right of $1,000 or more must file a separate return. To be allowed the $2,000 exemption a married person must be living with husband or wife on the last day of the taxable year, December 31, 1920. Divorcees, persons separated by mutual agreement, widows and widowers, unless they are the sole support of others living in the same household, in which case they are allowed the $2,000 exemption granted the head of a family, are entitled only to $1,000 exemption.

Tax Rates For 1920.

The normal tax rate for 1920 is the same as for 1919—4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income above the exemption and 8 per cent on the remaining net income. This applies to every citizen and resident of the United States. In addition to the normal tax a surtax is imposed upon net income in excess of $5,000.

Instructions on Form.

Full instructions for making out returns are contained on the forms, copies of which may be obtained from collectors of internal revenue. Persons whose net income for 1920 was $5,000 or less should use Form 1040A. Those with incomes in excess of $5,000 should use Form 1040.

Revenue officers will visit every county in the United States to assist taxpayers in making out their returns. The date of their arrival and the location of their offices will be announced by the press or may be ascertained upon inquiry at the offices of collectors. This advisory service is without cost to taxpayers.

Society and Club

Presbyterian Aid.

The Presbyterian Aid society will meet in the church at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, Feb. 11. Cafeteria supper will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Entertains Informally.

Miss Murial Loken informally entertained a few of her friends at supper at her home last evening. The hours following the repast were pleasantly spent in playing various games.

Entertains at Whist.

Mrs. W. H. BonDurant entertained at the second of a series of parties at her home Tuesday afternoon. Whist was played at four tables. A delightful lunch was served at five o'clock.

M. E. Ladies Aid.

The Ladies aid of the M. E. church will be entertained by Mrs. F. C. Will and Mrs. S. M. Poston in the basement of the church on the afternoon of Feb. 9. Lunch will be served at 4 o'clock.

Birthday Anniversary.

Mrs. John Ward entertained a few friends at supper last evening, the occasion being the 3rd birthday anniversary of her little daughter, Marjorie. A birthday cake formed an attractive center piece.

Entertains at Cards.

Honoring Mrs. Wm. Boley of Minneapolis, who is her guest, Mrs. D. J. Dosey informally entertained a number of ladies at cards on Monday afternoon. Valentine decorations were used in all the appointments.

Girls' Community Club Meeting.

The Girls' Community club will meet at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. A general good time has been arranged by the serving committee. All members are extended a hearty invitation.

Basket Social.

A neat sum was realized from the basket social given for the benefit of the Lux family who had the misfortune of losing all their possessions in a fire. The social was given at the Hazel hall on Saturday evening. The evening was devoted to dancing.

Theatre Party.

Mrs. A. L. E. Walgren of Minneapolis was honor guest at a theatre party given by Miss Una Nelson on Saturday evening. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess at her home, 618 Knight Ave., N. Miss Nelson also entertained a few friends on Friday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Walgren.

Masquerade Dance.

About 75 couple attended the masquerade dance given by the royal Neighbors lodge at the Masonic hall last evening. Mrs. T. J. Rowan and Norman Dybvik furnished the music for the occasion. Owing to the enthusiasm from the start a exceptionally good time resulted. A picnic lunch concluded the evening's jollities.

Sleighride Party.

Twelve of the young friends of Miss Georgia Coyle were entertained at a sleighride party on Saturday evening. Lunch was served at the Coyle home which had been attractively decorated. Valentine favors were used. The guests included Pauline Paranteau, Alice Zavoral, Ruth McGilvary, Myrtle Anderson, Wm. Anderson, Lester Coyle, Carl Palmer, Tien Gullingsrud and Floyd Palmer.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The W. C. T. U. was entertained by Mrs. Hardisty and Mrs. Durrin at the former's home on Tuesday afternoon, with a large attendance and a very fine meeting resulted. Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher favored the Union with two vocal selections which were greatly appreciated. Mrs. J. M. Bishop gave a very interesting account of her work during the Republican campaign. One new member was added.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The Woman's club held their regular meeting at the Commercial club rooms on Monday afternoon. Lesson six, "Party Organization" was led by Mrs. J. M. Bishop, who is well posted along political lines. Papers on current events were read by Mrs. H. W. Protzeller, Mrs. M. H. Connelly, Mrs. E. J. Richards, Mrs. C. T. Christenson, and Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg. Miss Maude Johnson directed the community singing. The high school girls' glee club offered a selection which was heartily applauded. Mrs. Froehlich and Mrs. Mogensen were appointed to attend the mid-winter meeting of the Woman's Federated clubs to be held in Minneapolis in February. On Friday afternoon the club is invited to attend a lecture on "Constructive Discipline," by Dr. Krebhs. The meeting will commence at 3:30.

Church Social.

The St. Johns Lutheran church held a very successful social at the church on Tuesday evening. A variety of competitive games formed the entertainment for the occasion. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Chas. Stewart, Mrs. Herbert Fuller, Mrs. Adeline Anton, Mrs. H. Roemhildt and Rev. Kreidt. The entertainment committee was composed of Everett Roemhildt, Rev. Kreidt and J. H. Keucks, while Freida Ristau, Adeline Anton, Irene Fuller and Eleanor Holzknecht made up the refreshment committee. Everyone who attended report an exceptionally good time.

Thackery-Culver.

Anthony Thackery of Marion county, Ill., and Miss Elma Culver of this city, were quietly married at the Presbyterian manse by Rev. R. L. Barackman on Wednesday evening, Jan. 26. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Hal Stanton, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. The newlyweds will reside at Chicago where the groom is employed. Mrs. Thackery is well known here having grown to womanhood and receiving her education in the city schools, completing her high school course. The past year she has been engaged in teaching in the vicinity of Chicago.

League of Women Voters Organize.

About 40 ladies were present at the organization meeting of the Pennington County League of Women Voters held at the Brumund hotel on Tuesday evening. Mrs. T. L. Melgaard representing the League, acted as temporary chairman and called the meeting to order. She expounded very clearly the aims and purposes of the league, laying special emphasis on the two most important things the League stands for, namely, education in political affairs and interest in improved legislation.

Mrs. H. W. Froehlich was then called upon to give in detail the workings of the organization. She gave an account of the work which is being done by the league in Fergus Falls. Mrs. Briggs read a very interesting article entitled "Women's Relation to Town and City." Election of officers followed. The chairman is appointed by the state. Misses Una Nelson and Sarah Vaughan were elected vice chairmen; Mrs. Scott Laird, secretary and Mrs. Gaston Ward, treasurer. It was unanimously voted to hold a school of instruction here about the middle of March, when the services of Miss Kneubuhl, who is an active worker in this organization, will be secured. After the adjournment of the meeting a light lunch was served.

BUYING SANELY IS ALL NEEDED AT THIS STAGE

No Great Spending Campaign Expected or Desired Now But "Buy What You Need."

Those Able to Follow Advice Will Save Money When Prices Again Advance.

Conditions Presenting Unusual Opportunities For Wise Purchasers to Save.

"Buy what you need now." That is the slogan every thinking person in the country should adopt at this time. Useless or unwise expenditures should be avoided as much as ever—perhaps more—but there never was a time when sensible buying was so necessary.

Under present conditions there can be no such thing as "normal" trade. There are too many men out of employment and the situation as it applies to farm products is too unsettled for anything approaching a normal state to be very nearly approached. But even admitting this, it should be the aim and purpose of everyone to keep their usual trading program as even as possible. It is fully realized on all sides that no great business rush will set in before spring. It is certain, however, that did the consumer understand basic conditions as well as the merchant there would be a greater volume of trading right now than at any time during the past four years.

A Buyer's Market.

Just at this period the buyer has all the best of it. Merchants have been forced to follow the market downward just as they followed it when the tendency was upward. The result is the goods are being sold not only without profit but actually below first costs in many instances. While this condition continues the buyer has his opportunity. But it will not long continue. The old stock will soon be sold and it cannot be replaced at prices that will permit of its again being handled at present figures. Not only are wholesale costs considerably advanced for spring, but the demand which must follow the slack period which the country is now experiencing will soon deplete surplus stocks and costs will go up in compliance with the unchangeable law of supply and demand. Higher prices in most lines for spring are practically unavoidable, according to present indications. The time to buy advantageously, therefore, is right now.

In Difficult Position.

In last week's issue of The Times was found a communication from a farmer at Malcolm in which attention was called to the difficulty found by this class of citizens just at this time. No doubt what he says is absolutely true, but even admitting this, the fact that advantage should be taken of the trading opportunities now presented is not altered. Farm products are at a low ebb so far as values are concerned, but the probabilities are when the situation improves prices on what the farmer must buy will again also have advanced. If he can find any way of financing himself he will save money by supplying his needs at the present low prices for merchandise, as he will then have a marked advantage when both his own products and those which he must procure go to higher levels. The same is true of the workingman. By buying now he will not be compelled to do so much buying when the upward trend again sets in and will have a greater surplus left after meeting expenses because of his foresight.

Nation-Wide Campaign.

"Buy what you need now" is a good motto to follow. By doing so the consumer will be protecting himself to a great extent against the higher price levels predicted for spring and will help keep the wheels of industry moving. When factories close for lack of orders the buying power of the workman is greatly reduced and this effects the farmer as certain as the grocer or clothier. This is the reason that every industrial agency in the country has gotten behind the movement to urge a sane resumption of trading in all lines.

VOICE OBJECTIONS TO DITCH AWARDS

Hearing on Establishment of Judicial Ditch No. 30 Conducted Here on Wednesday.

A further hearing of objectors to the establishment of judicial ditch No. 30 as modified at hearings conducted in December was held before Judge Andrew Grindeland at the Pennington county court house on Wednesday, Feb. 2. The court room was crowded with land owners affected by the proposed routing of the ditch. Forty-six witnesses were sworn in. The main objection to the project was the high assessment made against land holders whose property should be directly or indirectly benefited by the establishment of such a ditch.

Judicial ditch No. 30 originally embraced the construction of 40 miles of ditch at an approximate cost of $400,000. Plans were modified at hearings conducted in December to embrace only the construction of nine miles at an estimated cost of $75,000. A new report of the board of viewers gives the approximate cost of the nine miles of excavation as well over $125,000. Ditch No. 30 was primarily designated to serve as an outlet for No. 18. The proposed routing is westward just north of the north line of Pennington county to the Thief river.

The hearing was conducted here on Wednesday to accommodate farmers living east of this city. At another hearing held at Warren on Saturday, Judge Andrew Grindeland issued a decree which will result in the establishment of the nine miles of ditch as designated above.

RED CROSS DIRECTORS WILL MEET SATURDAY AFTERNOON

There will be an important meeting of the directors of Pennington County Chapter, American Red Cross, at the Commercial club rooms on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members of the board are requested to be present.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CLUB THIS EVENING

Reports Will Be Presented and New Officers Formally Take Up Their Duties.

The annual banquet of the Commercial club will be held this evening at 6:30, followed by the regular annual meeting. A large number of tickets has been sold and a good attendance is expected. Following the banquet the address of the evening will be delivered by E. A. Williams of the Government Savings organization. The business session will take place immediately following the address. The secretary's annual report will be read; it is expected that the question of removal of the club to other quarters will be definitely settled, and a plan for the coming year mapped out. Both the retiring president, E. M. Stanton, who has held the office for the past two years, and the incoming president, W. A. Hall, Jr., are expected to make brief addresses. Luncheon prices will be charged for the banquet supper.

Mr. Williams, the speaker of the evening, will deliver a very interesting address setting forth clearly some of the problems incident to the U. S. Treasury Savings program. He is at the present time speaking to Commercial clubs and business men's organizations in various parts of the Ninth district. Press comments in every instance state that he has received a very cordial reception and handles his subjects in a manner highly pleasing to all.

The speaker comes here from the Government Savings organization, which is conducting a campaign thruout the Ninth district to make permanent the habit of saving by regular investment in U. S. Government securities and other sound methods. A letter from E. C. Kibbee, director of the Ninth district organization, states that the Treasury department is interested in working with all local organizations to bring about a greater understanding of the savings program and co-operation through the district savings organization in every way possible.

INTERESTING SPORT CARD IS PROMISED

Good Boxing and Wrestling Bouts on Program For Saturday Night at Lyceum.

The first of a series of sporting events will be staged at the Lyceum theatre Saturday night when Henry Kollen, middleweight champion of the Northwest, will meet S. A. Kirkness of Lake Park, Minn., in a wrestling match. Kollen is a Greenbush man. Kirkness, challenger for the middleweight championship of the Northwest, has taken Crist Gaswick, champion of Seattle, Wash., and Bert Mundon, champion of Iowa, to several falls and should be able to put up an interesting tussle. Both men are training down to 158 pounds weight.

The preliminaries will consist of two three-round boxing bouts between local middleweights and lightweights. O. J. Erickson, promoter, guarantees a clean and interesting card. The preliminaries will start at 10:45 p. m.

Young Fulton of Thief River Falls will meet Tom Tibbets, or as he is better known, "Indian Pug," of Bemidji, in a ten-round go on the night of Feb. 22. Indian Pug took several fights while in the army during the late war; he put the knock out over K. O. Reed in one round, Gene Dwyer of Hibbing in one round, Hower of Deer River in two rounds, and boxed to a draw with Ed Frante of Bovey. Fulton shows more than promise, he shows real stuff. He is working out daily at the Fallness gym.

On March 5, Cal Farley of Humbolt, Minn., will meet Kid Hiatt of Minneapolis, welterweight wrestler who has issued a challenge for the championship of the state. Both men are training down to 145 pounds. Farley, a member of the late American Expeditionary Forces, is holder of the Inter-Allied welterweight championship. Press comments state that cleverness and speed feature all of his goes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Huntington of Minneapolis were guests of friends in the city the latter part of last week enroute to Superior.

AGAIN FAMOUS GUERNSEYS WIN AT STOCK SHOW

Pennington County Herds Easily Carry Off All Awards in Their Particular Class.

Exhibition is Best Ever Held by Red River Valley Development Association.

Showing of Livestock Admittedly Superior to Anything Previously Seen.

Pennington county herds again carried off everything in the way of awards in the Guernsey division at the Red River Valley Stock show held at Crookston this week. Mrs. H. C. Woolson, Albert Johnson, F. B. Conklin and Stuart McLeod are the exhibitors and the prizes were pretty evenly divided among them. Other prize winners were: C. L. Spaulding, Warren, best dairy herd; Charles Frank, Warren, best beef herd; A. Mardsen & Son, Stephen, best swine herd; C. L. Riorden, Northwest School of Agriculture, best sheep herd.

Attendance Very Good.

Hotel accommodations at Crookston have been taxed to take care of the crowds since the show opened. At the Thief River Falls office of the Great Northern 45 tickets with return coupons were sold, on the first two days of the fair, this indicating by far the largest number going to the show from here in any one year. Other communities were as well represented, making the Polk county seat the busiest place in Minnesota during the week. The lectures and addresses have thus far been well attended while the excellent industrial exposition has been a point of particular interest.

Outside of the four Guernsey exhibitors there was only one entry from Pennington county, this being a showing of Poland China swine. These failed to gain recognition among the prize winners but were very fine specimens. The awards in the Guernsey cattle class were as follows:

Senior champion bull—1st, Mrs. H. C. Woolson, Thief River Falls.

Junior champion bull—Albert Johnson, Thief River Falls.

Grand champion bull—Albert Johnson, Thief River Falls.

Senior and grand champion female—Mrs. H. C. Woolson, Thief River Falls.

Junior champion female—F. B. Conklin, Thief River Falls.

Bull, 3 years or over—1st, Mrs. H. C. Woolson.

Bull, 2 years and under 3—1st F. B. Conklin.

Bull, senior yearling—1st Stuart McLeod.

Bull, junior yearling—1st, Albert Johnson.

Cow, 3 years old or over—1st, Mrs. H. C. Woolson; 2nd, F. B. Conklin.

Heifer, senior yearling—1st, Mrs. H. C. Woolson.

Heifer, junior yearling—1st, F. B. Conklin; 2nd, Mrs. H. C. Woolson.

Heifer, senior calf—1st, F. B. Conklin.

Heifer, junior calf—1st, Mrs. H. C. Woolson; 2nd, Mrs. H. C. Woolson; 3rd, Stuart McLeod; 4th, Stuart McLeod.

Graded herd—1st, F. B. Conklin; 2nd, Mrs. H. C. Woolson.

Young herd—1st, Mrs. H. C. Woolson. Calf herd—1st, Mrs. H. C. Woolson.

Get of Sire—1st, Mrs. H. C. Woolson.

Produce of Cow—1st, F. B. Conklin; 2nd, Mrs. H. C. Woolson; 3rd, Stuart McLeod.

Best bull, any age—1st, Stuart McLeod.

Best female of any age—1st, Stuart McLeods 2nd, Stuart McLeod.

Best herd—1st Stuart McLeod.

AMERICAN HUMORIST TO BE PRESENTED AS LAST LYCEUM NUMBER

Strickland Gillilan, Author of Famous "Finnigin" Ballad, Closes Season of Exceptional Entertainments on Feb. 22.

Strickland Gillilan, said to be America's greatest humorist, will appear at the city auditorium on the evening of February 22, as the last number of the Lyceum course. Mr. Gillilan is the author of the famous ballad, "Off Again, On Again, Come Again, Finnigin." He is a regular contributor to many leading magazines, such as Leslies' Weekly, The Ladies Home Journal, Life, Ladies World and many other publications. He contributes a daily article to the Indianapolis Star, Chicago Post and other newspapers.

The winter lyceum course of five numbers was secured for Thief River Falls through the efforts of the Woman's club. The four preceding numbers of the course, three of them musical, brought exceptional artists here, their appearance being well received by the community. Holders of season tickets are requested to present them at the box office on the evening of the last lyceum number, as it is necessary that they be taken up with the conclusion of the course.

JUDGE WILSON IS SPEAKER AT FIRST BANQUET

Community Building Expert Delivers Interesting Address at Merchants Meeting.

Says Farm Bureaus Prove What Can be Done Through Intelligent Co-operation.

Calls Attention to Possibilities Presented Here by Fine Auditorium Building.

The Merchants association held the first of a series of five banquets at the Hotel Evelyn on Wednesday evening. Judge F. T. Wilson, community advisor for Minnesota, was the guest of honor and the speaker of the evening, the subject of his talk being "Community Service." Judge Wilson is not a stranger to Thief River Falls and needed no introduction to his audience of Wednesday evening, having frequently appeared here during the period of the war in his capacity as state food administrator. He also addressed members of the various civic and fraternal orders assembled at the Commercial club rooms during the afternoon.

The Minnesota Community Service, of which Judge Wilson is the head, is a new department conducted under the auspices of the University of Minnesota and has the hearty support of such bodies as the State Department of Agriculture, Department of Highways, Department of Health, Department of Labor, the American Legion, the Minnesota Federation of Farm Clubs, the Minnesota Federation of Woman's Clubs, the Minnesota Retail Harware Mens association, and many others. It is in part being financed by the cities of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth.

Lauds Farm Bureaus.

Judge Wilson's definition of his subject was as follows: A community is a group of homes bound together by ties of common interest. The limits are not determined by boundary lines but by the methods and policies of community service. The better the service the wider the limits. Automobiles and good roads eliminate distance. Service is the work done by business and civic institutions in supplying home needs and promoting community interests, such as production, distribution, living conditions, government and education. In speaking of the first named common interest of the rural and city community, Judge Wilson lauded the remarkable progress made by the Federation of Farm bureaus, both state and National. It will become, he predicted, the most powerful factor in the United States, already having a membership of practically two million and rapidly growing in every section.

He summarized the benefits of a community organization or community service as follows:

It means self protection for the small community. The big communities are highly organized in a co-operative way. The result is that small communities are growing smaller and the bigger ones' larger, as the tide from the country to town increases. The only way out is for the smaller cities to begin co-operative organizations, which is the aim and purpose of Community Service.

For Community Building.

It means home trade from improved distributive service—the only way to meet mail order competition; satisfactory markets for farm products; economy in use of public funds; better living conditions and educational facilities. It means more wealth and new life. It means service by friends and neighbors and comrades. It will not only bring confidence, contentment and happiness, but will also bring enhanced property values.

One of the recommendations of the Community department to any community, large or small, is the erection of a community building, possibly as a war memorial. Judge Wilson spoke of the possibilities of remodeling—not this coming week, or next month—but as an ultimate goal, the city auditorium here to serve the entire community. Could this be done, he explained, the city would have a memorial second in value and size to no other in the state of Minnesota. In speaking of the beautifying of cities and villages, he further suggested that the city of Thief River Falls give thought to the enormous possibilities of constructing a boulevard down the center of the streets to be paved this season. It was his opinion that the construction of such a boulevard would materially reduce the cost of paving and add to the fame of the city.

The next banquet and lecture to be given under the auspices of the Merchants association will be given at the Brumund hotel on the evening of February 23. J. E. Ebernole, professor of economics of the University of Minnesota, will be the speaker.

Grain Thief Let Off Easy On Jury's Recommendation

Earl Reeves of Cloverleaf township on Thursday pleaded guilty to the charge of flax stealing from a neighbor's field granary last December. He was arraigned before Judge Andrew Grindeland at the Pennington county court house on Friday and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail at Warren. Sentence was suspended, the offender being placed on probation with the understanding that he reimburse Wm. H. Kline and B. G. Rounds, from whose granary the flax was taken, for the stolen grain which it is alleged amounted to a value of over $300. The accused was indicted by the grand jury on a petty larceny count. They recommended leniency.

Judge Grindeland in reading the sentence stated that the crime was a felony; and that it was a deplorable fact that grain was not safe in granaries on the farms. He stated that this was the first instance in which he had failed to send a grain thief to the state penitentiary.

District Court Hears County Ditch Appeals

The district court in session since the morning of February 8 was engaged with the matter of appeals from the order of the Board of County Commissioners establishing county ditch No. 70 until late Wednesday afternoon. Assessments were materially reduced in practically all instances. This morning the jurors were being examined preparatory to the hearing of the case of Bertha Giller, plaintiff, versus the First National bank of Thief River Falls, a corporation, and C. L. Hansen as its president, defendants.

LEGION AUXILIARY WILL PUT ON PARTY

All Ex-Service Men and Women Invited to Informal Affair Next Wednesday Night.

The Women's Auxiliary to Elmer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion will act as hostesses to all ex-service men or women and their families at a general "get-together" time at the Commercial club rooms on the evening of Wednesday, Feb. 16. Arrangements for the evening include a program of music, games, dancing and lunch. Mrs. L. H. Lawrence, Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg and Mrs. T. J. Rowan form a committee having the entertainment of the evening in charge.

It is the wish of the Auxiliary that all ex-service men and women consider this announcement as a special invitation to attend and assist in the merry-making. The event was planned with the thought in mind that while the former service men have the opportunity of getting together at Legion meetings and other gatherings, too little attention has been paid to mother and dad and the rest of the family. A special invitation is extended to them. Members of the committee state that the evening will be strictly informal—one at which everyone will feel at home. When ex-service men get together, reminiscences are generally in order and some corking good yarns are expected to develop during the course of the evening. It is desired to make the event one of the most pleasantly remembered of the year.

ELKS LODGE TAKES IN ANOTHER CLASS

Past Exalted Rulers Exemplify Work in Most Impressive Manner Friday Night.

Elks of th city generally are of the opinion that the initiation of some twenty fawns at the meeting on Friday night was the most interesting event of its kind the lodge has ever pulled off. The work was put on by past exalted rulers, four of whom assisted G. Howard Smith, present holder of the office, in attaching the horns. The former lodge leaders who took part were F. H. Herrick, Andy Anderson and L. R. Johnston. Letters were read from H. E. Ives, J. H. Feeley and A. H. Fasel, the other past exalted rulers of the lodge, expressing their regret at not being able to be present except in spirit.

The initiation took place at the auditorium and nearly all the five hundred members of the lodge must have been present as well as a number of visitors from Bemidji and Crookston. From the latter city came Richard Robert, district deputy exalted ruler, who made a fine speech to the boys, complimenting them on the progress their lodge has made during the past few years. Mr. Robert said that there was absolutely no question but that No. 1308 is in a class by itself so far as Minnesota is concerned, but he was of the opinion that there is not another like it in the entire country. He urged the local boys to provide themselves with a home of their own as quickly as this can be done, a request that met with hearty approval.

A particularly enjoyable feature of the evening was the excellent lunch served by Julien Provencher of the Hotel Evlyn. His assistantes in serving were young ladies from the domestic science class at the Thief River Falls high school who attended to their duties in a highly efficient and pleasing manner.

A. S. Lieberman, who with one of his salesmen, Archie Dahl, visited Chicago and other clothing manufacturing centers last week, returned on Monday night. He found the merchandising situation very much improved and a better feeling pervading the wholesale districts. Confidence seems in a great measure to have been restored, says Mr. Lieberman, and men in all lines are predicting a good spring and summer. The Thief River Falls merchant bought heavily for spring and the goods will begin arriving within a short time.

PAVING FOR CITY MADE CERTAIN BY SALE OF QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS WORTH CERTIFICATES

Council on Tuesday Evening Unanimously Votes to Accept Offer of St. Paul Concerns to Furnish Needed at 6 Per Cent.

Sixty Thousand Dollars of Amount to be in Hands of City by March 1, Balance as Demanded on Estimates Furnished by Engineer.

Proceedings Formally Filed in the Name of Oen Mercantile Company, a Number of Irregularities in the Proceedings Being Alleged.

The sale of municipal certificates of indebtedness aggregating a quarter million dollars to finance the 1921 paving program for Thief River Falls was effected at the regular session of the city council on Tuesday evening. The joint bid of the Capital Trust and Savings bank, Kalman, Matteson and Wood, and Gates, White and Company, three St. Paul corporations, was the only one received, Drake, Ballard and Company of Minneapolis entering a blank form, which was withdrawn after the reading of the first mentioned bid.

The successful bidders submitted two forms of payment of funds to the city, the first of which was deemed the most advantageous. The certificates of $1,000 each are to mature in approximately equal amounts annually from one to 20 years after their date, interest and principal being payable at the Capital Trust and Savings bank or at some other bank mutually agreed upon. The purchasers will pay the par value of the certificates and accrued interest from the date of certificates to date of delivery, payment to be made $60,000 in cash on March 1 and the balance in certificates of deposit of the Capital Trust and Savings bank or the Capital National bank of St. Paul, bearing no interest and payable upon demand of the city of Thief River Falls when such demand is accompanied by a certified copy of the engineer's estimate of paving work done, or payable without such copy after Sept. 1, 1921. The plan of payment which was not accepted called for the payment of $985 per $1000 certificate and accrued interest from date of certificates to date of delivery, payment to be made $40,000 in cash and the balance in certificates of deposit on the two aforementioned banks, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent, and payable upon demand by the city after the same manner as mentioned in the proposition accepted.

Will Approve Issue.

Following the opening of the bid, the following telegram from Ambrose Tighe, foremost bonding attorney of the Northwest, was read:

"I shall approve the $292,000 issue of Thief River Falls paving certificates to be dated March 1, 1921, on receiving proof that they have been awarded to a purchaser and have been executed and delivered for values."

During the discussion that followed the reading of the bid, H. A. Brumund, president of the council, asked for remarks on the part of any of the many interested citizens assembled in the council rooms. M. V. Evenson, one of the members of the strong opposition to the paving of the city streets, was the only one to respond. He stated that he considered the proposition entirely up to the members of the council at the present time. Fletcher Graves, representative of the Capital Trust and Savings bank, stated that the bid was entirely out of line with present financial conditions, and for that reason was exceptionally low. Others bankers and financial men present corroborated his statement.

Injunction Requested.

A motion made by Alderman Ihle and seconded by Alderman Dahl to the effect that the joint bid of the three corporations be accepted, passed the council unanimously and the city attorney was instructed to draw up the proper resolution.

Immediately following the announcement by President Brumund that bids were to be received, Deputy Sheriff Frank McGinnity served a summons on the city of Thief River Falls as a municipal corporation, John Bratrud as mayor of the city, A. H. Akre as clerk, Ole Ihle, H. A. Brumund, Andrew Ness, John Dahl, Carl Froseth and Severn Brandon, as common council for the city, the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg and the Capital Trust and Savings bank, to appear and answer a complaint on the part of the Oen Mercantile company, plaintiff, within 20 days after summons.

Among other things, the complaint alleges that the Bitulithic Contracting company in entering into a contract which calls for paving work at a cost to exceed $300,000, has not furnished a bond as required by law; that the terms of the contract were not fulfilled, as it called for all paving to be completed by Nov. 15, 1920; that the city treasury is without funds to undertake improvements of so extensive a nature; that the city council unlawfully caused overdrafts on the Current, Special Assessment, Local Improvement, Waterworks, Interest, Auditorium, Poor, Library and Cemetery funds to be met by transfers from Sinking and other funds to the extent of $97,152.01, and that these amounts have never been properly refunded.

Claim Taxes "Unreasonable."

It is further alleged that the bonded indebtedness of the city is $201,000; that the tax levy in 1920 was less than necessary for current expenses; that the city is so badly in debt that taxes have been increased during the last five years to such an extent that they are unreasonable and confiscatory; and that the city will shortly become practically insolvent unless expenditures are curbed. That proposed assessment against property effected by the paving for the installation of storm sewers and other preliminary improvements is inequitable, not uniform and contrary to law; that the contract for paving was let at a time when prices were at the highest level and that they are exhorbitant; and that it is the duty of the council to cancel the contract and proceed no farther under the present terms.

It is also alleged that the city or council did not properly advertise for bids for the preliminary work and that a contract entered into with the Capital Trust and Savings bank for the same, was for the purpose of confining bids for the certificates of indebtedness to that organization, giving them an unfair advantage over other bidders and thus causing financial loss to the city and the tax payers; that no election was held to authorize the sale of certificates of indebtedness; that the resolution passed by the council ordering, and determining to make possible the paving of the city streets, was never signed by the mayor during the period of time provided by law, and that for this reason no paving has ever been authorized.

The plaintiff requests a judgment of a temporary injunction.

The serving of the summons has as yet in no way interfered with further plans for early paving. A. D. Hanson of the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg, who was present at the council meeting Tuesday evening, on Tuesday afternoon issued the statement that the shipment of equipment would proceed at once and that the company hoped to begin work here early in March with the view of completing the contract by the first of July. Much of the equipment is already upon property leased along the Soo right of way.

Public Examiner's Report.

Previous to the adjournment of the council, Mayor Bratrud made the suggestion to the aldermen that the report of the public examiner on the audit of the city clerk's books be published and given wide-spread circulation, inasmuch as the examiner was brought here on a petition circulated by the opposition to the paving program in such a way as to cast a reflection upon the integrity of the council as a body. The examination was conducted at an expense to the city of more than $300. A motion authorizing the publication of the lengthy report was duly made and passed. It will be published in an early issue of The Times, together with suggestions offered by the state department, which complimented the city administration upon its efficiency.

Detroit Legion Team Here For Game Saturday Night

The Thief River Falls Legion basket ball team hopes to add another victory to its belt in a game to be played with the fast Detroit Legion team on the local floor Saturday evening. Detroit on Tuesday night defeated the Perham team, said to be one of the fastest in the state, in a game played on the Perham floor. The Detroiters also claim that Thief River Falls has been afraid to meet them.

The local Legionnaires at present have a perfect average and their style of playing is attracting the attention of the entire state. The general public is being urged to take in the game Saturday evening and assist the home quint in taking the honors from the Detroit five. The game will be called promptly at 8:45.

Will Send Delegates to Minneapolis Convention

At a meeting of the local branch of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic held on Wednesday evening, E. M. Stanton, M. K. Evenstad, P. J. Keating and P. W. Roark were elected delegates to a convention of the state organization to be held at the Radisson hotel, Minneapolis, on February 16.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baker, the former agent at the Great Northern depot, left Saturday for the Twin Cities where they will spend an indefinite time visiting with friends and relatives.

Orrin Ostby, order clerk at the Thief River Grocery company, substituted for his father, O. D. Ostby, salesman for the same concern, who was on the sick list the first of the week.

Messrs. Bjerk, Lindberg, Sandvold, Remark, Murphy, who made up the Ada quint, who played basketball here Saturday evening, returned to their home on the flier that same evening.

Miss Eleanor Dahlen who spent a few days between semesters visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Dahlen, returned to Grand Forks Monday afternoon to resume her studies at the university.

Martin Gulbranson of Erskine, arrived here Friday afternoon from Crookston, where he had spent a few days to attend the Elks' initiation here that evening. He returned to his home Saturday.

Miss Lydia Peterson, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. F. Swanson, arrived here Saturday afternoon from their home at Roseau for an over-Sunday visit with their sister, Miss Cecelia Peterson.

We'll all be there March 1st. f10

Mrs. R. Olson visited with friends here yesterday morning, having come here the night previous from Goodridge, where she had spent a few days on business. She returned to her home at Holt yesterday.

Miss Theresa Holmstad, who has been employed here, accompanied by her sister, Miss Nellie, who visited here since Tuesday, returned to their home at Strathcona where they will remain for an indefinite period.

Mrs. F. H. Woyc'echauski of Minneapolis, made a brief visit with her friend, Miss Bessie Lundberg, enroute to Middle River, on Thursday. She will be a guest at the home of her parents at the latter named place.

Mrs. J. H. Hardesty and Mrs. Geo. Biddick left Monday afternoon for Crookston to attend the Red River Valley Winter show. Their chief purpose for attending is to gain new ideas for the coming Pennington Pennington County fair.

Dr. L. F. Fisher of this city, last week received an appointment as local surgeon for the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway company. Thief River Falls is now headquarters for three railway physicians and surgeons, Dr. A. W. Swedenburg, Dr. O. F. Melby and Dr. Fisher.

Let's watch for March 1st. f10

Carl Sundahl left Monday evening for Minneapolis where he spent a day attending the auto show, from which place he left for St. Peter, where he will spend a brief period as the guest of his sister, Miss Tillie Sundahl, who is a student at Gustavus Adolphus college. From the latter city he goes to Rock Island to spend a week attending to business affairs.

Ed. Russell, manager of the Rex hotel at Baudette, was among those who had the Elk's antlers attached here last Friday evening. Mr. Russell stated while here that business in the hustling border city is not particularly brisk at the present time but that good times are anticipated for spring. A number of boosters up there have secured a plot of land at the mouth of the Rainy river and will build a summer resort there as soon as the weather permits work to be begun.

A Cafeteria Supper will be served in the basement of the Presbyterian church on Friday evening, February 11th, from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Federal Bonus Bill in Favor.

The people of the United States are in sympathy with efforts of veterans to obtain the passage of the Fordney bonus bill, according to Lemuel Bolles, National Adjutant of the American Legion, who bases his opinion on reports from North Dakota, Oregon, Minnesota, Illinois and other states. The legislature of the first three states have passed resolutions urging the United States Senate to pass the bill and a plebiscite of Legion members in Illinois showed an overwhelming sentiment in favor of the national bonus. Ninety-nine per cent of the Illinois Legionnaires also expressed themselves in favor of a state bonus.

In spite of the unemployment situation, which tends to increase the need of veterans for ready money, forty-six per cent of the Illinois Legion members preferred some form of compensation other than cash.

Is On Buying Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Sapero left last week for Chisholm, in which city Mrs. Sapero will remain while Mr. Sapero and his brother make a purchasing trip to the eastern markets. They will do the buying for their three stores at the same time and expect to be able to get some of the best things in the way of women's wear shown since before the war. They will visit Minneapolis, Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati and New York.

Mrs. Andrew Smith.

Mrs. Andrew Smith died Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock, having been in poor health since last fall. The deceased was born at Fox Lake, Wis., 43 years ago, coming to this community in pioneer days. For several years she lived on a homestead northwest of this city. May E. Newman was united in marriage to Andrew Smith 24 years ago. Funeral services were held from the Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment took place in Greenwood cemetery. Deceased is survived by her husband and five children, George, James, Lenore, Doris and Richard.

Guneld Sand.

On Feb. 5 occurred the death of Mrs. Guneld Sand at the ripe old age of 77 years, 11 months and 9 days at Goodridge. Deceased was born in Norway, coming to this country 4[illegible] years ago. The body was taken to Canby for burial.

Quality Wheat

THE LARGEST part of the wheat acreage is now sown to Fife wheats, of which the Marquis variety is the most popular. Blue Stem is good, but Velvet Chaff, Humpback and other wheats are now practically in the discard on account of the poor returns which they have brought.

It is absolutely necessary to maintain the quality of our fine milling wheat. If we do not do so, we will lose the great revenue from our leading money crop and the flour demanded by bakers and others will be made from Canadian or winter wheat.

Fortunately Marquis Leads Both in Quality and Quantity

It is imperative that some Marquis be grown by every farmer because if 1921 should be a comparatively rust-free year, it will pay better than any other crop.

We wish to appeal to you to keep your seed wheat pure. Even the durums are getting so badly mixed that the durum millers state that it is almost impossible to make a good quality of macaroni flour from the mixture.

Another great danger is that the different kinds of wheat, both hard spring bread wheat and durum macaroni wheat are also becoming mixed, and while each might be excellent, when mixed they become practically worthless for milling.

D-5 or red rust proof wheat is worthless for either bread making or macaroni and we strongly advise farmers to leave it alone. It is true that a few cars of it sold at a fancy price solely on account of weight in mixing it with light weight wheat for export.

This was merely putting "sand in sugar" and foreign buyers are already discriminating against such wheat.

We Recommend That You

1. Avoid all mixtures.
2. Fan and clean the wheat from weed seeds, trash and shriveled kernels.
3. Treat with formaldehyde to prevent smut.
4. Dig up all the barberries on your place and encourage your neighbors to do likewise.
5. Make blotting paper germination tests to be sure your wheat will grow.
6. Put your soil in prime condition.
7. Seed Marquis as early as possible.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

The selling of a quarter of a million dollars worth of paving certificates this week brings this needed improvement again within hailing distance. While an effort will be made to stop the work by appealing to the courts, it is doubtful if this will result any differenly than did a former attempt in the same direction.

Thief River Falls would be money ahead if street paving had been undertaken when the matter was first advocated some ten years ago. It would have cost much less to do the work at that time, everything then being on a lower price level. At that the city has a very favorable contract, it being doubtful if another like it could be secured at any time within the near future.

Selling these securities starts the ball rolling again. There has been so much delay and discussion over this subject that the fact of its being finally settled will be hailed with delight by nearly every citizen of the town. The contracting firm is ready to go ahead just as soon as the weather permits in the spring and expects to finish the entire contract by midsummer.

The Times believes that the council's action will be approved by at least ninety per cent of our citizens. There are those who will be hit rather hard by the assessments, but these are scattered over a long term of years and the increase in the value of property within the paved area by reason of the improvement will very much more than offset the cost. The probabilities are that even those who now are most strenuous in their objections will admit the wisdom of the move before a year has passed by. It is certain that once the advantage of paved streets are realized by our people there will be requests for the extension of the paving area and it is predicted that some work along this line will be done every year hereafter.

We believe that those who consider this a poor time to pave are mistaken. There seems to be little likelihood of prices on labor or material being reduced to any great extent for some years, while they may be very much higher. The money is secured at a satisfactory rate of interest and the contract price is very reasonable, everything considered. If our city must wait for paving until every detail is just exactly as everybody wants it, there will never be any paving. This is as good a time as any to begin. We should have started before, but that is a poor reason for maintaining that we should not start at all.

PUSH PLUS PLAN.

Perhaps the most valuable portion of the advice given our citizens by Dr. Krebs in his lectures last week was that in which he dwelt upon the necessity for having a regular plan of action for the community to follow. "Push Plus Plan," he called it and pointed out just how valueless one is liable to be without the presence of the other.

The main trouble with commercial clubs and similar bodies is not so much a lack of energy as an absence of a carefully mapped out program. Here in Thief River Falls, for instance, a great deal of effort has been spent in times past without securing results at all commensurate with the work done. It is so in every community. There is no lack of enthusiasm or willingness, but efforts are often misdirected and come to nothing in spite of the best intentions.

Dr. Krebs pointed out the value of planning carefully first and then getting behind the plan and pushing it to a successful issue. No plan is worth the time it takes to look it over unless it is backed by action. On the other hand, a lot of very valuable work is often done to no purpose for the reason that the right kind of a plan has not been mapped out and followed.

Another thing that Dr. Krebs laid stress upon is the necessity of all citizens of a community pushing in one direction. This can only be done when a generally understood program has been presented. Where community work is the matter up for consideration it is hard to arrive at a satisfactory result if half a dozen different methods are followed by as many men or groups. All should pull in the same direction at once, the aim being to get results in the shortest possible space of time.

There are a large number of matters that should receive our attention right now and more will be coming up all the time. Intelligent planning and the requisite amount of pushing will get us what we want—if it can be gotten at all. Without a plan to start with, no amount of pushing will avail. This is what Dr. Krebs meant.

Bridge Club Entertained.

The Tuesday night bridge club was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. E. O. Mogensen at her home, LaBree avenue north. Following the card playing a delicious lunch was served.

CLUB MEETING TONIGHT.

The newly elected officials of the Thief River Falls Commercial club will take their offices tonight. A banquet will be served at the close of the meeting and the executive committee will name the next secretary. The question of other quarters will also come up for final decision.

Thief River Falls has a mighty good commercial club and the business or professional man who is not a member is missing something worth while. In common with all organizations of this kind, the club practically ceased operations so far as general booster work was concerned during the war. It proved itself a decided aid to the government at that time, however, getting behind every movement suggested with a spirit that commanded both respect and praise. Since that time other matters have challenged the attention of our citizens to such an extent that the club has often been neglected.

Now things are different. Everything is straightening itself out and the club will be expected to take up its community enterprises where these were dropped and carry them out to the end intended. There are many of them and they are all important.

It is understood that the directors are seriously considering the hiring of a full-time secretary again. While the present system has proven as satisfactory as could be expected, yet in the opinion of many members better results could be obtained if a man were on the job practically all the time.

The question of financing will also come up, no doubt, and a budget of expenses for the coming year figured out. It is the intention to have pledged whatever sum is deemed necessary in order to see the club through as only in this manner can the work be carried on without leaving a bad-looking deficit in the exchequer at the end of the year. It will take rather a fair-sized sum to keep the organization going and up to the work planned, but it will be worth all it costs and then some.

But whatever your opinion on these subjects, make it a point to get out tonight and let others hear your plans. Maybe they are just what we have all been looking for.

THINGS LOOK BETTER.

Despite the tightness of money, low prices for grain and farm produce, and a slump in business, merchants, farmers and city and county officials throughout the state have done many things since the first of the year to corroborate their assertions that the period of depression will not be extended.

The keynote of a great majority of the pieces of information collected is that business conditions are better than they were a month ago. A number of bankers point out that cattle and hog auctions have successfully been held, whereas most of the sales attempted during December or early January were failures. Last month few business men were unwilling to forecast important building in their counties this year. Recent announcements of important reductions in lumber and materials seemingly have been responsible for a change in attitude.

Thief River Falls merchants returning from buying trips at the Eastern markets state that there is a marked improvement in the feeling among manufacturers and wholesalers. Factories are starting up after temporary shutdowns and orders are being booked in very satisfactory amounts. Bills are being paid up in good shape and everything is much easier than a month ago. The fine winter weather in the Northwest has had its effect in keeping the people in a cheerful frame of mind and they are ready to start with full speed ahead without delay. With spring work opening up on the farms as well as in the cities, there should be a better demand for men and consequently less unemployment. While the probabilities are that this section will not get back into its accustomed stride before the next crop is harvested, yet the outlook contains nothing that should give cause for alarm.

EFFERVESCENCE.

Domestic complications are bound to arise just as soon as women are put on the jury. Very few husbands will care to hear of their wives being "out for several hours" with any gang of jurors.

Everyone knows that the bleeting blaa-blaa is supposed to gambol, yet every restaurant menu in the country advertises lamb as being served "with caper sauce."

Transport, v. t.; (see port to bear) To carry or convey from one place to another; to transfer; (used as the polite form for "to bootleg.")

Oolai wants to know if the winter is mild, the snowfall flurried, the atmosphere dense, and the moon bright, is the weather vane.

The surplus coal in the country may keep over till next winter without souring, but the coal dealer "turned" with the first warm days.

Even the lowly camel has given up hope of the Volstead act being repealed and is allowing himself to be made into beefsteak.

"Its a good thing this isn't a seeaphone!" remarked a young lady friend late last evening in response to a telephone call. "You got me out of bed." Modern inventions are going to be greatly conductive to a higher domestic morale.

Found in The Times A Year Ago This Week

The city council decided to go ahead and advertise for bids on paving 22 blocks in the downtown section.

A special train was run to Bemidji for the purpose of carrying the fans who wished to witness the basketball game between the Eklund post quint and the team of Gracie post of that city.

A. J. Anderson resigned as president of the Pennington County Fair association and Herbert Fuller was elected in his place.

Dr. Jacob Biedermann, city health officer, lifted the ban against theatre attendance, the flu epidemic having subsided sufficiently to make such action safe.

Congressman Steenerson informed Postmaster John Morgan that there would be no possible chance of anything being done to provide Thief River Falls with a new postoffice building at that session of congress. The government had no money to spend for that kind of improvements.

President H. A. Brumund, Councilmen John Dahl and Severn Brandon visited Moorhead, Wahpeton and other places inspecting an air lift device for securing water from deep wells in the hope that it might serve as a means for securing a water supply for the city.

The Stone & Rambeck company announced the opening of its Thief River Falls farm machinery warehouse on Feb. 20.

City council decided to secure bids on the work of placing storm sewers in the alleys of the proposed paving district.

Judge Grindeland, in an action brought by County Superintendent G. M. Gunderson, decided that such officials were entitled to travel pay when visiting schools in outlying districts.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pearson were placed in the county jail at Crookston charged with having caused the death of a baby born to them a few days previously.

Because of the flu it was found advisable to cancel the running of a special train to the Crookston midwinter show.

ADA LEGION TEAM IS EASILY TRIMMED BY EKLUND POST BUNCH

Nice, Ladylike Game Results in Score of 51 to 12 in Favor of Locals—Stars Are Taken Out.

From the first three minutes, in which the Thief River Falls quint took two baskets and one free throw, the basket ball game played at the city auditorium on Saturday evening between the Ada Legion and the city Legion teams was filled with plenty of comedy but very little real battling. The Ada Legionnaires, in spite of their size, were hopelessly outclassed and the game belonged to the home team from the outset. The final score was 51 to 12. The game was of the parlor variety, with clean playing by both teams, Ada taking the back seat with good grace. Little enthusiasm was shown by the Thief River Falls men, who failed to warm up and really get into the harness, and the many fans who had gathered with the expectations of seeing some of the fast work displayed in the Bemidji game of ten days ago were somewhat disappointed.

The game opened with a rush, Carlson, the Thief River star, making two field baskets and one free throw in the first three minutes of playing. The Ada men failed to put up any concerted opposition and the playing for the remainder of the game never again reached the brilliancy of those first three minutes. In spite of several wild throws and clean misses on the part of the local five, the first quarter closed with a score of 23 to 0 in favor of Thief River Falls. Bjerk, Ada forward and star player, was injured early in the first quarter when he crashed into a row of seats, and though staying in the game was unable to cover the floor with his former success, finally being replaced by Betcher in the last quarter. Ada was given many opportunities to score in the first quarter but failed to locate the circle, in addition to missing two free throws.

The first half ended with a score of 29 to 1, Ada having managed to develop a little more team work but not enough to arouse the drooping spirits of the Thief River men or to call out any real playing. Johnson and LaBree replaced Kiland and Carlson.

The third quarter was a particularly quiet one, with even the fans voicing little comment. Ada made three field baskets and one free throw, while the locals took six field throws.

Ada made the net twice from the field in the final quarter, one of the shots, a perfect one from center, winning great applause from the house. The local Legionnaires ran the final score to 51 with three field baskets and four free throws. The last quarter was played with the Thief River men in the original lineup.

The lineup:

Ada		Thief River
Bjerk	RF	Carlson-Johnson
Lindberg	LF	Kiland-LaBree
Sandvold	C	Hadrath
Remark	RG	Holzknecht
Murphy	LG	McGinn

Perry Johnson, referee. G. W. Connell, Thief River Falls, Coach.

Field baskets: Bjerk 1, Lindberg 2, Sandvold 2, Carlson 6, Kiland 5, Hadrath 3, Holzknecht 1, LaBree 4, McGinn 2, Johnson 1. Free throws: Bjerk 2 out of 2, Remark missed 2, Carlson 7 out of 7.

St. Hilaire Community Club to Elect Officers

The second meeting of the St. Hilaire Community club will be held at the St. Hilaire school building on the evening of February 11, instead of on February 18 as previously announced. Permanent officers for the ensuing year will be elected and the yearly program mapped out.

PROVES VALUE OF PHOSPHATES ON PEAT LAND

Subject is Topic of Address at Community Club Noonday Luncheon Thursday.

Other Soils Also Seen Greatly Benefitted by Application of This Fertilizer.

Different Systems of Applying Product Explained by Producing Co. Expert.

The large gathering of business men and farmers assembled at the Commercial club rooms for the double lecture and noonday luncheon last Thursday, in addition to an inspiring lecture by Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, listened to some interesting facts about the soils of Pennington county and their needs brought out in a talk by P. T. Taylor of the Anaconda Copper Mining company of Chicago. County Agent J. J. McCann, in introducing Mr. Taylor, spoke briefly of the results of experiments with phosphate as a fertilizer which were conducted in this neighborhood the past summer.

Analysis of the soils of Pennington county, which may be classed as peat and mineral, by members of the state department of agriculture prove that the mineral soils are lacking in phosphate to some extent, while the scarcity of that element in the peat soils is very great. A bulletin issued by the Northwest Experiment Station at Crookston in speaking of soil requirements states:

"The immediate fertilizer requirements of the peat soils of Marshall, Pennington, Clearwater, Polk, Kittson and Roseau counties, of which the soil on the Golden Valley experimental farm is highly typical, are very evident. To secure a satisfactory growth of plants, phosphate must be supplied in some form, by either burning, manuring heavily or adding a phosphate fertilizer. The benefit from the burning is due to the addition of the ash and not simply to the removal of the whole or part of the peat layer. The peat ash may be regarded as a low-grade phosphate fertilizer."

A few results of experiments with acid phosphate fertilizer on the unburned peat lands of the Golden Valley farm are as follows:

	Without Phosphate.	With Phosphate.
Rye, bu.	14.6	39.6
Oats	22.8	81.3
Barley	7.4	24.5
Alfalfa, tons	.04	.50
Mixed grasses, tons	.04	.80

Flax plots showed little or no benefit from phosphate. Wheat, on account of rust and other plant diseases, was a very poor crop on both plots.

Mr. McCann, in telling of the results of experiments conducted during the past summer on plots in Pennington county, stated that on the A. J. Henning farm situated on the Elwell road between Thief River Falls and Goodridge, an unfertilized plot yielded 12.2 bushels of rye; one fertilized with 200 pounds of 16% phosphate yielded 16.8 bushels, and one fertilized with 400 pounds of phosphate yielded 20.1 bushels. On the farm of G. Gerenandt, which is also on the Elwell road, an unfertilized plot planted to oats yielded 28.9 bushels; one fertilized with 200 pounds of phosphate yielded 31.1 bushels, and one fertilized with 400 pounds of phosphate yielded 52.5 bushels.

Phosphate, Mr. Taylor stated, comes in the form of a finely ground powder. It may be drilled in with small grain by means of an ordinary drill with fertilizer attachment, or spread broadcast by means of an end gate seeder, or put on with a fertilizer distributor. As a top dressing for clover or pastures it may be scattered broadcast. It may also be combined with barnyard manure to bring up the content of phosphate. The treble or 45 per cent phosphate is applied to the soil in varying amounts of from 75 to 125 pounds per acre. Certain elements used in the manufacture of superphosphate are derived as a by-product from the smelting of copper ore.

County Agent McCann stated that farmers wishing further information as to the uses and benefits of acid phosphate as a fertilizer, may secure the same by calling at the farm bureau office in the city auditorium.

EXTOLS VALUE OF CONCERTED ACTION

Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, in Closing Lectures, Urges Co-operation As a Necessity.

The Merchants and Community Institute conducted here the past week came to a close with an address on "Civic Pride and Prosperity" delivered to a large audience at the city auditorium on Thursday evening and "Constructive Discipline" delivered before the women of the community at the Commercial club rooms on Friday afternoon. Both lectures were delivered by Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, psychologist and efficiency expert, who conducted the entire series of the week. He appeared here under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Merchants association.

The consensus of opinion is that the Krebs series of lectures contain splendid subject matter along most beneficial lines. Dr. Krebs understands his audience and touches the proper chords at the proper time. He speaks in an extemporaneous manner from a wealth of experience. Not only are his talks entertaining, but highly instructive as well, dealing as they do with the latest inventions and discoveries in the psychological field. Much comment has been heard on the clear and forceful manner in which he gets his idea across and his masterful handling of the English language. It can be said that his instructions along merchandising lines have given many of the retail salespeople and merchants an entirely new angle on the art of serving the public.

Dr. Krebs in his talk to the large audience assembled at the city auditorium on Thursday evening, recommended a closer relationship of the civic-organizations of the city, whereby they would work in more perfect harmony under a common or parent organization. On wide-spread hand he pointed out the members of a family: Little brother, sister, big brother, mother and father, and he explained the futilness of action with the fingers of the hand widely extended, and then doubling up his fist, he compared the tremendous force of the united family with the force of the individual members. Briefly stated the sum and substance of his talk was that "push plus plan equals pluck of prosperity, but that plan minus push equals theory and push minus plan equals fussiness."

Dr. Krebs left Friday evening for Redfield, South Dakota, where he is conducting an institute this week.

The Merchants association is confident that the eminent lecturer injected a new spirit of co-operation into the community and that every person who had the opportunity of listening to him obtained information of great value in the conduct of business or in community life. The success of the Merchants and Community week is in part responsible for the staging of a series of six banquet lectures during the remaining winter months. The first of these took place last evening at the Evelyn hotel, Judge F. T. Wilson, community advisor for Minnesota, delivering the address.

The lecture of Dr. Krebs Thursday evening should have made a profound impression on every high school student who had the rare fortune of hearing him. He gave an unusual talk on the psychology of education. A great deal has been both said and written about the faults and possible improvements of our educational system, but few, if any, have ever given such enlightening information on it as Dr. Krebs. Education is derived from the latin word "educo," which means to lead out. The too common conception of education now is to cram in. From the time a person enters the grades until he graduates from college, it is one continual course of cramming in of new information. A person who has a complete knowledge of history, science and several languages is said to be educated. But how often do we not hear of individuals who have a better education than the majority of our really great men have had, who never amount to anything. The fact is that education is not merely a mass of knowledge. It is a development of the mind. A person must be able to think, to reason, with his own mind. Dr. Krebs summed up the whole secret of success in a single word—PLAN. Our entire education should be a help in formulating and carrying out that plan. A person, to succeed, must have a certain goal. His plan must be a scheme whereby he can attain that goal, and every act, every bit of knowledge acquired, must be a definite part of that plan.

Dr. Krebs gave a striking example of how concentration can magnify a person's power of accomplishment. In his laboratory at Washington they have an instrument for concentrating the heat in the sun's rays. They have a large reflector, ground to perfection, the only one of its kind in existence. This separates the sun's rays into heat rays, light rays, and chemical actinic rays. The heat rays are reflected to a mirror above the reflector and back thru a small hole in the center of the large reflector. Here the concentrated heat is so great that no method has yet been discovered that can measure it. It is estimated to be around 7000 or 8000 Fahr. This is only the heat from the sun's rays over a few square feet, which are directed toward a certain small point.

Likewise, man has greater power than he ever dreams of. If every bit that he learns and every act that he does is directed toward a certain objective, the result will be the same as in the case of the sun's ray magnifier. He will be possessed of a boundless power and unlimited possibilities. A person does not have to be born a genius to succeed. As a matter of fact, a recognized high natural ability is often a detriment to a student. The student who is able to get his lessons without any concentrated effort, misses the most valuable part of his education, in other words, his training for life.

For it is not sufficient to only plan. The plan must be pushed. According to Dr. Krebs, plan minus push equals theory. We have a great number of examples of this in the theorizers and dreamers who may have excellent plans, but which never amount to anything because they are not pushed or materialized. We also have a type who work hard, but never attain what may be called real success. This Dr. Krebs explained as being push minus plan, which equals fussiness. But the two real requisites for success are plan plus push. When these two are used in the right proportion, for a legitimate purpose, a man cannot fail.

Dr. Krebs said that an individual may be judged by the length of his plan. Thus the person who can plan 10 years ahead will be capable of proportionately greater accomplishments than one who can only build a plan for 10 days or 10 months.

But how many of us really plan? Do we make it a point to make everything we learn and do here in school a part of our plan? The chief fault of our school is that the students do not keep any objective in mind when they choose their subjects. Every student should choose subjects that will fit into his or her plan and which will aid in developing the mind and preparing it for the work he intends to take up in later life.

Climax vs. T. R. F.

On Friday, Feb. 11, the local girls' team will play the Climax girls.

The girls were defeated at Climax and they are more than determined to win this game. Climax has a very strong team, and is very hard to beat, but the girls are going to win.

The high school students and the public are urged to attend this game. With two strong teams it's going to be a good game. Come out and boost the girls, come out and see them win.

Lecture on Iceland.

Rev. H. B. Thorgrimson of Grand Forks, a former resident of Iceland, addressed a large, interested audience at the Trinity Lutheran church last Thursday evening on a subject of his native country.

Iceland, as derived from his talk, is in the upper class of civilization.

The history of the country was reviewed briefly by him and we learn from his narrative that Iceland was first discovered by Norwegian Kings, who had been driven out of their country by King Harald I, the Fairhaired, who at that time, conquered the whole of Norway, with an object of winning as his queen a princess of Sweden.

The origin of the name Iceland, the Reverend stated, is not known, but it was probably so called on account of the icebergs near the coast on the icepeaks, which are first seen when approaching the island. He was of the opinion that Greenland would have been a more appropriate name but there being another country by that name, Potland would be more suitable, owing to the formation of the land.

We derive from his description that the soil of Iceland is notangreeable for agricultural purposes, but it has splendid fields of grazing. Therefore cattle and sheep are raised in great numbers. There are many volcanoes, which at times give off quantities of lava. This flows over the mountain sides and forms a bed for moss, which in turn serves for the grazing fields. The chief exports of the country are wool and dairy products.

In beauty and peculiar formations of the earth, the country ranks with Yellowstone Park, it having large numbers of geysers, glaciers and high water-falls. He told an incident, in connection with this, of a trip thru the country, and on stopping at a farm home, was served coffee on very short order. On asking the lady the cause of this, he was taken to her back yard, where he was shown a hot water hole in the ground. Hot water was continually supplied by this spring the year around. Cold, clear spring water was procured from a ground hole near by.

The island was at first divided into small provinces, having no kings or rulers but being governed by laws laid down by the people. These laws were revived each year at a meeting held on top of a mountain called Law Mountain. This form of government was an Aristocratic Republic, but lasted only until the Danish kings invaded the country and now Iceland has its own king but is under the rule of Denmark. At the present time there are two factions, one of which is in favor of a Republic and it is hoped that Iceland may soon become a free country like our own.

The language spoken there is the oldest Norse and has remained unchanged since the discovery of the land. Education is supreme in the minds of the people as shown by the number of universities, colleges and schools thruout the island. It seems that poetry is a gift to the people, and as Rev. Thorgrimson said, hardly a family exists without its poet or song-writer, lyrics being written in great numbers.

The Reverend claims that about three hundred years of the world's history would have been lost as a record had it not been for the Icelandic historians. Even now their libraries are being searched for information found nowhere else in the world. Their literature, however, is not widely known, due to their language and a custom of the people not to intermingle with the outside world. Nevertheless this is being overcome, as other languages are being introduced and these great works are being translated into English, German, French and a few others of the foremost dialects.

They have all modern conveniences such as telephone, telegraph and all other electrical commodities as well as atuomobiles, railroads, etc., but a characteristic of their language supplies them with their own names for these conveniences without adopting Latin names, such as we do.

The religion of the land is Lutheran and only their native language is used in the churches.

From this interesting lecture, we derive information of a country that is little known to the general public, and we are pleased to note that Iceland ranks second to none in intelligence and civilization.

Whisperings of Humorous Nuts

"A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the best of men."

"Oh Where is my Wandering Book."

The ways of man be strange, but the ways of his possessions be stranger than to find a soldier without a cootie or a dog that loves cats. Books are a necessary part of the apparatus to be used in pursuing the devious ways of knowledge. It is said that no man can know as much as all men, but how can you expect him to, when he buys books crammed as full of words of wisdom as the works of our late lamented Webster, only to have them appropriated by some ambitious student who can feel the desire of erudition gnawing at his very vitals? That particular brand of student evidently thinks he is monarch of all he surveys. Though Solomon was wondrous wise he would have thought twice and scratched mightily at the inhabitants of his flowing mane, if confronted with a proposition of returning the wandering books to their indignant owners. Some very estimable young men and ladies are to be found in our school, and they are thoroughly nice—but they have such taking ways—in fact they are so extremely taking, that every once in a while—if not before or later—somebody's book is gone A. W. O. L., never to return and notices for their restoration are frequently seen on the board, leading the Triumvirate to wonder if Scott wasn't right when he said, "I find that altho many of my friends are poor mathematicians, they are nearly all of them good bookkeepers."

—THE TRIUMVIRATE.

If the recent cut in shirt prices will affect Oolai to the extent of having to buy a 28 size shirt for a 14 size neck, the Triumvirate wonders how many critters will have to be sacrificed in order that "Fat" may be furnished with a belt sufficiently large to accommodate his increasing circumference.

Breathes there a student with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
When six exams were just ahead,
"———!?@½½½&6% x———) !!??"

Miss Svedal: "Who is the king of Prussia?"

Student: "The Czar."

(Evidently the Czar's domains have increased considerably since last reports.)

Sing It.

The music teacher has long been thinking,
What a nice world this would be,
If the "puffs" were all transported,
Far beyond the northern sea.

II Theorem

5. If you love your girl, she loves you.

GIVEN: That you love your girl.

TO PROVE: That your girls loves you.

PROOF

1. All the world loves a lover. (Shakespeare's "Hyperbole")
2. Your girl is all the world to you. (Evident)
3. Therefore your girl loves a lover. (Substitution)
4. You are a lover. (Hypothesis)
5. Therefore your girl loves you. (Substitution)

Q. E. F.

Chemistry Student Discusses Soap.

Soap is a hunk of slippery stuff used to separate dirt from things. Soap smells good but tastes awful. It tastes worst when it gets in your eye. It will sink or float. When it sinks it leaves the top of the water and when it floats it don't reach the bottom. Some soap is used to wash the fleas on a dog. The flees enjoy it, but it worries the dog. After the wash the dog shakes himself at the scenery. Fleas are affectionate. They stick closer than pie crust. Sometime I will write about fleas, they are very interesting.

Downfall of Yell Leader.

There are times when, for want of adequate expression, words fail us. Such a cataclysm was briefly experienced last Friday night at the Thief River Falls versus Hallock game, when our cheer leader in attempting with all his might and main to resurrect some of the evaporating spirits of our plucky opponents. He was a wonder to behold, gyrating like the flapping limbs of a "scarecrow" in a summer storm. But he inadvertently forgot the law of gravitation and when he finished he was standing at a backward angle of 45 degrees. Not realizing the necessity of a compensated balance, further gyrations caused the angle to become dangerously acute—his eyes rolled up meekly and he sank gracefully down to the hard, cruel floor, amid a reverberating applause of the hilarious throng.

"All noble things are difficult."

"We cannot 'catch up' in life, as you can in school; you are marked on your daily average."

Probably some of us have the same difficulty in pronouncing silent letters as manipulating an invisible typewriter.

Extract from English test paper: "Samuel Pepys's Diary by John Dryden written during the age of the resurrection."

From out of the multitudinous submissions of lines, we selected one which completed limerick No. 2, as follows:

"Doc" Melby is short but stately,
Some days his expression is saintly,
At giving a "quiz"
He's a regular "wiz"
His exams often terminate fatally.

Mr. Pierce (in journalism): "What is "yellow journalism"?

Allen F.: "Colored headlines."

Prin.: "How many have you enrolled in this class?"

Teacher: "Twenty students and three Freshmen."

Francis H. (speaking to Bernard who is opening the window): "That's what I like to see—a lot of fresh air."

Undoubtedly he would also be able to see Edison's Invisible Ship.

Found on modern history exam. paper: "Queen Constantine has returned to the throne." (Have we missed the announcement of woman's suffrage in Greece?)

Freshman: "I wish to make school in two years; can you arrange it for me?"

Principal: "Oh, yes; you can take a short course. It all depends on what you wish to become. When God wants to make an oak he takes a hundred years; but it only takes two months to make a squash."

Subject for debate: "Resolved, That we would have won the debate if the judges had voted the other way."

Warblings of the Poet Laureate.

Now hark to the rhyme of an honest young man,
His talent's not great, but he'll do what he can,
In concocting these lines 'bout the wise men and fools
Who are found everywhere—especially in schools.

There are many whose image will long be enshrined,
In that "Holy of Holies," a pretty girl's mind,
We have several who merit the that so implied,
Edward Fiterman's one, o'er his smiles all have vied.

Vernon Copp's the next—always falling in love,
He seems to have gotten that gift from above,
We may ponder aghast at the damage that's wrought
By the infant, young Vernon, in some girl's heart.

Knute must be mentioned as well as the rest,
He's a slightly unbalanced young chap at the best,
He's a chemistry fiend, no more need I add,
'Tis sad that such things should ruin the lad.

There are some who excel in the art of deception,
And "Bobbie" McGinn is not a shining exception,
We can't understand where he gets all that stuff,
For though he is young, he always can bluff.

We weak human creatures have varying needs,
Some hunger for fame and would do mighty deeds,
From his "air" it is plain Morris thinks he is it;
His discourse is lengthy, though lacking in wit.

Though these revelations are sad to relate,
I'll warrant they're true, though they are coming in late,
I thought of you all, but wrote of a few,
And that was the best I was able to do.

Hallock vs. T. R. F.

On Friday, Feb. 4th, the local girls played Hallock here. It was expected by the girls that this game would be a hard one, but the locals found that to win was very easy. At the end of the last quarter the score was 45 to 5 in our favor.

The girls' team this year has very good team work and plays a good game of basketball. Baskets were made by all the girls, but many of them by Lund and Herron. We expect by the end of this season, that our girls' team will be able to play against any team in the Northwest and win.

The girls have played three games this year, losing one to Climax.

Northrup News.

Miss Banks' room won the marching contest on the second floor while Miss Pelto's and Miss Trogan's rooms tied in the contest on the first floor.

The felt marching penant which was won in a marching contest with the other grade schools was received last week. It is being displayed in the lower hall opposite the main entrance.

The fourth grade basket ball team will play the Knox fourth grade team Saturday morning.

Big Game Tonight.

Argyle vs. T. R. F.

The local high school basketball team will play the Argyle quint at the city auditorium tonight at 8:15. This is sure to be one of the fastest and best games of the season, because our team has defeated Argyle at Argyle by a small score and they are coming up here determined to turn the tables.

Tomorrow Night.

Climax vs. T. R. F.

The girls will play the girls basketball team of Climax in the high school gym. at 7:30. The girls have been defeated by Climax already this season and are going to play one of the hardest games this season to even up matters. It is said that Climax has one of the best girls' basketball teams in the state.

Coming Next Week.

Warren vs. T. R. F.

Warren will play here next Friday, Feb. 17, at the city auditorium. The Warren quintet is the only team that has defeated our locals this season, and are coming up here determined to do it again. But our team will give them the game of their lives on the home floor.

Society

Card Party.

The second of a series of card parties given by Mrs. G. Howard Smith and Mrs. W. H. Akre, was given at the former's home on Tuesday afternoon.

Crown-Hanson.

Albert Crown and Amelia Hanson were quietly married on Feb. 8 at the Swedish Lutheran parsonage, with Rev. A. A. Larson officiating. The couple was attended by Miss Agnes Mosbeck and Hilding Crown.

Entertains at Dinner.

Mrs. G. Halvorson delightfully entertained a number of friends at dinner at her home Sunday evening. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. N. K. Harris, Miss Maude Johnson, Miss Laura Forde and Miss Ausilga Sorenson. The hours following the dinner were spent socially.

Entertain at Cards.

Mrs. W. H. Akre and Mrs. G. Howard Smith shared honors in a whist party given at the home of the latter on Friday evening. Wives of the members of the Elk lodge who attended the initiation that evening were the guests. A delicious lunch concluded a most pleasant party.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson were hosts at a 6 o'clock dinner at their home on Monday evening. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. Bottolson, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Cronkhite, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Streeter, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stanton and Mrs. A. Holmberg.

Woman's Auxiliary Meets.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion was entertained by Mrs. J. M. Bishop on Wednesday afternoon. At this meeting it was decided to meet once a week at the home of a member and hold a meeting once a month at which the Legion boys will be invited. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

Entertained at Whist.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cerney entertained a number of their friends at their home on Markley avenue south last Saturday evening. Cards were played at three tables. Lunch was served during the course of the evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Protz, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Gib. Becken, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zavoral, Mrs. S. Swanson and Archie Henderson.

Anderson-Lea.

A marriage of particular interest locally is that of A. J. Anderson, vice president of the Citizens State bank at Grygla, to Miss Bertha Lea of Gary, Minn., which took place on Feb. 3 at Gary. Miss Lea has been Mr. Anderson's housekeeper since the death of his first wife about two years ago. Mr. Anderson and family were formerly residents of this city, he having been connected with the Citizens State bank here until his removal to Grygla about a year ago.

Entertained Informally.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Johnson entertained several of their friends at their home on Kendall avenue south last Sunday evening in honor of Mrs. J. Berge and Miss Bernice Thompson of Baxton, N. D. The evening was spent in conversation and music. During the evening a delightful lunch was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. John Malafa, Mr. and Mrs. T. Tharaldson, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cerney, Mrs. J. Berge, Miss Lillian M. Thyrer and Miss Bernice Thompson.

Entertained at Cards.

In honor of her sister, Mrs. J. Berge, and her niece, Miss Bernice Thompson, of Baxton, N. D., Mr. and Mrs. T. Tharaldson entertained the following at cards Monday evening at their home on Tindolph avenue north: Mrs. J. Berge, Miss Bernice Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Malafa, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cerney, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Johnson, and Mr. MacKinsey of Grand Forks. Three tables were in play. A delightful lunch was served during the course of the evening.

Entertain.

Misses Effie Christianson and Kate Jonas informally entertained a number of their friends at the H. O. Loken home on Monday evening. The hours were pleasantly spent in conversation and needlework. The guest list included Misses Belle Hermanson, Lena Lonson, Inez Johnson, Eleanor Rambec, Alvina Jonas, Nettie Ove, Carrie Trogan, Viola Nepper, Lena Evenson, Rhoda Finberg, Dora Holmes, Gladys Anderson, Anna Brokke and Esther Gjertson, and Mrs. Ila Reynolds, Mrs. Thiera Snyder and Mrs. Geo. Loken.

Theater Party.

Misses Irene Patrick and Lillian Poppitz delightfully entertained a number of their friends on Saturday. The guests attended the movies in a body after which they were taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Mogensen where the remainder of the evening was spent in playing cards. A delicious lunch was served at 11 o'clock. The guests were, Misses Ada Whipps, Dora Perry, Margaret Mealy, Margaret Dix, Vivian Swift, Esther Johnson, Maude Johnson, Grace Iverson, Grace Wilson, Signe Svedal, Ruth Elliott, Meta Kiland and Mrs. John Ward and Mrs. Mogensen.

Social Welfare Section Meets.

The Social Welfare Section of the Woman's club was entertained by Mrs. John Bratrud and Mrs. T. L. Melgaard at the former's home on Monday afternoon. Owing to the fact that the attendance was considerably smaller than at previous meetings, the usual amount of work was not accomplished. Those who did attend spent the afternoon in making comforters for poor families. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses at 5 o'clock. The next meeting will be held on Feb. 21, and will be entertained by Mrs. W. J. LaBree and Mrs. P. W. Mabey at the home of the former.

For Mrs. Fredericks.

Honoring their sister, Mrs. Harry Fredericks, of Washington, who is a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Sr., Mrs. Chas. Holmgren and Mrs. Anderson entertained a number of young ladies at the Prichard home last evening. The hours were devoted to needlework. Miss Dora Holmes offered several vocal selections which were greatly appreciated. A very delicious lunch was served at 10:30. The guests included Misses Grace Wilson, Marie Nelson, Esther Gjertson, Nettie Ove, Gene Granum, Dora Holmes, Margaret Dix, Margaret Mealy, Laura Stopple and Meta Kiland.

Girls' Community Club.

A very successful meeting of the Community Girls' club resulted on Monday evening at the Commercial club rooms. A very good program had been arranged by the serving committee which consisted of a vocal duet by Misses Grace Iverson and Amelia Hoorn, two vocal solos by Miss Iverson and a little sketch by a number of the teachers. There was no business transacted at this meeting. A chapter from the New Voter was read by Miss Ella Pelto. Mrs. Harry Fredericks, who is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Sr., and former president of the club was a guest of the evening. The meeting adjourned after the service of a light lunch.

Elks' Dance Enjoyable Affair.

The local order of Elks was well represented at the hard time dance given on Monday evening at the city auditorium. Nothing in the line of entertainment had been overlooked and a very good time resulted. Poppy music, humorous fashioned costumes, the Kangaroo court, all helped to make it one of the merriest events of the dancing season. Chas. Van of Bemidji, well known among music lovers here and whose vocal numbers are always well received, offered a few songs which were heartily applauded. Frappe was served from one corner of the hall by Misses Lottie Austin and Margaret Eichhammer of Blacks' Sweet shop. Dancing was discontinued at 1:30 o'clock.

Sunday School to Have Social.

The members of the Trinity Lutheran Sunday school are busy preparing for a social to be given tomorrow evening in the basement of the church. All arrangements indicate that a profitable and entertaining evening will be spent by those who attend. The following is the program which will be given in addition to other numerous features of the evening's entertainment:

Piano solo: Ruby Burstad.
Dialogue: Leonard Helgestad, Louise Vevea, Olive Aaland.
Vocal solo: Wendel Sether.
Reading: Esther Larson.
Solo: Gladys Weeks.
Dialogue: Esther Lunsetter, Byron Teslow, Elaine Evenson, Esther Ness.
Piano solo: Gordon Overland.

Musical Section to Meet.

The musical section of the Woman's club will meet at the home of Mrs. R. L. Barackman on Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, and will be entertained by Mrs. M. W. Brink. The following French program will be given:

Piano Duet, Ovetrure "Mignon, A. Tomas—Miss Laura Forde and Mrs. N. K. Harris.
Vocal Solo, "Flower Song," from Faust, Gounod—Miss G. Iverson.
Paper on French Music—Mrs. A. Holmberg.
Vocal Solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Sampson and Delilah, Saint Saens—Mrs. Gay Halvorson.
Piano Duet, "Intermezza Minuetto," Bizet—Miss Laura Forde and Mrs. N. K. Harris.
Sextette, "Folk Dance," from La Cinquantaine, Gabriel Marie—Mrs. M. W. Brink, Mrs. G. W. Booren, Miss Una Nelson, Miss Thora Hanson, Mrs. B. W. Briggs and Mrs. Victoria McKinney.

It's tough to be born poor, but after enjoying the sunny climate of Northern Minnesota, anyone will admit that it's better to be born poor than not at all.

New Lamp Burns 94 per cent Air

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, S. Y. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

FISH! FISH! FISH!

I have just received a consignment of Lake Winnipeg fresh fish. I quote:—

Pickerel, per lb. 5c
Pike, per lb 10c
Mullets, per lb. 6c

These prices are for 50-pound lots or more. If you cannot use 50 pounds yourself, club together with your friends. Two cents per pound above these prices for small lots. Orders from outside the city must be accompanied by bank draft or money order.

The Expense Back of the Telephone

Have you ever figured what it costs to operate that little telephone instrument in your home, store or office?

The money you pay us helps give you telephone service and helps keep the system in repair.

Your telephone rental further includes the payment of interest on the money invested in your telephone and line and its part of the equipment in the central office.

The price you pay for the telephone service also includes your proportionate share of the wages of trained executives who work out plans to keep the telephone plant so operated as to give the best service at the lowest possible cost.

YOU don't use as much of Calumet as you do of most other Baking Powders. It has more than ordinary leavening strength. You save about half.

You don't pay a big price for Calumet. It's sold at a moderate price—that represents another saving.

You don't feel uncertain as to results. Bakings never fail—because Calumet never falls below the proven standard of "Best by Test."

Use only half the amount usually required
CALUMET BAKING POWDER
BEST BY TEST

It possesses the highest quality ever put into a Baking Powder. Contains only such ingredients as have been officially endorsed by United States Food Authorities.

For weeks, for months, it keeps as fresh and full of strength as the day it left the Calumet Factories, the World's Largest, most Sanitary and Modern Baking Powder plants.

Pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Calumet Gold Cake Recipe

Yolks of 8 eggs, 1½ cups of granulated sugar, ½ cup of water, ½ cup of butter, 2½ cups pastry flour, 3 level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder, 1 tablespoon of vanilla. Then mix in the regular way.

I Am "Granny" Chamberlain

"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

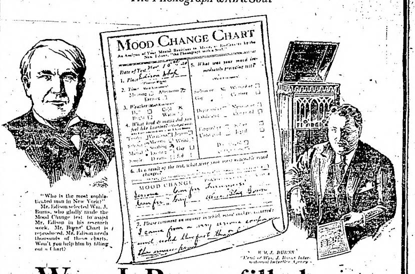
The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"



MOOD CHANGE CHART
An Analysis of Your Mental Reactions to Music as Re-Created by the New Edison, "the Phonograph with a Soul"
Date of Test
1. Place
2. Time
3. Weather
4. What kind of music did you feel like hearing?
5. What was your mood immediately preceding test?
6. As a result of the test, what were your most noticeable mood changes?
MOOD CHANGE
7. Please comment on manner in which mood changes occurred

"Who is the most sophisticated man in New York?" Mr. Edison selected Wm. J. Burns, who gladly made the Mood Change test to assist Mr. Edison in his research work. Mr. Burns' Chart is reproduced. Mr. Edison needs thousands of these charts. Won't you help him by filling out a Chart?

WM. J. BURNS
"Head of Wm. J. Burns International Detective Agency"

Wm. J. Burns filled out the first Mood Change Chart

Will You Fill Out a Chart for Mr. Edison?

MR. BURNS pronounced the test most interesting. He enjoyed it and was glad to help Mr. Edison.

You'll enjoy filling out a Mood Change Chart also—and we know you will eagerly help the great inventor in his latest research into the effects of music on the minds and moods of mankind.

Read Mr. Burns' Chart. Then come to our store. Make the test. Learn how music affects your moods. Your Chart will be sent to Mr. Edison.

If you own a New Edison, ask us for a supply of Charts and invite your friends for a Mood Change Chart party. They will find it more entertaining than the Ouija board. If you do not own a New Edison, we will lend you an instrument with a supply of RE-CREATIONS, for giving a Mood Change Party.

The New Edison has perfect realism. Its RE-CREATION of music cannot be distinguished from the original music. This makes it possible for every home to enjoy the full benefits of the world's best music.

We Pitty Those Who Must Spend Winters in South

"Enjoy your winter in the tropical clime of northern Minnesota" has been suggested as a lure to the residents of the balmy south. On Tuesday evening at a late hour a young couple was seen engaged in close conservation (As young folks will) while leaning jauntily on the rail of the bridge over the Red Lake river, here and enjoying the calm, serene and tender rays of the almost-harvest moon, or least enjoying the luster of the matchless stars. And on February 8, when a goodly portion of the U. S. would have northern Minnesota locked in ice! On Wednesday the weather was balmier still. Office and business blocks opened wide doors and windows to admit the far above zero and fresh atmosphere. On February 9!

"NOW-A-DAYS" says the Good Judge

A man can get a heap more satisfaction from a small chew of this class of tobacco, than he ever could get from a big chew of the old kind.

He finds it costs less, too. The good tobacco taste lasts so much longer he doesn't need to have a fresh chew nearly as often.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Three Thousand One Hundred Twenty-four and 67-100 Dollars ($3124.67), which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Lulu D. Halvorson and G. Halvorson, wife and husband, mortgagors, to Peoples State Bank of Thief River Falls, (a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota) mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of December, 1916, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota on the 29th day of December, 1916 at 1:00 o'clock P. M. in Book 13 of Mortgages on Page 283, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Beltrami and State of Minnesota on the 30th day of December, 1916 at 3:20 o'clock P. M. in Book 32 of Mortgages on Page 267.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Peoples State Bank of Thief River Falls, mortgagee, to First And Peoples State Bank, a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota, by written assignment dated the 17th day of December, 1917 and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said Pennington County on the 7th day of July, 1920 at [illegible] o'clock A. M., in Book 65 of Mortgages on Page 218, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said Beltrami County on the 9th day of July, 1920 at 9:00 o'clock A. M. in Book 28 of Mortgages on Page [illegible], and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

Lots Six (6), Seven (7) and Eight (8) in Block Thirteen (13) in the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls, in the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota.

Lot Six (6) in Block Sixty-three (63) in the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls, in the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota.

The South Half of the Northeast Quarter (S½ of NE¼) of Section Twenty-eight (28) in Township One Hundred Fifty-five (155) North, of Range Thirty-eight (38) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in the County of Beltrami and State of Minnesota, containing eighty (80) acres, and

The North Half of the Northeast Quarter (N½ of NE¼); the Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (NE¼ of NW¼) of Section Twenty-eight (28), and the Southeast Quarter of the Southwest Quarter (SE¼ of SW¼) of Section Twenty-one (21) in Township One Hundred Fifty-five (155) North, of Range Thirty-eight (38) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Beltrami County, and State of Minnesota, containing one hundred sixty (160) acres.

All the foregoing described real estate and premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County in the State of Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Thief River Falls, in the said County of Pennington and State of Minnesota on the 26th day of February, 1921, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $3124.67, and interest, and the taxes if any, on said premises and Seventy-five Dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

The Modern Viewpoint in the Petroleum Industry

TWENTY years ago, when the famous Spindle Top gusher was brought in, a great volume of petroleum was permitted to spout from the discovery well and flow to waste in the Gulf of Mexico, only the feeblest effort being made to conserve it.

Today, such a practice would be considered so wasteful as to be criminal. The modern viewpoint does not tolerate waste in any phase of the oil industry.

For many years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been in the lead of those forces which sought conservation, economy and maximum efficiency in the refining of petroleum.

This Company was convinced that refining methods were susceptible of continuous improvement; it believed that with every year of experience, more gasoline might be produced from the crude oil. In furtherance of this idea of continually increasing efficiency, the Company installed the best laboratory equipment obtainable, and employed the most expert petroleum chemists. From these laboratories has come along other notable improvements, the famous Burton process, to increase the yield of gasoline from the crude, without sacrifice of quality.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is so organized that it is responsive to new ideas, both social and industrial. Its policy is flexible. It does not operate by rule of thumb. The very foundation of its ability to be of such fundamental service to society, lies in its recognition of the value of a close alliance between industry and science. It has developed an organization which fits smoothly into the machinery of social progress.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is guided by men who represent in their points of view the aspirations and determinations of the new world in which we live. These men, Directors of the Company, conceive their task to be that of guiding the industry in accordance with modern ideas of fairness and justice. These men possess both the experience derived from long intimacy with petroleum problems, and the foresight to anticipate the future with its constantly changing industrial values and economic needs.

IRISH FREEDOM IS TOPIC OF ADDRESS

James Manahan Speaks to Large Audience on Alleged Wrongs of Erin's People.

James Manahan, St. Paul attorney, addressed a large assemblage at the Princess theater on Thursday evening on the question of Irish Freedom. He spoke here under the auspices of the local council of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. His talk was enthusiastically received and frequently interrupted by applause.

Mr. Manahan spoke in favor of the Irish cause from an economic rather than a sentimental standpoint. He endeavored to show the oppression of Ireland at the hands of the British empire by a description of tariff laws and taxation. Ireland and England, he stated, have no common ancestry, no common customs, no common traditions and no common religion, particularly emphasizing the fact that the subject of religion had no bearing on the present situation, aside from the religious element injected purely as propaganda.

He likened the present domination of Ireland by England to that imposed upon the thirteen colonies by the mother country, as shown by our own history. Had England, he said, endeavored to maintain only a political dominance, the Revolutionary war would not have been fought, but when she endeavored to dominate economically by the levying of too burdensome taxes, war and secession became inevitable.

SCHOOL CHILDREN FOUND DEFECTIVE

Red Cross Nurse Discovers Numerous Cases Needing Attention on First Trip.

Marie Knudsen, Pennington county Red Cross nurse, who took up her duties January 1, has submitted a report of activities for the month of January to the nursing committee of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross. Her work for the month because of the condition of the roads, was confined to such outlying districts, rural schools principally, as could be reached by train. Miss Knudsen's report is as follows:

No. of schools visited	18
No. of pupils inspected	301
No. of children found:
Underweight	148
With defective permanent teeth	88
With apparent defective throats	86
With apparent defective eyes	57
With apparent defective hearing	8
With apparent nasal obstruction	35
With skin disease	6
With enlarged cervical glands	17
No. of talks to pupils in class room	10
No. of home visits made	25

Members of the nursing committee state that the outstanding feature of Miss Knudsen's report as to her activities, lies in the number of home visits made, practically all of them having been made on foot. Visits were confined principally to the homes of children whose condition the Red Cross nurse found to be aggravated or critical.

Miss Knudsen has also been interested in a class for the study of home hygiene and care of the sick, which has been conducted at Goodridge during the past month by a representative from the American Red Cross headquarters at Minneapolis. More than 45 persons, children and women of the community, were enrolled as members, and will receive a diploma upon completing the course. The financing of the home nursing course is being done by the Goodridge branch of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Send Many Booklets.

Since the American Legion of Minnesota announced its readiness to mail to each overseas veteran a copy of the French souvenir pamphlet entitled "To Homeward Bound Americans," Legion state headquarters has filled some 1,700 requests for the booklet. Requests should be accompanied by a 2-cent postage stamp and name of overseas organization in which applicant served.

NORTHWEST SMITHS WILL CONVENE HERE

Blacksmiths Will Hold First Annual Meeting in Three Years on February 11.

The annual convention of the Blacksmiths Mutual Benefit association of Northwestern Minnesota will be held at Thief River Falls on Friday. Officers will be elected and other important business matters come before the assembly. The business session will be held at the Commercial club rooms from 2 to 7 p. m., after which a banquet supper will be served at the Hotel Evelyn.

The blacksmiths association has been in existence for several years but no annual conventions were held during 1919 and 1920. Officials state that new life will be brought into the organization by several matters that will be brought up at the meeting of Friday.

HAZEL MAN CLAIMS AWARD ON BUTTER

Correspondent Says Times Article Giving Honor to Local Plant Was Wrong.

In last week's issue of The Times appeared an article headed "Thief River Creamery Product Takes First Prize at Fergus Falls Convention." The Hazel Co-operative creamery now claims the honor. A letter from Paul Borgie, bank and creamery official of Hazel, reads:

"We wish to make a correction to the article as our little creamery deserves the credit at this time. The highest score given to any creamery north of the Norman county line was given to the Hazel Creamery and was 93@ points. We consider this a very high score, knowing that the sample was taken from the churning of an ordinary days run. Our buttermaker, Oscar C. Peterson, rightfully deserves the credit for the highest score in this part of the state, instead of Harold J. Olson of the Thief River Falls creamery whose score was 93 points.

"Our butter factory is a thriving institution and financially the backbone of our community. We have many reasons to believe that the dairy industry coupled with deversified farming is the solution for our community and the sooner this sentiment becomes a reality the better off we will all be."

Mr. Borgie accompanied his letter by a copy of the annual report of the Hazel Co-operative Creamery association, items from which follow:

Butter churned, lb.	59 128
Butter shipped and retailed	58,287
Shrinkage	481
Average of overrun	24.52
Average test	25.03
Average price paid per lb.	6.16c
Cost per-pound	6.59c
Received for butter shipped and retailed	$31,231.17
Paid patrons in cash and butter	28,121.74

SALESMAN NOW ENTHUSIASTIC

"I Can't Praise Tanlac Too Highly," Says Olson—All Troubles Ended.

"The very first Tanlac testimonial I ran across that fit my case sent me to a drug store for a bottle," said Joe. M. Olson, 3824 Tenth Ave., S., Minneapolis, Minn., popular salesman for the Warner Hardware Co.

"For four years I suffered from rheumatism and many times my joints were so stiff and the hurting was so intense I couldn't bend them, and the pains would hang on from three days to a week. At these times I suffered agonies and got frightfully nervous. Nothing did me any good and I tried nearly everything before taking Tanlac

"Tanlac didn't seem to help me from the start either, but as I finished up my third bottle I realized I was getting better. After that I improved rapidly and now I don't have a touch of pain of any kind and my nerves are perfectly steady. I feel that I am perfectly well now, and I can't praise Tanlac too highly for what it has done for me."

Local Doctors Install Added X-Ray Equipment

The medical clinic of Thief River Falls, according to statements made by members on Friday, will have, with the installation of new equipment ordered and already enroute, one of the most complete X-ray laboratories in the Northwest. The equipment originally purchased three years ago has been added to steadily during the past six months and those rooms of the suite in the Citizens State bank building which are devoted to the X-ray department recently re-wired and re-arranged in preparation for the installation of the new instruments.

Rapid strides in radiographic and radio-therapy treatments have been made and members of the clinic state that treatments have been very successful. The Bucky-Potter diaphragm which is soon to be installed, is one of the latest developments in the X-ray field.

It is designated principally for bone and chest work, either floriscopic or photographic. The instrument is also of great use in examinations for gall and kidney stones because of the remarkable clearness of films or vision by means of the floriscope.

The clinic is made up by Doctors O. F. Mellby, A. J. Paulson, H. W. Froehlich and J. F. Fisher.

OFFICE OF COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS, Pennington County.

Thief River Falls, Minn.
February 1, 1921.

To All Rural Teachers:

Based upon all requisition for March examinations received up to this date, I am today in accordance with the state educational department's instructions causing a distribution of the March examination points. Requisitions for March examination questions received on February 1st, or after cannot be considered as my requisition report for the country is due the department on this date.

A county is allowed one examination point for every township. This, however, does not necessarily mean that every township should have an examination point, unless all of the schools in that township have eighth grade examinees and requisition for questions are forwarded. In some cases none of the schools in an entire township wish the examination questions sent to their schools because they have no eighth grade examinees. It therefore becomes the duty of the county superintendent to distribute these twenty-one examination points in accordance with requisitions received, taking into consideration the following facts which enter into the question of establishing these examination points: distance to place of examination; natural barriers, such as rivers and swamps; number of pupils to be examined; means of transportation to examination points; conditions of travelled roads; postal service to examination points and several other reasons too numerous to mention.

The examination districts for the March examinations to be held in this county on March 31 and April 1, 1921, have been selected by complying with above named reasons and are as follows:

District No. 59—Emma Henke, schools grouped: 59, 56, 50 and 5.

District No. 48—Charles O. Asp, schools grouped: 48, 57 and 70 joint.

District No. 10—A. C. Brevik, schools grouped: 10.

District No. 37—Anna Kilen, schools grouped: 37, 38, 47 and 68.

District No. 228J—Anna Tollefson, schools grouped: 228 joint.

District No. 35—Celia Bjorge, schools grouped: 35 and 39.

District No. 30—Hazel Welo, schools grouped: 30, 31 and 28.

District No. 15—Lena Gullingsrud, schools grouped: 15 and 55.

District No. 51—Gerda Sorlum, grouped: 51 and 4.

District No. 133J—Rose H. Votava, schools grouped: 133 joint.

District No. 178—James A. Dahl, schools grouped: 178.

District No. 12—Ida Legvold, school grouped: 12, 6 and 221.

District No. 26—E. A. Mostue, schools grouped: 26 and 165.

District No. 43J—Elsie Randorf, schools grouped: 43 joint; 108 and 1.

District No. 166—Eric E. Anderson, school 166.

District No. 73—Myrtle Satre, schools grouped: 73 and 54.

District No. 25—Mrs. Jens Kierk, schools grouped: 25 and 219 joint.

District No. 140—Tilda Brandrud, schools grouped: 149 and 194.

District No. 180—Anna Barstad, schools grouped: 180, 106 and 7.

District No. 99—Ruth L. Roy, school: 99.

District No. 61—Agnes Forslund, school: 64.

The above named examiners must care for and mark all the papers of every examinee taking the examination at their examination point and observe the following rules:

1. Fill out and sign the Deputy Examiners Certificate.
2. Carry out the provisions of the "Rules for State High School Board Examinations," copy of which will be mailed later together with examination question blanks.
3. Mark all papers in Red Ink.

The Class Lists mentioned in the state rules are for the use of the county superintendent only, and no such lists will be forwarded with the supplies.

All returns from each examination point must be received within one week from the day the examination closed. Returns received later will be refused and returned to the examiner.

Every eighth grade pupil or examinee taking these examinations should be provided with black ink, a pen and blotter or a fountain pen and blotter. Examination blank paper will be sent to the examiner in quantities large enough to care for all the examinees of his or her group.

The school board and teacher should co-operate in caring for transportation of pupils to the examination point and should see to that examiners arrive at the place of examination on program schedule time, as the examiner in charge has the authority to refuse examiners the privilege of an examination in any or all subjects if said examinee does not arrive at point of examination in time. Copies of programs showing the hours of examination will be forwarded to all teachers upon receipt from state department. Programs will also be published in the local newspapers.

Hoping that all teachers and especially those appointed as deputy examiners will abide by the above instructions and rules, I am

Sincerely,
GEO. M. GUNDERSON,
County Supt. of Schools

CLUB MATTERS GIVEN AIRING; FINE OUTCOME

Proposition to Disband Brings Storm Down on Devoted Head of President.

Retiring Leader Also Has Tilt With Spokesman For Merchants Association.

Everybody Now Feels Better and Things Give Promise of Moving Smoothly.

A bomb was dropped in the midst of the Commercial club members in assembly for the annual banquet and installation of officers, when, immediately following the supper, a talk on the financial conditions of today by E. A. Williams of the Government Savings organization, and a discussion as to the early removal of the club quarters to the room in the city auditorium, the incoming president, W. A. Hall, Jr., took the chair and announced that the new board of directors had decided to discontinue the organization. It had been found, he said, impossible to accomplish an amalgamation of the Commercial club and the Merchants association, that the continuance of two similar organizations working in a half-hearted manner was absurd and that it was deemed advisable to discontinue the club until such a time as more co-operation should be forthcoming.

W. B. Fuller immediately rose to his feet and denounced such an idea, following which the retiring president, E. M. Stanton, who had just vacated the chair, rather heatedly stated that the Commercial club should proceed regardless of the Merchants association, that it would go on with himself as the only member if necessary and denouncing the policy heretofore adopted by members of the latter named organization. E. O. Mogensen, a member of both club and association, replied with a spirited argument aimed at Mr. Stanton in which he stated that the merchants as members of the association had always been ready and willing to co-operate but that they had been rebuffed by individuals and officers of the club.

Daniel Shaw, newly elected vice president of the Commercial club, took the floor and in a talk of a soothing nature succeeded in restoring peace and order in the assembly rooms. After much discussion in which many members of the club participated, the retiring president, with a smile, suggested to President Hall that he "take a reef in his galluses" and go ahead and the members of the club would stand behind him. Mr. Hall's look of satisfaction gave evidence that his object in making his opening and abrupt statement had been at least partially accomplished.

A further discussion as to the removal of the club quarters followed. It was voted to vacate the rooms by February 14. The board of directors was designated to act as to any changes necessary to making the room in the basement of the city auditorium, originally designed as a gymnasium and which has been used by the city band for rehearsals and by the city fire department since the construction of the building, habitable as Commercial club quarters. It is thought that a new floor or floor covering will be necessary in addition to other minor changes. Redecoration of the room was also suggested. If possible a small room adjoining the new quarters will be remodeled to serve as a kitchen in order that the weekly club luncheons, which have proven popular, may be continued.

Members of the Thief River lodge of Elks who were present stated that the lodge would take over the present club rooms in the Citizens State bank building immediately upon their being vacated and that such furnishings and equipment as would not be used by club in its new quarters would be purchased for use by the Elks. The latter also plan redecoration of their future quarters and the addition of several office rooms in the building to the suite.

A resolution was passed recommending the appointment of W. A. White, formerly a member of the Nash Brothers wholesale grocery corporation of the northwestern states and at present a holder of large fruit interests in Idaho, to the Inter-State Commerce commission. Mr. White is well known to all large shippers in the northwest and to local dealers and is thought to possess admirable qualifications for a seat on the commission. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to Minnesota congressmen and to President-Eelect Warren G. Harding. Following the passing of the resolution the meeting adjourned.

The weekly noonday luncheon given by the club was not served today because of preparations for serving. The next will be served next Thursday in the new club rooms.

Pennington Winners in Grain Divisions at Fair

In the grain division at the Red River Valley Winter shows at Crookston last week the Pennington county exhibits were given the following positions:

Corn, 10 ear class—First, L. A. Westphal, St. Hilaire. Best peck of wheat—First, W. E. Smith, Thief River Falls; second, Bennie E. Johnson, St. Hilaire. Best peck of oats—First, Joe Mortenson, St. Hilaire; second, Frank Johnson, St. Hilaire; third, Joe H. Singer, Rhoda. Best peck of barley—First, Joe Mortenson, St. Hilaire. Best exhibit of potatoes—First, and second, L. A. Westphal, St. Hilaire; third, Frank Johnson, St. Hilaire.

Ten counties entered in the corn, oats and potato divisions; 11 had wheat entries, and 8 showed barley. While last year was not considered among the best the region has known, the grain exhibits were of excellent quality, comparing very favorable with those of previous years as well as other sections.

Loen Secures Good Position.

Carl E. Loen, who has been in the employ of the Tessum Seed, Grain and Supply company for the past six years in the position of salesman, will leave Friday evening for the twin cities. He has secured a position as salesman for the American Tobacco company in the Crookston territory and will make that place his headquarters.

MRS. GILLER WINS DRAWN-OUT FIGHT IN DISTRICT COURT

Jury Finally Brings in Verdict Against C. L. Hansen and First National Bank.

District court was occupied Wednesday afternoon, Thursday and Friday with the case of Bertha Giller, plaintiff, against the First National bank of Thief River Falls and C. L. Hansen, president of the bank, defendants. After the hearing of evidence over a period of more than 24 hours, the jury was closeted from 9 o'clock Friday evening until 11 o'clock Saturday evening, at which time a verdict in favor of the plaintiff was returned.

Mrs. Giller's contention is that she deposited notes and mortgages with the First National bank solely for the purpose of securing Mr. Hanson's liability as bondsman for her son, Maurice Giller, in the case wherein he was charged with arson in the third degree, and that inasmuch as there was no liability on the bond she was entitled to a return of the collateral securities she had deposited with the bank.

The contention of the defendant is that at the time the bank received the collateral the defendant had notes against the plaintiff's son and that when this collateral was deposited with the bank it was for the purpose of securing Mr. Hanson for his liability as bondsman for Maurice Giller and for the further purpose of securing payment of the Maurice Giller notes held by the bank.

Since the filing of the jury's verdict, Mr. Hansen has announced that the case will be appealed to the supreme court of the state.

H. O. Chommie and E. M. Stanton, Thief River Falls attorneys, represented the plaintiff, and Wm. J. Brown and J. M. Bishop, of Thief River Falls, and Julius Olson of Warren, the defendants.

CHORAL SOCIETY'S FIRST APPEARANCE

New Organization Will Give Public Concert at Auditorium Tuesday, Mar. 1.

The Thief River Falls Choral society will give its first public concert at the city auditorium on the evening of Tuesday, March 1. "Lovely Appear," from "The Redemption" by Gounod, the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah," an arrangement from Wagner's "Tannhauser," and Stainer's "God So Loved the World" A cappella, are some of the numbers which will be presented by the chorus. A piano solo by Miss Laura E. Forde, a violin solo by Miss Ausilga Sorenson and vocal solos by Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, will also be features on the concert program.

The choral society was organized last November with the following officers: Dr. O. F. Mellby, president; W. A. Barnard, vice president; Miss Dora Holmes, secretary-treasurer. Laura E. Forde, acts as accompanist. Rehearsals were held each week during the early part of the winter until recently, when two periods of two hours a week were given to the work. Great progress has been made in choral singing under the direction of Miss Maude L. Johnson, instructor in music in the city schools, and it is conceded that the concert to be presented on March 1 will rival those given by many of the more noted philharmonic organizations of the Northwest. Tickets for the first appearance here of the chorus will be placed on sale at an early date.

The first concert will be followed by an oratorio to be given during the spring months, work on which will begin immediately.

Attending Convention of Friends of Irish Freedom

P. J. Keating and E. M. Stanton are in St. Paul this week as delegates from the Thief River Falls council of the Friends of Irish Freedom to the state meeting held there. The local council has steadily gained in membership and there is considerable interest shown in the movement. Mr. Keating will also take the opportunity offered to look in on the legislature, this being one of his self-imposed duties every year that the body is in session.

SENATE PASSES LAW PROVIDING FLOOD CONTROL

Signature of President to Crown Efforts of Quarter Century With Success.

House Repasses Bill With the Few Unimportant Amendments From Senate.

Most Important Step in Development of This Section Ever Undertaken.

The house of representatives on Monday passed the Red Lake flood control bill with the senate amendments, according to a telegram received by The Times from Congressman Steenerson, and the bill was immediately sent to the President for approval.

The original house bill was passed by the senate last Friday by unanimous vote after having amended the measure in a few unimportant particulars.

The house passed, without a roll call last month, the bill of Representative Steenerson, providing for improvement of Red Lake and Red Lake river in Minnesota. A sharp fight was made against it by Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, who contended that it ought not to be passed under suspension of the rules. The house, however, decided that the measure was of too great importance to delay action upon, and upon the showing made by Representatives Steenerson and Knutson, both of whom explained the necessity for it, it was agreed to.

The project will result in reclaiming about 246,800 acres of land in the Red Lake reservation which are now useless because of their swampy conditions.

Will Reclaim Rich Lands.

"These lands are periodically overflowed and useless for agriculture," said the Minnesota members in urging the passage of the bill. "By the construction of this improvement and suitable laterals they will be made the richest lands in the state.

"Furthermore, there are about 248,000 lands in the state reservation, some of which is already drained, that will be protected from floods. Red Lake is an ideal reservoir for controlling the water, and the erection of this improvement will tend to diminish disastrous floods in the Red River of the North below Grand Forks, N. D."

Approved by Cabinet Members.

The measure has been approved by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Interior. It confers upon the Red Lake conservancy district of Minnesota, authority to deepen and straighten the river and to regulate the height of the water in Red Lake. The work on the reservation must be approved by the secretary of the interior. A further explanation of the bill is found in the following communication from Secretary Baker, sent to the committee on flood control which reported it.

"The bill proposes to authorize the Red Lake drainage and conservancy district, created and organized under the laws of Minnesota, to improve Red Lake and Red Lake river, primarily for the purpose of drainage and land reclamation and incidentally for the better utilization of the waters of these streams for sanitary, domestic and transportation purposes."

Palace Clothing House to Occupy New Home April 1

Louis L. Cohn, proprietor of the Palace Clothing house, in this issue of The Times announces a big removal sale. He has secured a lease on the Dudley building, at present occupied by the Carl Christofferson Grocery store, and will move his stock of clothing and men's furnishings to the new quarters about April 1. Mr. Cohn states that he considers the building in a more advantageous location and one with more available floor space for future increase in stock.

Mr. Christofferson on Wednesday stated that he had not determined on his future place of business nor is it known who will occupy the building to be vacated by Mr. Cohn, as the location is greatly in demand.

SCHOOL BONDS SOLD AT 6 PER CENT PAR

Twin City Concern Takes Entire Issue of $68,000 on Very Favorable Terms.

The sale of school bonds aggregating slightly over $68,000, which was authorized by a vote of four to one at a special election of school district No. 18 held on January 25, was effected to Kalman, Matteson and Wood, a St. Paul corporation, at a special meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education held on Friday evening. The certificates were sold at par value and will bear an interest rate of 6 per cent. The bid was submitted by the Minneapolis Trust company, with whom a contract to produce a bidder on the bond issue at the time of opening of the bids had previously been entered into. A representative of one other twin city financial house was present but declined to submit a bid after that of the above mentioned corporation had been opened. The certificates will reach maturity 15 years from the date of issue, February 1.

The money accruing from the sale of the bonds was made available at the First National bank of Thief River Falls on Tuesday, automatically cancelling school warrants held by city banks which totalled the amount of the bond issue. No part of the funds resulting from the sale remained in the school treasury. The indebtedness of the school district resulted because of the increased cost of operating the schools of the city during the year 1920, for which no increase in tax levy was made during the year 1919. The first settlement from the regular tax levy for 1920 will be received in March. It has been stated that the tax levy for district No. 18 will be increased approximately 25 per cent at the annual meeting of the board of education held next July.

GREAT SHOWING IS MADE BY COUNTY'S LIVESTOCK ENTRIES

Red Polled Cattle and Poland China Hogs Score High at Crookston Exhibition.

Completed reports of the premiums awarded at the Red River Valley live stock show held last week at Crookston prove that Pennington county exhibitors fared particularly well. The record made by the Guernsey breeders has already been published, with the erroneous statement that outside of this division the county failed to make much of a showing. The attention of The Times has been called to this error by James Dreeland of Wylie, who was one of the exhibitors at the show, his entries consisting of Poland China hogs. The showing made by his stock was so exceptional that a detailed account is given below:

Boar, senior yearling, third place against 11 in the ring; senior boar pig, third against 18; junior boar, first and third against 7; sow, two years old and over, fourth against 11; junior yearling sow, third against 7; senior sow, third and fifth in competition with 22 head; junior sow, third and fourth out of 7 showing; graded herd, third place out of nine; young herd, fourth place out of nine; get of boar, third prize; produce of sow, third place. In the amateur class Mr. Dreeland's exhibit took second best on sow, third on best boar and third on best herd.

In this division there were a number of state fair winners and others that had received high places at international shows pitted against the hogs of the Pennington county man, which makes the record of his herd all the more remarkable.

In the Red Polled class all the top prizes were won by the entries of William Novak & Son, whose farm is near Wylie in this county. His herd bull was awarded the senior grand championship and grand championship ribbons, as was also one of his cows and a junior yearling bull. The Novaks also received first on senior yearling heifer, junior yearling heifer and junior calf. The junior heifer was also given the championship ribbon.

PLANS TREATMENT TO HELP CHILDREN

Red Cross Nursing Division May Provide Funds For the More Pronounced Cases.

At a meeting of the directors of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross held at the Commercial club rooms Saturday afternoon, Dr. M. George Milan, chairman of the nursing committee and medical director of the Oakland Park sanitarium, spoke at length on the value of following up the work of the county nurse, Miss Marie Knudsen, with medical treatment for the children of the county. Miss Knudsen's first monthly report, submitted to the nursing committee on Feb. 1, leaves no doubt as to the necessity of prompt action to protect the health of the future citizens, 148 children out of the 301 examined during the month of January having been found underweight, 88 with defective teeth, 86 with defective throats, 57 with defective eyes, 8 with defective hearing, 35 with apparent nasal obstructions, 6 with skin disease and 17 with enlarged cervical glands.

The question of financing treatment for the more pronounced cases was brought up and a committee of three, Rev. R. L. Barackman, Dr. H. W. Froehlich and Mrs. L. G. Larsen, appointed to confer with the directors of the county chapter of the Junior Red Cross in regard to the funds in the treasury of that organization being made available for this work.

Mayor John Bratrud also spoke on the urgency of immediate relief for famine-stricken China and the hordes of suffering and dying children. Mr. Bratrud has called a public meeting to discuss ways and means for raising funds for this worthy cause, and the meeting will be held at the Commercial club rooms on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. A representation of the various civic and religious organizations of the city has been requested to attend. Mrs. J. J. Richter, Postmaster John Morgan and Rev. R. L. Barackman were appointed a committee to represent the Red Cross.

PROSPERITY OF NEAR FUTURE IN PEOPLE'S HANDS

Saving Part of Income Will Soon Straighten Things Out, Says Speaker.

"Wildcat" Investment Schemes and Luxuries Largely Responsible For Conditions.

Securities Offered By Government Are Safest and Most Profitable to Be Had.

E. A. Williams of Long Prairie, a member of the Government Savings organization, was the guest of honor and speaker of the evening at the Commercial club annual meeting and banquet held at the club rooms on Thursday evening. He spoke fo rover an hour on the financial conditions of the present day in a clean-cut forceful manner that won for him the heartiest of applause and a rising vote of thanks from the members of the club assembled to hear him.

Mr. Williams, as head of the Keystone Silo company for this district and a member of the Government Savings organization, is constantly in touch with the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis, other twin city banks and bankers and farmers throughout the states of Minnesota and North Dakota, as well as with the Federal savings department of Washington, D. C. From all of these sources he has gathered his information and the opinions of many of the most prominent financial men of the day. He is at present on a two months lecture program for the savings organization, speaking before the commercial and financial mens' organizations in the larger communities of the two states.

Wildcat Speculation Blamed.

The unprecedented extravagance of the nation, Mr. Williams said in outlining some of the causes of the financial depression, is in part responsible for the present shortage of funds, over seven billion dollars having been spent by the people of the United States on luxuries during the year 1920. The figures for the statement were compiled from the government luxury tax returns. Great sums of money have been sent to European or other foreign countries and Canada as payment for foreign bonds and to take advantage of the rate of exchange for the American dollar. Over two billion dollars were invested in automobiles during 1920. Inconceivable sums were spent in speculation on worthless oil or other blue-sky stock. He further stated that the present situation was the inevitable sequence of the world war and the inflation of prices, though its coming was unduly hastened by the larger banks in the curtailing of credits. Financial experts had judged that the period of depression would not be felt until about five years after the close of the war. He then went on with remedies prescribed by the government and other prominent authorities.

Remedy Lies With People.

It is their opinion that the remedy lies in the hands of, not the great financiers, but of the average citizen of today. He stated that if the laborer, the farmer, the average business man, the salaried man and many others would but save one tenth of their income for the coming year, a reserve would be established and the money situation have returned to normal. He urged the abandonment of speculation in get-rich-quick schemes, and the purchase of foreign bonds which yield a small rate of interest, lauding the investment paying a positive interest of five, six or seven per cent. He urged the buying of government savings stamps or any other issues conductive to a regular savings policy on the part of the average citizen, citing the purpose of the government in offering, during the war and immediately after, for sale securities backed by the Federal government of the United States, which was to counteract just such a situation as exists today by establishing a large reserve. He cited instances in which the plan had worked out as premeditated as in the case of North Dakota, to which state over one and one-half million dollars was returned during the latter part of the year 1920 by the Federal government in redeeming liberty bonds and war savings stamps, the money arriving at a time when it was most urgently needed by the people of the neighboring states.

In closing Mr. Williams spoke of the enormous possibilities of diversified farming in the state of Minnesota. The cows of Minnesota during 1920 produced approximately 50 per cent more wealth than the iron mines of the state, whose sales aggregated over 101 millions of dollars. Statistics, he concluded, go to prove that if the entire bank deposits of Minnesota were to be wiped out, the cows of the state could replace them in the short period of three years and that if the number of cows could be multiplied three times it would take but one year to replace all of the bank deposits.

Business Conditions in East Steadily Improving

H. O. Loken, who with Mrs. Loken returned on Monday from a buying trip to Eastern markets, states that there is a better feeling among business men in that part of the country, due to the increased orders for spring delivery. The large manufacturers, particularly those producing seasonable wares such as women's apparel, are rushing to keep ahead of the demand and on every hand is heard the prediction that there will be a big rush when warmer weather sets in. Things are not moving so fast in retail lines but even among the merchants there is a feeling of optimism.

Mr. Loken made extensive purchases for the spring trade and these have already begun to arrive. As compared with a year or two ago, the prices are away down, a fact that will not fail to meet with a hearty welcome in every section of the country.

Produce Association to Meet.

A meeting of the Pennington County Produce association has been called for 1 p. m., Saturday, Feb. 26. It will be held in the Farm Bureau office in the basement of the Thief River Falls auditorium. The organization is better known as the Potato Growers association.

CALL MEETING TO PLAN RELIEF FOR CHINA'S STARVING

Mayor Asks Citizens to Join With Red Cross in Work of Rescuing Millions.

The following notice has been issued to the citizens of Thief River Falls by Mayor John Bratrud. The matter is one of the greatest urgency and it is expected that Thief River Falls will respond in its usual hearty manner. The Red Cross will take charge of the work but the need is so great and quick action so important that it has been considered best to call in the public generally in order that the widest interest may be taken in the subject at once. The mayor's notice reads:

"Reports of American missionaries and business men, after careful investigation, show that at least fifteen millions of people are seriously affected. Many have died from starvation and many more will thus die unless saved by America. Relief must be carried on until the June harvests. The relief work is conducted almost entirely by volunteers and practically all money sent is expended for food for the actual sufferers. Sufficient food supplies are available in Manchuria. The situation requires generous and immediate support.

"It is the opinion of the executive committee of the Red Cross chapter that a public meeting be called to discuss ways and means to raise funds for this worthy cause, and that such meeting be held on Friday evening, Feb. 18, at 8 o'clock, at the Commercial club rooms.

"Attendance at this meeting by the public generally is urged and requested, and especially a representation from the various civic and religious organizations of the city."

AGAIN STRIKE OUT TO GAIN MEMBERS

Solicitors Will Finish Farm Bureau Drive Started in December and Discontinued.

The Pennington county farm bureau membership drive, which was discontinued in December because of weather conditions and impassable roads, was re-opened on Tuesday morning with A. E. Carlson of Warren and B. O. Norby of Goodridge in the field. Stuart McLeod, prominent Pennington county farmer residing near Goodridge, also took up the soliciting work this morning.

Mr. Carlson has been engaged in making membership drives since last August and at this time holds the honor of being the most successful farm bureau membership solicitor in the entire state. He will conduct his house to house campaign in the eastern section of the county, working out of Highlanding for the next ten days. Mr. Norby, who is superintendent of the Goodridge school, will operate during his spare time in the vicinity of Goodridge. Stuart McLeod will make the western part of Pennington county the scene of his activities.

About one-half of the county remains to be covered by representatives of the farm bureau in their campaign for new members. At the conclusion of Tuesday's work the enrollment of the organization numbered 463 members, both old and new. It is estimated that this number will be increased to seven or eight hundred with the completion of the drive, which will be accomplished as speedily as weather and road conditions permit.

Second Banquet-Lecture at Brumund on Wednesday

The second banquet of the late-winter and spring series given by the Thief River Falls Merchants association will be held at the Brumund hotel on the evening of Wednesday, Feb. 23. J. E. Ebersole, professor of business economics of the University of Minnesota, will be the guest of honor and the speaker of the evening. His subject will be "The Present Business Outlook." The banquet dinner will be served promptly at 6:30. The Merchants association extends to the business and professional men of the city and nearby towns a cordial invitation to attend.

T. Spokely of Rollis was in the city last week attending court.

QUICK DISPOSAL OF MANY CASES SHORTENS TERM

Dismissals and Postponements Feature Hearings Before Judge Grindeland.

Error in Indictment Brings the Brendecke Blindpigging Case to Sudden Stop.

Also Found That Law Does Not Yet Cover Alleged Offenses of "Doctor" Kirby.

The February term of the district court will be abruptly curtailed judging from the manner in which the civil and criminal calendars have been disposed of. Court opened on Feb. 8, with a two-day hearing of appeal from ditch assessments. The case of Bertha Giller, plaintiff, vs. the First National bank and C. L. Hansen, defendants, occupied Thursday and Friday, the court adjourning over Saturday, a legal holiday.

Of the continued civil cases, that of Ed. Christie and William Furstnau vs. Lulu D. Halvorson, G. Halvorson, The Prichard company, The Thief River Falls Manufacturing company, Ed. Lee and the Northwestern Building association of Fergus Falls, has been settled. The jury case of Independent School District No. 102, Pennington county, vs. the Farmers and Merchants State bank of Thief River Falls and L. D. McAdams, has been set for Friday, Feb. 17.

One Divorce Granted.

Under the civil calendar of new cases, that of Jack Doss vs. H. N. Hager has been continued, as has the case of William Schocker vs. Lester E. Gesell. In the divorce case of Trina Aalberg vs. Martin Aalberg, opened Wednesday morning, the defendant failed to appear, and after a short hearing the court granted the divorce.

The matter of the estate of Agnetta Torsen, decedent, Gina Amelia Lindquist, appellant, vs. Ingeborg Pederson, Elisa Anderson and all other objectors, which was heard on Wednesday, was taken under advisement, the objectors being given 20 days in which to file briefs. The cases of Gladys Marie Provencher vs. E. A. and George Mostue have been discontinued for want of prosecution. In the case of K. O. Flakne vs. Andrew O. and Elsie Spokely, the jury issued a verdict for the defendants after a hearing of two hours. The case of Richard Halls vs. George D. Snyder was continued on the motion of defendant on account of the illness of a principal witness.

The case of the State of Minnesota ex rel Theo Quale vs. John Bratrud as city mayor and A. H. Akre as city clerk, and that of Sam McClure and Carl Zwer vs. members of the town board of Sanders township, have been set for March 29.

The jury in the case of Wm. P. Murphy as trustee of the estate of Murray A. Gotham, bankrupt, vs. Murray A. Gotham, Margaret Hill and Bessie Gotham, filed a verdict in favor of defendants. The case of the Red Lake Building association vs. John Horejsch is scheduled for Friday, as is the divorce case of Harry Myrom and Anna Myrom. In the matter of the appeal to the court of T. O. Mogen from the order of the county commissioners in the matter of county ditch No. 68, proceedings were continued, as was the appeal of John Redwing from the same order. The case of John T. Homme vs. T. S. Iverson has been settled.

The criminal cases were even more quickly disposed of. That of the State of Minnesota vs. James Parenteau, an illegitimacy case, was continued. In that of the State vs. Samuel Kirby, proprietor of a 'hospital' east of this city, County Attorney Theo. Quale issued a nolle prosique owing to the fact that the state board of control has not yet approved the rules laid down by the state board of health. Kirby was arraigned on a charge of failing to isolate persons afflicted with tuberculosis, thus violating the rules of the state board of health.

Fred Brendecke, charged with keeping intoxicating liquors illegally, entered a plea of not guilty. On account of a clerical error in the indictment and a consequent confusion as to dates set forth, the indictment was quashed upon motion of the state. Godfried Carlson, charged with selling liquor to an Indian, pleaded not guilty, but the case was continued by consent owing to the fact that the Indian failed to appear. Axel Anderson and Joseph Trudeau, charged with running a gambling house, withdrew their plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. No sentence has been imposed as yet. The case of Arthur Charbonneau, Edward Lane, Richard Bartlett and Victor Norquist, four youths charged with third degree burglary, was also continued, following a plea of not guilty. A. S. Sapero, principal witness, was absent.

The jurors were discharged on Tuesday.

Steam Pipes Burst.

The Knox school was closed today because of the freezing and bursting of steam pipes. It is expected that school will be continued tomorrow.

RECLAIMING AN EMPIRE.

The greatest drawback to the rapid development and settlement of the waste lands of northwestern Minnesota has been an inability to quickly get rid of the flood waters incident to the spring season as well as any surplus that might be precipitated during heavy rain storms. The trouble has not so much been an excess water as a failure to have it carried away before any damage resulted. With the signing of the bill creating the Red River Conservancy and Flood Control commission and giving that body jurisdiction over the carrying out of a plan that will remedy this one serious fault, the district will quickly become the most thickly settled in the entire North as well as the most fertile in the world.

The outcome is the termination of a long struggle. For a quarter of a century various plans for curing this defect have been tried, but with only partial success. Certain districts have been reclaimed and made reasonably safe from these periodical inundations, but very often this has been accomplished at the expense of others. Lack of funds on the part of counties, lack of ability on the part of the state and lack of interest on the part of national legislators have permitted this fruitful region to remain unproductive. Attempts to secure relife have only been indifferently successful.

The measure proposed by the conservancy commission will remedy all this. Drainage of the entire basin will be undertaken in the way it should first have been approached, and that is by providing an outlet of sufficient capacity toward which all surplus waters might be headed. This could only be accomplished through the application of a plan that would embrace the entire basin from the source of its rivers to their natural outlet in the Red lakes. That is exactly what the commission is now empowered to do.

Many men have worked on this plan and to them credit for its success belongs. Congressman Steenerson has labored indefatiguably in behalf of the measure itself as well as for drainage generally. Congressman Knutson is also entitled to a great deal of credit, although his term of service in congress has been much shorter. Supt. G. S. Selvig of Crookston, chairman of the conservancy board, has never permitted the matter to rest and has spent of his time, money and energy in attempts to impress upon congress the necessity for the improvement. The other members of the commission—good men all and thoroughly acquainted with the importance of the job they have been appointed to oversee—will come in for a large share of the credit. There has been co-operation all along the line and this is proven by the result.

There is no danger of the project being permitted to rest where it now stands. The people are too thoroughly awake to its importance to permit any unnecessary waste of time. They have fought and pleaded too long and earnestly to be satisfied with anything short of actual accomplishment. And it may be added that there seems to be no disposition on the part of anyone to do anything except speed the work along.

It is doubtful if our people as a whole realize the vastness of this undertaking. It will take years for even those who are most directly interested to comprehend fully its effect upon the development and prosperity of the region.

It has taken a long time and a hard fight to get this far. Now let all do our part in speeding things up. This can best be accomplished by heartily backing with every means at our command, the commission appointed to look after the carrying out of the actual work.

WANTS "LOOP" RAILROAD.

In another section of today's Times will be found a communication from Mr. W. A. Swanson of Rhoda, which at least has the merit of proposing something new. The idea is worthy of the most serious consideration on the part of every citizen of Thief River Falls as well at the rest of the county. The article will be found full of interesting facts and suggestions and is well worth perusing as the contributor has evidently given the subject long and careful study.

Accompanying the communication is a letter in which Mr. Swanson says: "Our first writeup on this subject appealed to people in the eastern part of the county in no uncertain way, hitting the mark to the dot. Yet at that time we made no attempt to unfold the proposition we had in mind, simply touching upon the subject in a brief way.

"The proposed addition to the electric line would give place to three new towns in the county, the first of these being Highlanding. The section tributary to this point includes some of the best land in the county. The next town of importance would be Rhoda, which would be the terminal point on the line going south. This station would also be set in a stretch of country of the choicest kind.

"Some place between Rhoda and Hazel there is room for another little town—preferably in the western part of Mayfield township. Here again the same advantages as noted in the case of the two above mentioned will be found. In short, if this proposed line were to be established it would tap the very heart of Pennington county."

There is nothing fanciful about this proposition so far as The Times can see. The financial returns from such an extension are not near as problematical at this time as was the case when the electric line was first built from Thief River Falls to Goodridge. Railroads are not extending now days as they were at that time, it is true, but on the other hand no such reward for extension was then apparent. The probabilities are that some such plan was in the minds of those who first saw the possibilties of a line eastward from Thief River Falls and that circumstances since have made it impossible to go any farther. However that may be, this is certainly a good time to bring the matter up for consideration. It is a subject of very decided interest to the people of a large section of the county and particularly to the business men of Thief River Falls.

NO ESCAPING THE COST.

School district number 18 of Pennington county has found it necessary to borrow some $70,000 in order to meet its current obligations. This puts Number 18 in the same class with about ninety per cent of the school districts of the country. Unless extraordinary foresight on the part of school boards was exercised at the time levies for the year were made, there has been no escape. Instances of such foresight have not yet come to light.

It is costing a lot of money to run our schools—not only "our" schools here in Thief River Falls, but all schools everywhere. In quite a number of quarters the expression is heard that something must be done to check the expense.

That's easy. Take any group of four or more men discussing the subject and you will find disclosed a number of very good ideas as to just what system should be followed in order to cut down costs.

Citizen No. 1 will say: "There is too much foolishness connected with our schools at the present time. Take these farming classes, for instance. There was nothing like that in my time and I fail to see any value in them."

"Is that so?" replies Citizen No. 2, with spirit. "You may feel that way about it because you live in the city, but we fellows who are farming in this neighborhood are entitled to some consideration. I agree that there is a lot of unnecessary stuff being taught, but agriculture is certainly not one of them. Take domestic science, now, that looks like a silly waste of money to me."

"You have another 'look' coming in that case," says Citizen No. 3. "I suppose us chaps who have no boys in school but who do happen to have two or three girls there are entitled to no consideration whatever. I would have you remember that we pay as much of the taxes as you do and that our girls are entitled to as good schooling as are your boys. This manual training, however, could be quite easily dropped without injuring anybody."

"That's the foolest remark I have heard in a long time," says Citizen No. 4. "I have two boys in that division at high school and, by gum, they are going to stay there. A little while ago there was a display of furniture and other articles made by the boys of the manual training department placed in a store window in this city and attracted more attention than a circus parade. It proved that when these boys are through high school they will actually know something about work and be prepared to go out and get a job. You fellows make me tired."

And so it goes on. Everybody is willing that something shall be cut out, providing it does not interfere with what his own children are being taught. Thinking it over for a short time, however, these men all agree that nothing can possibly be omitted while it is quite probable that new things will have to be added. The outcome is that they decide to pay the bill and curtail expenses in some other direction, bonds are authorized and better school service than ever demanded.

No community can progress and skimp its schools, and the people of Thief River Falls have repeatedly proven that they do not intend to have any attempt made in that direction. They may scowl a little at the price but they will never do anything to lower efficiency.

It will only be a short time until the boys and girls who are now costing so much will themselves be paying the bills. The better the education they have when that time comes the better they will be able to meet the demands made upon them. And we must remember that the demands will be made whether they are equipped to meet them or not. It is not likely that school costs in a rapidly growing community will decrease to any extent in the years to come. In fact, unless our system of education is of such progressive nature that our children's children will receive better schooling than it has been possible for us to give the former, the entire plan may as well be scrapped and a new one tried. A good education costs more than a poor education and the better it is made the more it will cost. We might as well look this fact in the face and make up our minds to have the best. We hail with enthusiasm every plan that promises to turn out of our schools more efficient young men and women and we will have to learn that these new plans cannot be employed without their costing money. Whether they cost more than they should depends entirely upon the quality of the finished product—today's students but tomorrow's taxpayers.

THE EXAMINER'S REPORT.

The business affairs of the city of Thief River Falls are being properly and economically conducted and the officials attending to their duties in a highly commendable manner, according to the report of the public examiner who went over the books about a week ago and whose report is now in the hands of the council. This is exactly what everybody expected would be the case—or nearly everybody.

Suggestions are made which will prove helpful to council, clerk and treasurer in the future, but these are not offered in a spirit of criticism of what has been done heretofore. It is doubtful if an examiner ever went over the books of a municipality without finding something to either correct or suggest. That's what examiners are for.

It is an easy matter for any citizen to stand on the sidelines and declare that things should be handled in such and such a manner, but they would find it a different problem were they to try their hand at running this city—or any other city for that matter. People are pretty much alike, no matter where found. Those in office are constantly trying to push their town ahead with as little expenditure as possible while those who elected these same men wonder how in thunder they manage to spend so much money and still have so little in the way of actual achievement to show for it. It is perhaps a good thing for a community to have both kinds.

At any rate, there is nothing wrong with the conduct of affairs in Thief River Falls. Many things could have been done differently, of course, but whether or not that different way would have proven any better is an open question which each of us will answer according to his own particular views.

THE LAST NUMBER.

But one number remains to be presented in the lyceum course arranged for by the Woman's club. It is said to be the best of the series and if advance notices go for anything those who make this claim will not have to make excuses.

Taken as a whole the series has admittedly been a success, at least as concerns quality. In point of attendance there is perhaps another view to take of the matter, but as this also has been much better than usual comment is here out of place.

The securing of these unexcelled entertainments for the people of Thief River Falls is due to the efforts of the Woman's club and their success is directly traceable to the efforts put forth by the members of that organization. No one else could have done it and it is not likely that any others would have tried. The lyceum course only adds another item to the long list of fine things our citizens owe to the club, and it is doubtful if any acknowledgment of the service is either expected or particularly desired.

Stricklan Gillilan, the funniest cuss in America, will be the attraction next Wednesday evening and his entertainment forms the closing number of the series. It should not be necessary to urge upon our citizens the wisdom of attending. In fact, in case there are any who are so constituted that laughter is not good for them, it might be better to advise them to stay away. But if you still find hearty laughter conducive to your health and happiness, do not make the mistake of staying away.

EFFERVESCENCE.

This column being very much in an embryonic stage as yet, it will be quite the thing to comment on the "Baby Carriages Retired" sign. Many a well-meaning couple has had the firmest of intentions in that respect, but the stork continued to call.

"Horse Kicks Man On Head; Breaks Leg." And the article under the headline goes on to state that "the leg was broken and had to be shot."

May Hold Installation in Elks' New Quarters

The regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Lodge of Elks to be held at the Masonic hall on Friday evening, will be the last occasion on which nominations for officers for the ensuing year will be received. The annual election of officers will take place on Friday, March 4, and the installation on Friday, March 18. It is hoped that the latter event will take place in the new lodge rooms in the Citizens State bank building.

Public Forum

Wants Loop Railroad.

To the Business of Thief River Falls and to Whom It May Concern:

About three weeks ago we suggested a plan for extending a branch of the Electric line from Goodridge to Highlanding. We are now going to suggest to you a better plan, a plan that will help make Thief River Falls a real business center for all of the Pennington county population, and more, and at the same time put the land owners of the county within a five or six mile distance of a railroad town.

Our present electric line train service can only serve but a part of the people residing within the county in a satisfactory way. There is no reason why it should continue indefinitely to do business on such a principle, when it can be made to serve the entire population of the county, and more, in a satisfactory way.

The Electric line, with a little additional construction work added to it, can be made into a real gold mine for Thief River Falls and it also can at the same time be made the means of making Pennington county one of the most preferable spots of Northern Minnesota to live in.

Up to the present time Pennington county has only reached the half-way stage of development. The dredging of the Red Lake river and a proper railroad system within the county will bring about a condition of things that will be the making of Thief River Falls and Pennington county.

In recent years Norway and Germany have adopted what is called a "Loop Railroad system," that being the latest and most approved plan of building up the principal towns and the surrounding country, and it is without doubt the right plan for any country to adopt in bringing about the desired result. We will therefore suggest that the Electric line be made into a "Loop Railroad" in order to rightfully serve the needs of Pennington county, and the city of Thief River Falls.

A loop system of service would give the entire country a two trains a day accommodation, and it would more than double the present freightage and passenger traffic to Thief River Falls right from the start, and what it would mean in the near future can scarcely be overestimated at this time. And all with the same equipment that now serves but a small portion of the country.

There is not a man in Thief River Falls but what will be benefitted directly or indirectly under such a plan, nor is there a farmer within the county or the territory embraced but what will largely share in the benefits thereof.

Our plan is this: We propose the Electric line be extended from Goodridge by going due south on the first quarter line east of town; thence on past Highlanding to Rhoda; then turn and go due west on quarter line through sections 17 and 18 of Deer Park, sections 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 of Mayfield, and sections 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and to a point in section 18 of Wyandotte township, where connections must be made onto the main line about two miles south of Hazel. By doing so we can have the "Loop system of railroad service" in Pennington county in a modern way.

The farmers of eastern Pennington county do not demand that you citizens and businessmen of Thief River Falls shall build this line for themselves. Indeed not. They simply ask you to consider the proposition from a business standpoint. The farmers themselves are liberally going to support the plan and if possible, grant a free right-of-way. All they ask of you is your co-operation and a reasonable support to help put Pennington county and Thief River Falls "over the top."

Yours respectfully,
W. A. SWANSON.

"One of my manufacturers asked me recently what I consider the best mediums for food advertising in New York city. I replied something like this: 'The New York distributors are agreed upon this point; that magazine advertising does not help much in New York territory. All other forms, signs, billboards, street cars and newspapers, should be employed if appropriations will permit. Of these the newspaper is most effective. If only one medium can be used it should be the newspaper. For introductory work in particular it has no real competitor.'"

New Lamp Burns 94 per cent Air

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, S. Y. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

School Board to Enforce Curfew Ordinance Strictly

As the result of a prolonged discussion at the regular meeting of Monday evening, the board of education will make an effort to have city officials take the necessary steps to rigidly enforce the curfew ordinance. It has been found that much inefficiency among school children is resulting from the keeping of late hours and that many of those of school age are to be found at all hours of the evening congregated at regular "hang outs." The ordinance calls for the sounding of the curfew at 8 p. m. during the winter months and at 9 p. m. during the summer months.

Rail Notes

Must Hold Hearing Before Railroad Wages Can be Cut

Right of railroads arbitrarily to reduce wages of employes was denied by the federal railroad labor board in a decision at Chicago on Monday. The board's ruling was contained in a ruling on the petition of employes of the Erie road to prevent the management from putting into effect drastic salary reductions and changes in hours of work.

No change shall be made in the existing scale and working conditions before the board has an opportunity to hear the case. The hearing was set for Feb. 23.

The employes charged that the road attempted to put into effect a reduction in wages of track laborers to 20 cents an hour; ordered train dispatchers to work seven days a week without relief, and ordered the deductions of the earnings of telegraphers for Jan. 31, whether they worked or not on that day.

Further conference between the employes and the road was suggested by the board.

Further Reduction in Forces.

Five coach cleaners of the car department at Thief River Falls—Paul Nybakken, C. M. Ryan, Geo. Kassa, Amos Peterson and Andrew Hogen—have been relieved from further duty owing to a reduction in forces. Edward Hance and Jens Olauson have been transferred from positions as coach steam heat men to the rip track, and Carmen Ralph Longair, Emil Rausch, Jacob Hermanson and Peter Olson from night duty in the train yards to day duty on the rip track, by way of further securing greater efficiency from those employed in consistence with the general falling off of business. The car department has given its employes steadier employment than other departments, few hands having been released from duty, owing to the fact that a five-day week was recently placed in effect as an alternative.

John Kassa, employed at the division car shops, returned to duty on Monday after an absence of two weeks on account of sickness.

Olaf Hall, carman apprentice, who has been absent from duty for the past two weeks on account of the mumps, returned to work on Tuesday.

Thief River Falls travelers over the division during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gillespie to Warren; Milton Lund to Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Elofson to Minneapolis and Grove City; Geo. Erickson to Glenwood; John Eliason to Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Erickson to Orleans; Orval Herron to Viking; Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Swanson to Minneapolis.

George E. White, formerly employed by the Soo line here, left for St. Paul on Saturday enroute for his home at Chicago.

Mrs. W. H. Funnell returned from Glenwood on Tuesday.

B. C. Watt, towerman at Detroit, was called to Minneapolis over Sunday, Monday and Tuesday by the illness of his mother. He was relieved by Henry C. Holzgrove, who was later put on as regular towerman, second shift, relieving Herbert Foss, resigned.

F. C. Paine, agent at Erskine, resumed work on Feb. 10, relieving A. E. Swan, transferred to Devils Lake as regular agent, where he relieved H. Carlson, granted a leave of absence on account of sickness.

W. F. Hanson has been appointed caretaker at Karlstad, vice Mrs. C. T. Franson, resigned.

Judge For Yourself
We have advocated the securing of building material NOW so constantly that many no doubt believe it has been done for the purpose of boosting sales only and that lower prices might be expected to prevail within a short time. This is a mistaken opinion.
THERE IS ONE WAY IN WHICH OUR STATEMENTS CAN BE VERIFIED—
Come to our office and get prices on the bill of goods you need. In no other manner can you find out how the prices really are. We say without fear of being called to account, that building materials are at their lowest right now. We can prove this fact to you if you will step in and give us the chance. Don't you think it will be to your advantage to take things over with us? We can now supply materials of all kinds. Later there will be an increased demand and consequently higher prices.

Society and Club

Entertains Informally.

Mrs. H. W. Miller informally entertained a few of her friends at her home Saturday evening. Cards and dancing were enjoyed.

Entertain at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Erickson entertained a few of their friends on Sunday evening, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mr. Erickson.

Surprise Party.

Twelve girls surprised Miss Margaret Roark at her home on Saturday evening. Music and parlor games made up the entertainment. Delicious refreshments were served before the guests departed.

Entertains Bridge Club.

The bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Nels Christianson at her home on Monday evening. Mrs. F. J. Stebbins will entertain the club next Monday evening.

Entertains For Miss Booren.

Honoring Miss Winnie Booren of Stillwater, who is a guest at the G. W. Booren home, Mrs. G. W. Connell entertained informally at her home Friday afternoon.

Social Welfare.

The Social Welfare section of the Woman's club will meet at the home of Mrs. P. W. Mabey on Monday afternoon, Feb. 21, and will be entertained by Mrs. Mabey, assisted by Mrs. LaBree.

For Miss Booren.

In compliment to Miss Winnie Booren of Stillwater, who is a guest at the home of her brother, Dr. G. W. Booren, Mrs. Booren informally entertained a number of friends at her home Saturday afternoon.

Presbyterian Ladies' Aid.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Geo. Nicholson on Friday afternoon, Feb. 25, and will be entertained by Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. Sterns. Lunch will be served promptly at four o'clock.

Mrs. M. W. Brink Hostess.

The musical section of the Woman's club met at the residence of Rev. R. L. Barackman on Tuesday evening, with an attendance of about fifteen members. Mrs. M. W. Brink was hostess and was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Barackman, in the serving of a light lunch.

Entertained.

On Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. A. Wasgren, 524 LaBree avenue north, Miss Lavina Adams entertained a number of her friends. The guests were Misses Gerda Mortenson, Amelia Hoorn, Alice Benson, Effie Hamry, Carrie Trogan, Viola Nepper and Esther Gjertson.

Miliander-Pederson.

Miss Agnes Miliander and Anton M. Pederson were quietly united in marriage at Winnipeg on Wednesday, Feb. 2. Miss Miliander was a nurse in this city for a number of years and will be remembered by many of our people. Mr. and Mrs. Pederson will reside at Hazel Dell, Sask., Can.

Lodges to Have Party.

The members of the Eastern Star and Masonic lodges and their friends will enjoy a social time at the Masonic hall Monday evening, Feb. 21, in honor of Washington's birthday. All decorations and appointments will be patriotic. Cards, dancing and refreshments is the program for the evening.

Surprise Party.

The Young Peoples society of the Zion Lutheran church perpetrated a complete surprise for Mr. and Mrs. T. Rierson on Monday evening in the basement of the church. The evening was devoted to conversation and music. The honored pair were presented with a lovely bowl and a handsome library lamp as a remembrance of the occasion.

St. Valentine Party.

Among the enjoyable affairs held in observance of St. Valentine's day was the party given on Monday evening by Mrs. L. H. Larsen at her home in commemoration of the 11th birthday anniversary of her daughter, Lucille. A color combination of red and white featured all the decorations. Music and games were enjoyed until the lunch hour, after which tobogganing was indulged in.

The guests were Clara Klungness, Dorothy Shirley, Ansof Dahlen, Lucy Nason, Sannia Erickson, Lucille Hermansen, Katherine Bakke, Kathryn Mellby, Harriet and Theresa Fuller. Miss Beatrice Erickson assisted the hostess in the serving of refreshments.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The W. C. T. U. will be entertained on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 22 by Mrs. C. G. Hillard and Mrs. C. Storholm at the home of the former.

Bridge Party.

Mrs. Nels Christianson and Mrs. J. O. Yotter shared honors in a bridge party at the home of Mrs. Yotter on Thursday afternoon. Five tables were in play. High honors were awarded to Mrs. Victoria McKinney and Mrs. W. H. Frederick held the low score. A delicious lunch concluded the afternoon.

Dinner Party.

Mrs. A. Bottelson delightfully entertained a number of her friends at a 6:30 dinner at her home on Saturday evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Cronkhite, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McClelland, and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Streeter.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Woman's club was held on Monday afternoon at the Commercial club rooms, with a fairly large attendance. The study lesson was led by Mrs. P. W. Mabey, assisted by several women in the club. A business meeting preceded the lesson. Several of the members of the club agreed to attend the school of instruction held at Warren this week.

Mrs. Froehlich to Speak.

Mrs. H. W. Froehlich of Thief Thief River Falls, state chairman of thrift, is to appear on Friday's program at the mid-winter meeting of Federated clubs to be held at Minneapolis this week. Among the women from this city who will be in attendance are Mrs. Daniel Shaw, president of the local club; Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, secretary, and Mrs. Froehlich. Mrs. Shaw left on Wednesday evening while the two latter will leave this evening.

Entertains.

Mrs. R. H. Ross entertained eight girls at her home on LaBree avenue Friday evening in compliment to Miss Johanna Wedul, who is making her home there while attending school in this city. Valentine decorations and favors were used. Parlor games, music and cards made up the entertainment. The guests present were, Misses Frances Wengler, Helen, Grace and Olive Skramstad, Clara Ostby and Julia Langaas. At 11 o'clock a delicious lunch was served.

School of Instruction.

A two-day school of instruction for the League of Women Voters is being held at Warren over yesterday and today. Miss E. Knuebuhl, active in work connected with the education of women along political lines, will conduct the meeting. Many interesting facts regarding political phases of particular interest to women and the purpose of the league will be explained. Several members of the organization in this city are in attendance. Among the speakers on today's program is Mrs. J. M. Bishop of this city.

McCrum-Bragg.

Miss Frances Lucia McCrum, formerly of this city, was married at Washington, D. C., on February 5 to Harry J. Bragg. Miss McCrum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. McCrum, residing in Smiley township, and is a highly esteemed young lady who grew to womanhood here and received her education in the city schools. After her graduation from the local high school she engaged in teaching for a number of years. During the war she took an active part in governmental service, four of her brothers and one sister serving at the same time. Mr. Bragg is a young Southerner who fought with the A. E. F. in France. It is an interesting fact to know that he is a cousin of General Bragg of Civil war fame. The Times joins with the many friends of the bride in extending best wishes.

Auxiliary Holds First Reception.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Thief River Falls Legion entertained for ex-service men and women and their families at the Commercial club rooms on Wednesday evening. Games, music and dancing were the chief forms of entertainment. At mess call a chow line formed in a hurry and the mess sergeants of the auxiliary doled out sandwiches, doughnuts and hot coffee in generous quantities. Unlike the regulation sergeant, the hostesses insisted upon everyone having "seconds."

The attendance at this first reception given by the auxiliary was beyond expectations and the evening proved an enjoyable one. The organization plans to hold two meetings each month, one of them the regular business meeting and the other an "open house" to former service men much along the lines of last evening's social time.

Community Club Anniversary.

Plans are under way for unique entertainment in the form of an indoor carnival to be given at the next meeting of the Girls' Community club on Monday evening at the Commercial club rooms. This will be the club's second birthday and all members are especially invited to attend this meeting. In the past two years the club has been recognized as one of the foremost social organizations in the city. Great credit for the success of the past year's activities is to be given to Miss Marie Nelson, president, who has been unceasing in her efforts to promote interest in the organization. Not only has it been a success socially but many acts of charity can be accredited the club. It is the president's wish that members be on time at this meeting so that no feature of the splendid enertainment in store will be missed.

American Legion Corner

A bulletin issued by the state department of the American Legion Auxiliary states that many men who were gassed or in the incipient stages of tuberculosis and who were discharged without being marked disabled, are now requiring hospitalization, and that recent reports show that cases of disability are appearing among the ex-service men at the rate of 15,000 monthly.

Legionnaires Face Unknown.

Morlan H. Bishop was among those from this district who attended the state-wide initiation ceremony at the K. C. hall, St. Paul, on Lincoln's birthday, when some 400 Minnesota Legionnaires were introduced into the mysteries of the "Forty Hommes et Eight Chexeaux" society. State Commander Vernon and Adjutant O'Toole were among those initiated. It is planned to make the organization state-wide but at the present time it was possible to initiate only 15 service men from each judicial district.

Since the Minnesota Legion auxiliary held its state convention in November and took over the work of state organization, previously carried on from Legion State headquarters, the number of Minnesota Auxiliary units has rapidly increased. Among those recently organized are: Thief River Falls, Welcome, Benson, Royalton, Ashby, Faribault, Villard, Clements, Luverne, Eveleth, Plainview, Mora, Waterville, Canby, Hanley Falls, Norcross, Ely, Le Sueur, Fergus Falls, Ogilvie, Jasper, Edgerton, Hanska and Minneapolis Naval Post. Dr. Helen Hughes Hielscher is the state president and Mrs. A. V. Denman is the state secretary. Auxiliary state headquarters are at Mankato.

Obituary

Mrs. Lars Furan.

Mrs. Lars Furan died at her home at Rosewood on Sunday morning at the age of 38 years, the cause of death being given as the "sleeping" flu. Funeral services were held at Rosewood yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Furan was a sister of Mrs. S. Benson of this city and the family resided here for several years before removing to Rosewood.

Mrs. C. J. Kunz.

Mrs. C. J. Kunz of Dickenson, N. D., died at her home on Tuesday, Feb. 8, following a two weeks illness. A surgical shock following an operation on the gall bladder was given as the cause of her death. She will be remembered by residents of this community as Dorothy Gobler, sister of Fred Gobler, assistant postmaster, with whom she formerly made her home here. Mr. Gobler was in Dickenson for the funeral on Thursday, returning to Thief River Falls on Saturday.

State Milk Record Broken By Red River Valley Cow

The Minnesota state record for milk production during the seven day period was broken last week by Neelpje Mercedes De Kol Homeland, the seven year old Holstein cow on the P. Frost Spaulding farm near Warren. The cow gave 845.5 pounds of milk in seven days, her highest production for a single day being 129.7. The former record was 795.1 pounds. A state inspector is at the farm and will remain until the completion of a thirty day test.

Editorial.

ne of the greatest causes of the sent unsettled conditions is a lack confidence. Here, also, we may e an example from Lincoln. While was president he went through eater trials than any we have to- y, but he continued his course un- veringly, confident that he was in right, and that right would win. had confidence in his fellowmen, d never gave up what he considered righteous cause, even though the tlook was often dark. Though peo- were often mistrustful of each ner, they could not mistrust their esident, whose sincerity and com- ete honesty left no room for doubt to his aims and intentions.

Lincoln's Birthday was observed at ne Lincoln High on Friday the 11th by the singing of several national songs, and a talk on the life of Lincoln by Supt. Ziegler.

In these times of haste, clamor and indecision it behooves us more, perhaps, than at any other time to visualize the life of that greatest of all Americans, the one great man of whom criticism is regarded as almost sacrilege, Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln never was in a hurry. His were always calm, deliberate decisions, made only after the most thorough and unprejudiced consideration. Lincoln never said, "This is my opinion. This is what I think ought to be done." He reasoned a thing out until he came to a firm conclusion, and then he said, "This is what conditions make it necessary to do."

Class Games.

Interclass Schedule.

Much interest has been taken in the class games played this last week. As yet only one half of the schedule has been played. The events are as follows: Monday, Feb. 7, Seniors 13; Freshmen, 7; Juniors, 7; Sophomores, 4.

Tuesday, Feb. 8: Seniors, 13; Juniors, 23; Sophomores, 6; Freshmen, 18.

Thursday, Feb. 10: Seniors, 7; Juniors, 5; Sophomores, 14; Freshmen, 7.

The teams will not meet until Thursday of this week when only two games will be played. The others will be postponed for a few days. At Present the Seniors are holding first place, with the Juniors coming second. The games will be continued within a short time with keener competition by all the classes.

Wins Easy Victory.

On last Thursday evening the high school quint took the Argyle quint into camp for a trimming.

The game was not all that was anticipated. It opened with slow playing on the part of Thief River and with poor team work on the part of Argyle. The first field basket was scored by Thief River and was shot by Ralston, and from then on the scores began to pile up, for Thief River but not as fast as they should have.

By the end of the first quarter the score was 4 to 2 in favor of Thief River Falls. The second quarter was played at the same lagging speed but the boys were more successful in finding the basket and ended the half by a score of 18 to 3. The third quarter was the fastest of the whole game and ended by a score of 22 to 3. The last quarter was not as exciting as it might have been, although they managed to cage a few more baskets and ended the game by a score of 32 to

The lineup was as follows:

R. F.		Argyle
arson	F	Aftefield
alston	F	Swanson
aBree	C	Nelson
erron	G	Pefferson
Sorenson	G	Ribard

Field goals: Ralston 7, Larson 3, LaBree 1, Herron 4, Sorenson 1, Afterfield 1, Nelson 1.

Free throws: Ralston 0 out of 3; Afterfield 2 out of 6.

Chapel Friday Morning.

After having heard the stirring speech by Mr. Ziegler on Friday morning and after having sung some patriotic songs, I'm sure there wasn't a single student that left the assembly without a better feeling in their heart. They naturally couldn't help it after Mr. Ziegler had told of the big heart of our past president, and greatest of great statesmen, Abraham Lincoln. He laid stress on Lincoln's love for his boy Tad, and the relation that existed between these two. He also emphasized Lincoln's failure to ever punish an innocent wrong, which he illustrated with a few incidents concerning Tad.

There is practically no school within our country that doesn't celebrate in some way the birthday of Abraham Lincoln.

T. R. F. Wins Contest.

Last Friday evening Lincoln high school entered the race for state championship in oratory. In the declamation and oratorical contest which was held here Thief River Falls made first place in oratory and came in second in declamation. Red Lake Falls won first place in declamation and came in second in oratory, placing Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls on about the same level.

Five towns were represented in this contest: Roseau, Red Lake Falls, Mahnomen and Thief River Falls.

The program was opened with a piano solo entitled: "Drifting," by Pearl Weeks. The solo was rendered in a talented manner and was enjoyed by all the listeners.

The contestants in declamation and oratory spoke in the following order:

Declamation.

1. "A Child's Dream of a Star," by Alleyne Froggat, Roseau, Minn.
2. "Trial of Ben Thomas," by Violet Finstad, Erskine, Minn.
3. "A Man Without a Country," by Myrtle Krohn, Thief River Falls.
4. "Lion and the Mouse," by Durah Lilly, Mahnoman.
5. "A Man Without a Country," by Godelyn Cadeaux, Red Lake Falls.

Oratory.

1. "A Plea For Cuba," by Vernon Caine, Roseau.
2. "A Plea For Cuba," by Palmer Budahl, Erskine.
3. "Tousaint L Ouverture," by George Pushinski, Red Lake Falls.
4. "President Wilson's Message to Congress," by Sterling McGrath, Mahnoman.
5. Patrick Henry's speech: "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death," by Edward Fitterman, Thief River Falls.

F. P. Wirth and F. L. Edson, both of Bemidji State Normal school and R. O. Bagley, Supt. of Bemidji public schools, acted as judges.

Lincoln high school is proud of having a representative to the next oratorial contest and we hope that we may also be represented in the final state contest as Edward Fitterman is not the kind to be beaten. We think this an easy possibility.

Rumors.

It has been rumored that the high school faculty members are planning on presenting a "comedy" in the near future. We know they are a capable body and are looking forward to see them pull some "A plus" stuff along that line. But listen, don't tell anyone because the faculty wants to keep it a secret.

The Girls' basket ball game which was to have been played here with Climax Friday, was called off but indications are that Climax will appear here at a later date.

Miss Swift in Sten II: "Adolph, what does respiration mean?"

Adolph: "To Sweat."

Orcestra Organized.

A high school orcestra has been formed with Mr. Snyder of Snyder's orcestra, this city, as director. This organization has not as yet been fully organized but it will be an important factor in the school life. The last high school orcestra was organized by Grant Wells, a high school instructor, three years ago, and was a complete success. There is no reason why this new orcestra under Mr. Snyder's direction should not attain as complete a success as this former organization, and the students of the high school will give their wholehearted support. There is not a large attendance as yet in this organization. All people who have any musical ability along this line are urged to join.

Sun as Energy Source.

The following paper was written by a general science student:

The sun is the central heating plant of the universe, which makes life, both animal and vegetable, possible. Energy cannot be created or destroyed, but this would not be available for our use if light and heat had not been applied to vegetation on the earth's surface. The sun made the earth warm and the conditions desirable for a very luxuriant growth of plant life. As this died it was imbedded in the soil and rotted. Being protected from the action of the air it slowly hardened into the familiar form we see today—coal, or the decomposing material may have been of such a nature as to give off a substance called petroleum which has become very necessary to human beings, and from this lighter oils are refined. Thus we find that although the sun is not at present used directly as a source of energy, it really is the primary source of all of our power.

Honor Roll.

The following are the monthly and the semester honor rolls of the high school. The monthly requires that the student must have ten points counting all the grades received during the month; the semester honor roll requires all the grades of every month in the semester.

The following are those who attend the monthly honorary standard for December: Dreng Bjornaraa, Evelyn Saugen, Adolph Sundrud, Harold Smithers, Besty Ness and Mary Vance. Juniors: Ingeborg Barstad. Sophomores: Lucille Curtis, Ole Helle, Nella Knutson and Lorrayne Crandall, and Freshmen: Esther Lundsetter, Gladys Russue, Margaret Melgaard and Albert Stengelsen.

Those of the semester honor roll are: Seniors, Dreng Bjornaraa, Lois Struble, Ida Shields, Amy Sorlom, Bennie Lind, Annie Hincik, Olga Svensgaard, Evelyn Saugen, Hugh McDaniel, Valerrie Parenteau, Adolph Sundrud, Marguerite DeCremer, Harold Smithers, Henry Olson, Edward Fiterman, Myrtle Krohn, Esther Sourds, Anna Leimers, Vernon Copp, Eileen Herron, Mildred Hauglid, Ruth Hadrath, Chester Dols, Mary Vance, Lillian Eide, Clarence Knudsen. Juniors: Gregory Werstlein, Augusta Beiswenger, Gladys Maland, Helen Lingseth, Julia Langaas, Bessie Elofson, Grace Craik, Sabina Parenteau, Paul Halseth, Myrtle Myrin Ingeborg Barstad, Bertha Husfad, Leslie Bigelow and Boletta Sanden. Sophomores: Ole Helle, Clarence Smith, Lydia Dahlen, Lucille Curtis, Lorrayne Crandall, Elsie Buringrud, Caroline Aspelin, Viola Buringrud, Josie Lindeboja, Nomie Pederson, Borghild Wollen and Pearl Weeks. Freshmen: Esther Lundsetter, Eleanor Werstlein, Lillie Stenseth, Elsie Blair, Ethel Erickson, Lillie Johnson, Albert Stenglesen, Margaret Melgaard and Johanna Wedul.

Journalistic Convention.

The State High School Press Association held its first meeting at Carleton college, Northfield, Jan. 15 and 16. It was the first convention of its kind held in Minnesota. According to comments appearing in various school publications, the convention was highly successful and will prove a great aid in the development of high school journalism. It was instituted and held under the auspices of Carleton college, invitations having been sent to all the high schools of the state to send delegates. Lincoln high however, was unable to be represented. Delegates from all sections of the state were present, to discuss the many difficulties and problems confronting the modern journalist, whether in school or in the professional newspaper game.

It may be of interest to know that the State High School Press Association was established for the purpose of making it possible to hold a convention every year for discussing problems relative to the production of a school newspaper.

In looking over the comments, we find various interesting "high spots" of the convention, put forth by the "Star of the North," Virginia. Prof. Barlow of the University of Minnesota delivered an address on "The Challenge of Journalism to Young People Today," in which he described the adversities met by the followers of journalism from early times until the present day, and the gradual growth and development of the newspaper. A personality to make friends, training in a great variety of knowledge, tact of expression, patience and determination, are all essentials of a successful journalist in the modern field. He also emphasized that journalism is a man-sized job and lying down on the job can not be tolerated.

At a general conference many ideas and problems pertaining to the publishing of a school paper were considered and discussed. Foremost among these was the policy of the paper which was described as a means for advancement and improvement of the school and to promote good sportsmanship, in more than athletic lines, among the schools of the state. Articles which would arouse strong feeling between schools, and personal "slams" should not be published, as this is regarded as a poor policy for a high school publication. It does not however, necessitate the cotton dry method of writing up news, but gives the writer sufficient liberty to make the article "peppy," and still be within the above restrictions.

The selection and organizing of the newspaper staff was shown to be most efficient as affiliated with the English department of the school, because through his English work, a student's literary inclinations can best be judged.

Central High School, Minneapolis, received the recognition of having the best school newspaper and Central High School of St. Paul, the best magazine in the state.

Another convention will be held next year, and it is hoped that our high school may be represented, and that it may prove an aid to a bigger and better "High School Progress."

Project Work.

The various projects carried on by the students taking the Smith-Hughes course, prove to be very successful and serve as a simple check-up for the student on the work he is doing.

The Smith-Hughes course requires that the student work on at least one agricultural project during the year and that the student must do in actual practice the things which he learned during the school term. This method is void that the student may enlarge his knowledge of the subject and that he may see whether the work carried on proves a paying proposition or not and if it is advisable to conduct a business managed in the same manner as the project.

In one particular project on poultry raising which had been carried on from May until the latter part of October, proved to be a very successful one. In this project 84 chicks were hatched out of 130 eggs and only four of those hatched died, the cause being that they had been drowned during a heavy rain. Perhaps the most remarkable feature being that no chicks were lost due to disease. All the chicks were hatched and brooded with hens. The total number of hours spent on the project during the six months were but 57 hours and the cost of feed being $18.16.

The feeds used were wheat screenings, cracked corn, ground oats and barley and bran. The feed ration fed to two weeks old chicks was a mixture of two parts bran, two parts oats and one part barley and gave very god results as was shown by the rapid progress made while fed this ration.

At the close of the project, Oct. 31, the fowls were inventoried at a total value of $142.80. During the six months their expense, including feed, labor and the eggs set, amounted to $57.21, this leaving a net profit on the project of $85.59. The same student who conducted this project earned $75 at other work during the six months which gave him a total income of $160.59 for the months from May to Oct. 31. The most important factors learned by the student from this project were the value of a dry mash feed to growing chicks, and the importance of sanitary feeding and clean water for the progress of the chicks and its great help in the prevention of disease.

Why Some Students Flunk.

Why do little students flunk?
Why are students marks so punk?
Once a little student said,
"Come, let's not go to bed.
We will go to see the show,
There's where people always go."
There they stayed so very late,
They not worried at any rate,
But when the morning came,
They stayed at home because of pain.
Therefore little students flunk,
Therefore students marks are punk.

Latin Grammar.

The Latin Grammar students are making practical application of their knowledge outside of the class room. One student had an "honest-to-goodness argument" with a "grown up man" about the pronunciation of "ae" and "ei" and the satisfactory part of it was that she was right. Another brought to class the interesting fact that he had seen a can of "Opimus Tomatoes" on a shelf in a grocery store. The Latin students are unanimous in declaring that they "never understood English grammar until they took Latin." The various constructions in Latin give them a clearer and more detailed knowledge of active and passive and transitive and intransitive verbs in English. Also the direct and indirect objects are more easily recognized. One girl made the assertion that if she wants to know anything about English grammar she goes to her Latin book for the desired information.

It is found that such phrases as "antebellum" "e pluribus unum" "Alma Mater," "aqua vitae," "Deus vobiscum," "in Memoriam," "pax vobisum," "post mortem," "submarine," "September," "October," "November," and many other words which are heard not only on week-days but also on Sunday, can either be directly translated or they have their origins in Latin words.

The majority of the Latin pupils declare that although it is hard work, it is still similar to playing an interesting game and they would not give up the small amount that they already have for "any money."

Mechanics Course.

The Mechanic department now has an enrollment of twenty boys. Seven of them are farmer boys who are taking a short course of six months.

The nine-months class takes up the work in the shop and the study of trade science, trade mathematics and English; shop work and study of English is also done by the six-months class and in addition to that they have manual training and agriculture.

Four different makes of cars, a Ford, Chevrolet, Maxwell and a Buick Six are kept in the shop for the boys to work on and become thoroughly acquainted with. Three of the cars have already been turned out and when they are through with the one now in the shop, they will procure a Buick Four and a Saxon.

This department is making rapid progress and taking its place as an essential part of our high school.

Knox School Notes.

All the pupils of the Knox school are looking forward to Valentine day. Each room has a valentine box, and many beautiful valentines are on display that the pupils have made. All the pupils are busy sending their valentines to their friends.

Miss Lofgren's first grade received the marching banner for this week.

The pupils of the Knox school gave Mrs. A. E. Smith a beautiful floral offering, Doris Smith, her daughter, being in the fourth grade.

Personals.

Lucille Blaska spent the week-end visiting her parents near St. Hilaire.

Ellen Nelson left for her home near St. Hilaire last Friday on account of her mother's illness.

Stella: "Of what value is the dictionary in the home?"

Marry: "If you have any arguments in the home go to the dictionary and the argument will be settled."

On Thursday forenoon part of the history class was spent in giving Abraham Lincoln selections. Gettysburg address was given and parts of incidents in his life were acted out.

The following is a composition suited the intermediate grades for the purpose of getting pupils interested in everyday problms:

The White Silk Dress and Calico Apron.

A white silk dress and a calico apron were hanging side by side in Annie's room.

"I wouldn't be an old blue calico apron," said the white silk dress.

"Look at me, Apron. How much prettier I look than you. My dress is trimmed with laces and suffles. Little Annie wears me to all her parties and everyone likes me. You look so ugly that no one likes you."

"I suppose I'm ugly but I can not help it, anyway I am useful," said she in a shameful voice.

"Useful" sniffed the white dress. "I'd rather be pretty. I am glad I am admired by people and everyone likes me."

Annie came in and pulled the apron from its hook. "My! I'm glad I have this apron to wear. Otherwise I could not go outside and play in the snow. But she says that it will keep my dress from getting soiled. Besides, the blue apron is much more fun to wear, because I don't always have to be afraid of getting it dirty and torn. I'm uncomfortable whenever I wear the silk one because it soils so easily." "Yes, it is nice to have an apron like that," said her friend. I wish I had one, too. It won't be any fun for me to play, because I'll have to be so careful of my new dress."

Last Thursday after school Mr. Tripp, agricultural instructor showed his stock judging team slides which emphasized the various kinds of animals to show the different characteristics of each breed.

The Live Stock Judging contest was to be held at Crookston Feb. 7th, but there were not the required number of teams to attend so the contest was postponed to a later date. The boys of the judging team are taking a great deal of interest in this work and we hope when the contest does come off that we will rank first and win the silver cup.

A few high school boys attended Dr. Krebs' lecture on "Psychology in Business" at the commercial club rooms last Thursday afternoon.

Last Monday the series of inter-class games opened with a clash between the seniors and freshmen, and the juniors and sophomores. A great deal of interest is being taken in these inter-class tournaments and the respective teams have gone through much diligent practice.

A large number of the high school students attended the lecture given by Dr. Krebs last Thursday evening.

Howard Doland: "That must be some job. What system do they use?"

Rusty: "Oh, they use the open shop system."

Grace Bakke (while giving a speech in public seaking): "And they feeded the vines to the cattle."

Herbert Klein (physiography): "If gravitation were transmitted, human beings would be attracted by the elephant."

Bob McGinn, (physiography): "If it is full moon the same evening that the man is shot to the moon in a racket it would only be half moon when he'd get there and he'd miss it. Oh, boy!"

Howard Doland (in physiography): "How do they cool of the axis by air or water?"

Burty Anderson: "Oh, they cool it by greasing it."

Whisperings of Humorous Nuts

"A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the best of men."

Senior: "Have you heard the story about the girl who poured water in the Prof's. hat?"

Freshman: "No."

Senior: "Neither have I. It hasn't leaked out yet."

Breathe lightly and step softly on entering the assembly. Disturb not the dreams of our slumbering Lynn, whose sleep is the sleep of peace, justice and good will towards men, (and——?)

For your approval, Limerick No. 3:

Ole has wisdom galore to expound.
His philosophy is deep, though sometimes unsound.
But his keen editorials
Will serve as memorials,
In themselves they show thought most profound.

Clarence K.: "Will we have a choice of questions in this test?"

(Doc.): "No."

Clarence K.: "Oh well, that's alright then, then it will be easier to know which ones to answer."

Melvin E. to Miss Svedal who is humming: "Please, Miss Svedal, stop singing while I'm studying."

Miss Svedal: "Thank you. You're the first one that ever called it singing."

To prove that a girl loves you: To every action there is an equal and opposite reaction.

Probably the mild winter, the ~~hurried snowfall, the dense atmosphere,~~ and the bright moonlight, which Oolai wants to know about, is the result of the contrariness of everything in general and the weather predictors in particular.

Question for debate: "Resolved that the shorter our stay, the greater the appreciation."

If you don't get all our humorosities read between the lines, which can be done just as easily as operating an invisible typewriter, or writing blank verse with a dry pen.

Further Warblings.

On a midnight, dark and dreary,
As I pondered, weak and weary,
O'er many a volume of forgotten lore

As I nodded, nearly napping,
Suddenly I heard a gasping,
As of someone dying just outside my door.

My knees went weak with fright,
And I knew the grewsome sight
Would be waiting for me out there on the floor.

Though as brave as common men,
My hair stook up on end
And a nameless horror filled me to the core.

I seemed to hear it rising,
And I could but wait, surmising
In a moment I'd be lost forever more.

My hair turned gray that night,
And I prayed with all my night
And I learned my faults that night as ne'er before.

But the terror soon abating,
Left me calm and quiet elating,
For I recognized, with deep relief,
Bill's SNORE!

Rival Movie Actors.

Lloyd Alnes—Larry Semon.
"Fat" Evenson—"Fatty" Arbuckle.
Ernest Zeh—Wallace Reid.
Bernard Bischoff—Charlie Chaplin.
Paul Halseth—Wm. S. Hart.
Hugh McDaniel—Eugene O'Brien.
Vernon Copp—Charles Ray.
Harold Smithers—Douglas Fairbanks.
Lynn Halvorson—Lionel Barrymore (Master mind.)

Why? Wherefore?

The "Nuts" were amazed
At the trail they had blazed,
But the road was not long nor straight.

Their spirits were soaring
The readers were roaring,
With laughter which did not abate.

But there soon came a test
'Twould have tried e'en the best,
And we lost our desire to create.

So this sudden demise,
Is the saddest surprise,
That has fallen on us to this date.

MOOD CHANGE

Help Edison

Take some Mood Change Charts home and make this experiment!

LET'S imagine you have just come home from shopping. You are tired and nervous. You step to the New Edison and put on an Edison Re-Creation. Gradually the music soothes you. You forget fatigue and your "nerves" disappear. You feel refreshed and light-hearted.

Mr. Edison in his present great research is studying into the effects of music on the minds and moods of men.

Will you fill out a Mood Change Chart, and do your bit for Mr. Edison's research?

Make the experiment in your own home. Come in. Let us give you a supply of Mood Change Charts. Have your family and your friends fill them out. They will find it more fun than Ouija.

If you don't own a New Edison, fill out a Chart in our store! Better yet, we will lend you a New Edison and a program of Re-Creations so that you can give a Mood Change Party in your own home.

MRS. L. L. FURAN, PIONEER SETTLER, DIES SUNDAY

The entire community was thrown into gloom Sunday morning when the sad news was received that Mrs. L. L. Furan had quietly passed away at 5 a. m., a victim of the sleeping flue. Death came calmly and peacefully scarcely noticeable to the onlookers.

Mrs. Furan, whose maiden name was Christine Sagmoen, was born on Oct. 25, 1881 at Tryssel, Osterdalen, Norway. When but ten months old she emigrated to America with her parents and was for a short time located at Douglas county from where they moved to their homestead about five miles north of here some thirty years ago. At this place Christine's youth and girlhood was passed up to March 9, 1908, when she was united in marriage to L. L. Furan, and with him she passed the first year on a claim near Goodridge and in the fall of the same year removed to Thief River Falls where Mr. Furan became engaged in the barber trade. At that place they resided until in the fall of 1919, when they moved to this place which has since been their home.

She is survived by her husband, three children, Willard aged 12, Berton, 10 and Violet 8; nine brothers and sisters, John, Chas. Rudolph and Isabelle Sagmoen of this place; Mrs. Severt Benson of Thief River Falls; Henry Sagmoen of Minneapolis; Peder Sagmoen of Garven; Mrs. M. L. Furan of Slayton, and Mrs. John Erickson of Sanborn, N. D. Her mother and father also reside here.

Mrs. Furan was a true and loving wife, a noble sacrificing mother and a kind and sympathetic neighbor.

Farmers Club Meeting.

A Farmers club meeting was held at Rosebank Friday evening attended by about thirty persons. There was no program and the debate was postponed owing to sickness at the home of one of the committee. A few songs were sung and a sandwich luncheon served. The next meeting will be held at the same place on Friday evening, March 4, when the same program committee will have charge and Thomas Thoreson and Julmer Rafteseth will arrange with the serving of lunch.

Wolf Hunters Shoot Two.

Hunters Welsh and Rasmusson arrived from Thief River Falls Wednesday with two trailer dogs and two greyhounds and will spend the remainder of the week here hunting wolves in company with local sportsmen. They were successful today in killing a wolf about three miles north of town. Adolph Haugen also shot a wolf last Sunday.

Petroleum Industry Proves Value of Self-Government

"IT took the excessive war-induced centralization of economic and industrial functions in the hands of government to dramatize the essential fallacy of trying to substitute the politician for men functionally fit for the job in hand."—Glenn Frank, Editor of the Century Magazine, in The Politics of Industry.

The clarity of Mr. Frank's reasoning was demonstrated by the efficiency of the petroleum industry during the war-time period.

Petroleum was the one basic industry which was left in the hands of men trained "for the job in hand" and their efficiency enabled the Allies to float to victory on a sea of oil.

The lessons learned during that period of stress have enabled the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to increase its usefulness as a manufacturer of petroleum products.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has learned that a minimum of political interference with economic processes is essential to this or any other highly specialized industry that it may continue to improve the service it renders.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that the government of any business enterprise should come from within the industry, and that this government should be beneficial alike to capital, labor, management, and the public.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is organized upon a broad base to bring about this desirable condition.

The Board of Directors, who are responsible to the stockholders for the management of the Company's affairs, acknowledge the social obligation which the Company has assumed, and which they interpret to mean the efficient refining and distribution of essential petroleum products of superior quality; to make these products available everywhere, and at prices which put them within reach of all.

To accomplish this essential task, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has continually broadened the base of its operations, intrusting the administration of its complex and highly specialized business to men of acknowledged authority, ability, and vision.

Wanted: A National Policeman

The farmer does not get enough money for the food he sells; but the consumer, who buys it, pays too much. It is high time that Uncle Sam constituted himself a policeman to protect both producer and consumer. If he keeps the in-between boys from raiding the Public-Food melon patch, the producer will no longer have to put up with so small a return and, what is just as important, the public will not have to pay exorbitant prices for food.

The Farm Bureaus, expressing the minds of the organized farmers of America, are setting out to convince Uncle Sam that he must act. It is only by national mobilization that the farmers can hope to secure action on this and other questions whose solution vitally affects the future of our farming industry. The Farm Bureau Movement deserves the support of each and every citizen.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, as the great national champion of progressive methods, is thoroughly in accord with the aims of the Farm Bureaus. Its vision is national: for in gathering the sound, helpful material which makes up its 52 big weekly issues its editors and contributors travel the country over in search of the latest news and the best opinion. Its editorial policy can therefore be accepted as fairly voicing the thought of the American farmer.

You want and need this national mirror of farm progress. It costs only $1.00 for a year. Many farmers say it's the best buy they ever made. Send a dollar bill or your check today.

"Just Between You and Me"
says the Good Judge

Here's genuine chewing satisfaction for you, hooked up with real economy.

A small chew of this class of tobacco lasts much longer than a big chew of the ordinary kind—that's because the full, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Put up in two styles

W-B CUT is a long fine-cut tobacco
RIGHT CUT is a short-cut tobacco

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

"Granny" Chamberlain

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health—Granny Chamberlain

Quaker Minister Is Grateful to Tanlac

Rev. Parker Moon

Nearly "everybody" in Southwest Missouri either knows or has heard of the Rev. Parker Moon, who for a full half century has devoted his life and talents to Sunday school and organization work for the Society of Friends or Quakers.

"Uncle Parker," as he is more familiarly known, came from fine old rugged Quaker stock, and there is not a better known or more highly respect citizen in that part of the state. In referring to his remarkable restoration to health by Tanlac, he said:

"About five years ago I suffered a general breakdown. My principal trouble was nervous indigestion. My appetite was very poor and my food seldom agreed with me, and I had to live on a very restricted diet. I suffered a great deal from headaches and dizzy spells; I had severe pains across the small of my back and was badly constipated most of the time. In fact, I was so weak and rundown I was not able to attend to my duties.

"This condition made me very nervous and I could not sleep at night. Frequently I would lie awake most all night and was in that condition more or less for five years. My physician said he could not do anything for me and suggested a change of climate. I then moved to Texas and went back and forth three times but did not get the relief I had hoped for. Finally, I got so bad off I was not able to get around with any degree of comfort. I was also told I had heart trouble.

"I had read about Tanlac and, as it had been very highly recommended to me, I decided to try it. I got a bottle and had taken only a few doses until I could notice a marked improvement in my condition. I noticed especially that I was not troubled any more with sour stomach after eating, which was a great relief.

"I kept on taking Tanlac until I fully regained my health. My appetite is splendid; I enjoy my meals and I do not find it necessary now to take any laxative medicines of any kind. I can sleep much better and am not nearly so nervous.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Tanlac to anyone who needs a good system builder, or who suffers with stomach trouble. I have recommended Tanlac to a great many of my friends and am pleased to reach others by giving this statement for publication."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm and at Goodridge by G. G. Gulrud.—adv.

BLACKSMITHS HOLD DISTRICT MEETING; WANT PROTECTION

Will Ask Legislature to Pass Laws Specifying Qualifications For Workers.

The Minnesota Blacksmiths Mutual Benefit association held its first annual meeting in three years at Thief River Falls on Friday, at which time the following named officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Wm. Voelk, Crookston, president; Andrew Craik, Thief River Falls, vice president; H. L. Larson, Thief River Falls, secretary; C. C. Gulrud, Thief River Falls, treasurer.

Andrew Lodoen of Warren, representing Marshall county; Wm. Voelk of Crookston, representing Polk county; J. J. Richter of Thief River Falls, representing Pennington county and I. Fortier of Oklee, representing Red Lake county, were appointed as a legislative committee. It is the purpose of this committee to draw up a bill to be presented to legislative members for introduction during the present session which would provide for the protection of blacksmiths of the state by designating qualifications to conducting a shop or any establishment for smith work. Other items may be drafted into the proposed bill.

Further discussion resulted in the changing of the annual meeting date from the second Friday in February to the second Friday in January, and the placing of the annual dues at $1.50. The association was formerly made up of over 100 smiths from the northwestern part of the state. Present plans look forward to a strong membership campaign with the object of making the association state-wide. It is thought that the proposed legislation will result in a great interest in the organization on the part of the blacksmiths of Minnesota, there being no other, as far as known, of its kind at present in the state.

Following the business session at the Commercial club rooms on Friday afternoon, members of the association adjourned to the Hotel Evelyn where a banquet dinner was served. J. J. Richter, president of the Thief River Falls Iron Works, acted as toastmaster and called upon those assembled for short talks. Among the speakers were Edward Traverse of the Kelly-How-Thompson Hardware company of Duluth, and H. S. Larson, representative of Nicols-Dean & Gregg of St. Paul, who presented interesting discussions relative to present business conditions.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN PUBLIC SPEAKING COURSE STARTED HERE

Weekly Classes, Under Instruction of L. N. Pierce, Proving Valuable Aid to City's Business Men.

L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the Thief River high school, is responsible for a very successful business and professional men's course in public speaking which is being conducted at the high school auditorium on Thursday of each week. The course which will extend over a period of 12 weeks embodies in a condensed form an entire year of college work in public speaking or oratory. Mr. Pierce is well qualified to handle the subject, having majored in public speaking at the Kansas State Normal college.

Keen interest in the course is being displayed. About 15 business and professional men of the city are attending the weekly classes. Each man is required to make an address of five minutes duration each Thursday evening, or as often as the class period will permit. Mr. Pierce offered his services to the men of the community, knowing that while many who are called upon to make after dinner or other talks have the fundamentals features of such speaking well in hand, they are weak in platform etiquette and the finer points of public speaking.

FUNNIEST OF ALL LECTURERS COMING NEXT WEDNESDAY

Last Number of Lyceum Course Promises to Be Best of Entire Winter Series.

Strickland W. Gillilan, who comes to Thief River Falls next Wednesday evening to present his famous "Sample Case of Humor" as the fifth and last number of the season's lyceum course, is not a lecturer with a side line but a newspaper man who lectures as a side line. He has been doing more or less newspaper work since he was 16 years of age, was at one time president of the American Press Humorists, and is still a regular contributor to many of the leading magazines and daily newspapers of the country. He is in great demand as the guest of well known clubs and societies on notable occasions and it is for that reason that the Woman's club is considered so fortunate in being able to book his services at this time.

The Sioux City (Iowa) Journal in commenting on the appearance of Mr. Gillilan in that city states: "He is a 'just folks' sort of an individual. Most so-called humorists would readily pass for undertakers or professors of archeology, but Strickland Gillilan not only looks like a comedian, but is one." The Winona (Indiana) Press representative says: "Mr. Gillilan's 'A Sample Case of Humor' was a real lecture and deserves a place in the list of great literary treats given to Winona patrons. It differed only in that it kept the audience laughing heartily all the time it was not on the verge of tears."

"A Sample Case of Humor" contains: Definition of humor and imagined story of its origin, classification into Humor of Stupidity, Humor of Human Affection, Humor of Rusticity, Humor of Surprise, Humor of Feminity, The Joke on the Joker, etc., each class being copiously and lively illustrated with stories. In the lecture also are "The Cry of the Alien," what many believe to be Mr. Gillilan's greatest poem, "The Cabinet Organ," "Git Mad," "Waiting," and other poems.

As to stories there is no end to them, also the most absurd monologue ever concocted, telling of a hospital experience. The famous "Sleeping Car Monologue," which is said to be the convulser extraordinary is also a part of Mr. Gillilan's lecture here.

The Woman's club heartily recommends this last number of the lyceum course to the theater-goers of the community as a laughter-producing chaser of gloom.

Train Delayed by Wreck.

Too Few Applicants.

The Civil Service Commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Thief River Falls, Minn., and other cities throughout the United States for the positions named below, both for the departmental and field services, applicants were not secured in the number desired, and that these examinations will again be held on the dates indicated: Apprentice fish culturist, March 9; physician, Panama Canal Service, March 9; assistant observer, Weather Bureau, February 23; apprentice plate cleaner, February 23; apprentice transferrer, February 23; apprentice letter engraver, February 23; apprentice picture engraver, February 23.

Persons interested in these or other examinations should reply to the Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board at the local post office for detailed information and application blanks.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Thief River Falls who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Thief River Falls woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Thief River Falls resident can doubt.

Mrs. Geo. Williams, 412 Main Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I used many remedies for kidney trouble and backache but had no permanent relief until I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Curtis Drug Store. This remedy not only cured my back but made me feel better in every way. I am only sorry that Doan's didn't come to my attention sooner."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Williams said: "During the past seven years Doan's Kidney Pills have done the work whenever I have used them for kidney weakness. I hold Doan's in the same high estimation as when I first endorsed them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Williams had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

Income Tax Facts Every Citizen Should Remember

Births, deaths, and marriages during the year 1920 affect materially income tax returns for that year.

Millions of babies were added to family circles, each of whom brings an exemption of $200 in the parents' income tax return.

Widows and widowers who lost their husbands or wives during the year are especially affected. They are single for the purposes of the income tax law and are granted only an exemption of $1,000, unless the head of a family.

Persons who were divorced or separated by mutual agreement during the year also must consider themselves as single persons.

The status of the taxpayer on December 31, 1920, determines the amount of the exemptions. If on that day the taxpayer was married and living with wife or husband, claim may be made for the $2,000 exemption. If single, or married and not living with wife or husband on December 31, the exemption is only $1,000.

Persons who reached majority during the year and whose earnings for that period amounted to $1,000 or more, or $2,000 or more, according to their marital status, must file a return and pay a tax on their net income in excess of those amounts.

To avoid penalty, the return must be in the hands of the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives, or has his principal place of business, on or before midnight of March 15, 1921.

LOCAL MAN TO BOX THE "INDIAN PUG"

Great Card Promised Sports Lovers For Evening of Washington's Birthday.

The main go on a sport card scheduled for Tuesday evening, Feb. 22, under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Athletic club, will be a boxing bout between Young Fulton, a local man, and Tom Tibbets, known as the "Indian Pug," of Bemidji. Indian Pug as a lightweight artist made a name for himself while in the army and since his discharge has taken bouts from Knockout Reed, Gene Dwyer, and Hower, all of whom are known as fast men with their mitts. Fulton is working out daily at the Athletic club gym, in addition to doing much road work. Press representatives who have watched him at his work-outs can vouch for the fact that he possesses good judgment and nerve in addition to his speed and clever foot work.

The preliminaries, which will start promptly at 10:30 p. m., will furnish something more than amusement. Locals of heavy, light and bantam weights are working out for their first appearance.

"Indian Pug" will arrive in Thief River Falls Saturday night and will continue his training at the Athletic gym on Monday and Tuesday. Both men will easily get down to lightweight.

DETROITERS HELPLESS AGAINST ONSLAUGHTS OF LEGION SHOOTERS

Was Good Contest in Spite of Fact That Visitors From South Were Clearly Outclassed at Every Turn of Game.

In a game more interesting than the final score of 67 to 7 would indicate, the Thief River Falls Legion tossers won their fifth victory in five starts when they walked away with the Detroit Legionnaires on the home floor Saturday evening. The game was a fast one from the start with the Detroiters battling during every minute of playing but failing to locate the circle or to make any great headway against the team work of the Thief River quint. The turnout for the game was large and a more even game expected, the visitors having acquired a good reputation for fast and pretty work through a game taken from the crack team of Perham ten days ago.

Detroit made a field basket in the first minute of playing and it looked like a legular match when the locals retaliated with two field baskets and one free throw in the following minute. The visiting quintet failed to score again in the first half aside from a free throw made shortly before the whistle blew. Following a basket by Carlson, who bunted the ball fair through the circle from the hands of the scramble directly beneath the goal, the Thief River Falls men made a rapid succession of field baskets and one more free throw. The score stood at 38 to 3 at the end of the half.

The first five minutes of the second half again promised well for further scoring by the down-state quintet, in spite of the fact that the locals piled up four more field goals and one free throw in that length of time against the one free throw made by the visitors. In desperation the Detroit five then resorted to other tactics which eventually resulted in a succession of fouls called against the players of both teams. Traver made the last field basket for Detroit when ten minutes of the half remained, and from that time until the final whistle Thief River Falls gave them little or no opportunity to reach the goal, while the latter added steadily to their mounting score.

While it was difficult to say which of the Detroit men played stellar games, Bush, Eckel and Traver easily took the lead. Several of the local men played a wonderful game. Carlson, whose work is always of the most brilliant nature, failed to make the free throws with his customary ease, missing four out of nine. Hadrath, Thief River Falls center, made three cleancut baskets from the center of the field during the first half in addition to two others. The assembled fans got the greatest thrill of the game when Holzknecht, right guard for the home team, took the ball straight through the center of the opposition for the entire length of the field and made the goal. This play, late in the first half, was followed early in the second with two tosses made from the center of the field, the first of which looked almost like an accident, but when repeated within the next minute, no doubt was left as to the thrower's stellar ability. Kiland found the circle at all times with ease, making ten field goals. LaBree substituted for Hadrath during the last of the first half only. The lineup:

Detroit		T. R. F.
Bush	RF	Carlson
Eckel	LF	Kiland
Traver	CEN	Hadrath
Watt	RG	Holzknecht
Lockton	LG	McGinn

Subs: McDermott for Watt; LaBree for Hadrath.

L. H. Lawrence, referee.

Field goals: Bush 1, Traver 1, Kiland 10, Carlson 9, Hadrath 6, Holzknecht 6. Free throws: Bush 3 out of 6; Carlson 5 out of 9.

EXCELSIOR BASKET SHOOTERS COMING

Independent Champions of Two Years Ago Will Play Series of Games in This City.

The Thief River Falls Legion basket ball five will meet the Excelsior team in two games to be played on the local floor on Feb. 24 and 25, on which dates the Legionnaires will put up a desperate battle in the hope of retaining their 1000 per cent average. The down-staters hold the independent championship for the Northwest for 1918-19, and this season, in playing a long string of the fastest teams of the twin cities, have lost but three games.

The locals have taken six games out of six starts, outplaying their adversaries in practically all instances and taking four walk-aways. The Bemidji and Fosston Legion teams were the only ones able to put up any marked resistance against the fast and effective work of the Thief River tossers. The quint all show stellar ability and it will be impossible for any outside team to take a game by any great margin. The Excelsiorites should at least be able to put up enough of a battle to make the two games here interesting.

KOLLEN IS VICTOR IN TWO STRAIGHT FALLS HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Kirkness Puts Up Game Battle But Never Gievs Opponent Any Serious Difficulty—First Fall in 11 Minutes.

Henry Kollen, the Greenbush grappler, won in two straight falls from S. A. Kirkness of Lake Park in a wrestling match staged at the Lyceum theatre last Saturday evening under the direction of the Thief River Athletic association. A fair-sized crowd was present and certainly received the worth of its money.

Kollen was the aggressor from the outset, the Lake Park man having difficulty in keeping his shoulders off the mat after the first two or three minutes of grappling. Time and time again it looked as if his more stocky opponent would surely bear him down, but his surprising agility saved him. After 11 minutes of really excellent wrestling Kollen won with a head lock and bar arm hold.

The second fall was achieved in six minutes with a double bar arm block. In this session Kirkness never had a chance, evidently putting forth the best he had in order to make any kind of a showing.

The boxing matches which preceded the main bout furnished a lot of amusement even if somewhat lacking in scientific display. Two boys, residents of this city, put up the best exhibition, but all had considerable merit, even if the crowd at times failed to recognize the fact.

The club's enterprise in staging this show has been highly commended by lovers of clean sport and the probabilities are that he will promote other matches during the spring months.

Warren and Thief River School Teams Meet Friday

The basket ball teams of the Warren and Thief River Falls high schools will meet on the city auditorium floor on Friday evening in what should prove one of the hardest fought battles of the year. Warren is the only team that has bested the Thief River high school quint and the locals hope that they will be able to take the victory from the visitors on Friday night by way of squaring accounts. The game will be called at 8:15.

FARM SPEAKERS AT AUDITORIUM FRIDAY NOON

W. A. McKerrow and B. F. Scott to Address General Public on Present Outlook.

Meetings Held Under Auspices of Local Farm Bureau and Creamery Association.

Farmers, Business Men, Women and Workingmen Are Urged to Hear These Experts.

W. A. McKerrow of St. Paul, and B. T. Scott of Minneapolis, two of the most prominent men of the state, will address residents of Thief River Falls and the surrounding territory at the city auditorium on Friday afternoon under the auspices of the Pennington County Farm Bureau and the Thief River Co-operative Creamery association. No admission fee will be charged and it is the wish of those influential in securing the speakers that the auditorium be crowded to capacity. A special invitation to attend has been tendered to members of the Woman's club, the Girls' Community club, the Commercial club, the Merchants association and the American Legion and Auxiliary. The pupils of Lincoln high school will attend in a body. The meeting has been called for 12:30 p. m., in order that the speakers may finish their talks in time to take the electric car for Goodridge, where they will address the members of the Goodridge Community club and residents of that vicinity.

Mr. McKerrow, in addition to being at the head of the LiveStock and dairy division of the state University Extension department, is secretary of the Central Shippers association, secretary of the Minnesota Dairy council and an officer of several other state-wide organizations. He was recently appointed to the National Committee of Seventeen by President Howard of the American Farm Bureau federation for the investigation of production and market conditions in the United States, and is the only Minnesota man on that committee. His talk will include a general survey of the agricultural and economic conditions of the day in addition to a discussion of dairying and better creameries for Minnesota. County Agent J. J. McCann states that Mr. McKerrow's coming here at this time represents the outcome of three years' effort by members of the community toward securing the speaker for one or two talks in Pennington county.

Mr. Scott, secretary of the Holstein-Friesian association, will emphasize the importance of using good creamery butter and other dairy products rather than butter substitutes, explaining the use of the latter as having a tendency to reduce the dairy profits of the state.

Council Sets Rental of New Club Quarters at $15

The city council at an adjourned meeting held on Wednesday evening voted to allow theh Thief River Falls Commercial club the use of the lyceum room in the basement of the city auditorium for a a monthly rental of $15. While the motion carried did not stipulate that other welfare organizations of the city were to be allowed the use of the club rooms, it is understood that the Commercial club will be lenient in this respect and that the room may be secured as a meeting place by application to the secretary of that organization. The discussion as to the rental of the quarters which followed a request entered by W. A. Hall, Jr., president of the club, was a lengthy one. The council adjourned at an early hour.

Conditions Discussed at Second Merchants Meeting

S. E. Cook, deputy governor of the Ninth District Federal Reserve bank, on Wednesday evening addressed members of the Merchants association and business men of the city in assembly at the Brumund hotel. His talk brought out many of the more important factors responsible for the present financial condition, in addition to a lucid explanation of the workings of the Federal Reserve bank system.

Mr. Cook's talk was preceded by a banquet dinner, the second in a series of five to be given under the auspices of the merchants organization. J. E. Ebersole, dean of the department of business economics of the University of Minnesota, was scheduled to speak here on Wednesday evening, but was unable to keep his appointment. The attendance at the banquet was small.

Paving Prices Go Higher.

A. D. Hansen of the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg, is in Thief River Falls today. He states that the city of Winona recently received bids for the construction of gravel-concrete paving, the lowest of which was $4.65 per yard. The lowest bid for similar paving received here at the time of the letting of the paving contract to the above mentioned firm, was $3.98. Winona is much nearer the source of paving supplies.

To Make Residence Here.

Rev. Clinton Cook and family arrived in our city on last Sunday morning from Lemmon, S. D. Rev. Cook will reside permanently in Thief River Falls and work in this quarter of the state in the employ of the Presbyterian Sunday School board. Rev. and Mrs. Cook are both evangelists of mature experience. Mrs. Cook will speak in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening to all who may wish to be present. This gifted family is certain to be a valuable addition to our community.

RIVER DRAINAGE BILL BY THE PRESIDENT

A teleg[illegible] received late yesterday afternoon from Congressman Steenerson at Washington contained the following announcement:

"President Wilson has signed the Steenerson bill authorizing improvements of Red Lake and Red Lake river for drainage, flood control and navigation purposes and the measure is now law.

ARE TODAY SERVING FIRST LUNCHEON IN NEW CLUB ROOMS

Members Inspecting Fine Layout Provided For Their Accommodation.

The first noonday luncheon is being served to a large gathering of business and professional men in the new club quarters, Auditorium building, today. Those who had not previously visited the new rooms were surprised at their fine appearance and the general convenience they afford. While not so large as the quarters recently vacated in the Citizens' bank building, they will prove ample for all ordinary meeting purposes but for larger gatherings it is probable that arrangements can be made for using the auditorium proper.

The kitchen equipment is very satisfactory, there being ample space for doing what cooking is necessary while the facilities for storing dishes and other necessary pharaphernalia are well arranged. Everything has been repainted and the woodwork varnished, the whole presenting a most inviting appearance.

At a special meeting of the directors held on Tuesday evening, a committee composed of C. B. Larson, Dr. C. R. Crandall and F. H. Herrick was appointed to meet with the trustees of the Elks' lodge with a view to disposing of the furniture not needed in the new quarters to the last-named organization. This includes the pool and billiard tables, piano and a number of upholstered settees and chairs. Two bids for the piano have already been received and no difficulty will be found in disposing of the remainder of the outfit, which includes the lighting fixtures.

LEGIONNAIRES MEET FORMER CHAMPIONS IN PREMIER EVENT

Greatest Game of Season Promised For Tonight and Tomorrow at Auditorium.

"Burn Excelsior" is apt to be the advise handed out by local fans to the Thief River Falls Legion team in the two basket ball games to be played on the floor of the city auditorium tonight and tomorrow night. The two games will be without a doubt, if the visitors produce the brand of playing that they have been producing, the fastest seen on the local floor this year. The Excelsior independents in 1918 and 1919 took the northwest championship and ably defended the same last season. They have to date been playing the fasten teams of Minneapolis, St. Paul and the southern part of the state and have lost but three out of a long string of starts.

The Legion quintet have seven victories to their credit out of seven starts and, according to Coach G. W. Connell, have shown better form in their workouts this week than ever before. All are in fine physical trim and ready to do battle to their utmost, if the opposition put up by the Excelsiorites makes it necessary. The Legionnaires have at present to their credit the scalps of Company I of Crookston, the Grand Forks Y. M. C. A., Greenbush, and the Fosston, Bemidji, Ada and Detroit Legionnaires. They have in every instance markedly outplayed their adversaries in all the tecnique of the game. Travelers who have seen both the Hormel Packers of Austin and the Thief River Legionnaires in action are of the opinion that the latter play a faster game than the down-state team, which at present is a runner-up for the American Industrial championship. The Packers are somewhat heavier and play a foot ball type of game.

Meeting of Managers.

The annual meeting of all yard managers of the Winton-Nichols lumber company in this section will take place at the offices here tomorrow afternoon. This is an annual event and is looked forward to with a great deal of interest. The business outlook is discussed and opinions for improving the service exchanged. Many valuable ideas have in past years been put into practice as a result of these meetings.

At noon the visitors will be the guests of General Manager C. A. Nason at luncheon at the Hotel Evelyn.

SCHOOL SYSTEM HERE RANKING WITH HIGHEST

State Inspector's Report Discloses Interesting Facts of Thief River Falls System.

Enrollment Compares Favorably With That of High Schools in Larger Cities.

Leads in Many Instances; Operating Cost and Bonded Indebtedness Much Lower.

The twenty-seventh annual report of the inspector of Minnesota state high schools for the school year ending June 30, 1920 recently submitted to Commissioner of Education, James M. McConnell by State Inspector E. M. Phillips, sheds interesting light on the school situation as it prevails in Thief River Falls. The report states that in general the schools are found to be recovering from the irregularities attendant upon the war period and the unusual interference with school attendance resulting from the epidemic prevalent during the past two years. School building programs have been found to be completely upset and crowded conditions existing in nearly every state high school system. Mr. Phillips states that the question most needing attention in the public schools at this time is beyond a doubt the stabilizing of courses of study in both the elementary and high school departments.

The average tax for the maintenance of public high school systems in Minnesota is shown to be 26.8 mills. The average of the total rate in mills for public education in these same districts is 31.4 mills. A study of a table showing the tax levy of individual school districts reveals that the total levy for School district No. 18 was but 35.8 mills. Thirteen high school districts reported a tax levy for school purposes of more than 50 mills, among the thirteen being Warroad where the levy was 87.7 mills. In 52 other school districts the tax levy was greater than that in district No. 18, which, considering the prominence of the Thief River Falls schools in other comparative tables, is remarkable.

Thief River Falls is one of the five cities in the state where both six and nine months courses in vocational agriculture are offered. During the school year of 1919-1920 the total enrollment of pupils in the schools of this city was greater than in any other of a like population in the state, comparing very favorably with the enrollment in the schools of Albert Lea, Fergus Falls, Rochester and Mankato. Including the twin cities and Duluth, the Thief River Falls high school serves more non-resident students than any other high school in the state, with but one exception. Mankato serves 180 non-resident high school students and Thief River Falls 153. The North high school of Minneapolis comes third in this respect, serving 138 non-residents. During the same year 82 graduate students were turned out of the local high school. Mankato turned out 129 and Winona 92. The Duluth Central high turned out but 99; and the graduates from Minneapolis and St. Paul schools, taking into consideration the relative population, were comparatively small in numbers. Outside of the three largest cities of the state, Mankato, Winona and Thief River Falls lead in respective order and by a large margin, all other high schools of the state in regard to "finished" students turned out.

Thief River Falls on June 30, 1920, labored under a bonded school indebtedness of $158,800, which was also comparatively low. Pipestone had a bonded indebtedness of $287,000; Owatonna, $572,000; Moorhead, $500,000; Gilbert, $1,432,000; Austin, $428,000 and Aurora $355,000, all of them being schools lower down in the tables as to benefits derived.

Virginia with an annual teachers' pay roll of $321,500, Rochester with a pay roll of $97,724; Bemidji with one of over $321,000 and Mankato with over an $85,000 teachers' pay roll, were unable to produce results as good or better than those of Thief River Falls, whose teacher pay roll aggregated but $54,851. The annual cost of janitor service, heating and other maintenance costs for the five city school buildings is also given as comparatively low.

The tables in Mr. Phillip's report go on to show the attendance for the state aided departments of Agriculture, Manual Training, Home Economics, Commercial Training and Teacher-training, in all of which Thief River Falls stands well to the fore and leading the majority of state public schools. The enrollment in the Teacher Training department for this city is shown as larger than for any other school in the entire state, with one exception. The same department in the Minneapolis schools enrolled 37 students and granted 37 teachers' certificates. The Thief River Falls department enrolled 30 students and granted 27 certificates. No other schools in the state were able to show results approaching these last mentioned.

The report which makes up a good sized book, goes on with comparative tables and statements showing results accomplished, Thief River Falls ranking with the very foremost in every instance, and in spite of the fact that the bonded indebtedness, the annual teacher pay roll, the cost of general maintenance and the tax levies for the school district fall far down in the list.

Baudette Boy Acquitted Of Murdering Neighbor

George Miller, 21 years old, whose trial on a charge of murder in the first degree has been in progress at Bemidji for a week, was acquitted on Monday by a jury after nine hours' deliberation.

George and his brother Robert, 31, were accused of killing Alfred Fenton of Baudette, whom they mistook for Ellis Bowman, a neighbor with whom they had some trouble. George was accused of the actual shooting.

The selection of a jury to try the case of Robert Miller was begun at once with Judge W. S. McLenahan of Brainerd presiding.

BIG BAKERY PLANT BECOMES PROPERTY OF ST. PAUL PARTY

M. L. Swanson Disposes of "Mother's Bread" Factory to A. Dahl & Sons.

The City Bakery and the Northern Baking company have been sold by M. L. Swanson to A. Dahl & Sons of St. Paul, the deal being consummated on Tuesday. It is understood that the purchase price was over $20,000. The new proprietors will take possession on March 1, and immediately take steps to equip the Northern Baking company plant with the latest of automatic machinery which will make it one of the most complete of its kind in the Northwest. Mr. Dahl comes here as an experienced man, having previously operated baking plants at Appleton, Wis., Marshall, Minn., and other places in this state during past years. The proprietors will take up their residence here immediately after the first of the month.

Mr. Swanson has conducted the City Bakery here for the past four years, making and retailing candies and pastry. The Northern Baking company, operated in connection, was founded about nine months ago for the manufacture of "Mother's Bread" and other bakery supplies in wholesale quantities. Mr. and Mrs. Swanson will leave early in Mrach for an extended vacation, part of which will be spent in California, after which they expect to make their home in St. Paul, Mr. Swanson taking up his duties with the Columbia Bread company of Columbus, Ohio, with which firm he has secured a position.

WOULD PLACE CITY ON MOTOR EXPRESS ROUTE OF DISTRICT

One of Objective Points in Section to be Served by Grand Forks Concern.

Scott Laird, secretary of the Thief River Falls Commercial club, is in receipt of a communication from H. Mayne Stanton, secretary of the Grand Forks Commercial club, in which it is stated that this city has been designated as one of the objective points by the Motor Truck Express company of Grand Forks, which will provide freight and express service between a large number of the enterprising cities and towns of this section during the summer months. A short synopsis of the attitude of the wholesale and retail dealers of Thief River Falls was requested and for that reason it was expected that the matter would come before the Commercial club at the regular noonday session today.

Transportation by motor truck is now an established factor in facilitating the shipment of smaller lots of merchandise in all sections of the state during the summer months and in many cases is carried on during the winter months as well. In the immediate vicinity of the larger cities truck lines operate in every direction to distances as great as one hundred miles. The letter from Mr. Stanton further states that the Motor Truck Express company will transport small shipments cheaper than the same can be made by regular railway express and only slightly higher than those made by freight, much expense being saved by deliveries made to the doors of recipients and in the collection of forward shipments.

Produce Association to Hold Important Meeting

One of the important subjects to be brought up before the Pennington County Produce association, or the potato association as it is better known, at a meeting to be held at the Farm bureau office in the city auditorium on Saturday, Feb. 26, will be the raising of potatoes for certification. Plots for raising certified seed potatoes will be established on a number of farms in the county this coming season through the efforts of the state University Extension department, which will furnish the seed, inspection and necessary instructions. Only a limited number of plots can be alotted to any one county. Seed plots must be started with treated and inspected seed and the plots inspected three times during the growing period in order to be eligible for certification.

REPORT SHOWS EVENTFUL YEAR AT SANATORIUM

Institution Proving Its Value to People of Four Counties in District Group.

Over Half of Patients Treated in Medical Department Subsequently Discharged.

Contemplated Additions Will Place Oak Park Among Foremost Hospitals of State.

At the annual meeting of the Oakland Park Sanitorium commission Dr. O. F. Mellby was elected president for the ensuing year and P. O. Myhrum, secretary. Miss Karen Knutson remains as superintendent of the institution and Dr. M. G. Milan is continued as medical director. The sanatorium commission now comprises representation from the following four counties: Marshall, Roseau, Red Lake and Pennington. The personnel of the commission is: Dr. O. F. Mellby and P. O. Myhrum of Pennington county, Donald Robertson and E. P. Modin of Marshall county, G. I. Brandt and Louis Enstrom of Roseau county, Dr. N. M. Wattson and Ole E. Lee of Red Lake county.

With the addition of Red Lake county to the sanatorium district, the erection of a pavilion, root cellar and poultry house, additions to fuel bins and smoke stack, sewerage improvements, installation of an additional steam boiler and the purchase of a Ford coupe for use of the sanatorium personnel, the past year. There has been marked improvement in the equipment during the year.

Red Lake County Added.

Red Lake county during the past year was invited by the original counties comprising the sanatorium district to join as a member upon a basis of a one mill tax levy for construction purposes, one mill for maintenance, the same to be made in July, 1920, with Red Lake county assuming its proportionate share of the construction and maintenance cost from August 1, 1920. The net cost of maintenance for the past year was $24,804.69, the daily per capita cost was $2.82, the net cost per capita to the counties, $1.85, the daily per capita cost for free patients $2.10, and the daily per capita cost for paying patients $1.82.

Dr. Milan in his first annual report states that other improvements of a general nature have also been made during the past year, a greater willingness on the part of patients to observe the rules for "taking the cure," has been manifested, a longer period of residence of patients, the admission of a greater number of favorable cases, a greater number of hospital days for the year, and a larger waiting list than for previous years, all of which are considered as no small factors in the success of an institution of this nature. Sixty one patients were treated in the medical department during the year, 35 of them being subsequently discharged.

Clinics Prove Valuable.

One of the outstanding developments concerning the sanatorium during the past year, was the employment of a full time resident medical director. This factor is considered as permitting a closer study of individual cases and better management of the same than when formerly under a part-time medical regime. The annual report further states that improved opportunity for bringing the institution with its needs and objects before the public has manifested itself. Closer co-operation with the physicians in the sanatorium district as to the diagnosis of suspected cases and the use of the sanatorium for the same with rural clinics for the benefit of the community are also considered as additional features of no small importance.

Sanatorium Too Small.

The methods of treatment used in different cases of tuberculosis are those which have been found by specialists in the work to give the best results. The institution as yet is not complete as to equipment and with the view of some day standing on a par in this respect with other sanatoriums of the state, it has been recommended that a microscope for bacteriological examinations and a suitable x-ray apparatus for clearer diagnosis and study of cases be purchased. An outlook shack or lean-to with glass roof for the use of natural heliotherapy or as a substitute for the same and installation of an artificial sun-light lamp, have also been recommended.

It is thought that the coming year will see the erection and equipment of a building to house the sanatorium staff. A tax levy was made for that purpose during 1920 and plans for the building are being drawn up at the present time. The completion of such a building will increase the patient capacity of the institution, which is now much too small, as a large waiting list is necessary at all times.

Dr. Milan in concluding his report as medical director, says:

"I desire to express my appreciation for the interest and kindly attitude which the various social organizations of the community have manifested toward the institution and its patients. The pleasures in the way of entertainments which they have brought to us have been no small factor in the maintenance of a cheerful institutional atmosphere. The sanatorium commission by its co-operation in the work and courtesies to myself have made the past year's endeavors both pleasant and profitable to all."

Attended School Meeting.

Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president, and Dr. O. F. Mellby, vice president, of the Thief River Falls board of education, attended a conference of Red River Valley school board members held at Crookston last Wednesday. Much information of a helpful nature to school boards in carrying on their work was brought out during the conference, and such gatherings will become annual or semi-annual features, according to expressions made by those in attendance.

After Dairy Cattle.

S. Currie of Park River, N. D., was in Thief River Falls on Tuesday for the purpose of looking over some of the dairy herds of this section. He recently sold his entire herd of 50 prize winning Jerseys for ten thousand dollars and is at present looking for other dairy animals.

FIRST APPEARANCE OF CHORAL SOCIETY IN PUBLIC CONCERT

Fifty Finely Trained Voices Will Be Heard in Chorus and Solo Numbers.

The public will have the first opportunity of hearing the Thief River Falls Choral society in chorus work next Tuesday evening when that organization gives a concert the precedent of which has never been heard here. The chorus is composed of fifty voices and under the directions of Miss Maude L. Johnson, and has been working diligently during the past several months on some very difficult and beautiful numbers. It is predicted that their first appearance will surprise the music lovers of the community because of the character of the work undertaken and the results accomplished. The city is fortunate in possessing many singers of excellent voice and the formation of a choral union presents the first opportunity for harmonious work on a large scale. In addition to 12 chorus numbers the program for Tuesday evening includes a piano solo by Miss Laura E. Forde, a violin solo by Miss Ausilga Sorenson and a vocal solo by Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher.

From the success of the advance sale of tickets conducted during the past ten days it is apparent that the people of the city are going to support the new organization in the heartiest of fashion, and a large attendance is assured for Tuesday evening.

ANSWER IS FILED IN CASE AGAINST CITY

Action of Applicants For Restraining Order Will Not Affect Proposed Program.

The Capital Trust and Savings bank of St. Paul, as a co-defendant in the action brought against the city of Thief River Falls, the city administration, the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg, and the above named financial institution by property owners of this city, has filed an answer to the summons putting the plaintiff to proof. It is the consensus of legal opinion that the claim was groundlessly filed for the purpose of delaying the paving project scheduled to be carried out in Thief River Falls during the summer. Ambrose Tighe, one of the foremost attorneys of the Northwest, has been retained by the co-defendant as counsel.

It is also stated that the action interposed by the objectors to the paving of the city streets, as plaintiffs, will have no effect upon operations and that the preliminary work will proceed in order that construction may begin immediately the ground is in proper condition in the spring. The City of Thief River Falls has yet to file its answer to the Summons.

STAY OF SENTENCE IN PEARSON CASE

Mrs. Martha Pearson, found guilty of manslaughter in the second degree by a jury in Polk county district court at the winter term after it had heard the evidence in connection with the finding of an infant child on the roof of a Crookston hotel, was granted an additional stay of sentence of 30 days by Judge William Watts in district court on Monday.

The stay was granted to allow the attorneys for Mrs. Pearson to secure an affidavit from Dr. F. H. Gambell, a former resident of Thief River Falls, now in California, who is alleged to have treated her in her childhood, and affidavits from any other persons who did not testify at the trial.

Whether Mrs. Pearson will be granted a new trial will be decided at the end of the stay. At that time the attorneys for the state and for the defense will argue the motion for a new trial.

Fourteen Aliens to Take Step Toward Citizenship

Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren will conduct a hearing of petitions for naturalization as citizens of the United States at the Pennington county court rooms on Friday, Feb. 25. Fourteen petitions have already been filed. At the hearing of Friday the date for the second will be fixed.

INSURE GROWER NO FIXED PRICE FOR BEET CROP

Minnesota Sugar Company Can Only Take Section's Output on Sliding Scale.

High Freight Rates and Low Price on Finished Product Are Reasons Given.

Can Use Same Quantity as Last Year if Farmer Will Pay the Freight.

The Crookston Daily Times in the issue of last Friday made the statement that thre Minnesota Sugar company of Chaska had notified growers of sugar beets that owing to the freight rate now being so high as to make the shipment of beets from the northwestern part of the state unprofitable, they would not be in the market for any from points this far distant from the factory. The contracting of greater sugar beet acreage in the southern part of the state was apparently the only method of supplying the Chaska factory with a sufficient quantity of beets. However, through the efforts of County Agent J. J. McCann and J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture for the state, in making the sugar officials acquainted with the situation here, they have reconsidered their decision and Pennington county will be allotted the same acreage as of last year, namely 300 acres.

Intended Dropping Territory.

A letter received by Mr. McCann from L. E. Flinke, general manager of the Minnesota Sugar company, states:

"It was our intention to discontinue operations at both Crookston and Thief River Falls this year, due to the excessive rate of freight, but through the efforts of Mr. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture, we have concluded that we will accept about the same acreage at these two points as contracted for last year, with the understanding that the grower assumes $1.00 per ton of the freight charges. This, however, leaves a much larger portion for us to assume than any of our other territory, and in this connection, and for the good of the business, we think it advisable for us to provide some experienced labor on deals running 20 acres or larger."

Want Sliding Price.

The letter further states that the price to be paid for beets is based automatically on the prices for sugar during the months of October, November, December and January, the months during which the sugar company has its manufactured product for sale. This is what the sugar beet growers of the older established sections have long been working for. Under this arrangement if the price of sugar is low, the price per ton for beets is necessarily low, and vice versa. If sugar sells for 6 cents a pound, sugar beets are worth a trifle over $6.00 per ton. If sugar sells for 10 cents a pound, the beets are worth almost $11.00 per ton. The company makes no guarantee as to price per ton or per acre.

It is evident that the new contract offered by the Minnesota Sugar company protects the factory and assures the farmer just what the sugar market will warrant. The capacity of the Chaska factory is approximately the yield of beets from 10,000 acres. In the last few weeks they have signed contracts for over 6,000 acres in the Minnesota valley. They admit, however, the purity and great sugar content of the northern grown beets, specifically mentioning those grown in the vicinity of Thief River Falls during the past year, and would like to use them if possible.

The advisability of holding a meeting of those interested in the growing of sugar beets in Pennington county is being considered for the purpose of discussing the new form of contract offered by the Chaska officials.

RAN GAMING HOUSE; GET 60 DAYS EACH

Judge Grindeland Knocks Off Thirty Days of Sentence on Guilty Plea.

Axel Anderson and Joseph Trodeau, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of running a gambling house in this city, when arraigned before Judge Andrew Grindeland during the regular term of the district court held here last week, withdrew their plea of not guilty and entered one of guilty. On Thursday both were sentenced to sixty days in the county jail at Warren and began serving their sentence on Friday morning. Judge Grindeland in pronouncing the sentence stated that thirty days had been "knocked off" because of the defendants having entered the plea of guilty.

The Myrom divorce case scheduled for Friday was continued to March 28, as was the case of the Red Lake Building association vs. John Horejsch, which was also scheduled for Friday. On the above mentioned date an adjourned term of court will be held here over a period of two days, following which Judge Grindeland will hold the regular session at Ada.

Weekly Market Review.

(By Quinn-Shepherdson Co., Mpls.)

A turn of unfavorable weather and winter crop conditions during the past week was the cause of some apprehension particularly with regard to the safety of the Southwestern wheat crop, and in consequence stronger markets in all grains resulted. The green bug in large numbers in Texas and Oklahoma was persistently reported and the trade, fearing unseasonably cold weather in the Southwest, which would tend to increase the bug menace, freely covered short commitments and new speculative buying was in evidence.

Those were disappointed who anticipated stronger markets upon passage of the Fordney emergency tariff bill, designed with the main objective of imposing a 40c per bushel import tax on Canadian wheat. It is regarded as almost certain that the president will veto the bill and passage over the veto will be very difficult. Whether or not it becomes a law, we regard the bill as only a temporary factor effecting the trend of prices.

Of most influence now are weather and crop conditions in the Southwest, total absence of additional export business, the comparatively cheap Argentine sales of wheat, steady weakening of premiums for cash wheat here and the milling demand which now is none too brisk.

American wheat is now on a strictly domestic basis—competitive countries are selling Europe from 15c to 40c cheaper—so that the question of crop progress and domestic milling requirements to absorb the balance of the old crop are of primary importance.

Undoubtedly the condition of winter wheat from now on will determine the producer's policy in holding or selling the present farm reserves, and it may be noted that the only important visible North American supply is in the hands of the growers.

Buying coarse grains at present levels is cheaper than raising it is a common sentiment. Were production known to be no more remunerative than present values, the acreage for the next crop undoubtedly would be greatly reduced, but no one is aware of conditions or prices that will prevail next year, and despite the unsatisfactory conditions it is an entirely safe theory that the grower, like every other worker, will continue working and seed an average acreage before spring farm work commences another free movement from first hands is expected as reports from the corn belt are quite unanimous in showing large reserves.

More on Railroad Subject.

Editor Times:

From what we have been able to learn the businessmen and the citizens of Thief River Falls were very much impressed with the idea of the "Loop System of Railroad" and they will without doubt be glad to co-operate with the farmers in bringing about the desired result, when the time for action comes.

In the meantime it is now up to the farmers within the county to assist in the best way they know how, and it's for those especially residing within the territory embraced under the proposed extension to get busy and talk the matter over in a business way with their neighbors and get them interested and posted up on the subject.

There will be no canvassers sent out to talk railroad. It is simply a farmer proposition and it will rest upon them entirely, as to whether or not we are to get the benefit of a railroad system that will be satisfactory to all concerned, and be the making of our county. Let us bear in mind that the days of competition in railroad building and development is now a thing of the past. Railroads, like other optimistic industries have adopted of late years the merger plan, or rather formed a "pooling combine," which has centered all their thoughts on the earning powers of their investments with the least operating cost. This has in some way put a damper on the development activity of railroading. Consequently we have nothing to expect from them, in the development line, in any place where they have once become established in some way. As time passes on the farmers will find that all country development along this line will largely depend upon the farmers themselves, and thru co-operative work of the local towns. It is simply up to the people to adjust themselves to such conditions and the sooner they will be able to realize this fact the sooner they will be able to better their condition. The big idea is to make use of the present time in such a way that we can be able to enjoy a little of the comforts of life while it can do us some good.

Among other things let us not overlook the fact that if we expect this part of the country to develop in a satisfactory way, we must adopt a plan that will place our offerings on a level with the southern part of our state and other places as to railroad facilities. Every home seeker who is looking for a new home wants something that compares favorably with what he is used to in all respects. In other words, if it isn't, they get the idea that a country without proper railroad accommodations is a wilderness and is not fit for anyone to live in and they go elsewhere and invest their money where conditions suit them in this respect. Really we can't blame them. They have been born and raised with that idea, that no country can prosper without a satisfactory railroad service. There is also another thing that we must take into consideration in connection with the railroad proposition, and that is this: Think what it will mean to Pennington county if we can put a good industrious farmer on every vacant piece of land. It will bring the present tax level down to the low water mark, and it will create in the people a spirit that will put the wheels of progress a moving towards the goal of their ambition—happy homes and a happy people.

Last but not the least, if we will only get busy it will show the rest of the world that we really mean business and are interested in our own welfare and in the progress of our country. We will not have to waste any time in talking about our natural resources and local inducements to the outside world. Northern Minnesota will speak for itself when that time comes.

The voters residing within the territory embraced under the proposition in question will have an opportunity to register their decision in this matter at the annual town meeting on March 8th in a temporary way.

Yours truly,

CONCERNING SUGAR BEETS.

The outlook for a large acreage of sugar beets in Pennington and other northwestern counties is not as good as was the case a short time ago. This is the fault of neither grower nor buyer but the result of conditions over which they have not the slightest control.

It is admitted by the sugar refiners that beets grown in this section are superior to those found anywhere else in the North. They would very much like to depend upon a large acreage being devoted to the cultivation of the beet here, but other considerations enter into the proposition which makes it difficult for them to follow their inclinations in the matter.

First and foremost among these is the present low price of sugar which makes it impossible for the manufacturer to pay as much for the raw material as was the case last year. Another serious drawback is the advanced freight rate, which is an item of decided importance where it concerns an article of such bulk. In fact, the company states that it will be impossible to handle the beets from this section at the same price as is paid for the product raised nearer home unless the grower is willing to stand a part of the transportation charges. This cannot be regarded as anything but a reasonable proposition.

The company also states that it will be both unsafe and unfair to put a fixed contract figure on the crop this year. Sugar quotations fluctuate to such an extent under present conditions that fixing a figure for next fall's output would be purely a gambling transaction. In lieu of a contract price the company proposes that growers operate under a sliding scale, the price of beets to be regulated by the price of sugar at the time they are marketed. This price would be about the same per ton in dollars as the refined sugar would be per pound in cents. In other words, if sugar is selling for 6 cents per pound wholesale, the price per ton of beets to the grower will be approximately $6.00. This is practically the ratio that has been followed in the industry during past years. Any marked deviation from the rule has been but temporary.

The question now is: Will the grower take his chances the same as the manufacturer? It seems a pity that the excellent start toward beet raising in this section shall go for nothing, but such will certainly be the case if any agreement other than that proposed is insisted on by the grower. He will have to be the sole judge in the premises. The company will do everything possible to help him along, providing seed and skilled labor where this is desired, but evidently cannot permit itself to be tied down to a certain contract stipulation which must be lived up to regardless of what the price of the finished product may be.

The outlook is not discouraging even as things stand. If the price of beets maintains its relative position when compared with other products the fact that this has proven to be a particularly favored section for their production will naturally force the industry to the front. If our farmers can raise more beets or better beets there is nothing to be feared when it comes to meeting competition on an even footing. The matter is almost entirely up to the grower himself.

DON'T GO TOO FAR.

It will probably be admitted that the public was justified in demanding that prices drop to somewhere near normal before buying anything outside the bare necessities of life, but there is a point beyond which it is dangerous to carry this determination. That point has been reached. Holding off longer in making purchases can only have the effect of retarding a general return to prosperous conditions and the person who demands further and immediate reductions before making sensible and necessary purchases is doing the very thing most calculated to bring on a condition very much worse than that we are now passing through.

In this connection the following editorial from the New York World is worthy of perusal. It proves that it is not only in the farming districts the danger of the people's growing "hard boiled" on this subject is to be feared. Industrial centers are feeling the effect of the partial boycott and the situation there is fully as serious. Says this great New York paper:

"The time has come to urge upon consumers a return to the kind of discriminating buying necessary to sustain industry and encourage production.

"A few months ago the public registered its protest against profiteer prices by refusing to buy.

"No one can say that protest was not effective.

"Everybody knows that in many directions retail as well as wholesale prices have come down and that many articles can be bought now for much less than at the time when a sorely tried public practically ceased buying.

"In their own interest, consumers cannot afford to carry the 'don't-buy' policy too far.

"In the long run, closed mills and stagnant demand cannot make for progressively decreasing prices.

"Even on a falling market there comes a moment when the public should begin to buy steadily, in order to stabilize prices at the lower levels and prevent a new upward movement due to diminished production.

"That moment has now come.

"Consumers should buy, and buy freely, of retail dealers who have consistently reduced prices.

"Such buying will put strong economic pressure on dealers who have so far failed to reflect wholesale price-cuts.

"It will also assure producers of the willingness of the public to buy at reasonable prices.

"Neither production nor prosperity can stand an indefinite period of subnormal buying and sub-normal circulation of money.

"It is time to buy."

WILL AGAIN PLAY GOOD SAMARITAN.

The raising of another relief fund, this time for the starving hordes of devastated northern China, has been started in Thief River Falls and neighborhood at a time when the entire country seems laboring under a financial depression and following drives of many kinds for many different reliefs and purposes. And the outcome will undoubtedly be the same as that of all of the others—the people will respond as only American people can and will respond.

America still enjoys, in practically all instances, the happy monotony of three square meals a day and has only a scant idea of how the unfed peoples of the earth are enduring their hardships. The fact that millions of people are dying for want of food is only statistics. Whatever be the degree of blame that can be laid to the Chinese government, and however lax their own people in properly organizing relief, there is still the human question of life or death. Thirty million Chinese are at present living in an area utterly foodless and without means of obtaining food by their own efforts. Five dollars will keep one adult alive until next June, when the winter crop, which has been helped by late autumn rains, will mature. Failing that five dollars, the adult native—from five to ten millions in number—will not be kept alive. He will die the most terrible death the human being can die—by inches and in nearly as great numbers and certainly with greater suffering than in the world war.

That is the meaning of the famine in China. Thief River Falls with her mite cannot save the lives of many out of the suffering millions, but it is the mites from all the other cities, towns and hamlets in the country which, when poured into the common coffer along with that from our city, will alleviate a condition the likes of which our nation has never witnessed.

EFFERVESCENCE.

The height of optimism is that which prompts the human of either sex to answer the "Missing Heirs Wanted" advertisement.

The Minneapolis Journal begins an editorial with "The world is being plumbed," but says nothing about who's going to foot the bill.

The wife beater who laid the blame for his act to curdled milk apparently had not conceived the possibility of a curdled disposition.

There will be no opposition to the passing of a bill to impose a $10 tax on batchelorhood. Most all of them consider that state worth far more.

If Henry Ford would devote his powers of ingenuity toward making something with a kick in it out of milk instead of working to get the kick out of it, he'd have a great deal of the country's unanimous approval.

Oddly enough, the Crooks State Bank of Crooks, South Dakota, is still open and in a thriving condition.

A fashion plate shrieks with the headlines, "Pretty Gowns For Dimpled Shoulders." And yet the woman is pictured with her back bare clear to her waist line.

Have someone page Fannie Hurst. Fannie thinks a man should not be obliged to support his wife.

Checks predominate in the new spring silks. Friend husband knows they do.

It is claimed that Lenine has submitted a plan to the Soviet congress for the complete electrification of Russia. That doesn't sound like Len. He probably meant to say electrocution.

Oolai also thinks marriage a funny thing. If one sees friends within a few months after the ceremony, they expatiate upon the felicity of the marriage state and the deplorable condition of ever being singly blessed. If it's a year after, they can't have new spring suits because of payments on the house, and things must be thoroughly considered before taking a final step. In another year or two one admires the children and the parents are silent.

Shortening the Bridge.

(Country Gentleman.)

The longest bridge in the business world is the one that spans the gap between the farm price and the retail price of food. Speaking in general averages and approximations, the farmer gets thirty-five cents for food and the consumer pays a dollar. Hence the unrest of the farms, the steady exodus to the city and the gathering demand for a showdown and a new deal in prices.

Butterfat is a notable exception to this rule of wide price divergence. It is seldom that the butterfat farmer fails to get half the price of the finished product and often he receives as much a pound for fat as the finished butter sells for. In Minnesota during the good-pasture and big-milk-flow month of June one hundred and one cooperative creameries paid an average of 63.3 cents a pound for butterfat.

How much profit there was in this price is a matter for careful determination, but at least it brought the satisfaction of being fairly near to the price the consumer paid. When you add all the other favorable things which may be said of the cow that furnishes buttefat for market and skim milk for calves and pigs, you have an advantage which dairy interests should press vigorously.

Storm Signals From Farmers.

(Crookston Times)

Something sane and constructive must be done for agriculture. William Allen White, writing in the Emporia, Kan., Gazette, expresses the belief that unless economic relief comes to the farmers of this country before 1922 there will then be such a political storm as would make former upheavals of the sort look insignificant.

"At present," he writes, "the farmers are puzzled. They are out of patience, if they are not angry; they don't know where to turn."

Whatever their attitude toward the whole public may have been in the past in selfishness and too great conservatism, they now have genuine troubles at which the rest of the nation is unwise to scoff. There has been a decline in the price of everything the farmer has to sell, but not in the cost of things he must buy. Unemployment exists in many of the big cities, but it has not yet begun to reduce the cost of farm labor, still high and scarce.

The farmers will probably demand four things, prophesies Mr. White. (1) Some special farm credit arrangement with the Federal Reserve Bank. (2) Some security of price in the spring when he plants his crop for the harvest in the fall. (3) Some right of co-operative marketing, encouraged and possibly controlled and stimulated by the government, which will give him a fair show in the world markets. (4 A square deal from packers and big grain men in big distributing centers.

The farmer's troubles are real and acute. Many of them he can straighten out for himself if he will. But some of them depend upon a more understanding public opinion and fairer treatment on the part of the other industries. Mr. White's conclusion is a warning which needs to be read seriously and thoughtfully by Congress and public alike. "It is fair weather now; so was it while Noah built the Ark."

Hang All Crepe-Hangers; We Are Ready to Proceed With Business as Usual

Among the many very excellent circulars sent out by business houses to their customers and having for their purpose the inspiring of optimism and confidence in the future prosperity of the country, the following, by the National Sales and Trading company of Cleveland, Ohio, is one of the best. It touches upon nearly every subject of particular interest at this time and hands out a lot of advice that all will do well to heed. The circular follows:

The Party Is Over.

And it was some party while it lasted. Deflation is with us and also with the balance of the world. This will lead to sanity and health. We all knew this adjustment had to come some time, so why feel blue and discouraged? We have been through the same thing before, we will live through this adjustment period also.

Banks.

We have a banking system that is holding up in fine shape, and we will have no money panic. Consider what would have happened in the last few months without the Federal Reserve System.

Gold.

We have about half the known gold supply in our bank vaults. Compare this with the situation before the war, and the present situation of the European countries.

Credit.

Every nation on the earth owes us money! Think of the billions of dollars in stocks and bonds held abroad before the war, on which we were obliged to pay dividends and interest. These stocks and bonds are now in America's strong box.

Money.

Our dollar is the only unit of currency in the world commanding a premium in every market and this situation will continue for years.

Exports.

Our exports exceed our imports by a wide margin and will do so for a long time. We have coal which every country must buy from us. England has not the pre-war tonnage to keep up her pre-war exports. Our only limit is the mechanical means to dump the cars into ocean ships, and we have ships! A few of them may leak perhaps, but we have the yards in which to build others and repair the ones we now own. And our flag flies in many ports where it has not materials, and the world must buy from us or do without.

Railroads.

Our railroads have been given a living rate. They need everything from tacks to locomotives and we own the factories which can supply them.

Building.

Every village and city in our land is seven years behind in their building program. They need everything from chicken coop to office building, and these wants must be supplied.

Automobiles.

The automobile and tire business is weak in the knees at present, but it will recover. Autos are still in daily use, and the middle of any city street is as unsafe a gossiping place as it was six months ago. We will continue to drive cars of high and low degree, and remember, every time the wheels revolve the automobile and its tires are that much nearer the junk heap.

Roads.

Road building projects on a large scale are being planned all over the country and will be put through.

Foreign Exchange.

If our foreign friends refuse to buy our goods or cannot do so because of the exchange, remember we are years behind in everything in our own country, and we could live on our own fat for five years and put our house in order, and get acquainted with each other again, and be the better for it.

Salesmanship.

Real salesmanship has come into fashion again. The day of the order taking is over, so get your feet out of the office, stop talking hard times, and hot foot it up the street and down the alleys and by-ways hustling for business, and you will find many concerns using your line of goods of whose existence you have not been aware. Keep your tail off the ground or it will be stepped on by some hustling salesman on his way to secure an order from one of your own customers.

Go To It.

We have the money, the credit, the factories, the labor, the materials, the brains, the initiative and we are naturally optimistic. Pessimism is a disease that follows poor circulation. Exercise is the best cure for it. Go out after the business. Burn the crepe hangers, wear out the shoe leather, you will get some business, and anyhow it will help the shoe business.

Prices.

Prices are being adjusted in every direction, and many of them are already dragging bottom. When you hit bottom you always come up, perhaps a little disfigured, but anyway, you come up.

Mrs. Nellie Buhl.

Mrs. Nellie Buhl of Roosevelt, died in this city Feb. 17, from abscesses, from which she had suffered for some time. The deceased is the wife of Wm. Buhl, proprietor of the hotel at Roosevelt and was 48 years of age at the time of her death. The body was shipped to her home for burial.

Before the Game.

"Four bells ! ! !"
"Chapel this morning?"
"Anything special?"
"What is 'doc' so nervous about today?"

These and numerous other exclamations and questions were from the students and even the Freshmen, as they proceeded to the assembly last Friday. Everyone took his or her singing seat—it being the regular go-to-chapel period.

During the first ten or fifteen minutes we indulged in singing or otherwise exercising our vocal mechanisms. This being executed in a very creditable manner it was announced that the best part of the day's program was still to be rendered. Our intensified suspense was immediately relieved when "Doc" (alias Prof. G. M. Melby), appeared before us on the stage. There were no footlights to enlighten his countenance, but nevertheless he seemed to be perfectly at ease.

When the first violent eruption of acclamation permitted anyone to be heard, "Doc" ordered: "I want you all at the front." The journalism class being familiar with the established place of an A-student, rushed to the front row, while some of the Freshmen with different conceptions of the front, withdrew meekly, having heard of its many and varied perplexities. The purpose of the order was, however, easily perceived when he continued: "This is going to be a real pep meeting for the big game with Warren tonight, and we want to speak to you en masse."

All of us being huddled together as near the front as we thought safe, "Doc" informed us that we would first be addressed by Coach "Tommy". Amid great applause he also came to the front, even farther than we, in fact he stood up in front of us, and began tersely: "Well I don't see why they always have to get me up here to speak to you. Of course, I'd rather speak now than last, because then there won't be anything left to say. Anyway I want to say this much—" He was hopelessly interrupted by the sudden appearance of [illegible] which easily justifies the [illegible] "Bassoon Bunglers." They walked, ran, hopped, skipped, jumped and otherwise ascended upon the platform. The procession was headed by its director, "Fat" Evenson, in due array, and consisted of a conglomeration of neck-horners, ham-boners, gaboonists, lip-stickers, jazzers and melaphonies. After a berth for every bungler had been found it was discovered that one little drummer had been left behind, and a delegation was sent after him.

In the meantime "Hjelmer" Larson, the captain of the T. R. F. H. S. quint was introduced and with his hands in his pockets, favored us with the following: "Well, I haven't much to say, but I spose you all know that we are going to play that game tonight, and I'll just say that with your support we'll beat those fellows."

The delegation finally returned with the lost drummer, and Hon. Director "Fat" was brought to notice. Having presided at similar occasions in Thief River Falls and other states, and having directed even equal and better known troopes than the present, he strolled before us with self-reliance and firmness, (possibly due to his 200 pounds.)

"Ladies, gentlemen, faculty, Freshmen, and otherwise," he ceremoniously began. "I have now the pleasure of presenting to you the renowned Thief River Falls Sympathy Band which will favor you with a periphrase of Beethoven's 'Moonlight Sonata.'" However, this was peculiarly similar to "Hail, hail, the Gang's All [illegible]" but was received with prolonged [illegible]. Buckets of Jazz were [illegible], and fulfilled even the loftiest expectations of a grand outburst of harmony. It varied from short stays in the elevated regions of high C sharp, to deep groans and descents to the lowest labyrinths of G flat. A special feature of the selection were the solo-duets by each member of the troupe, followed with a clash, bang, boom in unison.

The next on the program was Milford, "The Sheriff's Son," who evidently believes that some thoughts are beyond expression, and that words are sometimes futile, for he only favored us with a promenade across the platform.

"Caruso" Doland was called on, and gave a very eloquent and stirring speech which was favorably received—even by his teachers. We were sorry that "Rev." Shetler was unable to talk to us, for unknown reasons. Ofcourse, we know of his modesty.

"Wabbly" Ralston was caught rather unprepared, as he had expended most of his superfluous wind in rendering solos in unison with the rest of the band.

With some difficulty "Brother" Horgan was brought up, but as the shuf[illegible] bumping hall somewhat [illegible]ed his discourse, it consequently required a few strides back and forth (not on the stage, they couldn't get him up there) to stabilize his thoughts sufficiently to enable him to tell us that he didn't have much to say. It was magnanimously appreciated.

We also had the rare opportunity of hearing "Tarzan" Sorenson give a very enthusiastic and spirited talk on the virtues of the coming game.

Lastly "Doc." called on "Hiawatha" McDaniel, who said he was sure we would be better entertained at the games than by him making a speech—and of course we all heartily agreed with him.

Director "Fat" arose splendidly to the occasion when he announced the finish of the musical program, or in his own words: "Here we go again—Second spasm of the Sonata." Tum, tum, tum, clash! bang!! boom!!!. It was a further continuation of the first outbursts with probably even greater results.

As a conclusion to the meeting the yell master, Ed. Fiterman, was conveyed before us, to lend us in a few yells. To our amazement, however, his hands were in chains and consequently he was unable to talk or make his usual gyrations. This obstacle being removed as quickly as a key could be procured, he immediately repaired his universally-known ability to yell—and make others yell with him.

As a conclusion to this it may be added:

Lincoln High School, L. H. S.
Did we beat 'em? Well I guess!
We beat 'em, bust 'em, that's our custom, Lincoln High School, L.H.S.

Chapel.

A very interesting and educational talk on Infectious Diseases was given by Dr. L. F. Fisher of this city before the high school assembly Wednesday morning, Feb. 16.

Life, said Dr. Fisher, is simply a chemical reaction, and it is the purpose of medical men to prolong this reaction as much as possible, and to prevent it from being shortened by diseases and other unusual conditions. Diseases may be divided into three classes: functional, organic, and infectious. Infectious diseases are those which are caused by bacteria, and practically all of them are contagious. More people have died from infectious diseases than from any other cause. The great scourges, such as the black plague and the influenza attack which spread all over the earth some years ago, were infectious diseases. Investigations disclosed that an attack caused immunity, and later it was found that an artificially created attack, caused by vaccination, would give the same result. Now vaccinations are given for practically all infectious diseases. Infectious diseases are caused by microbes which live in the human body. Each kind of germ causes its own disease. These microbes pass from sick people to well, and gain entrance into the body especially through the mouth and nose. As long as they remain on the surface of the mucuos membrane, they do no harm, but as soon as some inflamation or irritation takes place, they get into the blood and infection begins. The germs may be carried by healthy people for a long time, and transmitted to other people who are more susceptible to the disease. Dr. Fisher cited several instances in which cases of infectious diseases were found which could not be explained as the victims had not been associated with any one who had the disease. It was finally discovered that healthy persons carried the disease germs in their systems, and spread them to others through food and other mediums.

Disease germs are also carried by animals. Thus uncooked fowel and small animals may cause tuberculosis. Rats are known to be carriers of disease, and a number of cities are taking measures to effect their extermination. Blood-sucking insects, such as mosquitoes and ticks spread diseases from sick to well. Besides acting as carriers of bacteria, mosquitoes also serve as a harborage during a certain stage of their development.

Dr. Fisher gave us some interesting information on the obstacles met by physicians in fighting the various diseases, and how the public might lessen the menace of infectious diseases by diligently observing the rules of public and private sanitation. His talk was well received by the audience, and we highly appreciate his visit.

Local High Defeats Warren

The Thief River H. S. basket quint avenged their defeat of the earlier game from Warren last Friday evening at the auditorium by a score of 11to 7. Taking the lead in the first few minutes of play, Warren proved to the spectators that they would put up a good fight for the final score. The audience was much enthused by this and cheered the local boys to a passing score in the next few minutes, which they increased above Warren's points the rest of the game.

The excellent guarding of the local quint served as an unbreakable barrier to the Warren team and at half time the teams left the floor with the locals in the lead at a score of 4 to 3. Substitutes were not used by the Thief River team as the regular five held out to good advantage throughout the entire game.

Lindstrand, forward on the opposing team seemed unable to stand the gaff, his wind breaking twice, forcing time calls. He was taken out of the fray during the second half and substituted by Mattson. Larson starring, made three field goals and three free throws out of seven for the local contestants. Ralston is credited with one field basket. The work of the guards, Sorenson and Herron, held Warren well away from their goal and with LaBree, center, the Warren quint was forced to shoot from the center of the floor. Swandby, Warren's big forward, made the sensational shot of the game—a long neat shot from the center of the floor. He also made one free throw out of two. Lindstrand and Warner made one apiece of the remaining baskets shot. Warner showed up to be a very efficient guard—and—somewhat handicapped Ralston in his shots.

Warren has a fast team and the least that can be said is that it was a whirlwind of a game. The large number of spectators were right on their toes during the whole time of play. The lineup was as follows:

T. R. F.		Warren
Larson	RF	Lindstrand
Ralston	LF	Swandby
LaBree	C	Melgaard
Sorenson	LG	Warner
LaBree	RG	Hanson

Perry Johnson refereed with L. H. Lawrence as umpire.

Coach Tommeraason is working the boys hard and they are rapidly increasing their ability in this popular indoor sport, and will show the basket ball fans some good floor work in future games. They will play the Warroad team at Warroad Friday of this week and we are all confident of a victory there although the Warroad quint has been showing up well recently. Now let's all get behind our team and boost them to victory and to Carleton.

Mass Meeting.

On Wednesday morning a mass meeting was called for the purpose of boosting subscriptions for the 1921 "Prowler."

At a recent school board meeting it was decided that the Prowler staff must have two-thirds of the money needed to publish the book before it could be sent to either the engravers or the printers. This decision was handed down to the 1921 Senior class and they immediately sent out to secure the money.

The mass meeting was the first action taken toward obtaining the required amount. The theme throughout the entire meeting was the fact that each and every one in high school was partly responsible for the attaining of the needed money, which could be gotten only through their subscribing for the annual.

Talks were given by Supt. Ziegler, the various class advisors and class president, Miss Patrick, and business manager, Smithers.

The annual, although slightly smaller than those of previous years, will be made of the best material that can be obtained around the high school and various alumni. The 1921 class expects to have the book back from the printers and on sale not later than the 16th of May, and will be on sale for the price of $1.00 per copy. So if you haven't signed up for a 1921 Prowler, send it or give your subscription to the business manager or solicitors and help the 1921 class publish the best annual of them all, the 1921 Powler.

Normal Department.

The normal girls in Group I did observation work in first grade on Thursday.

Gladys Ellested and Cecelia Lubinski were absent from school with the mumps.

The normal girls finished their course in handicrafts last Friday and are now taking a six weeks' course in hygiene.

A little boy came to call one of the normal teachers to the phone. In being asked which one was wanted he said he could not remember but it was not the long one.

Nonsense Jingles.

There was a young lady named Rose,
who wore shoes which exposed all her toes,
When asked why she did it—
She said for the fun it afforded her numerous beaux.

The Intelligence of a Normal Girl.

It bites people rite thru there butes. Sum snaix r sew long if there tale gets kold there hed don't no it til the nekst day. At leest that what we herd, but its hard tu tell. Snaix is snaix.

We ask: "Was it a normal girl?" We don't agree.

Florence Burns who is from Quebec was found in snow up to her neck. When we asked: "Are you froze?" she said: "Only my toes." But we don't call this cold in Quebec.

Miss. Ober: "Have you your talks on important men today? Huldah you may begin."

Huldah: "I don't know any man."

Nurse Notes.

Less sickness and better attendance is reported at the Central school. Miss Johnson is doing much towards bringing the children back to school and keeping their interest upon their studies.

Honor Roll.

Those represented in the January honor roll are as follows: Seniors—Dreng Bjornaraa, Harold Smithers, Ruth Hadrath and Adolph Sundrud. Juniors—Boletta Sandin. Sophomores—Pearl Weeks, Lorrayne Crandall, Lucile Curtis, Lydia Dahlen and Ole Helle. Freshmen—Esther Lundsetter, Alice Gobler, Elsie Blair, Margaret Melgaard and Albert Stengelson. Those who had been omitted from the honor roll published in last week's issue are: Pearl Weeks, Alice Bredeson, Alice Gobler and Beatrice Sandum.

Who Is It?

She is tall and short and fair,
She sits on a stool or chair;
She is young and wise and old,
Drinks her soup and coffee cold,
She does whistle, jabber and talk,
When out riding she does walk,
Wears a turban or a hat,
Sleeps on a mattress or a mat.
She can write concisely I hear,
Without a speck or smudge or smear,
She is always making a fuss,
As her pal who is a Russ.

Ruth, reciting in front of class was handling a ruler. We were almost beginning to believe she was going to use it on us.

The Normal girls were treated to a study period on Tuesday and Thursday.

Florence B.: "Have you your important man for history tomorrow?"

Clara E.: "No! I won't bring a man."

Personals.

There are not as many text books for English being purchased now as Marie and William A., Irma and William Mc., Constance and Elmer; Pearl and Marshall Race are using the same book.

Miss Dix: "Allison, you stay to make up time tonight in this room. Miss Mealy will be here with a few Freshmen and some students."

The girls' basketball team was rather disappointed when they learned that they could not play the East Grand Forks team on Friday. They are to play them in the near future.

The sudden change in the weather from spring to winter, over night is said to be like the students.

The "Prowler" staff has started taking subscriptions for the Annual and all students are warned to display the white flag when they see a subscription hunter coming after them.

The Erskine basketball team, which played St. Hilaire last Friday evening, visited high school last Friday, enroute to St. Hilaire.

All classes held class meetings on Wednesday evening for the purpose of securing subscriptions for the 1921 "Prowler."

Myrtle Krohn, a Senior student of the local high school, will leave Friday evening for a few days' visit with relatives in Minneapolis.

Found—on the third flight of stairs, an article in considerable use and value to the meeker sex of H. S., a large malleable pad filled with powdered pores. A powder puff in other words. Article will be returned to loser, providing she has sufficient courage to face Mr. Pierce in conquest of it.

Marian Cork visited friends in this city the past week.

Who says the "Crime Class" hasn't any pep?

The Seniors are conducting a lively campaign soliciting subscriptions for the Annual.

Mr. Melby: "Does anyone know what happened at "Boston Commons?"

John Henry: "Yes, that's when the battle of Lexington was fought."

Albert Stengleson visited over Sunday at his home at Rosewood.

The debating team had its picture taken for the Annual Wednesday afternoon.

We wonder how the "Poker Quintet" are passing the evenings since the night of February 8.

Matt Barzen is quite undecided as to whether he should grow cucumbers for dill pickles or onions this summer. Won't you help him?

Mr. Tripp: "Clifton, what is the function of the leaf?"

Remember the first part of the year when Morris Mabey liked room 101?

The girls' game at East Grand Forks has been postponed until Friday, Feb. 25. The East Grand Forks team will return the game the following Friday on March 4. The reason for postponing it is because East Grand Forks has just completed their new high school and there will be the dedication on Friday, Feb. 18.

Howard and Lois Struble visited at their home in Mavie over the week-end.

American Legion Corner

Meeting and Reception Tonight Following Game

The regular meeting of the Elmer J. Eklund post No. 117 of the American Legion will be held at Hotel Evelyn this evening immediately following the Thief River Falls-Excelsior basket ball game. Immediately following the business session, the assemblage will form as a reception for the two basket ball teams. Musical numbers and a real feed will be on the evening's program. The Legionnaires are urged to turn out and assist in making this the most successful meeting of the year.

Department Does Great Work.

Up to the end of February, 1921, the Legion's Minnesota Service bureau at State Headquarters had satisfactorily disposed of eight thousand two hundred and thirteen difficulties for ex-service men. The total for January, 1921, was eight hundred and twenty-eight, including 150 compensation claims, 70 clothing claims, 35 back pay claims, 25 travel pay claims, besides allotments, allowances, Liberty bonds, death claims, discharge certificates, insurance reinstatements, vocational training claims, etc. P. L. O'Toole, Minnesota Legion Adjutant, is Department Service officer and will without charge help any former service man to get what is coming to him. Hundreds of letters of appreciation have been received by the Bureau thanking the Legion for its aid in securing compensation and adjusting many other troubles between ex-service men and the various government agencies.

Can't Lick Legion Team.

The weekly bulletin received from Minnesota headquarters of the American Legion this week contained the following:

The Elmer J. Eklund Legion post of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, swears it has the best Legion basketball team in Minnesota; in fact it can't find any team to lick it, having just defeated Fosston, Crookston, Grand Forks, Bemidji, Ada and Detroit. Gerald Connell of Thief River Falls is the team manager and wants to hear from some fast basketball teams.

Legion Shows Remarkable Growth.

The vast growth and influence of The American Legion can be best realized by considering that whereas the G. A. R. though organized in 1866, did not come to be felt as a forceful national organization until about 1890. The American Legion, not yet two years old, is already the greatest national force for good in America, and has enrolled more than two million members.

Carnival Nets $1,500.

John Bridges Post No. 15, Detroit, Minnesota, sits up on its ears and tells the world it has just held a Carnival du Foyer de Soldat at Detroit which ran for three days and netted the post a profit of more than fifteen hundred dollars. "Our success we attribute to excellent publicity, good entertainment, and a spirit of helpfulness on the part of Detroit citizens." So writes B. B. Rathbun, Detroit, Legion chairman for Becker county.

Telephone Company Commences Court Proceedings

In an order dated February 9, 1921, the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission denied our application for increased rates.

We regret very much that an appeal to the court is necessary in order to protect the interests of the telephone users, the telephone employees, and the telephone investors. However, it is essential that we must have additional revenue if we are to meet the requirements of the public for service, and court action is the only channel now open to us.

In denying an increase in rates the Commission made no finding as to whether or not this Company is receiving sufficient revenue to meet the requirements of the public for service and provide a fair return to investors in the business. The Commission's action was taken in spite of the fact that it had information, verified by its own experts, which showed conclusively that this Company's revenues fell far short of its needs.

During the year 1920 the expenses of this Company in Minnesota exceeded its revenues by more than $300,000. The stockholders were compelled to stand this loss in addition to the fact that nothing was earned to pay them a return on their investment. Furthermore, operating expenses now are higher than a year ago and will result in a much greater loss in 1921 if present rates are continued.

How the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Fulfills Its Social Obligations

THERE are people in the world—though we believe that they are greatly in the minority—who still consider that smallness is a merit, that greatness is a shame, that mediocrity is commendable, and that commercial success is a crime.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that without great commercial enterprises a nation is a dead nation; that great commercial enterprises must be efficient in service to be successful, and that this efficiency means more to the nation than the success means to the organizers of the enterprise.

The Standard Oil Company believes that a great commercial enterprise, to be successful under existing conditions, must contribute to: (1) Greater efficiency in the production of wealth; (2) Greater justice in the distribution of wealth; (3) Greater wisdom in the consumption of wealth.

(1) Greater efficiency in production: Among other notable improvements in the refining of petroleum, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has contributed the Burton process. This process greatly increases the percentage of gasoline derivable from crude oil.

(2) Greater justice in the distribution of wealth: The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) cites the organization of its Company, its liberal policy toward employes—including its annuity system benefitting retired workers; its fairness to competitors—in maintaining open prices and never deviating from them; to customers—by bringing necessary petroleum products to them with the utmost economy.

(3) Greater wisdom in consumption of wealth: The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) not only recognizes its obligation to conserve petroleum and petroleum products to the end that no waste occur, but it maintains a staff of experts, ever at the service of its patrons, to instruct them in the efficient and economical use of the products manufactured by the Company.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is committed to a policy of creative leadership, and because of its loyalty to the ideals outlined above, it is today of signal service to hundreds of thousands of people in ten very important Middle Western States.

ROSEWOOD

Axel Anderson, Pioneer, Dies.

Axel Anderson, one of the early settlers here, passed away at the Warren hospital last Thursday morning, following a few weeks' confinement with cancer of the stomach. Mr. Axelson, whose old country name was Axel Severus Johanson, was born at Hammarland, Sweden on May 8, 1872. When but 16 years of age he entered upon a roving sea life which he gave up to come to America six years later. He arrived at Warren in 1893, where he was employed as a farm hand, later purchasing the Martin Lee homestead at this place. He was married at Warren shortly after his arrival in this country, but shortly after moving to Rosewood his wife died and he again returned to Warren to take up his residence. In 1903 he was married to Miss Julia Jacobson and has since that time resided here. Left to mourn his death are Mrs. Axelson and nine children, Viola, Victor, Minnie, Julia, Alma, Herman, Otto and Emil, all of whom are residents of this place. He is also survived by Nels Axelson, a son by his first marriage who now lives in Idaho, and by his aged father, Axel Johanson and one sister, Mrs. Ella Mattson, both of whom live in Sweden. Interment took place on Tuesday afternoon in the Rindal cemetery.

Stem in Winter

Edge of Leaf Spiny toothed

Barberry or Wheat?

BLACK STEM RUST is caused by a well-known fungus parasite. In the spring it grows on the common barberry, on which it forms rust spores (in"cluster cups") and these spores (seeds) are blown by the wind to the grasses or grains.

They germinate in moisture furnished by rain or dew and infect the grain or grass plants.

The parasite gets inside and takes its food from the plant and then, within a week or two, produces the red or summer spore—rust familiar to any grain farmer.

This red rust is the summer stage of the black stem rust. These summer spores in turn are blown by the wind and infect other grass and grain plants. Thus many crops of red spores may be produced and each crop causes more rust. These spores will travel for miles on the wind and from grass to grass.

Later in the season the rust becomes black. This is the winter stage. The winter spores cannot germinate at once but lie dormant on the stubble or straw until spring, then they germinate.

But They Cannot Directly Infect Grains or Grasses

This black stage of the rust can infect only the common barberry.

Destroy the common barberry and the black stage of the rust becomes harmless.

The rust cannot then get an early start in the spring because it cannot maintain itself in this country in the red stage during the winter.

Do You Know the Barberry Bush?

Send for mounted samples, posters and booklets to your State Agricultural College.

Rust is caused by a mold-like parasite which lies dormant on straw and stubble during the winter and then spreads to the common barberry in the spring. Hot, moist weather spreads it rapidly.

The original all-record phonograph without attachments

SUCH is The Brunswick, and part of its fame is due to this great innovation.

Until the coming of this noted instrument, most phonograph owners had to be content with a one-record instrument. Brunswick made this idea out of date.

There have been many attempts to equal The Brunswick, but devices and attachments never bring the desired result.

The Ultona is part of The Brunswick, in-built. And it plays every record at its best.

Another exclusive feature is the Brunswick Tone Amplifier, built entirely of wood. It has no cast metal throat, as is usual.

Brunswick PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

This scientific tone amplifier, built according to acoustic laws, gives truer, richer tone. It reveals hitherto lost shadings.

Hear The Brunswick before you buy a phonograph. Note its unequaled tone, its superb cabinet work, its many betterments.

You will hardly believe all the good things they say about The Brunswick until you, yourself, hear it. Come in today.

The relief work is conducted almost entirely by volunteers, and practically all moneys sent are expended for food for the actual sufferers. Sufficient food supplies are available in Manchuria. The situation requires generous and immediate support."

The above statement was taken from a cable to the state department at Washington from the United States Minister to China.

The great dailies have stated the situation as it exists in China today. The deaths by starvation already mount into numbers of six figures. The natives are dying at the rate of 10 for every second of the day and night. In the devastated area thirty million people still are slowly awaiting starvation as an inevitable outcome of the three years of climatic stress unless the other nations of the world rise to their rescue. Children are being torn from their mothers' breasts to be sold; millions are virtually subsisting upon one meal a day, of leaves and weeds and roots, baked together and hardened into a sodden, ill-smelling lump. It is further stated by an eye-witness that in one instance over 15,000 men, women and children who were advancing on foot toward a point at which they had heard supplies would be received, became exhausted and laid themselves down and quietly and uncomplainingly perished from sheer hunger.

QUAINT HUMOR OF GILLILAN PLEASES

Last Number of Lyceum Course Draws Largest Audience of Entire Series.

The winter Lyceum course came to a close on Tuesday evening with the appearance here of Strickland Gillilan, inspirational humorist, poet and feature magazine and newspaper writer. The advance press notices and advertising drew a larger crowd than for any one of the four preceding numbers of the course and not a qualifying comment on the funny man's talk has been heard. Every expression has been of the highest appreciation. Mr. Gillilan's talk, presented in a simple but telling manner, was continually interrupted by the laughter of his audience, which he sent home with a smile on its face. Mr. Gillilan is the author of "Off Agin, On Agin, Gone Agin, Finnigan," "Me and Pap and Mother" and "At Sleepy Time," in addition to scores and scores of other gems which are accounted among the country's greatest masterpieces. The three above mentioned he presented in dialect during the course of his lecture.

Officers of the Woman's club stated on Wednesday evening that the Lyceum course for the winter had been successful from a financial standpoint inasmuch as it had proved to be self supporting, which was all that the club had hoped for. In view of the fact that the cost to the club of the five attractions, exclusive of all other expenses, was over $750, those in charge are to be greatly commended for their successful administration.

Henry Sagmoen, who spent a short time visiting his parents at Rosewood, returned to Minneapolis to continue his studies at the Minneapolis Business college.

Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac

G. W. Logan, Peabody, Kansas

lac has completely restored my and I feel finer than in years," e straightforward statement recently by Mr. George W. Lo- Peabody, Kansas, one of the prominent stock-dealers in the West.

has not only made a new man but I have actually gained five pounds in weight and feel I ever did in my life. I of my friends about at they can see for them- it has done in my case. en I began taking Tanlac I was awfully run-down condition. I way off in weight, felt weak and all of the time and couldn't y interest in my work or any- e. My main trouble was in- on. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. It took just six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite, everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect.

"My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if anyone doubts it, just tell them to see me."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm and at Goodridge by C. C. Gulrud.—adv.

GOODRIDGE CLUB TO HOLD BIG MEETING

Address by W. A. McKerrow and Election of Officers on Saturday Afternoon.

The third annual meeting of the Goodridge Community club will be held in the consolidated school building at that place on the evening of Friday, Feb. 25. Officers will be elected and the work for the coming year outlined during the business session which will be followed by a social good time and the serving of the big "feed" for which the club is becoming noted. Music will be furnished by the Goodridge band. The feature of the evening will be an address by W. A. McKerrow of St. Paul, who in addition to being state leader of the Livestock and Dairy division of the University of Minnesota and secretary of the Minnesota Dairy council, is a member of the National Committee of Seventeen recently appointed by President Howard of the American Farm Bureau federation to investigate production and marketing in the United States. Mr. McKerrow will speak at the city auditorium, Thief River Falls at noon of the same day. B. T. Scott, secretary of the Minnesota Holstein-Friesian association, will also be a speaker of the occasion.

The Goodridge Community club was formed three years ago for the purpose of securing a greater unity of action on the part of residents of the village and the surrounding countryside in all progressive movements, and the entire community is greatly pleased with the results accomplished. The club in addition to the holding of many successful community meetings is responsible for the success of the Goodridge band and orchestra, for the booking of a Lyceum course for each of the past three winters and for the short course conducted there last winter. Arrangements have also been completed for a week's short course to be held during March of this year, at which time many of the most prominent speakers of the state will conduct educational meetings along agricultural and economic lines.

HARDING'S CABINET NAMED COMPLETE

Announcement of Official Family by Next President Contains Only One Surprise.

On Friday, March 4, Warren G. Harding of Ohio, will be inaugurated president of the United States. Ever since election last fall one of the principle subjects for speculation among politicians and others has centered on the personnel of the next cabinet. According to the Associated Press this has now been authentically announced, as follows:

Secretary of State—Charles Evans Hughes of New York.

Secretary of Treasury—Andrew Mellon of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of War—John W. Weeks of Massachusetts.

Secretary of Navy—Edwin Denby of Michigan.

Attorney General — Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio.

Postmaster General—Will H. Hays, Indiana.

Secretary of Interior—Andrew B. Fall, New Mexico.

Secretary of Agriculture—Henry Wallace, Iowa.

Secretary of Commerce—Herbert Hoover, California.

Secretary of Labor—James J. Davis, Pennsylvania.

Outside of the fact that Pennsylvania has two places in the cabinet the distribution is very evenly made so far as concerns territory. The only surprise contained in the announcement is the selection of Edwin Denby of Michigan, as secretary of the navy. His name had not previously been mentioned by those who are usually expected to know about such things.

Greenbush Added to List Of Legionnaire Victims

Following repeated challenges from the city basket ball team of Greenbush and boasts made by that community as to the prowess of their quint, Kiland, Holzknecht and Carlson of the Thief River Falls Legion team, LaBree, a second string man, and Penny and Brown, former high school basket shooters, journeyed northward on Friday and gave the Greenbushers a drubbing to the tune of 42 to 17. As a basket ball game the clash was a delightful farce with the Legionnaires spending much of their time visiting along the side lines. The Greenbush men, brawny fellows, play a peculiar style of game, it consisting principally of a tendency to hang on and ride.

The turnout for the game was large, the up-country team having previously taken five victories out of six starts from neighboring towns, but in the game of Friday night they did not at any time have a great deal more than a look in with the Legionnaires, who hopelessly outclassed them.

Purchasing Equipment For Elks.

Julien Provencher, proprietor of Hotel Evelyn, left on Friday for a week's business trip which will include stops at Grand Forks, Fargo and the twin cities. While in the latter towns Mr. Provencher will purchase equipment for the new Elks' quarters in the Citizens State bank building.

Pennington County Birds In First Place at Show

The complete list of premiums awarded at the Mid-winter show at Crookston proves that Pennington county exhibitors of cattle and farm products were not the only ones whose display attracted a great deal of attention. In the poultry line two entries from this city carried off pretty much everything in their respective classes. The single comb Buff Orpingtons of C. M. Buoen were awarded the following places: First and second cockerel; first, second, third, fourth and fifth pullet; first, third and fourth hen; second cock, and first and second young pen. Besides these Mr. Buoen was given a special prize for the best pen.

Olaf Neset exhibited Rhode Island Reds and his prizes were almost identical with those of Mr. Buoen.

CONCERT ORCHESTRA MAKING GOOD START

Twelve Pieces Now Rehearsing Under Leadership of Dr. P. L. Vistaunet.

With the formation of a concert orchestra here during the past few weeks, the city of Thief River Falls now possesses two creditable musical organizations, the second being the Choral society organized during last November. As was the case of the choral union, the orchestra represents the unceasing efforts of a few musicians who have long worked for a unit of the scope and size of that just formed. The orchestra at present is made up of 12 pieces—piano, four violins, cello, base violin, clarinet, flute, saxaphone, trombone, cornet and drums, and it is hoped this number can be increased to 20 within a short time. No name has been given it as yet, though it will undoubtedly be known as the City Concert orchestra. Rehearsals have been held on Monday evenings during the past three weeks in the show rooms of the Thief River Music company and marked progress has been made.

Only concert numbers will be attempted by the new orchestra, which is under the directorship of Dr. P. L. Vistaunet. Dr. Vistaunet is at present musical director of the Red River branch of the Scandinavian Singers association of America, as well as of the Brage Male chorus of Thief River Falls, which is a unit of the former named organization.

Christofferson Grocery to Occupy New Home Apr. 1

The firm of Carl Christofferson & Co., has secured a lease on the Knudson building, at present occupied by the Soo barber shop and pool hall on Third street, opposite Hotel Evelyn, and will move its complete grocery stock into the new quarters about April 1. The building, which offers floor space for future expansion, will be completely remodeled as to interior, new and modern show windows will be built in and the exterior otherwise brought up to date. Louis L. Cohn, proprietor of the Palace clothing house, will move into the present Christofferson quarters, while Charles B. Bradley, proprietor of the Soo barber shop and pool hall, has not as yet secured a location.

Telephone Company Asks Courts to Hear Rate Case

The Northwestern Bell Telephone company will appeal to the courts to reverse the decision of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission, handed down last week, which refused to grant the increase in rates requested by the company. President W. T. B. Bell, in a public statement, says among other things that the company last year showed a deficit of over $340,000 on its intra-state business in Minnesota and that the stockholders not only failed to receive any returns on their holdings but were compelled to make good this loss. Mr. Bell further states that the evidence adduced at the hearing before the commission conclusively showed that the concern was not receiving adequate or reasonable revenues.

Minnesota Leads Them All in Butterfat Production

That Minnesota has a lead over other states of 43,000,000 pounds in butter production is shown in figures just recently received from the United States Department of Agriculture. These figures place the butter production in the four leading states as follows:

Minnesota	130,785,598 lbs.
Iowa	87,914,633 lbs.
Wisconsin	85,054,331 lbs.
California	61,795,295 lbs.

The fact that Minnesota has such a vast lead over states in butter production, it was pointed out, emphasizes the importance of the announcement that the National Dairy Show will be held this year in connection with the Minnesota State Fair.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT.

Tells His Friends and Neighbors of His Experience.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I would get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

The hours which were from 3 to 6, were spent in sewing and in contest games. The guests included Muriel Loken, Maxine Johnson, Malvina Rupprecht, Dorothy Haney and Georgia Frissell.

Pearl Weeks Hostess.

On Tuesday afternoon, at her home, Miss Pearl Weeks was hostess at a George Washington party. Patriotic decorations were used about the rooms and in the appointments of the dinner served at six o'clock. Those present were Lorrayne Crandall, Lydia Dahlen, Murial Loken, Ruth Knutson, Elise and Viola Burringrud, Margaret Dix, Edna Ryff and Lucia Brown.

Sculthorpe-Sorenson.

On Saturday evening, Feb. 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Carlson, 512 St. Paul Ave. S., occurred the marriage of the latter's sister, Miss Nellie Sculthorpe of St. Thomas, N. D., to Martin Sorenson of Fordville, N. D. Rev. Kreidt, pastor of St. Johns Lutheran church, performed the ceremony. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Carlson. The bride wore a dress of white beaded crepe de chine. The happy couple left Tuesday morning for St. Thomas, where they will reside.

Colonial Musical.

Twenty of the younger pupils of Mrs. C. O. Erickson appeared in a Colonial Musical at her apartments on Tuesday afternoon. Each came dressed in costumes representative of the occasion. The program was followed by a guessing contest with Winnifred Wengler winning first prize while Esther Bennes and Ruth Froseth carried home the consolation prizes. The rooms were appropriately decorated in patriotic colors. After an hour of merriment, refreshments, which had been brought by the guests was served.

Washington Party.

In compliment to her Sunday school class, Mrs. C. T. Christenson entertained at a George Washington party at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Patriotic decorations in keeping with the day made the rooms attractive. Various children's games and contests were enjoyed until the supper hour. All appointments and favors were representative of the day. The guests were Iona Loken, May Rausch, Marjorie Nickolson, Ethel Patton, Mildred Biddler, Claudia Landro, Doris Erickson, Gordon Johnson, Carl Swedenburg, Eugene Crandall, James Vorosky and Emil Dostal.

Masons Give Program and Dance.

Northern Lodge No. 236 of the A. F. & A. M. entertained at a program and dancing party in the Masonic hall on Monday evening by way of commemorating the birthday of George Washington. The program included a violin solo by Mrs. August Holmberg, an address by T. H. Chittick in which he spoke of the life of Washington as a member of the Masonic order, and a paper on the history of the local lodge read by W. B. Fuller. Following the short program many adjourned to the card and billiard rooms, while dancing became the diversion in the main hall. A midnight lunch was an additional feature of the evening.

Havel-Storeby.

James Havel of this city and Miss Mandy Storeby were quietly married at the groom's home at Thief River Falls on Feb. 17, with Rev. Gjerde of Strandquist officiating. Miss Alice Kinsela acted as bridesmaid while Harry Storeby, a brother of the bride was best man. Only immediate relatives were present at the ceremony. Immediately afterward a fine supper was served. The newlyweds will leave the latter part of this month for Minneapolis where the groom, who is an ex-service man who saw active service with the 90th division in France will enter Dunwoody Institute to take up vocational training as linotype operator.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The next meeting of the Woman's club will be held at the new Commercial club rooms in the basement of the auditorium, on Monday afternoon Feb. 28. Lesson 8, "City Government of Thief River Falls," will be led by Mrs. Gaston Ward. Study leaflets for the lesson may be found at the Public Library. Mrs. Daniel Shaw and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, who attended the Mid-winter meeting of Federated clubs held at the Curtiss Court at Minneapolis, returned to this city on Tuesday. Mrs. Mogenson, who accompanied them will remain for an indefinite visit. They report that the study program of the Thief River Falls club was a topic for extended discussion and was well received by the state president and other members of the federation.

Birthday Party.

In honor of the third birthday anniversary of her little daughter, Martha, Mrs. O. G. Storholm entertained at a George Washington party at her home, 623 Knight Ave. N., on Tuesday afternoon, with nine children accompanied by their mothers, as guests. The table at which the little folks were seated during the luncheon hour was very becomingly decorated with streamers of red, white and blue ribbon suspended from the chandelier to each plate. Place cards with patriotic shields were used while the favors were cunning little dolls dressed in the national colors. The guests were Mary Keene, Jean Frissell, Robt. Frissell, Frances Storholm, Helen Sandberg, Ruth Bessler, Lois and Robt. Odin and Dorothy Granning, the latter from Minneapolis.

Girls' Community Club.

One of the most elaborate and successful parties which the Girls' Community club has enjoyed this season was held at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening. The event was given in commeration of the club's second birthday anniversary. Patriotic colors were used in making the hall attractive. Burning tapers supporting red shades adorned the tables from which the guests were served. After the assemblage of approximately 75 guests the following clever and amusing program, arranged by Miss Una Nelson, was given:

Duet by "Madame Schumann-Hein", and "Mary Garden."

Selection by "Boston Symphony Orchestra."

"Jigs."

"Grown-up Kid Show."

The hours which followed were spent in dancing. At 11 o'clock a buffet lunch was served.

George Washington Party.

Second St. Dinner was served at six o'clock. Ione Loken and Gladys Christiansen, dressed in costumes to represent Martha and George Washington, respectively, served. All decorations and appointments were patriotic, and the favors were unique little statues of George Washington. After the dinner hour the guests enjoyed numerous parlor games and music. The guests were Maxine Johnson, Erayl Anderson, Margaret Klungness, Esther Bennes, Thelma Christianson, Leiv Vistaunet, Ella Monsbroten, Ellen Crandall, Murial Loken and Morris Holzknecht, Arthur Penney, Lloyd Bennes, Clifton Conner, Clifford Storholm, Galen Adkins, John Stuart, Leigh Anderson and Robert Halvorson.

May Erect New School.

The board of directors of school district No. 54 met at the Pennington county court house on Saturday when it was decided to remodel or rebuild the school house in that district which has been condemned by the state inspector. In event of the state department's disapproval of remodeling the building, a new one will have to be erected or transportation furnished pupils to the school at St. Hilaire. The school house of the district is located on the Jefferson highway south of that village.

Junior Red Cross Will Finance Follow-Up Work

Mrs. L. G. Larsen and Rev. R. L. Barackman, representing the board of directors of the Pennington County Chapter of the American Red Cross, met with the directors of the Junior Red Cross at the court house on Saturday afternoon. The outcome of the conference was the decision by the directors of the last named organization that the funds in the treasury be made available for financing the follow-up work of the Pennington county-nurse. In cases where children are found in poor physical condition and urgently in need of treatment for which parents are unable to pay, funds from the Junior Red Cross treasury will be devoted to the purpose with the understanding that that organization is to be reimbursed by the parents when able to do so.

Miss Marie Knutson, county nurse, in conducting examinations in rural schools of the county, found many children in need of medical attention, the need being urgent in many instances. She has already received several applications for treatment of children from their parents, and three cases have been placed in the hands of Thief River Falls physicians.

State Domain Department Proposed by House Bill

Creation of a state department of public domain under a commission of five members and with five branches or bureaus of lands, mineral lands, game and fish, drainage, and forests and parks, is the purpose of a bill introduced Wednesday in the house of representatives, with perhaps 10 members of prominence as sponsors. Abolition of the office of state public examiner, forester, immigration commissioner and a number of boards would result from the passage of the bill. The commissioners would be appointed by the governor, take office July 1, for a term of two years, and receive salaries of $4,500 each.

Farm Bureaus of State Have 58,000 Members

The Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation now numbers 58,000 members and this number is expected to go above 60,000 before the end of the month, state headquarters announced on Thursday.

Twenty-four counties are completely organized having a community unit in each township, it was announced. In all 459 townships in 31 counties are organized. The federal board hopes to establish 1,000 more township units by April 1st. They are being formed at the rate of twenty a day.

Farley to Wrestle Hiatt Here Next Monday Night

Cal. Farley, holder of the welterweight wrestling championship of the world, will meet Kid Hiatt of Minneapolis on the mat at the Lyceum theater on the night of March 28. Hiatt, who has never been thrown by anyone of his weight, is challenger for the title. This is Farley's last appearance on the mat before he leaves to wrestle Walter Miller for the middleweight championship at Los Angeles, California. Preliminaries start at 10:45.

LOCAL BOXER FINDS COMPANY TOO FAST

Young Fulton Puts Up Good Exhibition at Outset of Go, But is Outclassed.

Tom Tibbitts, the Indian lightweight of Bemidji, proved his right to challenge some of the real good ones in a boxing exhibition held in this city on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Thief River Athletic association. His opponent was "Young Fulton," a local boy, who made a good showing for a beginner but was clearly not in the same class with his more experienced opponent.

At the outset it looked as if the local man might have a chance. He waded right into his man and the large crowd was for a moment by no means sure that he would not be awarded the decision on points. After Tibbitts once became interested in his surroundings, however, the general outlook changed and it was seen that he had only been feeling out his man. The first round was about even so far as the honors went.

Round two had progressed less than a minute when the Bemidji man found an opening, with the result that all hopes of Fulton being returned winner went glimmering. The round was not finished; Tibbitts clearly outpointing Fulton at every turn. The exhibition was to have gone eight rounds.

The preliminaries were interesting but not sensational. The semi-final bout of two rounds in which young men of the city were the principles, was well staged and well received. The others were on the usual order and served to keep the crowd good natured.

Cal Farley, welterweight wrestler, who will appear here in a match on Monday evening, was the third man in the ring.

It is stated that Tibbitts, who at present is engaged in logging near Bena, will make Thief River Falls his headquarters as soon as his contract is completed. He is a good boxer, a pleasant fellow and would have the enthusiastic support of local fans in anything he might undertake in the future.

Junior Short Course at Aggie School April 4-8

The ninth junior short course of the Northwest School of Agriculture will be held April 4 to 8 this year. The week will be known as Boys' and Girls' Club Week. Nearly 2000 boys and girls were enrolled in club projects in this section of the state last year and 3000 are expected to belong the coming year. The junior short course held at Crookston each year gives instruction to boys and girls of [illegible] agricultural and home making lines, particularly emphasizing club projects. Nearly 200 enrolled last year. Preparations are being made for 300 this year. The total cost during the five days is $4.60, which includes board and room. Bedding must be furnished by the student. A. J. Kittelson, boys' and girls' club leader, and the entire faculty of the school will take charge of the classes and program, thus assuring northwestern Minnesota boys and girls of an enjoyable and profitable week. Rooms must be reserved in advance by writing to the Northwest School at Crookston.

Fixing Up For Spring.

In preparation for spring business the office of C. Gustafson & Son has been undergoing a general overhauling during the past week. A new office, new floor covering placed office and new floor covering placed in the private office and the whole re-papered and repainted. The old shelving has all been torn down and replaced, the change making a decided improvement both as concerns looks and convenience. The Gustafson concern expects the spring business to average up with that of previous years in spite of the fact that the late winter has been rather slow.

GOOD PROSPECT OF ADJUSTMENT IN PAVING TIFF

Reports Are That Compromise May Be Reached Between Opposing Factions.

Proposition is to Pave Only Center of Streets on Which Traffic is Light.

Plan Would Likely Meet With General Approval on Part City's Taxpayers.

Although the men who might be expected to know most about the matter are saying the least, there is a well-defined rumor to the effect that a compromise will probably be reached between the paving advocates and those who are opposed to the improvement at this time. A meeting between the spokesmen for the latter faction and city council members has been arranged and there is every hope that things will so shape themselves as to cause further objections to paving to be withdrawn. It is admitted that such meeting will take place but neither side will offer any opinion as to what will be the subject discussed or its probable outcome.

May Curtail Program.

Those who have prominently identified themselves with the opposition have maintained from the outset that they were not against paving but thoroughly convinced that the present is not the proper time to enter into a contract involving such extensive outlay. They are willing to have the business streets paved, but believe it will be to the interests of all to postpone the matter.

The city council, as well as a majority of citizens, on the other hand, seem to be of the opinion that the city would become liable for a large sum of money in the way of damages if the enterprise were now to be abandoned, holding further that there is no guarantee of a lower price later on. The matter has been discussed from all angles and so far there has evidently has been but small likelihood of a compromise.

From repotrs current today, however, the outlook for an amicable settlement is very good. While the council members cannot see any possible way of backing away from the agreements made, there seems to be a possibility of coming to an understanding in a different direction. A man who is in a position to know informs The Times that the basis of compromise to be offered will be about as follows:

Instead of paving all streets within the paving district full width, certain of these will be surfaced only 24 feet in the center, leaving a boulevard on each side. Second street south, Horace avenue, Atlantic avenue and North Main street are the thoroughfares to be thus treated if the plan goes through, it is asserted. This would cut a large part of the total cost off the job and besides ease up on the payemnts for those who own property along the streets where there is comparatively little traffic.

Would Slove Problem.

If some such agreement can be reached it would doubtless meet with the approval of citizens generally as well as remove the objection raised on the part of those directly affected. It would mean that the paving work can be undertaken at once instead of waiting until a court decision is handed down in June. The business men interviewed on the subject this morning all expressed themselves as hoping the plan would be carried out as this would make another court hearing unnecessary and permit of the original proposal being carried out with the support of all our citizens.

Income Tax Man Here.

A. G. Aubol, deputy collector of the United States Internal Revenue service, arrived here on Tuesday and has established a temporary office in the Commercial club rooms in the city auditorium, where he will be until Saturday noon. The purpose of his stay here is to assist city and rural taxpayers in filing their income tax returns for the year 1920. His services are rendered free of charge to the general public, it being the purpose of the revenue service to expedite the making out of returns in such manner as to dispense with the large number of errors previously discovered in annual income reports.

WIVES QUALIFY FOR CITIZENSHIP PAPERS AT REGULAR HEARING

Eight Are Accepted Along With Husbands, Proving Qualifications Before Court and Government Naturalization Agent.

The citizenship of the United States was increased by nineteen on Friday when Mr. and Mrs. Hans Finkel Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Nils Christofferson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McNaughton, Sigve Torbjornson Espeland, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ferdinand Halldin, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fellman, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Olai Johnson Svare, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Olauson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vance, Anton Sworchek and Peter Borrud appeared before the judge of the Pennington county district court for examination. Petitions for citizenship had previously been entered by the heads of households. Two other pleas were continued through the applicant or his wife failing to qualify at this time.

Since the passage of woman's suffrage in 1919 it is necessary for both man and wife to appear for examination before citizenship can be granted. Of the above mentioned 19 residents of Pennington county Peter Borrud was required to go through the fewest of formalities because of his having served with the U. S. army during the world war. Five foreign nations, Norway, Sweden, Great Britian (Scotland), Finland and Poland were represented by the new citizens of this country previous to their appearance at the court rooms on Friday.

In the absence of Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren, who is attending the presidential inaugural ceremonies at Washington, Judge Wm. Watts of Crookston conducted the hearing. R. K. Doe, U. S. naturalization examiner of Duluth, conducted the examinations. The next hearing of petitions has been set for July 29.

HIGH COURT HOLDS FARM LOAN BANKS ARE WITHIN LAW

Decision Brings to Close Case of Much Importance to People of Farming Districts.

The federal farm loan act was held constitutional by the United States supreme court on Monday. This is the act under which land banks were established to extend loans to farmers. The court, in sustaining federal court decrees, dismissed the injunction proceedings brought by Charles E. Smith, a stockholder in the Kansas City Title and Trust company, also held that congress had authority to exempt the bonds of the bank from taxation.

Millions of dollars in loans to farmers were held up, pending the decision of the court in this case. The act was attacked on the ground that congress was without constitutional authority to establish the farm loan banks and to exempt their bonds from taxation. The court was divided, six to two, Justices Holmes and McReynolds dissenting. Justice Brandeis took no part in considering the case. Justices Holmes and McReynolds held the case should have been dismissed by the court as being solely within the scope of the Missouri court.

L. A. Lampert, secretary-treasurer of the Valhall Land Loan association of this city, as well as the other officers of the branch, are much pleased over the early and favorable decision rendered in this case. The Valhall association placed loans for a large aggregate amount on neighboring farms previous to the filing of the case attacking the constitutionality of the law and many more applications are now pending. The legal status of the bank being now established they are prepared to proceed under the plans originally laid down and approved by the state and federal managers of these banks.

GET LOWER PRICES ON COUNTY'S WORK

Drop in Price Below That of a Year Ago Most Marked in All Directions.

The contract for the construction of county ditch No. 68 and excavation work to be done on ditch No. 70 was let to the American Drainage company of Thief River Falls on Friday by the Pennington county contract letting board at a cost of 13 cents per yard for ditch No. 68 and 16 cents per yard for the work on ditch No. 70. These bids were somewhat lower than the lowest received at the time bids on the same construction work were opened in January. The leveling of roadways affected by the construction work will be done at a cost of $170 per mile.

A contract for steel culverts made necessary by the construction of the above mentioned ditches was let to the Minneapolis Bridge company. A third contract for large concrete culverts to be used in the construction and repair of state roads within the county was let to L. D. McAdams of this city at a price approximately one-third lower than that prevailing a year ago.

Another Farm Brings $100 Per Acre; Bought For $9.00

M. T. McFarland, prominent garage man of Thief River Falls, on Monday purchased the Carsten Christenson farm four miles northwest of the city. The farm, which is the east half of southwest quarter, section 13, Norden township and west half of southwest quarter, section 18, North township, is considered one of the finest and most modernly equipped as to buildings in this section. The purchase price was $100 per acre for the 160 acres. Mr. McFarland recently purchased nine head of purebred Holsteins and will immediately go into the market with the purpose of building up a dairy herd second to no other in Northwestern Minnesota.

Carsten Christensen in 1900 moved onto the farm, which he purchased during that year for $1450, and has since built it up into one of the show farms of the county. He will hold a public auction on March 10 for the purpose of disposing of his entire farm equipment, but has not as yet announced his further plans.

EARLY OHIO IS FAVORITE SPUD WITH GROWERS

Produce Association Members Advocate Specializing in This Variety.

Plots For Certified Seed Raising Selected For Coming Season in County.

Cobblers, Burbanks and Green Mountain Favored For Cultivation in Order Named.

The semi-annual meeting of the Pennington County Produce association which is chiefly concerned at this time with the growing and marketing of potatoes, held at the Farm Bureau office in the city auditorium on Saturday, opened with the reading of the secretary's report of business operations during the past six months and the distribution of all unpaid checks. Certified seed plots and seed potato plots were also located, the difference in the two being that certified seed plots require registration and inspection while the seed potato plots are cultivated merely as a means of selecting the best of the crop for seed purposes only.

The Favored Varieties.

It was further decided to favor the cultivation in the county of the Early Ohio potato as being best adapted to soil and conditions, with the Cobblers as second in favor, Russet Burbanks third and Green Mountains fourth. The Early Ohio has proven best adapted to growing in Pennington county, and the variety is nationally known, hence more easily marketed. They do not yield as great as the Cobblers but the quality is better and they usually command a higher price. Early Ohios raised in this section are classed as Red River Ohios, which potatoes are famous and in great demand in all markets of the United States. The Cobbler was named as second choice because of the fact that the variety is adapted to a sandy soil and many farmers of the county will find it necessary to select such a potato.

Treatment For Scab.

The importance of treating seed potatoes with corrosive sublimate was discussed at length, it being the concensus of opinion of the members present that seed should be so treated before planting in order to kill all wilt and scab germs. The association also recommends the use of arsenate of lead and paris green as a mixture in spraying for potato bugs, as being more effective than either of the two when used alone. Arsenate of lead is a slower acting poison but adheres to the plant for a much longer time than paris green, consequently a mixture of the two secures quicker action and is effective over a greater period of time. The association will spare no effort to improve the quality of potatoes to be shipped from Pennington county this coming fall.

Oski Farm Near Mavie Sold for $10,000 to Chicago Man

The Walker-Gosell Land company of Thief River Falls on Tuesday purchased for Bernard McBrady of Chicago, the Joe Oski farm north of the village of Mavie and a half section of unimproved prairie land situated a mile and a half north of Goodridge, formerly owned by Stuart McLeod of that place. Mr. McBrady paid approximately $10,000 for the first mentioned farm, which is highly improved and considered one of the finest in the county. The McLeod property sold for $25 per acre.

The purchaser is not a stranger in this section of the state, owning several valuable tracts of land in Beltrami, Marshall and Pennington counties.

Says Camps Need Men.

James King of St. Hilaire, reached this city last Friday night, having accompanied a car containing 18 head of draft horses here from Kelliher, where they were used in logging operations during the past winter months. The animals belong to Lloyd Crown, local road contractor. Mr. King states that the logging companies in the vicinity of Kelliher are in need of men but that work for teams has fallen off with the thawing weather.

TRUCKING SERVICE CLUB TOPIC TODAY

Question of Supporting Movement Sponsored By Grand Forks Men to Come Up.

George Dixon and K. P. Caldwell of the Motor Truck Express company of Grand Forks, were the guests of honor at the Commercial club luncheon served this noon. Both visitors spoke of the benefits to be derived by this community thru the operations of their company, which was recently organized for the purpose of providing motor truck freight and express service for many of the cities and villages of northwestern Minnesota during the open months of the year.

Business matters of minor importance were taken up in addition to the reading of minutes of a special directors meeting called on Monday, at which time Dr. H. W. Froehlich, George Streeter, I. Halseth and H. C. Johnson were appointed as a revolving committee having in charge arrangements for the weekly noonday luncheons and the procuring of a speaker for each occasion. It was also decided to sell season tickets good for four consecutive luncheons, at the price of $1.40 as a means of guaranteeing a large attendance at each weekly event.

With the addition to the club room equipment of collapsible tables for dining service, the organization becomes practically settled in the new quarters. A new floor to be laid in the near future will complete the renovations. The Woman's club, Girls' Community club and the Woman's Auxiliary to the local post of the American Legion have been granted the use of the room as a meeting place. Each organization, and others of a like nature which shall be granted the same privilege, will be required to pay a yearly rental fee of $25 and engage the services of the same janitoress.

INITIAL CONCERT BY NEW CHORAL CLUB MUCH APPRECIATED

Fine Program Presented Tuesday Evening Before Record Breaking Audience.

The Choral society of this city presented its first concert on Tuesday night to one of the largest audiences ever assembled in the city auditorium and scored a success as great or greater than that of any other organization of local talent. Great credit for the successful organization of the society, the rigid regime instituted for rehearsals which have taken place since the formation of the musical unit last November, and the finish with which all numbers were presented by the chorus of 50 voices, is to be given to Miss Maude L. Johnson, director.

Many difficult selections were sung by the chorus on Tuesday evening and with an ease that betokened a thorough knowledge of the scores. Several exceptionally good voices were heard for the first time in a public concert. The audience, from the opening number on the program, "Hail, Noble Hail," an arrangement from Richard Wagner's Tannhauser, to the "Hallelujah Chorus," from the Messiah by Handel, which was sung in closing the concert, rewarded the singers with applause betokening their sincere appreciation. The last mentioned and Stainer's "God So Loved the World," sung A cappella, most evidenced the ability of the chorus.

While appearing as members of the chorus, solo parts were taken by Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, Mrs. O. F. Mellby and Miss Grace Iverson. There were two highly appreciated musical numbers by Miss Ausilga Sorenson, violin, and Miss Laura Forde, piano. The latter acted as accompanist throughout the concert, her work being of the usual high order, while that of Miss Sorenson elicited unstinted approval. Mrs. Fisher's principal offering, "The Cry of Rachael," gave further evidence of the artist's mastery where the more difficult compositions are undertaken.

The Choral society will immediately start work on an oratorio to be presented here during the spring months. The chorus personnel is as follows:

Sopranos—Miss May Bark, Mrs. G. W. Booren, Mrs. M. W. Brink, Mrs. G. Halvorson, Miss Dora Holmes, Miss Grace E. Iverson, Miss Edna A. Larson, Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Miss Ella V. Miller, Miss Gerda Mortenson, Mrs. C. A. Nason, Miss Genevieve Una Nelson, Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr.

Tenors—W. A. Barnard, H. C. Durrin, T. J. Hagen, J. N. Nesse, V. C. Noper, O. C. Olson, S. C. Sundahl, P. L. Vistaunet.

Altos—Mrs. A. Bottelson, Mrs. B. W. Briggs, Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, Miss Mary Grigold, Mrs. C. D. Gustafson, Mrs. W. H. Halbert, Miss Thora Hanson, Mrs. N. K. Harris, Miss Emelia Hoorn, Mrs. Lucille E. Johnson, Miss Meta Kiland, Mrs. J. H. McKinney, Mrs. V. C. Noper.

Basses—E. M. Bennes, A. Bottelson, B. W. Briggs, E. P. Brevig, C. G. Gulrud, C. D. Gustafson, G. Halvorson, O. G. Johnson, L. H. Larsen, O. F. Mellby, F. C. Niclai, M. A. Schmitt.

Crookston Here Friday in Last High School Contest

The Thief River Falls and Crookston high school basketball quints will meet on the city auditorium floor on Friday night at 8:15 and a fast game is expected inasmuch as the locals defeated Crookston in a game played on Crookston's floor by but six points.

This is the last game to be played by the Thief River Falls tossers before they go to Crookston to fight for the district championship. No specific dates have been announced for the latter games tho they will undoubtedly be played on March 9 and 10 or on the 10 and 11. The battle for the state high school championship will be fought at Northfield on March 17 and 18.

Travelers Leave $10,000,000.

The annual report for 1920 of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota association shows that the 200,000 travelers who vacationed in the state during the past season spent $10,000,000 while doing so. The motor travel business alone, not taking into consideration the many thousands of nonresidents who arrive by rail and boat, is estimated as worth $30,000 per day to the state.

ANNOUNCE PLAN FOR FINANCING GRAIN AGENCY

Aim to Raise Billion Dollars on Debentures Secured by Warehouse Receipts.

Committee of Seventeen Outline Plan For Nation-Wide Co-Operative Selling.

Farm Bureau Considers Calling All Producing Agencies to Ratification Congress.

Details of the nationwide co-operative grain marketing plan worked out by the American Farm Bureau federation's Committee of Seventeen after five months of research have been made public.

Every grain raising community in the country is to have an opportunity to consider the plan before it is finally approved. The Committee of Seventeen is now drafting a plan for a national convention, in which representatives of every state and every farmers organization will meet to ratify the marketing program.

Under the grain selling plan, as announced through the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation this week, a national co-operative selling agency is to be incorporated on a nonstock, nonprofit basis. Grain growers will become life members of this national organization.

Five Year Contracts Proposed.

Wherever local co-operative elevators or grain shipping associations already have been formed, they will be used as the basis of the national agency. All existing co-operative units are to be asked to take part. In communities where there is no co-operative elevator, the farmers will organize a local grain growers association.

Farmers will sign contracts to sell all their grain through their local co-operative for five years. The co-operative will make a similar contract with the national sales agency.

The farmers, however, are to choose the method by which they will sell their grain. They may sell on consignment, they may sell direct to their national co-operative agency, or they may decide to establish a community pool. They may sell to a local mill or for local consumption. The object of the contracts is to enable the national organization to sell the grain as the world needs it, and prevent violent fluctuations and price depressions as a result of flooded markets at harvest time.

Warehouse System Planned.

The Committee of Seventeen is completing the details of its plan for financing this giant farmers' organization. It proposes to establish sales agencies in every important market, and acquire government licensed warehouses for storing the farmers' grain. With the warehouse receipts for this grain as surety, it is planned to sell debentures or securities on the open market, or to farmers, country bankers and the public generally, and thus raise money to finance the co-operative plan. William G. Eckhardt, treasurer of the Committee of Seventeen, in St. Paul to confer with farm bureau officers, said that the committee believes the national marketing agency can be made so strong that it can raise $1,000,000,000 a year to handle the farmers' grain.

The national co-operative probably would advance to the farmer, when he ships his grain, 75 per cent of the price it hopes to obtain for him; the rest of the selling price would be paid to him when the grain is sold. The aim of the organization is to enable the farmer to get some return from his crop at once, without dumping the country's entire production on the market at harvest time and forcing the price down. In that way farmers would be able to realize some return on their crops at once, and their national agency would hold the grain and market it as world demand calls for it. It is designed to prevent violent fluctuations through manipulation, and sudden price depression at harvest time as a result of an oversupply of grain flooding the market.

Legislative committees or executive boards of 53 county farm bureaus in Minnesota have reported their 42,000 farmer members as overwhelmingly in favor of the futures trading bill, now pending in the legislature, to prohibit short selling of grain and other farm products. Seventeen counties have reported in the last week, the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation announces.

VOTERS TO DECIDE BRIDGE QUESTION

The town board of North township and many of the residents who make use of the wagon bridge crossing the Thief river just east of the Soo round house and shops, were present at a hearing held at the court house on Thursday regarding the maintenance of the above mentioned bridge, which is said to be in an unsafe condition. The county board arranged for the hearing but on Thursday considered it purely a township matter and referred it to the town board.

been taken by the last named body which was authorized by the voters of the county to make the necessary repairs at the last election.

The town board decided to call for plans and specifications from the highway engineer and to advertise for bids for the necessary construction work. A vote will also be taken at the town election on March 8 as to whether or not the board should expend more than $4000 on repairing the bridge in question. The voters of the township at the last election authorized the board to make the necessary repairs, and bids for such were subsequently received. They were so high, however, that all were rejected. The lowest bid was $6,000.

Another plan has been suggested which it is thought will materially reduce construction costs tho offering residents on the east side of the river a more circuitous route to Thief River Falls. The township has been offered a free right of way thru the Nels Myron farm to connect with the road leading south to the Goodridge highway. This route would require the construction of a small bridge of approximately a ten foot span over a coulee. It is estimated that the cost of such a bridge would not exceed $3,000.

EXTEND TIME ONE MONTH FOR PAYING PERSONAL TAXES

Bill Giving Taxpayers to April First Without Penalty is Rushed Through.

Personal property taxes became delinquent if not paid on or before the first day of March under the law, but an emergency measure was rushed through the legislature extending the time for thirty days. The bill, introduced by Representative C. F. Serline and passed under suspension of the rules on Monday, was signed at once by Governor Preus and the ten per cent penalty will thus be avoided by a large number of citizens who found themselves unable to meet the payment at this time.

The thirty days' grace will give many an opportunity to secure the necessary money as every day sees a bettering of financial conditions. The action of the legislature will therefore be hailed with approval on every hand.

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud states that in spite of all expectations to the contrary personal property tax payments were very general, differing but little from previous years in Pennington county. However, the respite will prove most acceptable to a large number.

ONE OF TWO QUINTS TO GO DOWN FOR FIRST TIME MAR. 5

Legion and Company G Basket Shooters Will Clash Here to Decide Question.

Local fans will have an opportunity of seeing more fast work on Saturday night when the Eklund post quintet ties into the Company G team of St. Paul on the city auditorium floor. Both teams are as yet undefeated in their playing of this year and their efforts to uphold such records will spur both on to the fastest kind of a game. Company G comes here from Minot, N. D., where they clashed with the Independents on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The game will be called at 8:15.

The Legion basket shooters, who are out after the championship of the Northwest, have to their credit victories over the following teams:

Fosston Legion,	24 to 16.
Crookston Company I,	31 to 29.
Grand Forks Y,	44 to 5.
Bemidji Legion,	41 to 18.
Ada Legion,	51 to 12.
Detroit Legion,	67 to 7.
Greenbush City,	53 to 18.
Excelsior Independents,	40 to 22.
Excelsior Independents,	31 to 11.

THIRD ADDRESS OF MERCHANTS' SERIES

Banquet and Election of Officers Will Also Take Place Next Wednesday Evening.

Frank Payne, dean of the department of trade and industry of the University of Minnesota, will deliver the address at the third banquet-lecture to be given by the Thief River Falls Merchants association at the Hotel Evelyn on the evening of March 9. The subject of his talk will be "Business Cycles." The association extends a general invitation to the business and professional men of the city to attend this third lecture of the series, for which the most prominent speakers of the state have been secured.

Mr. Payne's talk will be preceded by a banquet supper which will be served at 6:30. At 9:00 o'clock a business session of the Merchants association will be opened for the annual election of officers and directors. Members of the organization who find it impossible to attend the banquet and lecture are requested to be present for the business meeting.

Town Meeting.

The Town of North will hold their town meeting in the Commercial club rooms in the basement of the auditorium, Tuesday, March 8th.

M3 THOS. H. BJERKE, Clerk.

American Legion posts still without auxiliary units are being referred to as "batchelor posts."

SCRUB CATTLE TO BLAME FOR DAIRY LOSSES

Expert Says Poor Cows Last Year Cost Minnesota Farmers Over $14,000,000.

Improved Marketing Conditions Would Go Far Toward Wiping Out This Loss.

Nation-Wide Advertising Campaign to Offset Inroads of Butter Substitutes.

A Dairy boosters meeting was conducted at the city auditorium on Friday afternoon with B. P. Scott, secretary of the Holstein-Friesian association of Minnesota, and W. A. McKerrow, head of the Livestock and Dairy extension division of the University of Minnesota, as the principal speakers. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Pennington County Farm Bureau and the Thief River Co-operative Creamery association. Hans Anton, president of the last named organization introduced the speakers.

Mr. Scott, by way of opening his short talk stated that he spoke only from actual experience in the dairying industry. He gave as his opinion that the dairy industry of the state during 1920 produced $166,000,000 worth of products at an expense of $180,000,000 because of the fact that the average dairyman worked without a dairy cow on the place. He spoke in eloquent denunciation of the "real dyed-in-the-wool hick who remained year after year in his rut on the farm, pailing cows that were not of the dairy type or breed."

Only two per cent of the dairy cows of the state are registered, Mr. Scott stated. He advocated the purchase of a pure bred sire and the upbuilding of the dairy herd for the average dairyman who desired to operate his business in a profitable manner, rather than the immediate purchase of pure bred dairy animals. In speaking of marketing conditions, he added that from several years of experiences while in the employ of one of the greater mailorder houses of the country, he was convinced that such great institutions flourished because of the antagonism existing between the average country merchant and the average farmer, and advocated a closer relationship and a common objective for the two elements.

Great Marketing Program.

Mr. McKerrow's talk dealt entirely with marketing conditions. As one of the Committee of Seventeen in the United States, which was appointed by President Howard of the American Federation of Farm Bureaus for the investigation of production and marketing conditions throughout the nation, he stated that the committee was about to present the greatest marketing program to the people that has ever been laid out. He stated that it would be impossible to at once revolutionize the marketing systems of today, consequently the work would proceed step by step until a more favorable situation for everyone concerned should result. He lauded the co-operative creamery method employed as being the most efficient system of marketing butter fat, and cited the accomplishments of the Livestock Shippers' association.

To Advertise Value.

The speaker's discussion as to the benefit of dairy products as food occupied the greater part of his talk. He spoke of the food elements found in dairy products as compared with oleomargarine, nutmargarine or other butter substitutes, the use of which he most emphatically denounced as being a menace to the health of the consumer. He further emphasized Mr. Scott's statements by designating the scrub cow and scrub sire as the "greatest thugs and thieves" to be found in Minnesota.

Both speakers became enthusiastic in discussing a nation-wide advertising campaign for the dairy products of the state, plans for which are at present being formulated with the expectations of making the names of Minnesota products household words throughout the nation. The success of the fruit and raisin growers organizations of the West in this respect was cited as an example of what could be accomplished for Minnesota—the greatest of all dairying states.

Following their talks here Mr. Scott and Mr. McKerrow, in company with Hans Anton and County Agent J. J. McCann, left for Goodridge where they spoke at the annual meeting of the Goodridge Community club. A special car on the electric line was chartered to accommodate residents of this vicinity who attended the Goodridge meeting. The attendance at the meeting conducted here was small, about 140 persons being present.

Lumbermen Get Together Here.

J. Payne of Goodridge, Fred Hincik of Mavie, O. N. Hem and Hans Aamold of Fosston, J. H. Loen of Radium, George Phillipson of Middle River, C. L. Sandberg of Holt, John Sheggrud of Hazel, and W. S. Wheeler of Lengby, attended the annual get-to-gether meeting of the Winton-Nichols lumber company managers held at the head offices here on Friday afternoon. Following the business session the out of town managers, in company with local employes of the concern, were the guests of General Manager C. A. Nason at an evening banquet served at the Hotel Evelyn.

Society and Club

Appears in Concert at Grand Forks.—The following, taken from the Grand Forks Herald before her appearance in concert in the above named city, will please numerous admirers of Mrs. Fisher's vocal ability:

"Grand Forks residents have heard with interest the announcement of Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher's appearance on the program of the Woman's Relief Benefit concert on Sunday and concert patrons are awaiting the program with much interest. Mrs. Fisher, now of Thief River Falls, is a graduate of Wesley college conservatory and while a resident of Grand Forks appeared on many excellent programs, much to the delight of local music lovers."

While in her home city she also appeared as soloist in the Grand theater. She will have a return engagement within a month.

Entertained.

Several young folks from the city were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson south of this city on Saturday evening where a social time was enjoyed. A sumptuous lunch was served by the hostess at midnight assisted by Mrs. J. M. Bishop. The guests included Misses Margaret Mealy, Margaret Dix, Maude Johnson, Esther Johnson, Laura Forde, Meta Kiland, Ausilga Sorenson, Marian Miller, Ella Miller and Messrs. Morlan Bishop, Dan Maue, Gordon Mellby, Carl Sundahl, Ed. Brevig, Perry Johnson and Guy Johnson.

Social Welfare Section to Meet.

The Social Welfare section of the Woman's club will meet on Monday afternoon, March 7, in the Commercial club rooms. At this meeting the delegates to the mid-winter meeting of Federated clubs, held recently at Minneapolis, will give their report. Mrs. C. A. Nason will give a report on the Lyceum course and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, state chairman of thrift, will give a talk on thrift work thruout the state. At 4 o'clock a 15c lunch will be served. A special invitation is extended to the men and teachers.

Starts Spring Work.

E. F. Franklin, one of the county's most extensive farmers, returned last week from Blue Earth county where he had been visiting with his family since Christmas. Mr. Franklin owns 800 acres of land in Pennington county, most of it about six miles from Thief River Falls on the river, and will soon start on his spring work. He states that the southern part of the state has experienced a very mild winter and that there is a general rush to get farming under way as quickly as possible.

Ruth Mellby Has Party.

Miss Ruth Mellby entertained a number of her girl friends at her home on Thursday evening. Games and music formed the chief diversion. The guests were Margaret Melgaard, Margaret Klungness, Maxine Johnson, Peggy Shaw, Esther Mellby, Esther Bennes, Muriel Loken, Ellen Crandall, Ausof Dahlen and Erysel Anderson.

SWEDISH CHURCH IN RED RIVER VALLEY HAS GOOD REPORTS

(By Joseph G. Mattson.)

The Red River District of the Red River Valley Conference assembled for its annual meeting on Feb. 21, in the First Evangelical Lutheran church, Thief River Falls. The district was well represented, there being thirty pastors and lay delegates present. The formal opening of the meeting took place Monday evening with High Mass service, the chairman of the district, Rev. J. M. Persenius of Grand Forks, conducting the liturgy. Two sermons were delivered at this time, the first in Swedish by the president of the conference, Rev. S. W. Swenson of Warren, who chose for his subject: "Know Ye What I Have Done to You." The second was in the English language and delivered by Rev. Joseph C. Mattson of Alvarado, having as his theme: "Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God; he riseth from supper and laid aside his garments, and took a towel and girded himself." The above passages are quotations from the History of the Passion of our Lord. At the close of the service the local pastor, Rev. Albin A. Larson, greeted the visitors welcome.

Business Session.

At 9 o'clock Tuesday and continuing in the afternoon, the delegates assembled for their business session. Scripture reading and prayer was conducted by Rev. Persenius, after which the delegates responded to the roll call. Following this, those present had the privilege of listening to a splendid report by the district chairman, who recited the work done and improvements made during the past year. Considerable has been accomplished along this line which is encouraging. There is, however, one sad feature as to conditions in this district, namely the shortage of laborers in several of its mission fields. This deplorable state of affairs concerns the district very much and gives rise to the necessity of concerted efforts for reinforcements. We hope they may be had in time to hold our line. Young men who are interested for active service in the Kingdom of God: "Why not come over and help us?" During the course of the session Prof. Sjostrand, president of North Star college, Warren, read an interesting, encouraging and enlightening report of the work there, as also asking those present for greater support and co-operation in behalf of that institution.

The following officers were re-elected: President, Rev. J. M. Persenius, Grand Forks; vice president, Rev. A. F. Nelson, St. Hilaire; secretary, Rev. P. G. Carlstedt, Strandquist; treasurer, Rev. Albin A. Larson, Thief River Falls. Prof. Sjostrand received the office of statistician and Charles Lindquist, Wylie, and E. A. Johnson, Hallock, were elected auditors.

Petitions from the Roseau-Badger charge and the Thief River Falls field for financial aid to be recommended by the district to the conference were granted.

The treasurer's report showed a good balance in the treasury and on motion it was decided that $100.00 of its resources be donated to the treasury of the Conference Mission.

Synodical delegates were elected as follows: Regulars—Rev. A. F. Nelson, St. Hilaire and Rev. L. P. Lundgren, Hallock, pastors; Andrew Nordlund, Elim, Alvarado, and Aaron Johnson, Vega, Warren, laymen.

Alternates—Rev. J. M. Persenius, Grand Forks and Rev. P. G. Carlstedt, Strandquist, pastors; E. A. Johnson, Hallock and C. A. Lindquist, Wylie, laymen.

Tuesday evening was devoted to the subject of missions. Besides some hymns by the audience, the following program was rendered: Scripture reading and prayer by Catechist Aug. Westlund; vocal solo, Miss Amelia Hoorn; address by Rev. L. P. Lundgren on the subject, "The Duty of the Christian Church to Conduct Missionary Work;" talk by Student Andy Swanson, who spoke of conditions on the Warroad-Spooner field where he is at present engaged in church work; song, "We Are the Coming Crusaders," by seven girls; address, "The Synod's Foreign Mission," Rev. P. G. Carlstedt; address, "The Synod's Home Mission," Rev. S. W. Swenson. The above addresses were rich in suggestions and consequently interesting to listen to.

The chairman, on behalf of the district, thanked Rev. Larson and his congregation for the kind hospitality and the grand way in which the visitors were cared for. In these times it means something to receive a large delegation free from all cost to them. Surely we appreciate this kindness as also the faithfulness of the ladies who served such delightful meals. We have happy memories from the meeting at Thief River Falls. May this meeting prove profitable to many.

PICTURES ARE NOT ALWAYS TRUTHFUL; FIGURES DIFFERENT

(Copyright)

"Figures never lie," it has been claimed, but this is far from the truth. The defaulter who has "doctored" his books in such a way that he has escaped detection for years, knows that figures can be made to lie. The shrewd politician, who knows how to juggle statistics, knows that they can be made to tell a story that is far from the truth.

But there is another medium of expression which is also supposed to be a stickler for truth, but which is a greater prevaricator than figures. That is a picture. A picture of any person or thing, supposedly, is an exact reproduction of the original, but this is frequently only a wild supposition. The photographer who did not make his picture tell a little fib now and then would soon go out of business from lack of patronage.

Pictures Better Than Words.

Pictures have come to occupy a very important place in the life of the world in recent years. It has been said that for newspaper purposes a picture which tells its story strikingly is worth more than columns of written words on the same subject. Newspapers and magazines have realized the truth of this fact and as a result pictures are used profusely in illustrating the news and fiction of the day.

No one has been quicker to realize the possibilities of the picture when properly—or it might be said improperly—used, than the mail order man. He has realized that a picture will do more to sell his kind of merchandise than a column of words and figures. One reason for this is that it is harder to catch a picture in a lie than it is printed words and figures. For instance, if you sell a man a table on the strength of a printed statement that it is 48 inches wide and if when the table reaches the customer it is only 36 inches wide the customer not only has a moral right to kick, but he has a legal right to accuse the seller of obtaining money under false pretenses. However, if the customer buys a table which looks in a picture to be 48 inches wide, but which proves upon its arrival to be only 36 inches wide, he has no legal grounds upon which to base a complaint if the seller has not told him in so many words that the table was 48 inches wide.

Stick to Truth in Figures.

Some unscrupulous mail order houses have taken advantage of this selling power of pictures in a very ingenious way. They adhere strictly to the truth in the actual measurements given in their catalogues of the articles which they have to sell. They may employ descriptions which exaggerate the qualities and appearance of the articles offered, but when it comes down to actual measurements the descriptions given are technically correct. Then these concerns rely upon their pictures to sell the merchandise, realizing that a picture will make a far deeper impression upon the mind of the prospective buyer than the actual figures given. A picture of a wide roomy bed will attract the eye and the reader probably will not stop to measure off the width of the bed as it is described in the catalogue to see whether it is as wide as desired. Figures, in the abstract, mean little to the average reader and do not convey the impression that is given in the picture.

A former manager of a mail order house tells how his concern manipulated pictures in this way to suit its purposes. It had pictures of its chairs retouched so that the legs seemed to be an inch and a half in diameter, when they were really less than an inch. It made narrow beds appear in the picture to be wide and comfortable. Posts of iron beds that were really an inch in diameter were made to appear as if they were three inches in thickness. These things are easy for any competent artist to do.

Patrons Had No Recourse.

This concern, however, adhered rigidly to the truth in the measurements included in the descriptions. Customers who found, when they received their goods, that they were not what they expected, could kick, but it would do them no good. The mail order house could show that it had set forth the measurements truthfully in catalogues, and there was no recourse for the customer.

There is no question but that pictures will lie, sometimes without any manipulation, and the person who buys an article of merchandise from a picture is taking big chances, even though the picture is not intentionally altered to give a wrong impression. Any amateur photographer knows from experience how the camera often will give a wrong idea of proportions.

The only safe method is to buy from the local merchant where one sees the article itself and not a picture of it. The article itself cannot lie about its dimensions, at least.

Finds Business Conditions In East Greatly Improved

A. S. Sapero returned Monday night from an extended buying trip to the large eastern markets. In company with his brothers, M. Sapero of Chisholm, and S. Sapero of Hibbing, managers of the company's stores in their respective cities, they visited Chicago, Cleveland and New York. Business conditions in these cities have greatly improved during the past sixty days and manufacturers and wholesalers are looking forward to a busy spring and summer season. The cities are crowded with buyers, says Mr. Sapero, he finding it necessary to call up 16 hotels before getting one at which he could secure accomodations. Merchants from all over the country seem only to have waited for prices to come down in order to flock in for the purpose of placing orders. Buying has been greatly stimulated by the promise of an early revival of business generally and everybody is most optimistic over the outlook.

Mr. Sapero states that he was successful in securing some very desirable goods at prices that will prove a surprise to the buying public, getting a particularly good figure on his purchases by reason of buying for three stores. The goods are already beginning to arrive and more detailed announcements concerning them will appear from time to time.

Mrs. Sapero, who visited with relatives and friends at Chisholm and other range towns during Mr. Sapero's absence, returned with him.

WIRES OLD SCHOOL FOR BANK STENO

One of the first things F. S. Dundas did when elected cashier of the Security State Bank, Fairview, Mont., was to wire Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., for a capable stenographer-bookkeeper. Mr. Dundas was himself a pupil of this old-established school which has graduates in nearly 600 banks. Over 200 ex-pupils have become bank executives. Big firms in all lines prefer Dakota-trained employes.

How Much Better Every Good Thing Looks When the Sun Shines!

Of course, it is the sun that gives the glow of colors to the prism, and the glint of silver and gold to the ice, the raindrops, the river, the ocean, or the forest leaves on the hillside.

But, most of all, the warmth and the glowing energy of the sunshine lift up the spirits of every human being and makes one feel that it is enormously good just to be alive!

And that alone makes everything seem better and more interesting.

This Spring there is another sun that is shining gloriously, beneficently on all of us.

It is the Sun of FAIR PRICES for goods.

And it is marvelous the difference that it makes in what we think of things. How much better, finer and more alluring everything is, now that it is so much easier to possess the things we want.

For years we have had to think about how many things it would make us do without, if we made a purchase of certain things, and that took away a lot of the desire for possession.

Now that fatal deterrent is gone. Almost everything is back to the lower prices where there is no longer any virtue in doing without things, and when we don't have to study so long to decide which thing we will buy, because the lower prices make it easy to buy both, or all of the wanted things.

This new sunshine is glowing all over our store, this Spring. That is one reason why it is so much more interesting than it has been for several years.

You will get the feeling and know why when you come in next time. Shall it be tomorrow?

H. O. Loken.

60% Of The Woman's Easter Attractiveness Is The COAT

Is it too bad to cover up the handsome gown, for the Easter morning promenade?

Not at all.

That gives the DOUBLE charm, and leads up to the delight and surprise when the coat is thrown off—indoors.

But it does emphasize the high importance of the well-chosen, highly becoming, charmingly stylish Coat which shall have the supreme privilege of enhancing milady's appearance on that important day and on all the other occasions afterward.

We have had exactly that impressed deeply upon us when gathering the new collections of Spring Coats and Wraps that are now being displayed.

Be sure to see them before just the one that you ought to have has been picked out—for so many individual garments are here in just one Coat of a model.

Especially priced in full fancy Silk lined Wraps or Coats at—$18.50, $25.00, $35.00, $50.00, $65.00

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

An Independent Legal Weekly Newspaper Published Every Thursday at Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Entered as second-class matter at the Postoffice at Thief River Falls, Minn.

A NEW ADMINISTRATION.

On Friday, March 4, 1920, Woodrow Wilson will surrender the highest office in the world—that of President of the United States—to his duly elected successor, Warren G. Harding. This inauguration of a President is a constitutional function staged every four years and a great deal of importance is invariably attached to the proceeding. Particularly is this the case when a change of men also signifies a well defined change of policy.

It is doubtful if ever a man entered upon the duties of this high office with more depending upon his personal judgment, patience and wisdom. There are a thousand ways in which he may make mistakes, the results of which will not only be far-reaching but may prove disastrous. It can truthfully be said, however, that seldom has one had a more united country behind him. Nearly all problems confronting the new President are of such outstanding importance that comparatively petty factors, such as politics and personalities, will of necessity be kept in the background. The people are in no mood to put up with anything of the kind and it must be said for Mr. Harding that he gives every promise of taking the larger view of his responsibilities and opportunities.

It is not likely that an attempt will be made by anyone to deny the fact that the new President—has so conducted himself since election as to greatly improve his standing before the country. In spite of the enormous vote cast for him, he was at that time neither a widely known nor a particularly popular figure. He has steadily grown under observation and the vast majority now undoubtedly feel that he can be depended on to give the country a safe, sane and progressive administration. He certainly starts in with the best wishes of everyone for a most successful term.

The man who tomorrow leaves the White House after an incumbency of eight years will be looked upon by Americans of a future generation as one of the really great men the country has produced. Even his bitterest enemies will now perhaps admit that he maintained the high traditions of his people under the most trying circumstances the country has ever faced. Fitted neither by temperment, training or physique to withstand the strain incident to carrying on a war on the most stupendous scale the world has ever seen, he never faltered once he found that America's participation was unavoidable. The value and wisdom of his leadership will be better understood when the world is older. All will join in the hope that he may long live to enjoy the rest to which his strenuous labors have so richly entitled him.

TO REGULATE OUTPUT.

There is nothing about the activities of the Committee of Seventeen that should strike terror to the hearts of honest handlers of farm products anywhere. The aim does not seem to be so much the elimination of any part of the present marketing machinery as to make this more responsive to the demands of both producer and consumer. That such adjustment is needed for the welfare of both parties is too apparent to require any argument.

As will be seen by the program presented by the committees and printed today in another part of The Times, the aim is control of the country's farm products in such manner that there will not be a glut at certain seasons and a dearth at others. The present system works out in such a way that just when the producer has something to sell he gets next to nothing for it, while later on—long after control has left his hands—it reaches a price to the ultimate consumer that is all out of proportion to its original value.

Regardless of whether or not anyone in getting more than belongs to him during this process, there should be a way of so regulating things that the producer and consumer would not both be the sufferers. As matters stand it is not even certain that the middleman profits unduly, in which case the system is solely to blame.

It is now proposed that a holding pool be formed for the purpose of taking over the farmers' products and releasing them only as fast as the demand warrants. This would have the effect of stablizing the price, which would be of great advantage to the seller as well as the buyer. In order that the farmer will not be compelled to sell at any figure in the fall when the price is low, it is the intention to allow him, at the time of delivery, a large part of what his product is eventually expected to bring. This will take money and it is proposed to issue debentures against warehouse or elevator holdings in order to provide it, these to be taken up when the product is disposed of, at which time final settlement with the producer will also be made.

The plan looks all right and some such controlling agency will have to be placed in charge if our farms are not to be abandoned entirely. At the present time there is nothing to induce the right kind of men to go into the business of raising food for the nation, and unless something is done to make the life of a farmer more attractive a large part of our acres will soon have no tenants. Already the movement toward the cities has assumed proportions that prove this danger is at hand instead of being something to prepare for in the future.

Some of the best minds in the country are working on the solution of this problem. The conclusions of the Committee of Seventeen is something gained even if these do not prove to be the ones finally adopted.

NO TIME TO STAND STILL.

In an address the other day Lieutenant Governor Louis L. Collins said that a man with new ideas is not of necessity either a crank or a criminal. In other words, he maintained that the citizen who strikes out along unbeaten paths, even though he has no very great following at the outset and may have notions at variance with the generally accepted views of his fellow citizens, will very likely advance something of value, no matter how impossible this may seem to those who boast that they walk in the footsteps of others and see only disaster ahead if any diviation from this course is permitted. In a way they are as much extremists as those who would upset all existing conditions and substitute some visionary doctrine impossible of application and undesirable even if it could be applied.

You sometimes hear men pride themselves on the fact that their attitude and opinions are the same today as they were twenty years ago. This would be deplorable, if true, and simply prove that the person so situated had been standing still while the remainder of the world moved forward and left him in the old rut. Conditions are changing too fast to permit of anyone standing in one place too long. Those who even attempt to do so are simply dragging behind, forming so much dead weight for their more progressive neighbors to carry.

Forty years ago only crazy people believed in air ships and none but cranks advocated woman's suffrage. A few misguided souls thought that perhaps in a century or two the United States might banish the saloon. Yet these things have come to pass within the comparatively short time that the present lieutenant governor of Minnesota has been functioning as a factor in the census reports. Perhaps he was thinking of this when he told his hearers that the advocating of something new did not necessarily prove either congenital idiocy or a destructive tendency.

DOESN'T LOOK SO BAD.

When things are looked at in the proper light it will be found that the farmers of Northwestern Minnesota are not in such serious straights at this time as many would have us believe. While there is a great deal of room for improvement the situation is by no means hopeless.

Prices are down, it is true, but they are no lower than has been the case on many previous occasions. The prices a farmer must pay for what he buys are still very high, but this is slowly straightening itself out. A fairly reasonable average will no doubt have been reached before the summer is over.

Last year the farmers of this section started in by borrowing money at high rates of interest in order to purchase seed at the highest prices ever known. In most instances the farmers this year have the seed and will be spared this heavy expense. Labor was scarce and very high last year and while no prediction can be made as to what percentage of the total cost of raising a crop will be represented by labor this season, it is fairly certain that it will be very much less than last. Then again, greater acreages than usual were planted to certain crops last year, the expectation being that the price would stay up—a proceeding that will not be repeated. Finally many farmers made the mistake of holding onto their grain after it became evident that the price was due for a heavy slump, and these were the worse off the longer they held on. This spring everyone will go to work without expecting anything of a sensational nature in either advances or declines, operations being therefore more nearly on a strictly business basis.

An early spring is almost invariably the forerunner of a good crop year in this section and the present promises to be the earliest for years. A greater amount of fall plowing was done last year than ever before, which is an insurance against delay in getting the seed into the ground. With any kind of an even break as concerns weather the Northwestern farmer should next fall find himself better off than he has been for some time—even when operating under a price guarantee for his products. His gross receipts may not be as great but with reduced costs he is likely to have more money left for himself at the season's end than at any time in recent years.

The action of the Minnesota legislature in voting to postpone the date for exacting the penalty for nonpayment of personal property taxes for one month was a most thoughtful proceeding. It gives a lot of folks 30 days additional in which to dig up the needed amount—a fact that will this year be highly appreciated.

A PERISHING PEOPLE.

Two of the most ruthless of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse are on their grim gallop of death through the Far East.

Millions of their victims are dying and many more millions are fated to slow and agonizing death by the hand of Famine and Pestilence.

The World War killed more than 12,000,000 but the blight that has laid its curse on poor old China will claim at least 15,000,000 if the great heart of America is not touched by the moan of despair floating across the Pacific.

In the northern part of the Flowery Kingdom, five years of crop failure caused by drouth and flood have brought 45,000,000 humans to a condition of indescribably horror. Numbed by centuries of scant sustenance to patience and suffering, the Chinese are bearing their lot with silent fortitude. It was not from them but from Minister Crane in Peking that the cry of distress came.

Agents of all Christian churches are working with him and the Red Cross to save as many lives as possible. President Wilson took official cognizance of the calamity by issuing a proclamation, begging America to help succor the starving people. Governor Preus followed with another stirring appeal. Three cents will keep a famine victim alive one day. Five dollars will save a whole family until the next harvest, when conditions will improve.

Lotus D. Coffman, president of the university; Louis W. Hill of the Great Northern Railway; Dr. W. J. Mayo of Rochester; B. F. Benson, president of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce; J. F. Downey, dean emeritus of the university, and other Minnesotans are at the head of the state committee. A check to E. W. Decker, Treasurer China Famine Relief Fund, 121 Chamber of Commerce, Minneapolis, will save some lives. All funds are cabled at once to China and food will be purchased in Manchuria with your offering. No attempt is being made to ship food from America owing to the great distance.

The city of Rochester in this state will put in three miles of additional pavement during the coming summer while Redwood Falls will spend $200,000 for a like purpose.

Travelers May Get Refund.

The Soo and Great Northern ticket offices of this city at midnight Monday placed on sale tickets bearing an attached receipt to all destinations in Minnesota. The purpose of these receipts is to insure travelers a refund in the advent of the increase in rail rates recently granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission being found unconstitutional.

Legislative Correspondence

W. G. Eckhardt of Chicago, representing the Committee of Seventeen, which is proposing a nation-wide pooling of farm production, addressed the markets and marketing committee of the House on the subject of "futures trading," in which he likened the Chicago Board of Trade to Monte Carlo and the old Louisiana lottery. Rep. Howard in reply to Mr. Eckhardt urged that if conditions in Chicago were such as the speaker had portrayed them it was his duty to go before the legislature of Illinois and have that state clean her own house. Rep. Howard said similar conditions do not obtain in grain trading in Minneapolis and Duluth. He predicted that if the bill to abolish trading in futures was passed by the Minnesota legislature it would merely result in the practical destruction of the markets of Minneapolis and Duluth and put the grain trade of the Northwest in the control of Chicago and other distant markets.

"Pass this bill," he said, "and you abolish the Minneapolis and Duluth markets, but you do not stop trading in futures. Right now I can telegraph an order to Chicago for the purchase or sale of grain and in three minutes the deal will be made and recorded. The business is simply transferred from Minneapolis to Chicago. Once you have banished our market here, it cannot be recovered. It is gone forever and 5,500 elevators and 800 mills in Minnesota alone will be forced to transact their legitimate futures business in other states." He described Duluth as the greatest foreign market for grain in the United States and Minneapolis as the greatest spring wheat market.

Senate and House committees have gotten together on the consideration of possible primary law legislation. Members interested in changing the present law point out that no one has any thought of "killing the primary law" as certain organizations and persons would like to have the people of the state believe is intended. As the discussions thus far would indicate there is a demand for legalized conventions of the various parties to recommend candidates. Delegates would be elected in March, probably, to the county conventions, which would select delegates to the district and state conventions. The preliminary draft of the measure to be introduced in both houses simultaneously is now practically completed.

Recommendation that has been agreed upon by the Senate and House subcommittees on motor vehicle taxation provides for a schedule which the subcommittee estimates will make the average tax $17.88. The schedule provides for one and eight-tenths per cent on pleasure cars and two per cent on trucks, applied on the basis of the list price, f. o. b. factory of the year in which the car is made. The value depreciation is 25 per cent after the second year and a 50 per cent allowance at the beginning of the fifth year, to continue during the life of the car. The minimum tax is $12 per year.

Motion picture censorship by state authority was definitely killed, for the present at least, by report of the Senate general legislation committee recommending the indefinite postponement of Senator Peterson's bill. The senator insists, however, that the issue will again come up in a bill to be introduced in the House. The Senate committee voted to recommend for passage Senator Gjerset's bill hibiting the exhibition of "indecent" pictures or "other representations of lewdness."

The number of so-called "army and navy" stores that have recently sprung up over the state has attracted the attention of the legislature and a bill is now under way in the House to make it a miesdemeanor to advertise a business as an "army and navy store" unless the place is conducted by an army or navy officer or is under U. S. government authority.

The appointment of S. B. Duea of Pipestone county as private secretary to Governor Preus will prove a popular one. The Whisperer of Evil.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

Beware of the whisperer. He meets you on the street or at lunch, with information that is designed to startle and alarm. It is never anything cheerful or encouraging. It is not what has been called by one humorist, the "cheerful carful."

The line of this hopeless information is, usually, that somebody is getting ready "to do something" to us. Nationality figures largely in the mind of the whisperer. Either the Jews, the Japanese, the Bolsheviki, the Negroes, or those equally as dangerous, are plotting our destruction. Anglo-Saxon civilization is in danger of being overwhelmed.

Or his whisper is more subtle yet. Some religious denomination, some church is a "menace." Why, he knows with absolute certainty.

Or the world is headed for bankruptcy. He has the figures showing the amount of paper the gold supply is carrying on its back.

When that event comes, the white races will go under and world dominance will be in the hands of the Mongolian, the Japanese and the colored races. Christianity will have gone under, and heathenism will again rule over the whole earth.

The whisperer knows all about these things and about many other things that are also not so. He startles a few people, but the majority pay little attention or they frankly "give him the laugh." If he once got the majority startled and alarmed, then there might be religious and race riots, and even wars between great countries.

The whisperer is a great liar and something of a "menace." But not very much of a menace, after all. People are too sensible. When the whisperer tries to give you his "cheerless carful," turn the metal ear to him and give him the glad laugh. This outrageous nuisance cannot stand ridicule.

Front Page Requests.

This is a little message to the friend who asked us to "please put this on the front page."

Sometimes this friend is a man, sometimes a woman, and even the young people are getting the habit.

It's always a good indication when such a request is made. It means that the writer is interested in his or her subject. It shows appreciation in a newspaper and modest desire to accept the best.

Sometimes, however, it might be added, the choice is unwise. There are news features which are expected on the front page and there are others, particularly in the Pioneer, that have their own positions on other pages.

Some of these friends who make these requests are some of our town's very good housekeepers. They would "have a fit" if someone left the dish pan in the living room. They would have another if they did not find the dish pan in the kitchen, where it belongs.

We, in the print shops, are a little bit the same way. We have a page for display news, another for locals, personals and church notes, another for news of surrounding communities, another for editorial matters and others for general matter.

Yes, indeed, now that we all come to think of it, we agree that we don't want everything on the front page after all.

Honorable Discharge.

(Duluth News-Tribune.)

The Minnesota Home Guards did something more than the average home guards did or do. They restored public order in various parts of the state time and again during the World war; they performed the highest kind of service to humanity in the forest fires of October, 1918, and their existence was at all times a guaranty to the people that the public safety would be maintained at whatever cost.

The state is properly enough sending to each Home Guardsman a formal certificate of honorable discharge. The certificate is worth having, for the guardsmen of Minnesota were not parlor soldiers. They saw severe service; some of them received serious injuries in the course of duty and at least one was killed while carrying out the orders of his commanding officer.

U. S. ASKED TO HAVE 'CHANGES ADMIT FARMERS

Committee of Seventeen Urges Legal Action by Attorney General or Commission.

Federation Experts to Meet at Kansas City to Draft New Marketing Plans.

Plan Not Considered Ideal, But Admittedly Best Available at This Time.

Immediate action by the federal government to compel grain exchanges to admit farmers' co-operative associations to full membership is the demand of the Committee of Seventeen, served on the Federal Trade commission and the attorney general and announced today by the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.

The Committee of Seventeen, appointed by the American Farm Bureau federation and representing the largest farmers' grain selling organizations in the United States, is working out a nationwide plan for direct grain marketing by the farmers. Its demand for legal action by the federal government to force boards of trade to open their doors to farmers' co-operatives is being used by the Minnesota federation in its fight for the public markets bill now pending in the legislature. This bill would force the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, the Duluth Board of Trade and the St. Paul Livestock exchange to grant equal membership to farmers' co-operative selling agencies.

Co-operatives Barred.

A resolution passed by the Committee of Seventeen contains the first indication of what its ultimate decision may be. It also specifically refused to recognize grain exchanges as the best means of selling grain.

"While not anticipating in any way the findings of the committee and not recognizing the grain exchanges as the best possible method of marketing grain," the committee members said, "we unanimously adopted the resolution." The principal grain exchanges of the United States bar co-operative companies that distribute their profits in proportion with the volume of business handled, from participating in the buying and selling of farm products. This prevents the producers from collectively selling their own products on the markets of the country, thereby creating a monopoly in the hands of the traders, a situation which is not just and which is not in harmony with the spirit of American institutions.

Government Asked to Act.

"We call upon the Federal Trade Commission, the Attorney General or other public authority to take such steps as may be necessary to open the markets to the membership of co-operative companies unless the grain exchanges shall voluntarily do the same at once."

"The Committee of Seventeen," W. G. Eckhardt, its treasurer, says, "has gone on record publicly as condemning short-selling. The marketing plan that is complete will need to be able to market the grain crop in spite of the boards of trade and short selling. When the farmers' organizations have control of a large enough percentage of the crop, then no one will dare to short sell, unless he has first contracted for the grain from the marketing organizations controlled by the farmers."

The Committee of Seventeen will take its next big step toward completing the Farm Bureau Federation's nationwide marketing plan when it meets in Kansas City on Feb. 11.

CHAMP CLARK DIES AFTER LONG CAREER

Death of Grand Old Man From Missouri, Due to Pleurisy, Occurred on Tuesday.

Champ Clark died at Washington on Tuesday in his 71st year, and within two days of his retirement from the house of representatives after a service of 26 years. Death was due to an attack of pleurisy and a combination of diseases due to his advanced age. Up to ten days ago, however, when he developed a severe cold, Mr. Clark had shared actively in the proceedings of the house as democratic leader.

Immediately after the death of Mr. Clark was announced, the house recessed for 30 minutes. Representative Rucker, democrat, Missouri, who made the announcement, said Mr. Clark's wishes, as expressed through his son, were that there should be no interruption of congress in its closing days.

Immediately on reconveing after the 30 minute recess the house adopted a resolution providing for the payment to Mrs. Clark of a year's salary, totaling about $9,000.

Members of Mr. Clark's family left the funeral arrangements to congressional leaders, who expressed the wish to have the services Saturday in the rotunda of the capitol before sending the body to Bolling Green for burial. A large delegation of representatives and senators will accompany the body to that place.

Obituary

John O. Aos.

On Thursday, Feb. 24, occurred the death of John O. Aos, a most highly respected and well known citizen of Thief River Falls, having lived here for the past 28 years. The deceased had been confined to his bed for a month, the cause of his death being cancer of the stomach. Funeral services were held from the Aos home on Saturday with only immediate relatives and friends present. Rev. Geo. Larson, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church, conducted the services. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

John O. Aos was born Oct. 1, 1857, in Hoff, Soler, Norway. He came to America in the month of April 1869. On Oct. 1, 1882, he was married to Agnes Burtness of Grafton, N. D. The couple made their home at Grafton until 1893, when they came to Thief River Falls in the spring. Since that time he was engaged in the retail grocery and dry goods business until his retirement in the fall of 1919. He leaves to mourn his demise his wife and two children, Mrs. Henry Arhart and Mrs. Alf. J. Borry, both of this city; also two sisters, Mrs. C. J. Hill of McIntosh and Mrs. B. Sillerude of Pelican Rapids; two brothers, Nels Aos of Pelican Rapids and Ole Aos of Grafton, N. D., and his aged mother, who resides in this city.

Gust Fellman.

The following notice was received by The Times this week and will prove of interest to many in this vicinity:

In Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, on Feb. 6, occurred the death of Gust Fellman from hemorrhage of the stomach. He is survived by a wife, one daughter Ruth, two sisters, Mrs. Otto Nolander of Coeur d'Alene, Mrs. N. Sorenson, Oakland, Cal., four brothers, John of Thief River Falls, Oscar of St. Hilaire, Anton of San Francisco and Eric of Oakland, Cal. The deceased was formerly a resident of Thief River Falls.

BEMIDJI DAIRY MEN TO HAVE CLEAN-UP

City Veterinarian Begins Campaign Against Unsanitary Milk Conditions.

Dairies in the vicinity of Bemidji are having a real spring clean-up and those who do not clean up will not be permitted to sell milk within the city of Bemidji.

Dr. D. R. Burgess, who was appointed recently as city veterinarian, has been conducting a campaign against unsanitary and unclean dairies and a report submitted to the city council at its meeting Monday evening showed the progress that has been made during the past two months by the new department.

Blue milk and dirty, greasy bottles will not be tolerated and when a dairyman of that vicinity recently attempted to sell watered milk his dairy was closed by the dairy inspector. Inspection of dairies will be conducted regularly.

Of the places visited by the veterinarian during the past weeks three samples of milk have been found to lack the required amount of butterfat and one sample was so dirty and the milk contained so much water that the milk was destroyed and the dairyman was ordered to sell no more milk until he could comply with the regulations required by the ordinance.

During the past few weeks five cows have been condemned and six cows have been placed under quarantine to be tested again in 90 days. Four cows with udder trouble have been isolated.

The dairy inspection department was created several months ago by the city council at the request of the Woman's Civic Community club, it being the contention of the members of that organization that impure milk was being sold within the limits of the city. A drastic ordinance was passed governing dairies, and a city veterinarian was employed. Samples of milk secured by the veterinarian proved that there was a quantity of impure milk being sold about the city and an inspection of the dairies throughout the vicinity showed that in a few instances the dairies were not properly cared for. The fact that milk from diseased animals was being sold was also discovered as the result of the creation of the new department and the work of Dr. Burgess has been so thorough that the citizens of that city can now be assured that they are buying pure milk. Every effort will be made to guarantee a supply of pure milk to the citizens of the city and any person violating the regulations of the dairy ordinance will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

The original all-record phonograph without attachments

SUCH is The Brunswick, and part of its fame is due to this great innovation.

Until the coming of this noted instrument, most phonograph owners had to be content with a one-record instrument. Brunswick made this idea out of date.

There have been many attempts to equal The Brunswick, but devices and attachments never bring the desired result.

The Ultona is part of The Brunswick, in-built. And it plays every record at its best.

Another exclusive feature is the Brunswick Tone Amplifier, built entirely of wood. It has no cast-metal throat, as is usual.

Brunswick PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

This scientific tone amplifier, built according to acoustic laws, gives truer, richer tone. It reveals hitherto lost shadings.

Hear The Brunswick before you buy a phonograph. Note its unequaled tone, its superb cabinet work, its many betterments.

You will hardly believe all the good things they say about The Brunswick until you, yourself, hear it. Come in today.

DISCING AND DRAGGING BEGUN IN MINNESOTA

Discing and dragging of fields already has begun in several fields in the vicinity of Clinton, the mild, open winter having put the ground in excellent condition for such work. Big Stone lake is reported open in many places, the earliest this has occurred in years.

INCREASED CLOVER ACREAGE IS URGED

Red River Valley Association Has Already Done Great Work on Subject.

Representatives of the Red River Valley Sweet Clover Seed Growers' association, in session in Fargo, considered methods to bring about an increase in clover acreage, which they said would restore agricultural credit.

The conference was attended by county agents, bankers, merchants and farmers. It was stated that the agricultural college of North Dakota has been assisting greatly in showing the merits of clover in four-year rotation, which will increase grain yield from 50 to 100 per cent, and by restoring humus to the ground conserve moisture and keep sandy lands from blowing.

County agents placed the developing of clover and clover clubs along with dairying as important things on their year's work. It was stated that the North Dakota Bankers' association, through its agricultural commission, has brought the matter before the public for the last six months as a means of increasing prosperity, making more fertile farms and restoring agricultural credit.

Through the activities of the Grand Forks county agent and the co-operation of the growers, the acreage has been increased from small, experimental plots in 1915 to 25,000 acres in 1920, and that the experiments carried on during this time show that the change of acreage has increased the pasturing capacity of the land over double. The increased yield, shown by experiments carried on with wheat, ranges from 7 to 12 bushels to the acre.

Benefit Purebred Sale.

As a result of the offer of breeders present at the Red River Valley Live Stock show to donate one animal for sale, a benefit sale will be held at the Red River Valley Live Stock pavilion to raise money to pay off a mortgage on one of the three buildings owned by the association on May 20.

BAUDETTE RESIDENT IS CONVICTED OF MURDER

Robert Miller was convicted of murder in the second degree by a jury which reported early Tuesday morning in district court at Bemidji. Judge Stanton was expected to pronounce sentence within a short time.

Miller was charged with murder in connection with the death of Alfred W. Fenton of Baudette, January 25, who was found shot to death near the Miller home. A brother of Miller, tried on a similar charge, was acquitted last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Loken left the first of the week for Minneapolis where the former will take a course in window trimming while Mrs. Loken will visit friends.

Elmer Smith of Lancaster was in the city last evening visiting with friends.

Mrs. William Herron and Mrs. Ed Hilson returned last evening from Viking where they spent the day as guests of Mrs. Herron's daughter, Mrs. Jansen.

84 per cent of all failures are among Non-Advertisers

The only reason some business men have not yet become consistent advertisers is that somehow they have not yet become convinced that advertising can help them.

All around them are examples of men in their own business who have built up wonderful successes by advertising. But tendency to look at the difficulties, and to exaggerate the expense, rather than to vizualize the possibilities and recognize advertising as sales they get back, has kept them from taking the plunge that would bring them up on the wave of success.

Chapel.

[illegible]al song week was appropri[illegible]erved at the high school last [illegible]y a program of national and [illegible]spirit. During this week the [illegible]f America take an opportuni[illegible]ke a special study and create [illegible]preciation for our national [illegible]

[illegible]mbers of the chapel period [illegible]ccasion were arranged by the [illegible]structor, Miss Johnson.

[illegible] up of first grade children [illegible]e Washington school, under [illegible]e direction of their teachers, Miss Schmitt and Miss Benson, rendered very interesting and inspiring selections, much to the delight of the high school students. Wearing caps of national colors, carrying their flags and [illegible] a military gait, marching upon the stage, these little students made a strong impression. When they were all assembled on the platform one of the little boys in the group, John Mundt, told the story of "George Washington and the Cherry Tree." It was given in a perfectly natural way, the childish beauty of the narrative and the simplicity of its interpretation being exceedingly pleasing. It was greatly appreciated by everyone. This was followed by a song of the same theme, it being also the week of Washington's Birthday, and a play drill, both of which were well delivered. The naturalness and absence of selfconsciousness in a small child is always striking to an older person.

After the prolonged applause of the student body as the entertainers matched out, Miss Johnson called on some of the music students, who talked on the various national compositions. Beatrice Sandum gave the history and other interesting facts concerning our national anthem: "Star Spangled Banner". Eileen Herron, "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Viola Lund, Stephen Foster and his well-known songs, "Swanee River," and "Dixie." Each talk was well delivered and followed by the singing of the respective songs by the student body. Songs which were nationalized during the late war and which will undoubtedly remain popular among the American people, such as "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "Pack Up Your Troubles" and "There's a Long, Long Trail," were also sung by the students with a great deal of enthusiasm and [illegible] American spirit. At the close of the chapel period Mr. Ziegler, in announcing the concert to be given by the Choral Society, gave it very high recommendations to the students. He emphasized the fact that it is that type of entertainment which is highly desirable, brings forth the better things in a person's development and education.

Mr. Cook Speaks.

Deputy Governor Cook of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank gave a talk on the financial phase of reconstruction at the Lincoln high school Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 23.

In the United States there are three kinds of banks, National, State and the new Federal Reserve banks. The [illegible]ks in this country differ from those [illegible] Europe in that here there are banks in almost every town of any size, most of which are owned by local residents, while the smaller banks in Europe are mostly branches of the large banking institutions. Since the majority of the stocks of our smaller banks are owned by men of limited capital, there have been a great many failures during periods of financial depression. Whenever a panic is threatened, depositors withdraw their funds, and the small banks are unable to meet the increased demand for money.

It was largely to prevent this abnormal demand for money at inconvenient times, and the consequent failures, that the Federal Reserve [illegible] was organized. The Federal [illegible] banks are joint institutions [illegible]onal banks of the district. [illegible] national bank is required to [illegible]aber, and State banks are [illegible] to join if they desire to do [illegible]ember banks buy the stocks [illegible]deral Reserve bank to the [illegible] per cent of their combined [illegible] surplus. The Federal Re[illegible] do business only with [illegible]nks, which must come up [illegible] standards and abide by [illegible] regulations of the Fed[illegible] These banks are managed [illegible] of nine directors. Three [illegible] elected by the Federal [illegible]d, which is appointed by [illegible] The other six are [illegible] member banks, so that [illegible] banks are really directed [illegible] in their respective dis[illegible]

[illegible] Reserve banks serve [illegible]: first, to establish a [illegible]ncy circulation. A mem[illegible] may send its bond for any [illegible]oney that it requires, and [illegible]mitted to issue paper cur[illegible] amount of the bond. In [illegible]al demands for money [illegible]strict may be met with[illegible]bance. The second pur[illegible]vent excessive borrow[illegible]iles of financial depres[illegible] done by increasing the [illegible]scount rate, so as to make the loaning of money unprofitable. Another thing which helps to decrease the danger of bank failures is the strict supervision which the Reserve bank exercises over its member banks. The standings of the banks are investigated from time to time, and if any are found in an unstable condition, steps are taken to relieve the bank and to protect depositors from loss.

It may safely be said that the Federal Reserve banks prevented a panic during the war and the following reconstruction period. The stupendous demand for money during the war would have caused a far greater disturbance if it had not been for the stabilizing influence of the Reserve system. The recent reconstruction period has caused an even greater strain on the banking institutions of the country. But in spite of this there have been fewer bank failures during this period than during any other national crisis. The Federal Reserve banks also did a great deal to halt the upward flight of prices during the war, by increasing the rediscount rate and thus discouraging excessive borrowing.

Mr. Cook said that the problems caused by falling prices are still with us; but the country is optimistic, and it is expected that conditions will soon be back to normal. Mr. Cook was here in the interests of the Merchants' Association and his visit to the high school was very much appreciated by the faculty and student body.

Funny Man Pleases All.

On Tuesday evening, February 22, Strickland Gilillian, a humorous lecturer, appeared at the city auditorium and presented the last number of the Lyceum Course which the Woman's Club of this city has been promoting. Strickland Gilillian is one of the nation's foremost humorists and it was indeed a privilege for the people of this community to hear so talented a man.

Mr. Gilillian opened his lecture in rather a novel manner, telling the audience that they were present for his entertainment rather than for theirs. His whole lecture was one of quaint wit into which some deep philosophy was embodied. In his philosophy optimism was brought out most clearly. He believes that optimism is not merely going around with a Cheshire smile and saying that everything is all right, but that a real optimist is one who can think when need be and who can and does have a pleasing time when seriousness is unnecessary. Throughout his lecture he kept constantly turning from a humorous path to a more serious one in order that his tale leave some food for thought in the community.

As a whole the Lyceum Course has contained a very high and uplifting tone. Each number has been one which has helped the community in educational advancement, whether it was musical, education or otherwise. People are beginning to realize more and more that a thing can be educational as well as entertaining.

We are looking forward for a bigger and better course for the coming year.

Warroad Defeated.

The local H. S. basketball team met the Warroad five at that place last Friday evening, the Thief River Falls team reaching the victorious score of 27 over the opposing team's score of 2.

The Warroad team showed some good defensive work and held the Thief River Falls team down to the given score. Warroad is beginning to show up good in the indoor loop game and we believe in another year or so they will have a crack team.

Ralston, forward on the Thief River Falls team, made 6 of the 14 baskets; Larson, forward, 5 field goals and 1 free throw; Fossum, center, 1 field goal and Sorenson 1 basket. Herron and LaBree are credited with good defensive play.

Widsten, forward for Warroad, deserves credit for making their 1 basket.

The lineup was as follows:

T. R. F. H. S.		Warroad
Larson	F	Ornburg
LaBree	F	Widsten
Fossum	C	Hall
Sorenson	G	Fox
Herron	G	Larson

Ralston substituted for LaBree the second half. McDaniel was not called into the game.

Crookston will play the local team here tomorrow night and a large crowd is expected to witness the last game before the tournament.

Normal Department.

Huldah Gustafson returned to her school work Wednesday after having spent a few days visiting at her home in Viking.

Gladys Ellestad and Cecelia Labinski are back at school after being absent for a short time with the mumps.

The Normal girls are beginning preparations for their rural school practice teaching during the next two weeks. The few girls who have already had their rural practice will remain at their work in the city while the others will work at various schools in this county.

From February 21st to February 28th is known as the "Week of the National Song." This was observed in the Normal department during the music period on Thursday morning. Interesting stories and incidents were given in connection with the writing of our national and patriotic songs. Miss Johnson had other points of interest to add, making the period an enjoyable one to all.

On Thursday afternoon Group II of the Normal department took part in the Community Sing held in the Washington building under the direction of Miss Johnson. After the little children had given the two pledges to the American flag, patriotic and familiar songs were sung. All of the children took part, singing the songs with the spirit they so well merit.

Teacher: "What can the ear be compared to, Elsie?"

Elsie: "It can be compared to a musical instrument, because it contains a drum."

Florence: "The skin is useful because it protects—oh, whatever is beneath it."

Georgia Muzzey and Goldie Kellberg visited at their homes north of the city during the week end.

Talk on Dairy Problems.

The agricultural classes last Tuesday had the opportunity of hearing J. J. Springer of the extension division of the University of Minnesota talk on some of the vital things to be considered for buildings on a dairy farm.

Mr. Springer's talk centered mainly on the concrete constructed portion of the dairy barn and silo. He considered it very essential to have the floor, mangers and at least part of the wall of the dairy barn to be of concrete structure because it is much stronger and does not absorb the steam which often occurs in the barn, and also the litter, which is a very vital portion of the manure. He also discussed briefly the arrangement of the cow stall.

In the silo, Mr. Springer stated, it is generally found that the foundation is of poor workmanship and this accounts for the rapid decay of the base portion of the wooden silo. It was found that these poorly constructed foundations admitted air and the gas of the silage into its interior, which caused it to wear away. Mr. Springer stated that the utmost care should be taken when mixing concrete in order to get the proper amount of cement, sand and pebbles to make the best concrete. He said that a ration of one cubic foot of cement to two cubic feet of sand and four cubic feet of pebbles or crushed rock. He also stated that he believed the people of this section will soon build silos of this mixture because they have proven more satisfactory in southern Illinois.

High School Represented.

The Oratory and Declamation contest, in which winners of the subdistrict contests will compete will be held at Crookston Friday, March 4. The winners will compete at St. Paul the last part of March. Keen competition will undoubtedly exist at the coming contest but the high school feels assured that it will be well represented by Edward Fiterman, who will represent our high school at Crookston in oratory.

Personals.

A few days ago it was noticed by all that the Smith-Hughes students had issued a challenge to the winner of the class games at a Basketball game. Last Friday the Seniors cinched the championship by winning five games out of the possible six and when on Monday morning the Seniors wished to sign the challenge, found that it had disappeared from the bulletin board. The Seniors now come to the conclusion that the Smith-Hughes boys expected to see the Freshmen champs.

Miss Ruth Kilund, a graduate of '20, visited school Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Mildred Hauglid left Friday afternoon for Crookston to visit with friends and relatives.

A sandwich sale was held Thursday afternoon at 3:45 in the Washington school.

Snapshots and jokes are wanted by the Prowler staff in large quantities. Hand in yours.

Anna Leimers was not on the list for making up time this week. We are sure she must be reforming.

Herbert (reciting in Latin): "The lieutenant came to that he seeking aid."

Teacher: "What is the purpose of Commercial Law?"

Fat (in a suppressed whisper): "To get a credit."

If books continue to disown their owners for more takeable persons, it may be necessary to establish a book exchange department.

In the following two weeks the girls basketball team will play two games. Holt, March 4th and Climax the 11th.

The faculty has been hard at work during the past week, preparing for the spectacular drama they are going to produce in the near future. Watch for it and keep an open date.

Heard from two Freshmen, after a heated discussion of storms.

Herbert: "Yah! Sometimes people have storms."

Orrin: "Herb's got one now, look at his hair wave."

What should be stopped in our school system, especially the first period in the morning? A discontinuation or "Truce of God" between the members of the same family who go to school in the same class.

The Agriculture and Domestic Science classes attended the lectures given at the auditorium last Friday by W. A. McKerrow and R. F. Scott, prominent men of the state. The theme of their discussions was the present outlook on business and other issues.

Clarence K.: "Mr. Gilillian used several old jokes."

Ernest B.: "Well, we can't expect everyone to have as up-to-date jokes as you, of course."

Student in Eng. III: "Sir Roger de Coverly wore the same suit as when he was in love with the widow and had turned it inside out twelve times."

Roscoe Bakke, a member of '21 class, who has been attending University of North Dakota during the past semester, returned to this city.

High School girls in love are undoubtedly poor judges of character.

Putless Days will again soon be prevalent in the high school.

Teacher: "C. W., if you don't keep still I'll give you zero for the week."

O. Storholm: "Oh! That doesn't mean anything to her."

Alice Berg and Hilda Hammerstein members of '20 class were visitors at their Alma Mater last week.

Some Seniors ought to go to the "Land of the Midnight Sun" for a recuperation period, as the nights there are about six months long during a part of the season and they might be able to catch up with some of the sleep.

"Doc" said, "The only difference between man and beast is, that man can reason." The other day he remarked that some of his students didn't have this faculty. Must we draw the sad conclusion?

Miss Miller has resumed her position as an instructor of Commercial subjects after an absence of six weeks, during which she has taken training in Vocational Commercial work.

This training was obtained by practical work in the office of the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and study of their part time continuation school.

The purpose of this course is to teach the student the things which will be of the greatest practical value when he or she leaves school and enters the employ of some firm.

The old method of teaching facts learned from books has been found inadequate preparation for employment in commercial positions.

The Smith-Hughes act has enabled many of the high schools to adopt this vocational training course.

Big Game.

The last high school basketball game this season will be played with Crookston, Friday, March 4th, at the city auditorium.

This will be one of the fastest games of the season, as Crookston was defeated by only a small score in the first encounter and are determined to even up matters tomorrow night. As this is the last game of the season to be played before the team goes to Crookston to try for the district championship, a good crowd is expected.

Boost your team!

Knox School Notes.

Miss Fjeldstad, third grade instructor in the Knox school, spent the week-end at Grand Forks. Mrs. W. H. Akre substituted during her absence.

The pupils of the Kindergarten were the guests of little Ruth Cronkhite, at a George Washington birthday party, Monday afternoon. The rooms were decorated in red, white and blue colors and small flags. The pupils gave a patriotic program and a flag drill. At the conclusion of the program, cake and ice cream were served.

The marching banner was awarded to Miss Nylander's room this week, Miss Howe's room having it last week. This banner is awarded to the room that marches in the most quiet and orderly manner.

The Kindergarten pupils are working out a "surprise" to be given to their parents next week.

Central Notes.

Sixteen members of the seventh and eighth grades will have a sleigh ride party Friday afternoon. They intend to go as far as St. Hilaire, returning the same evening.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades are eagerly looking forward to the State examinations. These exams. will be given in American history, arithmetic, grammar and spelling. All the students are working hard to receive a pass plus in the examinations. Several of the students are coming in from the country schools to take the examinations. The first examinations will be given March 31 and those students who fail to pass these, will be given a second chance in June.

The teachers of the Central school report a very good attendance for the last week. It has been one of the best weeks so far this year.

"Fat" Evenson has accomplished one of the first essentials in becoming an expert canoeist—he has parted his hair in the middle.

The following is an interesting narrative written by Reba Bickley, who is a fourth grade student at the Northrup school:

The Wolf.

One evening it was very cold. We were all sitting by the fire. Daddy was reading the newspaper. He said to Mother: "I see in the newspaper where a man was killed by the wolves."

At the supper table the subject was raised about wolves. Billie said: "Daddy, are there any wolves in our woods?" "Well, Billie, I don't know. I suppose there are."

After supper was over mother said to me: "Kate, did you lock the chicken house door?" "No, I forgot to," I said. "Well you better go and do it." I went around the barn to the chicken house. Just as I was closing the door, something black came around the barn. The first thing I thought of was a wolf. I tried to run but I stubbed my toe and fell. I got up and ran to the house. When I went into the house I left the door open. In came the black thing. I turned around to see the wolf and it was our good dog Rover.

Lynn Halvorson not only believed in the old saying: "In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," but he believes that it isn't necessary to wait for the spring.

GOVERNMENT DROPS PROFITEERING CASES AGAINST RETAILERS

Finding Expected to Put Stop to All Prosecutions Pending Under Lever Act.

The supreme court on Monday declared unconstitutional sections of the Lever law on which the government has based its profiteering prosecutions during its campaign against the high cost of living.

The decision effectually puts a stop to further profiteering prosecutions under the law.

In taking this action the court sustained decrees of lower courts which had sustained a demurrer to the indictment of a grocery concern. The specific charge was that the defendant charged $10.70 for 50 pounds of sugar, or at the rate of more than 20 cents a pound.

The section of the law in question makes it unlawful to "make any unjust or unreasonable charge in handling or dealing with necessaries."

The opinion of Chief Justice White was a denunciation of the ambiguities and generalities of the non-profiteering section.

"The statute sets no standard of crime and it does not say what shall be an unreasonable profit," he said. "It is as broad as the possibilities of human imagination. It sets no standard which human foresight can contemplate. No coherent or reasonable result can be reached. The statute is too vague."

Practically all of the attacks against the act were based on the ground that it violated the fifth amendment to the constitution in that it deprived the defendants of their property without due process of law.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT.

Tells His Friends and Neighbors of His Experience.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

IT'S A JOYOUS EXISTENCE WHEN ALL IS CONSIDERED

The editor of the Chilowee (Go.) Blade gives his readers a pointer on running a newspaper. He says:

"Editing a newspaper is a business. If we publish a joke, people say we are rattle-headed. If we publish original matter, they say we don't give them enough selections. If we give selections, we are too lazy to write. If we give a man a puff, we are partial. If we compliment the women, the men are jealous; if we don't, we the publishing a paper not fit to make a bustle of. If we remain in our office, we are too proud to mingle with the common herd; if we are on the street, we are not attending to business. If we wear poor clothes, business is dull; if we wear good clothes, we don't pay for 'em. Now what shall we do? Some people will say that we stole this from an exchange; others will say nobody but us is mean enough to write it."

Small Pox at Mahnomen.

According to reports received on Tuesday, a hotel at Mahnomen has been quarantined because of several cases of smallpox. H. Kinghorn, conductor for the Soo line, is ill at his home here with the disease.

LEGION SPONSORING PATRIOTIC PICTURE

Most Widely Discussed of Recent Photoplays to Be Seen Here Today and Friday.

"The Red Viper," one of the most remarkable picture plays that has remarkable picture plays even shown, will be be presented to this community at the Princess theater tonight and Friday night, under the auspices of the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion. A special matinee is also being given this afternoon. This picture, which presen s in the form of a huge panorama the problems of Americanization, is by no means a Bolshevist picture—it is one of the greatest timeliness and appeal to the nation. It is one of the most talked-of films of the present day.

The cast is headed by Gareth Hughes as the youthful David Belkov, a Russian boy, who on one side is enthralled by the magnificent Americanism of the late Colonel Roosevelt and on the other side is drawn into the toils of radicalism thru the influence of his sweetheart. He eventually follows the American flag and then redeems the girl from her false ideas. Ruth Stonehouse plays the 12-year-old champion of America, Mary Hogan. Little Mary lives in Finnegan's alley on the east side of New York City, in a hotbed of radicalism and unrest. Aided by a tin pail, a broom stick and an American flag, she succeeds in breaking up the numerous street-corner meetings of the would-be wreckers of civilization. In this role Miss Stonehouse practically dominates the story by her vivid and convincing impersonations.

The story is one which carries with it a message of inspiration, and at the same time satisfies those who go to the movies in search of thrills. There are no sex problems—it is wholesome and pure—and if the recommendations of the governors, senators and clergymen who have seen the "Red Viper" can be relied upon, all who call themselves Americans ought to see it also.

It is expected that the phenominal success which the picture has enjoyed elsewhere in being shown under the auspices of the American Legion will be duplicated here.

PAVING CONTRACTOR MIXED CITY NAMES; CALLED TO ACCOUNT

"A. D. Hanson of the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg, is in Thief River Falls today. He states that the city of Winona recently received bids for the construction of gravel-concrete paving, the lowest of which was $4.65 per yard. The lowest bid for similar paving received here at the time of the letting of the paving contract to the above mentioned firm was $3.98. Winona is much nearer the source of paving supplies."

The above news item appeared in The Times issue of Feb. 24. A Thief River Falls citizen closely identified with the opposition to the city paving program made use of the opportunity of proving the veracity of Mr. Hanson's statement by writing to the city clerk of Winona. The reply to his letter was to the effect that no bids had been received and that it must be some other Winona. Upon the request of the local citizen that this matter be given publicity, The Times, feeling that Mr. Hanson was mistaken only in the name of the city which received the bids, is making an effort to prove the further veracity of his statement and will publish the facts in the case as soon as they can be secured.

Coumbe Becomes Associated With Minneapolis Concern

S. C. Coumbe, who has been with the Tessum Seed Grain and Supply company of Thief River Falls for the past two years in the position of corporation secretary, on February 28 severed active connection with that firm, tho still retaining a substantial financial interest in the same. He recently became a member of the Haverson Brokerage company of Minneapolis, of which company he has been elected vice president, and left here on Monday evening to assume the duties of his new position.

Mr. Coumbe came to this city in 1917 as assistant cashier of the First National bank and since that time, with his wife and family, has made this his place of residence. He does not contemplate a change in the same during the immediate future. His present position offers an exceptional opportunity for expansion along lines in which he is much interested and for which he has shown great adaptability.

Answer in Paving Suit Filed by City Council

The city of Thief River Falls and the city administratoin on Tuesday filed an answer to the summons served upon them by the Oen Mercantile company as plaintiff in the city paving case. The answer of the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg was filed on the same day. That of the Capital Trust and Savings bank of St. Paul was filed during the past week. The text of the three answers is practically the same: The allegations of the plaintiff are denied and the latter put to proof. No further action can be taken until the case comes before the district judge during the June term of court. Preparations for an early start in paving the city streets will continue according to schedule, city officials state.

GOOD EXHIBITION OF WRESTLING PRESENTED IN MONDAY'S MATCH

Cal Farley Downs Kid Hiatt, But Only After Latter Had Given a Most Creditable Performance.

Fans got their money's worth on Monday night when Cal Farley of Humbolt, Minn., welter-weight champion wrestler, took Kid Hiatt of Wheaton to the mat in two consecutive falls; the first in 24 minutes and 45 seconds and the second in nine minutes. This was the first time that Hiatt, challenger for the championship, has been downed. The match was staged at the Lyceum theatre here, under the auspices of the Thief River Athletic club.

While the match may never have been in Hiatt's favor, he more than made it interesting for Farley. Both men worked fast and displayed a thorough acquaintance with all the rules of the game. Hiatt time and time again managed to clear himself from Farley's holds at critical moments, winning for himself wild applause from the assembled fans. Fully half a dozen times before the first fall he twisted from head scissors at the risk of his neck, and once, after the first 20 minutes, when Farley apparently had him pinned to the mat, escaped from a head scissors and wrist lock in which he had taken great punishment. Farley took the first-down-with-a toe hold which he had secured in a lightning-like movement. Hiatt virtually had his man down for the only time in the match after seven minutes of snappy work shortly previous to the second fall, but was unable to hold him for a decision. Farley took the second fall with a head scissors and wrist lock, both of which he resorted to many times during the mat event. Both men appeared on the card at 146 pounds.

The juvenile preliminaries furnished the comedy of the evening, the offering little study of the science of boxing and wrestling. Farley left for his home at Humbolt on Tuesday morning from where he goes to Los Angeles, California, to wrestle Walter Miller for the middle-weight championship.

Welfare Board Members In County Reappointed

A letter from Wm. H. Hodson, director of the Children's Bureau of the State Board of Control, announces the re-appointment of the following persons to serve on the Pennington County Child Welfare board for the year 1921: Mrs. L. G. Larsen, Mrs. J. M. Bishop and George M. Gunderson of Thief River Falls; Peter C. Wold of Kratka, and Oscar J. Peterson of Hazel.

Following is an extract from the letter of re-appointment:

"Minnesota now has some sixty child welfare boards, which means approximately three hundred and twenty people in the state who are definitely concerned about the protection of children and who have official responsibility therefor. These guardians of childhood are interested, not only in individual cases which require attention, but in the great problems of prevention. This means an understanding of the community—its needs and is social resources, an appreciation of the fact that community envirotment plays an important part in the moulding of young life. More specificially, child welfare board members are coming to see that the influence of the pool room, the dance hall, certain types of moving picture and other unregulated and commercialized forms of recreation are reaching unfavorably upon children and young people and that the community, through its child welfare board, must respond to the need."

"IT WAS A WINNER FOR ME" HE SAYS

"I'm Enjoying Perfect Health Since Taking Tanlac," Says Minneapolis Man.

"After hearing so much about Tanlac I put it on trial in my case and it has certainly proved a winner for me," said W. G. Jørgenson of 524 Essex St., Minneapolis, Minn., an employe of the Northwestern Telephone Co.

"Before I got hold of Tanlac my troubles of three years standing had pulled me down until my work was a daily grind and I was in constant misery both day and night. My kidneys were badly disordered and were continually worrying me, and I had pains in my back and joints that were almost unbearable. My sides hurt me terribly also, and at times the pains were so severe as to almost drive me wild. Nothing seemed to do me any good and I hardly see how I managed to hold out at my work.

"When I got Tanlac I found the very thing I was needing, for it just built me right up and has put me in the very best of condition. My kidneys no longer bother me and I never have an ache or pain at all. In fact I'm just enjoying perfect health and gladly give Tanlac all the credit."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls by Roy Lambert, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm and at Goodridge by G. G. Gubrid.—adv.

STRONG OPENING IN CATTLE TRADE

Undertone to Market Healthy. Best Steers $8.25—Hogs Average Over $9.00.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Minn. Dept. of Agriculture.)

The country apparently has the upper hand in the cattle market. While demand for beef is showing no material expansion, trade in stockers and feeders is opening up in good shape and competition for such kinds together with light receipts are the chief bulling influences in the cattle market at present. Last week's substantial advances failed to bring forth any increase in marketings at the week's opening and trade maintained a healthy undertone with some kinds showing as much as 25c gain. One load of 1200-pound beeves topped Monday's trade at $8.25 with others at $7.75 to $8 and bulk from $6.50 to $7.50. Best heifers in load lots brought $7.25, with bulk of the she stock from $4.25 to $6.50. Prices on canners and cutters ranged largely from $2.50 to $4, with bulk of bologna bulls from $4 to $4.75. Veal calves have gained $1 since last Monday, best at this week's opening selling at $10. Demand for stock cattle continued good and Monday's market was strong to 25c higher.

Average cost of hogs on the market is again well above $9, bulk of all sales at the week's opening ranging from $9 to $9.75, with a few select lights up to $9.80. Heavy packers are selling around $7.50 to $8. Most of the desirable pigs arriving Monday brought $10.35. Rapid advances featured last week's trade in sheep and lambs and choice fed westerns sold as high as $10.25 at this week's opening, with choice ewes up at $6.00 or slightly above.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

LEGIONNAIRES TAKE TWO GAMES FROM FAST EXCELSIOR QUINTET

Finest Exhibition of Basketball Ever Seen in This City—Speed and Superior Team Work of Locals Responsible For Result—Large Crowds Out to Witness Both Contests.

The American Legion basket ball team of Thief River Falls on Thursday and Friday nights defeated the fast Excelsior Independents in two of the most hotly contested and clean games ever played in this city. The locals stood the victors by a score of 40 to 23 for Thursday's clash and by a score of 31 to 11 for Friday's. They now have ten games to their credit out of ten starts made and under the direction of Coach Connell are being kept in the best of trim for future games with the fastest teams of Minnesota, from which challenges are being received daily.

Large crowds assembled each night hours before the time scheduled for the games and applauded in true sportsmanlike manner the brilliant playing of both home and visiting teams. A great deal of favorable comment is heard in regard to the remarkably clean brand of basket ball produced by the visitors, whose playing at all times gave evidence that it was not necessary to resort to other tactics when the outcome ceased to appear in their favor. The city band contributed its services in holding the assembled fans in leash before the two games and between halves. Perry Johnson referred both games.

The clash of Thursday night opened up in fine fashion. R. L. Louden failed to make a free throw granted on a techinal foul and several of Excelsior's long shots failed to locate the hoop during the first two minutes of playing. Hadrath of the Legionnaires played a brilliant game from the outset, making the net twice before the first two minutes had passed. Kiland followed this with another in the third minute. Hadrath shortly after made his third goal in a long shot from the center line, the resulting score spurring the visitors on to even faster playing. After several minutes of real battling, during which both quints missed opportunities to score and could be credited with several wild passes, R. Louden, Excelsior forward, plopped one fair into the net in a long shot. Christnach was called on a technical foul and Carlson made the free throw. After ten minutes of playing Excelsior took time out. Then followed a long string of bad shots on the part of the locals, with their adversaries taking the lead through successful throws from the field made by Christnach, Hutton, R. Louden and W. Louden. With but three minutes of the half left to play, Hadrath and Kiland scored from the field in rapid succession and the result was a tie, 13 to 13. During the warmest part of the entire clash which followed Hadrath made his sixth goal and the half closed with the Legionnaires two points in the lead.

The second half opened in the same manner as the first with the score again tied in the first minute of playing by R. Louden's successful throw. Thief River Falls took a greater lead in the real mixing that followed, Carlson making a clean-cut free throw and Kiland, Hadrath and Holzknecht scoring from the field. Seven minutes of playing and time out was taken. R. Louden broke in a dribble and Carlson made the throw. That process was then reversed, Carlson breaking and Louden making the free throw. W. Louden immediately after made a successful shot from near the center line. Hadrath followed Louden's throw with another well netted ball. With 12 minutes of the half gone Johnson substituted for Kiland. Hadrath increased the lead of his quint by taking the pigskin from his man well to one side of the center and with an open floor between himself and the basket, making the hoop with ease. It was one of the pretty plays of the game. Carlson failed immediately thereafter to make a free throw. Johnson missed the circle by a narrow margin but McGinn made a successful catch of the failing throw and scored two more points. Hadrath took another field goal. R. Louden scored on a free throw and W. Louden with a field basket but two of the points were neutralized by McGinn's second and neat throw. Well towards the last of the half Holzknecht received a blow which left him groggy and he was replaced by Johnson, who was in turn replaced by LaBree in the position of forward. LaBree made a field goal in less than one minute's time. R. Louden followed LaBree's scoring with the prettiest shot of the entire game, a field basket made from fully three quarters of the length of the floor. He followed this by the making of a free throw, it being the last point made by the Excelsior five. LaBree made a second basket after having been in the game but three minutes. Carlson missed a free throw. With but a minute and a half left, the visitors again tied into the game with determination and the locals were held down to one more field goal made by McGinn on the very instant that the closing pistol shot was fired. The score stood at 40 to 23.

The two Loudens shared equally the honors for the Excelsior five, with Hutton putting up a fair claim for the same. Hadrath out-starred the entire field and took ten field baskets to his credit. McGinn's interference was at all times markedly successful. Carlson's work failed to show up with the brilliancy of previous games, owing to the fact that he was most successfully guarded by two members of the visiting team. The lineup:

Excelsior		Legion
Christnach	RF	Carlson
R. Louden	LF	Kiland
W. Louden	C	Hadrath
Gillespie	RG	Holzknecht
Hutton	LG	McGinn

Substitutes: Johnson for Kiland; Johnson for Holzknecht; LaBree for Johnson.

E. R. Donovan, Excelsior coach and manager. G. W. Connell, Thief River Falls coach and manager. Perry Johnson, referee.

Free throws: R. Louden, 3 out of 4; Carlson, 4 out of 6. Field baskets: R. Louden 4, W. Louden 3, Hutton 2, Christnach 1, Hadrath 10, McGinn 3, Kiland 2, LaBree 2, Holzknecht 1.

Second Game.

The second game was hotly contested in spite of the fact that the final score would indicate otherwise. Kiland opened the scoring with a field basket; Carlson missed a free throw granted on R. Louden's technical foul; Hadrath was chalked up with two field goals; Carlson missed a second free throw; Kiland took his second basket—all in the first ten minutes of playing, which was pretty much under Thief River's goal. During that time Excelsior failed to locate the hoop from the field and R. Louden failed to score on a free throw on McGinn's personal foul. During the remaining ten minutes of the half the play swung to the visitor's end of the floor. R. Louden missed two successive free throws, following which Carlson added another point to the mounting score of the locals when the former named guard fouled. Following a pretty shot by Christnach which failed to enter the net, R. Louden made a basket from a writhing group directly beneath the goal. Following a successful throw made by Holzknecht from the field and with but four minutes of the half left to play, LaBree went in for Kiland and took another two points within 30 seconds time. With but three minutes left Johnson substituted for Carlson. Christnach scored a neat field basket while well covered and Holzknecht made a long and successful shot close to the 19 minute mark. The score of the down-stators went to five with R. Louden's free throw which followed. The Legionnaires had the ball at the close of the half, though having failed to make the circle after a startling four-man pass to Hadrath. The score stood at 17 to 5.

Maughan started the second half in R. Louden's position. LaBree took a clean-cut goal shot from the center, which was followed in rapid succession by Maughan's field basket and one by Hadrath, who got the ball in a long pass from Johnson. McGinn failed to nest a free throw granted on Gillespie's personal. After five minutes of playing Kiland and Carlson replaced Johnson and LaBree in their regular positions. Hutton scored from beyond the center line with a shot that won the applause of the house. Hadrath also was successful in netting the ball, as a result of a three-man pass. In direct opposition to the grouped playing of the first half, during the entire second half the ball surged swiftly from one end of the floor to the other and the playing presented a more open appearance. At the ten-minute mark, Hadrath suddenly took a field goal, as did W. Louden after three unsuccessful tries. Kiland and Hadrath added to the score of the local quint to the extent of four points. With 15 minutes of the half gone R. Louden went back into the game as forward in Christnach's place. The remainder of the game was warm with but one basket made and that by Holzknecht from the field. Thief River Falls won by 20 points.

Due possibly to close guarding, the Excelsior players resorted to long risky shots and played in pretty hard luck as to results. They furnished the warmest of opposition during the entire game but had apparently lost their eye for the hoop. Christnach's guarding was deserving of mention as was the playing of the the Loudens and Hutton. Hadrath continued his brilliant playing of the first game. Johnson, Holzknecht, McGinn and Carlson offered all that could be asked in the way of interference. The lineup remained the same as of Thursday night's game.

Free threws: Louden 1 out of 4; Carlson 1 out of 8; McGinn failed 1. Field baskets: Christnach 1; R. Louden 1, W. Louden 1, Hutton 1, Maughan 1, Hadrath 6, Kiland 4, Holzknecht 3, LaBree 2.

BUILDING MATERIAL
Prices Must Advance

Nothing is more certain that the bottem, particularly on lumber, has been reached. Manufacturers are now selling their stocks at less than the actual cost of production and this connot long continue. Indications are that there will be greater activity in building this spring than for many years and this will increase the demand with a corresponding increase in prices.

Supply Your Needs Before The Advance Comes

Just now we can quote bottom prices on practically everything in our yards. In many instances—dimension stuff, for one thing—we are asking less than the replacement cost will be thirty or sixty days from now.

There is a Reason For This State of Affairs

Lumber manufacturers and building material producers generally wish to see the spring start off with the intention of catching up on the country's delayed building program. They consider it good business to reduce prices to the lowest possible notch in order to get this work under way. Those who order early will therefore reap the advantage.

Mrs. Strand of Grygla is visiting at Mrs. Wendling's this week.

Frank Gilbert's family is sick with either smallpox or measles.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Thief River Falls who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Thief River Falls woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Thief River Falls resident can doubt.

Mrs. Geo. Williams, 412 Main Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I used many remedies for kidney trouble and backache but had no permanent relief until I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Curtis Drug Store. This remedy not only cured my back but made me feel better in every way. I am only sorry that Doan's didn't come to my attention sooner."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Williams said: "During the past seven years Doan's Kidney Pills have done the work whenever I have used them for kidney weakness. I hold Doan's in the same high estimation as when I first endorsed them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Williams had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

BETTER PRICE FOR CREAM IS QUOTED

Local Creamery Now Paying 53 Cents For Sweet Product; 50 Cents For Sour.

Cream prices have advanced the past week, Monday's quotations being 7 cents better than those of last Thursday. This is one of the most pronounced raises of the winter for so short a time and can be explained only on the score of increased demand.

Secretary Peter Engelstad has just issued his statement for the month of February and it averages up very well with the corresponding month in previous years. There are still quite a number where checks are above the $50 mark for the month, as will be seen by the following record:

P. Engelstad, $317.69; Hans Anton, $236.83; Jens Kierk, $236.13; Henry Koop, $177.34; Waldie Christensen, $168.65; Albert Johnson, $118.20; C. Christensen, $113.89; L. O. Stenseth, $101.70; Paul Engelstad, $100.23; R. Johnson, $99.11; S. Wiberg, $98.95; H. A. Matthees, $94.60; Fred Copp, $87.30; Christ Nelson, $84.39; H. C. Woolsen, $83.45; Henry Pope, $81.92; August Koglin, $80.61; R. Oen $76.47; A. C. Simonson, $72.98; E. Eidman, $71.91; C. Odegaard, $71.90; H. T. Waale, $68.53; J. P. Bennit, $65.61; O. B. Gunderson, $62.77; Palm Bros., $61.65; Ole Johnsrud, $59.95; Carl Mellem, $55.41; Will Smith, $53.58; S. Sorenson, $53.31; N. A. Nelson, $53.23; Willardson Bros., $52.81; Ole Droivold, $51.79; C. Belswenger, $51.70; Ole J. Dahl, $51.20.

Limited Quantity of Pure Seed Obtainable at College

The demand for pure seed grain is increasing, according to a bulletin sent out by the Northwest Agricultural Experiment station at Crookston, and each year the station receives orders for many times the quantity it can supply. To meet the demand, the production of purebred seed by growers who will grow their seed on clean, fertile land and sell their surplus grain for seed, will be encouraged.

The Northwest station has a limited quantity of pedigreed Ligowa (Minnesota No. 281) oats, Improved Manchuria (Minnesota No. 184) barley and Northwestern Dent (Minnesota No. 23) and Pearl Flint field corn, for sale to growers who wish to grow pure seed grain in 1921. Minnesota No. 281 is a variety of large, white, medium late oats, one of the highest yielders at the Crookston station, where it averaged 54.3 bushels to the acre. Minnesota No. 184 is a six-rowed variety of barley recommended for the Red River Valley. It yielded 30 bushels per acre in 1920.

The price for barley seed is $1.25 per bushel, oats $1.00 per bushel and all varieties of seed corn $3.50 per bushel, shelled and graded. All grain will be thoroughly cleaned at the Northwest elevator. Samples of any variety may be had upon application for the same sent to the experiment station. Applications for samples can also be made at the Pennington county Farm Bureau office in the city auditorium building at Thief River Falls, where County Agent J. J. McCann will furnish further information.

"You Save Money"
says the Good Judge

And get more genuine chewing satisfaction, when you use this class of tobacco.

This is because the full, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long, you don't need a fresh chew nearly as often.

And a small chew gives more real satisfaction than a big chew of the ordinary kind ever did.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

RIGHT CUT is a short-cut tobacco

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

Yours for Health—Granny Chamberlain

Will You Stick?

"This Farm Bureau thing costs too much," said a Nebraska merchant to several farmers gathered in his store. "County dues are all right, but putting up for a lot of state and national officers is different. You don't know how they'll spend your money."

"Let's see, don't retail merchants have both state and national organizations?" asked one farmer.

The merchant colored, but admitted they had. The farmer asked if he belonged to any of them.

"That's my business," sputtered the merchant.

"Yes, and I guess the Farm Bureau is my business," spoke up another farmer. "I hadn't joined it before, but I'm going to now. If a national organization is a good thing for merchants and bankers and manufacturers, it's a good thing for farmers, too."

This story has its lessons to farmers everywhere. There are some 400 national business men's organizations, all supported liberally, all doing effective work for their membership. Every big business has had a national organization except farming. Food speculators believe in organization for themselves, but not for the farmers. They hope you will quit the Farm Bureau.

Our advice to you is to stick to the Farm Bureau Federation. It is proceeding steadily and surely. It already has accomplished some fine results. It will accomplish many more if still more farmers get back of it and stay back of it. Take a tip from the members of the big national trade organizations—they are loyal.

The farmer needs a national weekly, too, just as much as the banker needs his financial journal. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN fills that requirement. Its interesting and important news articles are gathered from all parts of the country. It presents a nation-wide view of farm problems and opportunities. There is a lot of good reading in it, too—splendid fiction, inspiring editorials, wholesome humor. Only $1 brings you 52 big issues.

NEW PRESIDENT ASSUMES POST AT NOON FRIDAY

Warren Gamaliel Harding Will Take Oath of Office as Nation's Chief Executive.

Ceremony Expected to Lack Much of Pomp Attending Innauguration in Past.

Now Certain That Hoover Will be Offered Portfolio as Secretary of Commerce.

At high noon tomorrow—Friday, March 4—or as near that hour as circumstances will permit, Warren G. Harding of Ohio will be sworn in as the twenty-ninth president of the United States. A few minutes previously Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts will have taken the vice president's oath. Much of the show and display attending previous innaugurations will be missing, this being at the express request of the new chief executive. As has been the custom in nearly all past innaugurations, Woodrow Wilson, who retires from the office of president after an incumbancy of eight years, will ride in the carriage with President Tarding on the trip from the capitol, where the oath will be administered, to the White House.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

WARREN G. HARDING

All doubts as to the cabinet appointments have been set at rest, these being as announced in the press during the past week. Following will be found short descriptions of the men who will occupy the limelight in the nation's affairs when the new administration takes over the reins of government:

The President.

Warren Gamaliel Harding was born near Corsica, Ohio, and was 55 years of age on Nov. 2. Graduating from Iberia college in 1881, he bought the Marion Star the same year and has continued as its publisher since that time. He was married in 1891 to Miss Florence King. Elected state senator in 1899 and re-elected in 1901. Elected United States senator in 1904. Appointed temporary chairman of Republican convention, in 1916. Nominated for the presidency on the tenth ballot at Chicago on June 12. Elected Nov. 2, 1920.

The Vice President.

Calvin Coolidge was born at Plymouth, Vermont, July 4, 1972. Graduate of Amherst college. Began political career as city councilman in 1899. Elected to state legislature in 1907. Elected mayor of Northhampton, Mass., in 1911. Elected to the state senate in 1913. Elected lieutenant governor in 1915. Elected governor in 1918 and re-elected in 1919. Nominated for vice president on the first ballot by Republican convention on June 12.

Secretary of State.

Charles Evans Hughes, of New York City. Jurist. Born Glenn Falls, N. Y. Age 58 years. University training. Practiced and taught law, New York, 1884-1900. Conducted Insurance Investigation, New York legislature, 1905-06. Governor of New York, 1907-08 and 1909-10. Associate Justice, United States Supreme Court, 1910-16. Republican nominee for President, 1916. Practiced law since in New York. Conducted government aircraft investigation, 1918.

Secretary of the Treasury.

Andrew William Mellon, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Banker. Born Pittsburgh, Pa. Age 65 years. University education. Entered banking business 1874. President, Mellon National Bank, 1902 to present. Active in industrial and financial developments in Western Pennsylvania. Trustee University of Pittsburgh and with brother founded Mellon Institute of Industrial Research. Identified with many charitable and welfare organizations.

Postmaster General.

William H. Hays, of Sullivan, Indiana. Lawyer. Born Sullivan, Ind. Age 41 years. Graduate Wabash college. Prominent in county, state and national Republican politics during last 20 years. Member law firm Hays & Hays. Bank director. Chairman of Republican National Committee since 1916. Mason. Presbyterian.

Secretary of Interior.

Albert Bacon Fall of Three Rivers, New Mexico. United States senator. Born Frankfort, Ky. Age 59 years. Educated in county schools. Worked as farmer, rancher, miner, lawyer. Served in New Mexico legislature and as Associate Justice, New Mexico Supreme Court. United States senator since 1912, present term expiring in 1923.

Secretary of Agriculture.

Henry Cantwell Wallace, of Des Moines, Iowa. Editor and publisher. Born Rock Island, Ill. Age 54 years. Collegiate education. Farmer and livestock breeder in Iowa, 1887-91. Editor, manager and publisher of farm publication, 1893 to present. Bank director. Member U. S. Live Stock Industry Committee. Secretary Corn Belt Meat Producers' association 14 years. Long interested in Young Men's Christian Association, being member of international committee. Mason.

Secretary of War.

John Wingate Weeks, of West Newton, Massachusetts. Banker. Born in Lancaster, N. H. Age 60 years. Graduate U. S. Naval Academy, 1881. U. S. Midshipman, 1881-83. Member of firm of bankers and brokers, Boston, 1888-1912. Member of congress, 1905-13. United States senator 1913-19. Candidate for Republican presidential nomination, 1916, receiving 105 votes. Served in Massachusetts naval brigade 10 years, and in Volunteer Navy during Spanish-American war.

Secretary of the Navy.

Charles Denby was born in Evansville, Ind., Feb. 18, 1870. His father was Charles Denby, later United States minister to China. Young Deny himself spent a number of years of his early manhood in that country. Studied law upon his return to the United States. Served on the gunboat Yosemite during the Spanish-American war as a third-class gunner's mate. Elected to state legislature in 1902. Elected to congress in 1904 and served two terms. Although 45 years of age and married when the world war broke out, he presented himself for enlistment at the recruiting office of the marines as a candidate for the ranks. Was sent to a training camp where his previous experience was of great value. Was made corporal and then sergeant, assisting in the training of 60,000 "devil dogs." Honorably discharged with a commission as lieutenant in 1918. Promoted to captain and later to major in the same year.

Attorney General.

Harry M. Daughtery, of Columbus, Ohio. Age 61 years. University education. Practiced law, Washington Courthouse, 1881-88. Elected state legislature in 1888, serving 5 years. Chairman state republican executive committee 1912, also twice chairman state republican central committee of Ohio. Campaign manager for Harding at Chicago convention.

Secretary of Labor.

James John Davis of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Labor leader. Born Tredegar, Wales. Age 47 years. Went to Pittsburgh with parents at age of 4 years. At 11 began work in steel mills, becoming a puddler. Removed to Elwood City, Ind., 1893. Held city and county offices there. Chose in 1906 to reorganize Loyal Order of Moose, of which he is now the head. Member of Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel workers, and always has been acting in union affairs.

Secretary of Commerce.

Herbert Clark Hoover, of Stanford University, California. Mining engineer. Born West Branch, Iowa. Age 46 years. University training. Wide experience in geological and mining enterprises, United States and abroad. Chairman American Relief Committee London, 1914-15; Relief in Belgium, 1915-18. U. S. Food Administrator, 1917-19. Honored and decorated by foreign nations for war services. Received 10½ votes Republican National Convention for presidential nominations. Near East Relief, 1920-21.

All manufacturers and the trade papers say that prices of jewelry will not drop. They are right. Jewelry did not advance in price as compared with other goods and it cannot go down, because manufacturing costs have not dropped, and will not drop to any extent. But the public is looking for reductions. Almost every line of business is having reduction sales. We believe that it will help in the readjustment and pay in the long run to take a loss now.

We therefore offer you the opportunity to purchase anything in our stock including all the new goods, at 25% off the present price, excepting diamonds, watches and wedding rings which will be sold at 15% discount. This offer is good for 15 days only.

LEGION BOYS HOSTS TO EXCELSIOR TEAM AT PLEASANT SMOKER

Members of Visiting Quintet Spoke Highly of Treatment Accorded Them During Their Stay in the City.

The regular February meeting and smoker of the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion was held at the Hotel Evelyn last Thursday evening immediately following the basket ball game between the Excelsior and the local Legion teams. The smoker was in the nature of a reception for the members of the two quints.

The short business session followed the serving of a buffet lunch at 11 o'clock, but little new business being brought up. President Oscar Smith's call for volunteers to visit ex-service men who are at present confined to the Physicians hospital here and Oakland Park sanatorium met with a hearty response, two Legionnaires being designated to call at the institutions during each week in March. It was also announced that "The Red Viper," an Americanization film drama would be shown at one of the picture show houses here on March 3 and 4 under the auspices of the Legion. Members were urged to assist the post in going over the top in regard to the payment of 1921 dues, which are somewhat in arrears.

E. R. Donovan, coach, and members of the Excelsior team which had met with defeat at the hands of the Legionnaire five earlier in the evening, when called to their feet by the chairman, voiced briefly but earnestly their appreciation of the hearty reception accorded them at their appearance on the basket ball field, the generous attitude of the assembled spectators and the entertainment provided them by the post. They also lauded the fast work of the Thief River Falls players. Several of the latter spoke approval of the clean game played by their adversaries.

Government Aid For Farr.

James E. Farr, son of J. F. Farr, left Thief River Falls on Friday for Minneapolis, where he will undergo an examination preliminary to extensive medical treatment under the supervision of federal specialists for injury received while in the naval service during the World war. While undergoing treatment he will also be placed in training by the Vocational Rehabilitation board.

The young man was one of the first to enlist from Thief River Falls shortly after the call early in 1917. After having been in the naval service but six months, he was engaged in making electrical repairs at the masthead of his ship, the Frederick, which was coaling in the Panama Canal zone, which struck by a coal bucket and hurled to the deck of the vessel 75 feet below. Severely injured, he was placed in the naval base hospital at Norfolk, Virginia, being subsequently discharged but never regaining perfect health.

Auxiliary Wins Esteem of All.

Mankato, Minn., March 1. In a statement issued today, Dr. Helen Hughes Heilscher, gave out a very encouraging report as to the progress made in organizing new Legion auxiliary units in Minnesota since she was elected chief of the new organization November 19th inst. She said: "There is no limit to the good which the American Legion Women's Auxiliary can do for America. Already, though functioning only a few months as a united state organization, our 165 units have won the respect and esteem of all good people because of their sincere efforts to care for our sick and disabled soldiers—but what has been done is as nothing compared to the good that awaits our doing in the lap of the future."

Start Organizing Auxiliary Units.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop of Thief River Falls and Miss Emma Holum of Barnesville, as members of the state executive committee of the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion, have started the organizing of auxiliary units throut the Ninth district and will continue the work until late during the summer season. Mrs. Bishop's activities will take in the northern half of the district and Miss Holum's the southern half, work at present being conducted by mail. The former named on Tuesday stated that present plans called for an extended tour of the villages and cities in her territory, during which she would speak at many meetings in localities where auxiliary posts to the Legion have not been formed.

Enters Emplacement Training.

Matt Quigley, who has been employed as night clerk at Hotel Evelyn for the past four months, left for Minneapolis on Friday evening where he will enter training fitting him for hotel management. He was awarded class 2 training by the traveling board of the government department for Vocational Rehabilitation when that board conducted a two-day hearing of disability claims here during the early part of February. Raymond McDonald of Wadena, who was employed by the Brumund hotel here five years ago, has assumed the duties of Mr. Quigley's former position.

Another Veteran Enters Training.

James Havel left Thief River Falls on Sunday evening for Minneapolis, where he will enter Dunwoody Institute to take up a four year course, fitting his as a skilled linotype operator and machinist. A veteran of the 90th Division of the late A. E. F., he is at present suffering from a disability due to being wounded in action. He was awarded vocational training by the traveling board of the Federal Vocational Rehabilitation department when the traveling board convened here in February.

Save Your Periodicals.

The visiting committee of the Elmer Eklund post of the Legion has issued the request that residents of the community having perused magazines or other publications on hand leave them with Kenneth Wattam at the Shaw Insurance office. Such reading matter will find its way into the hands of ex-service men who are undergoing treatment at Oakland Park sanatorium or the Physicians hospital through the weekly visits of the committee.

MERCHANT ASSN. ELECT PRICHARD NEW PRESIDENT

Building Material Dealer Chosen to Head Organization During the Coming Year.

New Board of Directors Previously Chosen at Banquet Given Last Evening.

Plan to Hold Weekly Round Table Discussions to Which Public Will be Invited.

At a meeting of the new directors of the Merchants association held this morning, W. W. Prichard, Jr., was elected president of the organization, Lars Larson first vice president, A. M. Langseth second vice president, Carl Christofferson treasurer, and G. Howard Smith secretary. The new board of directors were elected at a business meeting which followed a banquet supper and lecture held at the Hotel Evelyn on Wednesday evening. They are: E. O. Mogensen, H. O. Loken, Carl Christofferson, W. A. Hall, Jr., W. W. Prichard, Jr., A. M. Langseth, L. DeCremer, Lars Larson and G. Tessum.

Frank C. Payne, dean of the department of trade and industry of the University of Minnesota, delivered an address on "Business Cycles" immediately following the evening banquet of Wednesday. He dilated particularly upon the subject of science and scientific discoveries of recent years as applied to every-day business, a theme which met with the enthusiastic approval of all assembled to hear him.

It was decided at the business meeting which followed Mr. Payne's address, that the club would sponsor a series of evening round table discussions to be held on the average of once a week. A light lunch will possibly be an additional feature of these gatherings, which will be for the purpose of stimulating friendly public discussion on subjects which are of general interest to the community. It is suggested that such questions be approached somewhat in the nature of a debate.

LOCAL DEGREE STAFF INSTITUTES CAMP OF I.O.O.F. AT WARROAD

First Time Work Has Been Exemplified Away From Home Earns High Praise From Grand Officers and Candidates.

The degree team of Riverside Encampment No. 22, I. O. O. F., of this city went to Warroad on Friday for the purpose of assisting in the institution of an encampment in that village. Those making the trip were: Bert F. Umland, degree captain; F. C. Dablow, E. P. Burstad, John L. Gassow, V. F. Robarge, A. G. Gabrielson, Leonard Hanson, H. McMahon, R. F. Spencer, Carl F. Erickson, Ole Hedalen, Arthur Berg and Adolf Eklund. Roy Erickson of this city accompanied the team as a candidate and received the degrees along with the Warroad members.

The new encampment starts out with a membership of 42. Grand Scribe H. M. McDevitt of Minneapolis, and Past Grand Patriarch J. V. Dexter of Detroit, assisted by H. A. Levin of International Falls, deputy grand master-elect, and F. C. Dablow, district deputy grand master, of this city, conducted the instituting of the new encampment and installation of officers, after which the degree work was conferred on the new members.

The local encampment was just one year old when called upon to leave home for the purpose of conferring degrees, its establishment dating from March 2, 1920. The work was put on in a most creditable manner and elicited much favorable comment from the grand master and other officials. At the close of the ceremonies a fine banquet was served at Hotel Warroad.

The next meeting of Riverside encampment will be held on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, at which time the Royal Purple degree will be conferred.

FARM LAND BANKS UPHELD BY COURTS

New Loans to Farmers in 60 Days if Bonds Find Buyers.

Relief from credit stringency is in sight for Minnesota farmers as a result of a decision by the United States supreme court, holding the federal farm land bank law constitutional. Steps are being taken to market bonds authorized by the law, and raise money to loan farmers on long term mortgages. If the bonds can be sold, the federal land bank in St. Paul will be ready to handle new loans within the next 60 days, Paul Preus, treasurer of the bank, said in a statement issued in the absence of E. G. Quamme, president.

This bank, established to make loans to farmers in Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and North Dakota, has made practically no new loans since October, 1919. A suit testing the constitutionality of the farm land bank law made it impossible for the banks of the system to sell their bonds and raise money to loan.

The St. Paul federal land bank hopes to realize enough money from the sale of bonds to relieve the rural credit stringency and enable farmers to get money on farm mortgages at reasonable rates.

"We need $2,000,000 a month," said Mr. Preus. "During the period when we were tied up, our normal loans would have amounted to about $35,000,000. From June, 1917, until we had to stop making loans, we gave credit to the amount of $44,430,000. What we can do now for the farmers of Minnesota depends entirely on the sale of bonds. If we can market them, we should be able to take care of the first loan applications in 60 days. We are very hopeful that we shall be able to raise enough money to relieve the rural credit situation to a considerable extent."

The supreme court decision also upheld the constitutionality of the law as it relates to joint stock land banks. Some of these banks already are receiving applications for loans.

NEW $40,000 HOME WILL HOUSE STAFF AT OAKLAND PARK

Structure Will Be Built During Coming Summer and Be Model of Its Kind.

The Oakland Park Sanatorium board at a meeting here on Wednesday took action which will result in the erection and equiping of a building to house the sanatorium staff early during the coming summer. The building will be of the same type as the sanatorium proper, two stories and full basement, the exterior to be done in tapestry brick. Complete and ready for occupancy it will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. It will be located to the north and west of the main building overlooking the Red Lake river. The completion of such a building will increase the patient capacity by nine beds, present space being considered much too small as a large waiting list is necessary at all times. The construction work will be financed by a tax levy made for that purpose during 1920. The board of directors will meet again in a fortnight to approve plans and specifications, which are at present being drawn up by the firm of Sund & Dunham, Minneapolis architects.

Directors present at the meeting were, Donald Robertson of Argyle, G. I. Brandt of Greenbush, O. O. Lee of Oklee, K. O. Glgstad of St. Hilaire, Dr. O. F. Melby and P. O. Myrum of Thief River Falls. Mr. Dunham of the Minneapolis architectural firm was also present. Following the meeting members of the board adjourned to the Hotel Evelyn as the guests of the Merchants' association at that organization's banquet and lecture.

LARGER HOSPITAL URGENTLY NEEDED

Physicians in Charge Take Up Proposition of Doubling the Present Capacity.

At the annual meeting of the Physicians' Hospital association held here last Friday, plans were formulated for the enlargement of the present hospital by erecting a building identical with the present one as an "L" along the east side. This would more than double the capacity of the present building. It is hoped that the plans can be successfully carried out during this coming summer and fall as the additional facilities are badly needed.

The secretary's annual report submitted at the meeting shows the remarkable strides made in hospitalization during the year just past. Over $4,000 was paid out in salaries to professional and non-professional employees. The sum of $10,446 was paid out to local dealers for groceries and supplies; $1,409 additional was paid out for fuel. The total disbursements aggregated $22,277.44. The need of increased facilities and the growth of the institution are emphasized by the statement that 759 patients were admitted during the year, 530 of these requiring surgical treatment. This is an increase of more than 150 over the number of patients admitted for treatment during the year 1919. Fifty-one births are recorded as occurring at the hospital, in comparison with which the number of deaths was very small.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were: Dr. O. F. Melby, president; Dr. J. Biederman, vice president; Dr. H. W. Froehlich, secretary and Dr. A. J. Paulson, treasurer.

Devotional Services at Trinity Church April 5-7

Devotional meetings will be held at Trinity Lutheran church, April 5 to 7, beginning at 2:30 p. m. on the first-named date. Rev. A. N. Skogerbo of Erskine, formerly pastor of the Hauge Synod church in this city, will announce the Scripture passage for discussion—Titus 2, 11-19. Rev. C. M. Grimsrud, St. Hilaire, will introduce the topic. It is expected that the district president, Rev. I. T. Anstad, formerly of this city but now located at Detroit, will be present and deliver a sermon on an evening during the session. Prof. Aasgaard of Concordia seminary, has also promised to be on hand if he can so arrange his affairs as to make the trip possible.

COUNCIL MAKES SLIGHT CHANGE IN FIRST PLAN

LaBree Avenue South and Main Avenue North to be Surfaced Over 36 Feet Only.

Order Assessments Levied on Property Effected in Business Section.

Might Make Concessions to Opponents if All Objections Were to be Withdrawn.

The city council at its regular meeting of Tuesday night passed a resolution whereby City Clerk A. H. Akre with the assistance of engineers was instructed to levy assessments against property abbutting streets in the business section of the city which will be effected by the 1921 paving program. The levy will be made in accordance with the original contract entered into with the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg, with but two exceptions of slight importance—LaBree Avenue south of First street and Main avenue north of Fourth street to be paved for a width of but 36 feet. Other minor changes were discussed but no action taken in that respect.

Members of the council stated that at a closed meeting of that body with a committee composed of five members of the opposition to the paving project as at present layed out, which was held on last Thursday afternoon, the city administrative body went on record as being willing to make concessions, providing the objectors would withdraw their pending suit. It was further stated that the opposing body has not as yet formulated a reply to the proposal.

Aside from routine matters, but one other subject was brought before the council on Tuesday night. A resolution was passed authorizing the extension of water mains and sewer laterals along Red Lake Boulevadr east of the Soo line tracks and along State avenue from Fourth to Sixth street, petitions for which have been made. The contracts will call for a total excavation of approximately ten blocks.

LOCAL ELKS ELECT FOR COMING YEAR

H. W. Protzeller Chosen Exalted Ruler—May Hold Installation in New Quarters.

At one of the best-attended meeting of the year of Thief River Falls Lodge No. 1308, B. P. O. E., on Friday night elected officers for the ensuing year, the following being chosen: H. W. Protzeller, exalted ruler; L. G. Larsen, esteemed leading knight; G. W. Connell, esteemed loyal knight; John Brattrud, esteemed lecturing knight; T. J. Austad, secretary; F. H. Herrick, treasurer; Elmer Ohm, tyler; E. F. Dolan, delegate to national convention; J. W. Hendry, delegate to state convention; E. F. Dolan, alternate; C. Storholm, trustee, for three years.

After the newly elected officers had expressed their appreciation of the honor conferred, an excellent lunch was served by Julien Provencher of the Hotel Evelyn.

The Elks during the past year have made steady progress. It is claimed that the local lodge is the largest in the United States located in a city the size of Thief River Falls. Nearly every town in this section is represented in the membership, the territory from which material may be drawn extending to the Canadian border. The outgoing officers have made an excellent record and, as stated by Mr. Protzeller, it will be the intention of their successors to keep the good work going.

The work of putting the newly leased quarters in the Citizens Bank building in shape for taking over by the Elks is progressing rapidly and it is hoped that the new officers may be installed there. Whether or not this will be possible cannot definitely be stated at this time.

Vocational Squad Ending Work.

The "contact squad" of the Federal Board of Vocational Education began its final work in Minneapolis Monday after a six-weeks' tour of the principal cities in Minnesota. Approximately 300 former service men will have been examined for vocational training when the board completes its work here on March 9, according to C. A. Zuppan, in charge of the squad.

Grand Master Hohenstein Visits Odd Fellows Lodge

August Hohenstein of St. Paul, grand master of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, visited Lone Pine lodge in this city and delivered an address at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening. He was accompanied by Donald Robertson of Argyle, prominent in the work of the Oddfellows' lodge and an old friend of Thief River Falls and many of our citizens. The hall was filled to capacity and the speakers were listened to with marked attention.

Grand Master Hohenstein spoke particularly of the important work the lodge is doing in caring for the orphans, the aged and infirm, laying much stress upon the value to these of the Oddfellows' home at Northfield. He urged his hearers to support this institution to the utmost extent of their ability as more room will at once have to be provided in order to meet the demands. He said that the order was doing a wonderful work at the home and only regretted that it is impossible for each and every member of the lodge to pay the place a visit.

Mr. Robertson spoke in the same vein, recalling at the same time some of his early experiences with Oddfellowship at his old home town in Canada. His reference to early days in Thief River Falls greatly amused the crowd, particularly as several of the members present were parties to the incidents he described.

The first degree work of the order was brilliantly exemplified by the degree team and a fine lunch served to wind up a most enjoyable evening.

EXPECT TO START TRUCKING SERVICE EARLY THIS SPRING

Thief River Falls Will be Important Point on Route Covering This Section.

According to George Dixon and K. P. Caldwell, officials of the Motor Truck Express company of Grand Forks who addressed members of the Commercial club and business men of the city in assembly at the weekly club luncheon of last Thursday, daily motor truck freight and express service between Grand Forks, Crookston, Thief River Falls and other points, including Fisher, Gently, Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Steiner, Rosewood, Viking, Radium, oWarren, Alvarad and Oslo. Trucks will alternate as to direction over the route, leaving Grand Forks by way of Fisher one day and by way of Oslo the next. The temporary schedule will bring them to this city at or near noon. Additional trucks will be added to the line as business warrants.

Mr. Dixon, president of the company, stated that it had been formed only after a thorough investigation of truck lines and conditions throughout the United States. Two routes are to be established in North Dakota and one in Minnesota. Both of the officials cited advantages of the addition of one more reliable common carrier system in their brief talks, after which the subject was thrown open to discussion. It has been shown by the successful operation of other trucking lines that heavy packing is not required as is the case in regular freight or express shipments and that damage to goods shipped is much smaller. A great saving of time will be accomplished, it was also stated. The company does not aim to take the larger shipments and will pick up small lots of all descriptions, from cream cans to green vegetables, from farms all along the route. Detours over one mile will not be made for small shipments. The rates for hauling will be based upon the shortest route by road.

The Grand Forks company is asking nothing from the Thief River Falls merchants other than their cooperation, and from the sentiment of those who spoke at the meeting last Thursday, this co-operation will be forthcoming.

Minot Independents Next To Meet Legion Quintet

The city auditorium will be the scene of two more attempts to wrest the title "undefeated" from the American Legion basketball team when that strong organization of players clashes with the Minot Independents tonight and Friday night. The Minot men claim the North Dakota Independent Championship for 1920-21, having lost but one game to a North Dakota team and two games to Montana teams. They have not lost a series to any team played this year. The Eklund post bunch, as yet undefeated, have been gradually closing in on the more powerful teams and are looking forward to the toughest battles of the season in the two games to be played this week. At the hands of Coach Connell they have been put thru the most rigorous of work-outs since the game played with Company G of St. Paul last Saturday night and should show up tonight in the best of form.

The games are scheduled to start at 8:15.

The Minot Independents on Wednesday night defeated the Company I team of Crookston, 13 to 11.

Crookston Dress Club to Open Thief River Branch

M. E. Holbrook, proprietor of the Crookston Dress club, has leased the Smith building, corner Main avenue and First street and will open a modern cleaning establishment there on March 15. As will be seen by the advertisement appearing in another place in The Times today, Mr. Holbrook is making a special reduction on the work brought to the plant on that date as an introductory offer.

The Crookston Dress club has been doing business at the neighboring city for years and is regarded as one of the best establishments of its kind in this section of the state. They clean and press wearing apparel for men and women, employing only the latest and most improved methods in the process.

BANK DEPOSITS HERE SHOW NO SERIOUS SLUMP

Drop During Year of General Readjustment Totals Only About $300,000.

Loans and Discounts Reduced in Almost Exact Ratio With Deposits in City.

Situation Steadily Improving and Active Season is Looked Forward To.

Statements of condition of Thief River Falls banks do not indicate that there has been any serious depression in the section served by these institutions. The reports published last week prove that business has on the average been much better than in many other parts of the country, deposits having decreased but little in comparison with other places.

In the statement published at the beginning of the year 1920 the four Thief River Falls banks had deposits of $2,536,316.53. There was no call on the corresponding date of the present year and the figures at the close of business on Feb. 21 are here used. These show that the deposits in the same banks were at that time $2,215,057.95, decrease for the period of $315,258.58.

Showing is Unusual.

When it is remembered that many of the largest banking institutions in the country have reported losses in deposits aggregating from one-third to one-half of last year's total, the record made by our people must be considered remarkable. The difference is but little greater than might easily be the case during any normal period of the same length. This not only proves that withdrawals were not general but that business men and farmers managed to maintain their accounts at a point very little below the general average. Very few communities in any section of the country can boast a similar showing for the past six months.

Loans Near Stationary.

That loans were liquidated to a greater extent than generally supposed is indicated by the fact that these items foot up $93,236.44 less than at practically the same time in the previous year. This bears about the proper ratio to the decrease in deposits and proves that the main trouble was a slight letting down of business in all lines, as was the case all over the country.

Better Feeling Evident.

Bankers everywhere report a general loosening up of capital and are confident that the country is due for a business revival. Merchants are reporting increased sales in nearly all lines of commodities while there is a notable relaxing of the determination on the part of the public not to make purchases of any kind, no matter how badly these may be needed. While things may not resume their full sway in this section until after another crop has been harvested, there is every promise of an average summer season.

The Actual Figures.

Following is a comparison of the deposits and loans and discounts of the four city banks at the opening of the years indicated, according to the statements of condition submitted:

Deposits.	1921	1920
First National	$748,047.81	$821,680.03
Citizens State	740,081.01	762,558.03
Far. & Merch.	271,073.97	255,030.28
First & Peoples	454,451.16	696,025.20
Loans and Discounts.
First National	$568,070.07	$652,898.05
Citizens State	725,868.72	675,761.87
Far. & Merch.	317,241.55	265,017.85
First & Peoples	446,678.37	518,160.98
Total	$2,058,452.31	$2,151,658.75

Bridge Question Prominent Feature of North Election

In the spring election for the town of North Jorgen Eide defeated T. O. Rynestad for town supervisor by a majority of 12 votes. Alfred Longren was voted in as clerk by a majority of four votes, the other contestant being Thos. H. Bjerke who has held the office for a number of terms. Walter Christianson was re-elected treasurer and G. K. Haave, assessor. The latter named has served in that capacity for the past 29 years. Andrew Holand was elected constable and Mr H. Ballingrud justice of the peace.

The main item of interest in the annual election was the question of repairing the wagon bridge over the Thief River east of the Soo round house and shops, which is said to be in a delapidated condition and unsafe for travel. It was voted to repair it at a cost not to exceed $4,000, the issue being won by a majority of but five votes. One hundred and one ballots were cast. Voters last year authorized the needed repairs but the town board did not proceed with the work.

U. C. T. Prepares For Big Meeting Saturday Night

What the entertainment committee hopes to make the biggest event in the history of the United Commercial Travelers Council No. 621 of Thief River Falls, will take place on Saturday evening, March 12, when the election of officers, initiation ceremonies and annual banquet will be held. Frank Tonskemper of Stillwater, grand senior counselor for this district, will be the guest of the council for the evening. The business session will be held in the Masonic hall, starting promptly at 8 o'clock. At its conclusion the assemblage will adjourn to the Hotel Evelyn, where an excellent banquet supper will be served.

The committee is making use of all available means to boost the attendance at both business meeting and banquet. A special invitation is being extended to visiting U. C. T. members.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Woman's club will be held at the Commercial club rooms Monday, March 14. Mrs. Vance will lead in the discussion of current events and Mrs. G. Halvorson will render a vocal selection. The regular lesson to be taken up is No. 9, which has to do with city executives, city departments and city courts. The lesson will be in charge of Mrs. Richter. Another interesting feature of the meeting will be a report to be given by Mrs. Froehlich.

POULTRY FANCIERS SET USUAL DATES FOR ANNUAL SHOW

Elect New Officers and Decide to Make Bid For More Exhibits From Farms.

At the annual meeting of the Pennington County Poultry association held at the Farm Bureau office last Thursday afternoon, L. H. Lawrence was re-elected president; Olaf Neset, vice president; County Agent J. J. McCann, secretary, and H. L. Schuster, treasurer. L. A. Westphal, Charles Schnabel, F. B. Conklin, C. M. Buoen and C. D. Gustafson were elected directors. All officers and directors, with the exception of Mr. Westphal of St. Hilaire, and Mr. Schnabel of west Pennington county, are residents of Thief River Falls or vicinity.

Through action taken at the meeting, the show dates for 1921 will remain approximately the same as for 1920—the last week in November—but the exposition will be held over four days instead of three as in previous years. It is conceded that a three day session does not allow visitors sufficient time to see all of the prize winning birds, the judging of a necessity being done on the second day. A four day session will allow a day and a half for the spectators. The price of admission has been set at ten cents per single admission or twenty-five cents for a season ticket.

Judging will continue to be done by the score card method instead of by comparison, it was decided after a lengthy discussion. The accepted method shows where the bird is cut down in points for defects, while the comparison method merely lists the winners. By using the score cards poultry fanciers know where birds are deffective and are given a chance to later remedy the same.

Another important step which will make the 1921 show bigger than ever before, was the decision of the association to establish an open class and a farmers' class of exhibits. When the annual expositions were first inaugurated many farmers entered birds but during the more recent shows professional fanciers have been greatly in the majority and the smaller exhibitors practically eliminated. By the provision of two classes it is hoped to encourage the entrance of farm exhibits.

All poultry associations entitled to state aid, says N. E. Chapman, specialist of the agricultural extension service of the university, will be glad to know that there will be ample funds to pay all appropriations for the show season of 1920-21. However, a new appropriation bill must be passed by the present legislature if state aid is to be continued.

BONDING COMPANY DELAYS PAYMENTS

Sending First Installment of Paving Certificate Money Held Up For 30 Days.

Sixty thousand dollars, the first payment on Thief River Falls municipal paving certificates aggregating a quarter of a million dollars which were sold on Feb. 8th to the Capital Trust and Savings bank of St. Paul, failed to arrive at city banks on March 1, according to schedule. The contract entered into with that corporation carried a clause granting an extension of 30 days time in which to make the first payment and the financial institution is making use of that privilege.

Bonding conditions immediately following the sale of the paving certificates suffered a sharp depression and at the present time, in the opinion of financial experts, are still somewhat unsettled. City officials are confident that if interest rates become slightly more favorable, the purchasers of the bond issue will fulfill their contract to the letter and the first payment be received here within the next 30 days. It is also stated that the Capital Trust and Savings bank has not withheld payment because of the pending suit instituted by those who would stave off the paving for the present year.

Returns From the West.

John Linde returned last week from the Pacific coast where he had spent about two months. Among other places he visited at Los Angeles and Seattle. At the latter place he was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Chas. C. Lovall.

READY TO BEGIN BUILDING WORK ON WAREHOUSE

Standard Oil Company's Action Hinges on Disposition of Street Paving Matter.

Would Take Large Amount of Earth to Replace Sawdust That Must be Removed.

Claim Cost of Otherwise Securing Fill Would be Prohibitive at This Time.

H. H. Hathaway of Fargo, district manager for the Standard Oil company, while in Thief River Falls the forepart of the week, stated that in all probability a large plant and tanks of sufficient capacity to make this a main distributing point would be installed on the company's property along the Soo right-of-way east of Bridge street this coming season. The plans of the company he said, hinge entirely upon the successful carrying out of part or all of the city paving program, which would allow the filling in of the site with dirt made available by the grading of streets.

The trackage is located on the former saw mill property between the Soo tracks and the Red Lake river and is surfaced to a depth of several feet with sawdust, all of which it would be necessary to remove and replace with other earth. By paying the city for the few extra blocks of hauling, the over-burden taken from the streets could be secured at an attractive enough figure to make profitable the immediate erection of a plant of suitable size. Less than one-third of the surplus earth resulting from street gradings has been contracted for by the Elks' lodge for levelling property located at the foot of Third street near the river. The Standard Oil company to otherwise suitably prepare the site for building purposes and to secure the proper protection from fires, many of which have originated in the old saw dust heaps of the former mill property, would be oblidged to haul material from outside of the city limits, at a greatly increased, and possibly prohibitive, cost.

Mr. Hathaway gave as the only other alternative for his company, the "doubling up" on plants located at Crookston and East Grand Forks to a capacity sufficient to supply this and adjacent territory. The above named cities are making every effort to secure this enlargement of present facilities. The plant as proposed for Thief River Falls would employ 20 or 30 men the year around.

UNUSUAL FEATURES ARE SELECTED FOR NEXT COUNTY FAIR

Auto-Polo and Grand Pyrothecnic Display Included in Great Amusement Program.

Visitors at the Pennington county fair this coming fall will see a radical departure from the amusement programs of previous years and some of the most spectacular feats known to the circus or fair grounds of this country, according to contracts entered into at a meeting of the board of directors of the Pennington County Agricultural society held at the city auditorium on Saturday afternoon. Fully half a score of booking agents were present at the meeting and submitted amusement programs.

Heretofore the annual fair has occupied but three days. This year an additional day will be added, the fourth for the purpose of staging a gigantic auto race card, the appearance here of some of the world's fastest cars and cleverest drivers being already assured through contracts signed Saturday. One of the big attractions of the three regular fair days will be an afternoon and evening auto-polo game between All-American and All-British teams. This is one of the crowd-attracting events such as has been a part of the Minnesota state fair program for the last two or three years.

Fireworks have never before been made a part of the Pennington county fair program. The directors of the association, with the idea in mind of securing unusual attractions in this respect, have entered into a contract with the Thearle-Duffield pyrotechnical Display company for two of their most awe-inspiring sets, Pioneer Days and The Siege of the Dardanelles. The last named display is the same as shown at the Minnesota state fair last year by the above named company. It requires a large staff of experienced men in charge of an operator licensed by the U. S. government to fire the sets, which will conclude the performance of two days of the fair. Other attractions, including the world-famed Ferris sisters in their ferris wheel act, have been booked. The spectacular amusement program will extend over Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the first week in August.

BILL INCREASES STATE AID FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS

Measure Aims to Furnish Relief For Districts Now Heavily Burdened With Taxes.

Dr. Froehlich, President of Board, Explains Workings at Club Lunch Thursday.

Strong Approval of Measure Sent to Legislative Delegation From This District.

Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president of the board of education for District No. 18, following the noonday Commercial club luncheon last Thursday briefly outlined the effects and purposes of House File No. 144, which is known as the bill of the department of education. At the completion of his talk, the Commercial club passed a resolution heartily endorsing the proposed legislation, a copy of the resolution being forwarded to the chairman of the committee on education of the Senate and House of the 1921 Legislature, and to the representatives from this district.

George A. Selke, state inspector of schools, has prepared the following synopsis relative to the effects the passage of the bill would have on many districts in northern Minnesota:

State aid according to the proposed law shall be for the following purposes:

To assist in providing equal educational opportunities for all the children of the state.

To assist in establishing certain generally accepted minimum standards for all the public school of the state.

To stimulate educational progress by grants of state aid for superior efficiency and high standard and for desirable educational undertakings not yet generally established.

For Heavily Taxed Districts.

To provide for the maintenance of teacher training departments in high schools.

To assist school districts with high tax levy. To any school district whose tax levy for maintenance lies between 20 and 32 mills, the state shall pay as supplemental aid one-third of the excess above 20 mills. If the tax levy for maintenance exceeds 32 mills, then, in addition to the above amount, the state shall pay as supplemental aid one-half of such excess above 32 mills, provided that no school district shall receive supplemental aid equivalent to more than $200 for each elementary teacher employed and $250 for each high school or special teacher employed; provided further that the school districts maintaining only ungraded elementary schools, if a 20 mill tax levy does not raise the equivalent of $600 for each teacher employed for at least seven months during the school year, then the state board of education at its discretion may grant to such school district an amount, which together with the proceeds of a 20 mill tax levy, will give such school district the equivalent of $600 for each teacher employed as herein provided. Such state aid shall in no case exceed the equivalent of $200 for each such teacher employed, but shall be in addition to all other state aid including supplemental aid as otherwise provided in this section.

For Better Supervision.

The section which provides assistance to districts for the school attendance of isolated pupils is also of importance to Northern Minnesota. This provision will empower the state board of education to grant to school districts not to exceed $50 for the transportation or board of such school children of school age as reside beyond a reasonable walking distance from the nearest public school.

A special feature of the bill is the recognition of the need for more supervision of rural schools. The rural teachers of the state may be as conscientious, enthusiastic and ambitious as those of any other group, but they average less in maturity, experience and training. The following section provides for a more adequate supervisory force.

Supplementary Aids.

Aid for health work in the rural schools is also provided for. As planned in the bill each county may receive:

For one school nurse, one-half the salary but not to exceed $700 and one-half the necessary traveling expenses, but not to exceed $300.

For two school nurses, one-half the salary but not to exceed $1,400 and one-half the necessary traveling expenses, but not to exceed $400.

For three or more school nurses one-half the salaries, but not to exceed $2,000 and one-half the necessary traveling expenses, but not to exceed $500.

The county will also receive aid if a county librarian and if a director of physical training are employed.

Small Schools Helped.

The plan of the bill is not to increase the appropriations of the legislature for state aid, but to provide for new aids by decreasing the present flat aids approximately one-half and to distribute it in a way that will better serve the educational interests of the state. The so-called flat aid to ungraded elementary (rural) schools will thereby be $75 but provision is made for an additional aid of $125 for each superior ungraded elementary (rural) school that is maintained in accordance with the standards to be adopted by the state board. This will permit a one-teacher school to receive $200, $50 more than at present.

The proposed bill should not be judged by the application merely of one or two places as they apply locally, but in its entirety and with the entire state in mind. It is evident to any fairminded person who studies this bill that it does what it promises to do by providing more aid than is available under existing law for those districts whose tax levies are exceptionally high.

Red Cross Donates Million To Aid Starving Chinese

News that the American Red Cross has donated an even million dollars to the wretched victims of the terrible Chinese famine, this week stimulated the work of the Minnesota committee.

"The Greatest Mother in the World" has always been on the ground in times of catastrophes and the decision to make this record breaking contribution shows most graphically the dire need of the gaunt, hungry Chinese," according to John F. Downey, secretary of the Minnesota branch of the China Famine Relief Fund.

In a recent statement he said, that Minnesota was not contributing as liberally as many states. Donations will be received at state headquarters, 121 Chamber of Commerce, Minneapolis. Checks should be drawn in favor of E. W. Decker, treasurer, China Famine Fund.

The safe way is the save way; thrift stamps and savings stamps are permanently on sale at the postoffice.

FINAL SUMMONS TO LAST SURVIVOR OF GREIG'S ORCHESTRA

Magnus Thorson, Who Died Last Week, Also Friend and Associate of Ole Bull.

With the death here on March 2 of Magnus Waldemar Thoreson, passed the sole surviving member of the original Christiania, Norway, orchestra, directed by the world famous composer, Edward Grieg. The deceased was also a personal friend of the Norwegian violinist, Ole Bull, with whom he had often appeared in concert.

Magnus Thoreson, born in Christiania in the year 1847 of wealthy parentage, was given a thorough education in music, studying with the greatest masters of that period. Later estranged from his family because of a marriage contrary to their wishes, he resorted to a musical career as a means of livelihood. For 17 years and three months he played at the National theatre of his home city. He was at all times a greatly respected friend and musical advisor of King Oscar, and was frequently heard in chamber music in the royal palace at Stockholm. Though master of several musical instruments, he regarded the French horn as his favorite and it was as an artist upon this instrument that he became a member of Grieg's famous musical organization, in which he took a soloist part in the first rendition of "Peer Gynt" under the composer's direction. Mr. Thoreson often spoke of the difficulties encountered in the first playing of the score, which required eight hours time, and was subsequently cut down to its present length.

Upon coming to America over forty years ago, Magnus Thoreson appeared in orchestral work in practically all of the principal cities of the East and West. He was at one time a member of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, though more closely affiliated with the St. Louis Symphony orchestra, of which he was for several years a member.

His declining years have been spent in Thief River Falls. He did not retire from an active musical career until in 1918 and even in his most infirm days was frequently seen in musical circles.

Though failing in health since last fall, he was not confined to his bed until three or four days previous to his death, which came quietly at 10 p. m. last Tuesday. Heart failure is given as the cause. Rev. George Larson conducted funeral services from the Zion Lutheran church here Friday afternoon, many friends and music lovers from northwestern Minnesota assembling to honor the deceased. "Death of Aase" from the Peer Gynt suite, which he had favored from its birth and in the first rendition of which he took part, was played by Miss Ausilga Sorenson, violinist, and Miss Laura Forde, pianist, as a last tribute to the aged musician. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery. Deceased is survived by one son, Albert, of this city.

Miss Mildred Mousley returned yesterday morning from Seattle, Wash., where she had visited relatives during the winter months.

Death Comes Suddenly to Well Known Legislator

Leonard H. Nord of International Falls, senator from the district composed of Koochiching and Beltrami counties, died suddenly on Saturday as the result of an apoplectic stroke. The funeral took place on Monday, interment being at Lakewood cemetery.

Senator Nord was born in Norway in 1873, coming with his mother to America in 1881. He resided in Minneapolis until 1900 when he moved to International Falls. He was chairman of the state highway committee and one of the most effective workers for the Babcock highway amendment prior to last election.

What Do We Mean ---Thrift!

Most of us have a hazy, indefinite idea as to the meaning of thrift. Thrift, is nothing more nor less than the use of good judgment in the spending of money.

Waste and extravagance are the enemies of thrift. Sensible spending and a savings account at the Citizens State Bank are enemies of waste and extravagance.

That Air of Distinction in Miss Manhattan Suits

For the Easter Promenade

You notice at once that they are different from the usual ready-mades. The materials are excellent and the tailoring is the really exclusive sort which you associate with garments made to order.

It is the style, however, which makes Miss Manhattan Suits so unusually satisfactory. They possess a youthful smartness, a refinement which marks them at once as real New York fashions.

And because almost all American women look their very best in a suit, there are many styles, new and correct, for every type of figure. Manufacturers have contributed their best fabrics—designers have given their keenest ingenuity—and tailors have used their utmost skill, in producing this interesting display of new Spring wear.

It is a collection of wonderfully attractive and unusual modes that represent in a splendid manner the latest and best fashions for women.

We welcome you to view this display, knowing that in the many models shown you will see several that will gain your approval.

That the prices are reasonable and values exceptional are only added reasons for coming here before you decide upon your Spring wardrobe.

A GOOD SHOWING.

It has steadily been maintained that this section did not feel the recent period of financial depression as severely as other parts of the country, and the assertion is borne out by the condition of banks, particularly in Thief River Falls.

In spite of the fact that the past six months would normally have been a period of liquidation, the exact opposite has been the case. Farm loans have not been taken up and but little additional paper of this kind has been accepted by banks. The result is that the figures as they apply to this column of the statements are but little changed from a year ago. At the same time buying on the part of the public dropped off and this is reflected in the bank deposits. Business men simply did not take in the usual amount of money and consequently had less to deposit.

The effect of all this, however, has been felt less in Thief River Falls than in any other community in this section. This is proven by the bank statements. There has been a falling off of but $300,000 in deposits as compared with last year out of normal holdings of over two and a half millions. When it is recalled that the same statements showed large city banks with deposits reduced by one-third this is a surprising record and proves that there has been no great stringency in this immediate neighborhood. Even in normal times a difference of this kind might easily be found in bank statements a year apart.

Bankers say that there has been a marked improvement in the financial situation in the past two weeks. Money is easier and business appreciaby better. Merchants are reporting sales volumes are much greater than was the case a month ago and trade journals dealing with merchandising lines predict that from now on the upward trend will be steady and unbroken.

The situation was perhaps at no time as serious as many people thought, but it is highly gratifying to find proof of the fact that the troublesome period is passing, even though there appears to have been no very good reason for its having occurred at all.

THE NEXT BIG PROJECT.

It is stated that the new administration as well as a large majority of the members in both houses of congress are heartily in favor of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater project. Some opposition is to be expected from the Atlantic coast states, but this will be so insignificent when compared with the demands of the vast region benefitted that it will be drowned out.

River and canal improvements that would make it possible for ocean-going vessels to load at the docks of Duluth and Superior and deliver their cargoes at European points without breaking bulk or transhipment of any kind would mean more to the northern half of the United States than does the Panama canal.

The Minnesota and Dakota farmer may think that he is not very greatly interested in this proposition, but he is mistaken. It is stated that there would be a saving of about nine cents on every bushel of grain exported if the transfer to cars at Buffalo and the reloading onto vessels at tidewater could be eliminated. Liverpool is still the world's market for wheat and the price there controls everywhere. If the transportation charges could be cut it would mean either cheaper grain for Europe or higher prices for the Northwestern farmer. In case of the first-named result it would mean greater consumption and consequently greater demand with better prices inevitable. If there were no lowering of the price to the ultimate consumer there would be a greater share of the final price returned to the farmer by reason of the smaller cost of handling.

The subject is receiving a great deal of attention from officials and general public alike. It will without doubt be the next national project of unusual importance to be undertaken. Senators and representatives from Northwestern, Central and Western states are doing their utmost to bring the matter to a point where it will be seriously taken up at Washington and in this it is understood that they have the backing of President Harding and men high in the councils of the administration. The general public can help very materially by letting their representatives know they realize the importance of the movement and that they are behind any action that will speed the work along.

AFTER PEAT FACTS.

Minnesota has 7,000,000 acres of peat lands, and, in order to make the best use of them, has set the soil specialists of the Minnesota Experiment Station, under Dr. F. J. Alway, to work to dig into the bogs and to dig out the facts. And Dr. Alway and his staff are making progress. They have just issued Minnesota experiment station bulletin 194, which gives a report of the work done on the Golden Valley peat experiment fields for 1918 and 1919, fields which are typical of high-lime, grass and sedge-covered bogs of northwestern Minnesota. This report among other things, says:

Owing to a lack of available phosphate the fields proved extremely unproductive when treated like ordinary mineral soils.

But good yields of the crops adapted to the region were obtained when phosphates either in the form of farm manure or commercial fertilizer were supplied.

Lime was found to be abundant and potash was found in sufficient quantities to meet immediate needs.

The most promising crops seem to be flax as a first crop; then oats, winter rye, and field peas.

The danger of summer frosts, the possible early exhaustion of potash, and the good growth of grasses and clovers point to the production of milk, beef, mutton and wool as the most promising use to make of such peat soils.

But farmers are cautioned against extensive operations and settlers against occupying peat lands until the reclamation problems involved are more fully worked out.

Copies of the bulletin may be had without expense by writing to the Office of Publications, University Farm, St. Paul.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

Again Superintendent W. A. Barnard of the Soo railway finds it necessary to call the attention of school authorities and parents to the danger of permitting pupils to walk along the company's tracks on their way to school. Particularly does he request that every effort be made to prevent their using the railroad bridge to effect a shortcut.

When the extent to which the tracks and bridges of this company are utilized by children is taken into consideration, the fact that there has never been a serious accident is a high compliment to the care exercised by officials and employes of the railroad. That attention is now called to to matter is proof that careless practices have become so common that as a matter of self-protection as well as to sound a warning the road officials find it necessary thus to instist that restrictive measures be taken.

It is absolutely necessary that a large number of our people cross the Soo tracks in order to reach the business portion of the city. This applies also to children attending the high school or junior high. At the regular crossings there is little danger as the tracks can be seen for considerable distances in each direction. It is when the tracks are employed as highways and the railroad bridge used instead of the wagon bridge that trouble is invited. The saving in time is very slight in any event and in no manner compensates for the extra risk taken. Parents and teachers should point out the danger of the practice and assist the company in putting a stop to it.

GO GET A REPUTATION.

Stephen Messenger: "Stephen is still negotiating for a game with the Thief River Falls team, but no arrangements have as yet been made. Thief River Falls, as usual, lays claim to the state championship, but apparently are not disposed to try conclusions with Stephen. They undoubtedly feel that Stephen's record of but one defeat in eight seasons of play is of no consequence in settling a championship dispute, and their views are strengthened, possibly, by the fact that during this period Thief River Falls quints have been among those forced to admit the superiority of Stephen aggregations. The locals have repeatedly asked for games with the championship claimants, and have offered to play Thief River Falls at any time on any floor they may select, their only stipulation being that if the game is played at Thief River Falls a return game be played at Stephen later."

How do they get that way—who have they played this season that would warrant their stepping into the same class with the Thief River Falls Legionnaires? They talk something like Greenbush did—until the locals journeyed up with several of the second string men and staged a comedy for assembled fans. Of course everyone can realize that a game between the championship claimants and the Stephen five played at Stephen would prove a money maker—for Stephen. Sit tight, Stephen, and hang onto the laurels you already have, we can't be bothered with so many petty claims and our boys have been eating raw meat in preparation for some real games.

EFFERVESCENCE.

Modern inventions will also assist the course of true love in running a little more smoothly. A quarter-in-the-slot arrangement to electric meters having been perfected, the modern swain in calling on his lady fair will, during th course of the evening, proceed to match the family for all the quarters in the house and then sit tight and await developments.

Premier Briand of France on Monday said: "If America were to take the position now for right and justice that she took during the war, we would be able to arrange the future easily." Subtle words, indeed.

Have at Hand the Power That Insures Prosperity

The manufacturer starts the endless chain of business. He produces. The wholesale house or the jobber, takes his products and passes them on to the retailer.

It is the business of the retailer to sell them to the consumer. Now it is a comparatively easy matter for the manufacturer to get in touch with the wholesaler, and for the wholesaler to reach the retailer. It is quite a different and more difficult matter for the latter to reach the hundreds or thousands of his customers.

The manufacturer may sell his entire output to one or half a dozen men. The wholesaler does business with only one to half a dozen men in each town.

Even the smallest retailer must deal with many more people than the manufacturers and the wholesalers combined.

In reality the retailer is the most important factor in this business world. If he cannot sell his goods, the wholesaler would soon be out of orders, and the manufacturer would have to shut up shop.

What is the magnet that will draw trade for the retailer? Every progressive and prosperous merchant knows the answer: Advertising, backed by honest methods and reliable merchandise.

That is the correct answer. The progressive merchant will also tell you that the best medium of advertising, the most efficient and the most economical, is the newspaper. In cities it is the daily newspaper. In the smaller communities it is the weekly paper.

It is the advertised article that sells. It is the advertised article that becomes almost a household word in every home in the land, and when the consumer reads in his home paper that his home merchant has in stock this well known article, it is like meeting an old friend.

He wants that article, because he had heard about it, has read about it and knows that it must be the real goods, to maintain its popularity.

The shrewd retailer knows that it will be much easier to sell a well known, standardized article, than it is one unknown, as its merits have been firmly established.

Advertising is the lubricant that makes this endless chain of business prosperity run smoothly. Business is a good deal like the house that Jack built. The manufacturer makes, the wholesaler wholesales, the retailer retails—when he advertises—and the retailer orders more goods from the wholesaler, and the wholesaler passes the orders back to the manufacturer. Thus the wheels of industry go round, labor is employed, money is put in circulation, and the consumer gets a reliable article, that he wants. Everybody profits, and is well served.

Let the retailer stop advertising and the consumer will stop buying. This blocks the whole machinery, and we have a slump in business. The retailer, the wholesaler and the manufacturer lose their profits, labor loses wages, and then we have hard times.

And all for the want of a little judicious advertising. If every retail merchant in the country would start tomorrow to use advertising mixed with brains, he would start better business all over the land.

All it really needs to start every line of industry to give employment to labor, to make business hum from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, is for the people of this country to buy the things they need.

They will buy when merchants do the right kind of advertising.

Responsibility.

Responsibility is the keystone upon which the successful operation of a business, large or small, the maintainence or order, and the amiable relations between people or countries, depends. It is a condition of being trusted at whatever task is being performed, of fulfilling any promises or contracts made, whatever the obstacles, and of having the confidence of all. The world could never advance were there not men who accept the duties of leadership and fulfill the obligations of such positions faithfully and scrupulously. In the thousand and one small matters arising for his attention daily, a man can be judged surely and accurately by the way he does the tasks assigned to him or carries out his promises. He can never find a place in the world where some measure of responsibility is not necessary, and if such a place were possible there would be no progress; but life would become simply an existence, without any aim or future, where one day would be just the same as its predecessor, and where no person could advance beyond any other. Since it is a law of nature to advance it is evident that responsibility is one of the greatest factors in our development and in the furtherance of our ambitions; and yet, in spite of these facts, there are some who continue to be laggards in work, who have no plans for the future and who disregard entirely the common courtesies of honesty and truthfulness. They cannot be trusted at any particular task allotted to them, their promise can never be sure of fulfillment, and it is obvious that such a course does not lead them to the finer things of life or guarantee the consummation of hopes for a better place in the estimation of their fellow-men.

We, who are students of high school, are here for a purpose, and that is to gain as much knowledge during the four years attendance as is possible. But are we working for that goal? Are we concentrating all our thoughts and abilities on that aim? There are many influences which would tend to deviate our minds from the path, where the greatest value for the time spent, might be obtained and it becomes necessary for us to guard against those influences in order that nothing shall hinder the attainment of our ideals. We are building the foundation of our future success or failure, and it remains for the individual to show whether or not he is worthy of the trust placed in him by parents, teachers and friends. If he is, there is no doubt that his goal, whatever it is, will be reached, that he will enjoy the good will of all with whom he comes in contact, and that these things combined will make him one of the favored men of the world. Let us profit through the example set by the truly great men of this and other ages, all of whom have been men who enjoyed the confidence of the masses, a confidence gained only by the most scrupulous attention to faithfully carrying out any and every condition agreed to.

Rev. Barackman Speaks.

Inauguration day was observed at the Lincoln high school by the singing of national hymns and talks by Supt. Ziegler and Rev. Barackman of this city.

Rev. Barackman spoke of the great significance of Inauguration day. We all realize that it is important because of the change of administration which takes place on that day, but few stop to consider the significance of the simple fact that we have an Inauguration day. That fact itself is a symbol of the greatness and advancement of our wonderful system of Democracy. Hitherto, and in the majority of the nations even at the present time, a change of rule has only followed the death of the past ruler, or a bloody revolution. Under our democratic system we simply invite the executive who has served his term to step out and invite a new man to take his place. This takes place without any disturbance, or even ill-feeling between the outgoing and the in-coming presidents. At the election last fall we invited Mr. Harding to be our chief executive and on March 4th he accepted our invitation, assuming a greater responsibility that that which rests on any other ruler in the world.

Rev. Barackman gave a striking example of how some of our common citizens rise so far above the rest, as do the men whom we elect to govern over us. When he was in New York City last summer, he saw in what is known as the "Whirl", a large, strong fish who had grabbed a smaller fish patiently work it around until he had it in a favorable position and then gently swallow it. People are like fish. A man may be either a big fish or a little fish. We differ from fish in that fish take, while we must give, and serve. The great men, who rise to the highest positions in the land, such as Washington, Lincoln and Wilson, are those who take the people into their hearts, and serve mankind to the utmost of their ability.

Supt. Ziegler spoke of the need for something that would serve to more closely unify the high school, and stimulate a deeper school loyalty. To this end, the school banners, which were taken down two years ago, will again be put up. In this way the red and blue will serve more as a common bond between the students of the Lincoln high and will draw them together in a greater and more manifest school spirit. A song contest will be held to see who can write the best and most original song, which we may have for our school song.

After Rev. Barackman's talk a booster meeting was held, for the basketball game at home, the girl's game at Holt and Fiterman's expedition to McIntosh. Several members of the faculty and student body were called upon for impromptu talks, and yells were given for our representatives in the various contests.

Faculty Members Entertain.

On Wednesday, March 2, during chapel period, appeared the first number of a series of entertainments to be given by the faculty. Mr. Pierce announced that on every Wednesday for the semester a member of the teaching staff would be responsible for a chapel program.

To the pleasure of the assembly a male quartet was introduced. It consisted of Supt. Ziegler, Albert Tommeraasen, Gordan Melby and Carl Sundahl, who is not a member of the faculty, but whose able assistance was procured for the occasion. Several well known selections were rendered by the quartet and Carl Sundahl favored us with two vocal solos, all of which were ably accompanied by Miss Popplitz on the piano. "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," "Little Mother," and "Kentucky Babe," the main parts of the program, were rendered in an excellent manner and met the hearty favor and applause of the audience. Of the especially humorous and pleasing extra numbers may be mentioned, "Mary Had a Little Lamb" and "Silly Willy", which were received very favorably.

The program throughout was of a high standard and the entertainers are deserving of the best comments. It is anticipated that the following programs will be of the same pleasing nature and equally favorably received, although this first one will not be excelled without considerable difficulty.

Quints to Meet at Crookston.

The best eight basketball teams of this section of the state will assemble in Crookston with many supporters and boosters of the different teams, next Thursday, to compete in the district basketball tournament. This tournament is a preliminary to the contest for the state championship, which is to be held at Carleton college, Northfield.

The teams which are to compete in the district tournament are: Crookston, Erskine, Warren, Ada, Argyle, Fosston, McIntosh and Thief River Falls. All of these teams play an unusually good brand of basketball.

The tournament this year will be unusually interesting because the old rivals, Fosston and Thief River Falls, meet and a real battle is looked forward to. Supporters of both schools clai mtheir team to be the best.

The teams will be drawn Friday morning and the first game will be played at 10 o'clock. The remaining games will be played Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon. The championship game will be played Saturday evening at 8 or 8:30. All games will be played in the Crookston armory, March 11-12. Jackson of Crookston is the possible referee.

Holt Defeated.

Last Friday, the local girls' basketball team played a return game at Holt. The team went to Holt in cars and returned the same evening.

The first half of the game was very slow with a score of 10 to 2 in the locals' favor. The last half of the game was much faster and when the final whistle blew, the score was 23-2 in our favor.

After the game refreshments were served by the Holt girls at the high school. The lineup was as follows: Eileen Herron, center; Viola Lund, forward; Pearl Shetler, forward; Nora Lindquist, guard; Esther Hadrath, guard; Lucille McGinnity, sub guard.

Students Attend Lecture.

Last Friday afternoon the agricultural and cooking classes were excused from school and journeyed with their respective teachers to the auditorium where an interesting and educational lecture was given. Mr. B. D. Scott, secretary of state, spoke on the subject, "The Hostein Friesian Breeders' Association." That is one of the dairy breeds necessary for good dairying. The use of purebred sire is also essential.

Following Mr. Scott's speech, Mr. McKerrow gave an interesting talk on "Advertising for Dairy Products." The need for advertising is due to the fact that our exports have dropped to practically nothing. Our local consumption is less due to the increased use of butter substitutes. There is, said Mr. McKerrow, a general economy in the use of substitutes for milk. Dairying is necessary in our system of farming to maintain fertility and this will naturally lead to greater profits.

Sales can be greatly increased by advertising dairy products for: First, dairy products have many characteristics, which if the people knew, would cause more to be consumed. All essentials for life are contained in milk; they are: fat, sugar, protein mineral matter and vitamines. The last is lacking in most foods. Second, dairy products are more digestible than other foods. There is 30 per cent of protein in meat that is digestible and 60 per cent of protein in milk; therefore milk is more nourishing for the body.

Advertising has increased the sale of California fruit a great deal. The plan for the farmers is to join the creamery association with a national dairy council and they will take out one-tenth cent on the fat sold for the expense of advertising.

Forests and Forest Products.

(The following themes were written for Eng. II by Walter Olsen and Lorraync Crandall, respectively.)

Outside the foodstuffs, no other material is more generally used by human beings than the products of the forests. The most practical uses of wood are fuel, building material and furniture. Although much timber is grown in temperate climates, the source of all ornamental timber is in the tropical regions. The railroads and lumber companies, anxious to get the best material, own four-fifths of the timber areas of the United States. The value of timber destroyed yearly has hitherto been equal to our national debt, but the forest service has greatly reduced it by establishing guards and forest rangers. River bottoms and sand barrens, though containing poor soil generally, are covered by forests. Some of the principal kinds of lumber are pine, oak, maple and mahogany. Among the list of by-products obtained from wood are: sweet-gum, rubber, acids and dyes.

Music.

Music is a branch of the fine arts which relates to pleasant sounds, either vocal or instrumental. The piano, violin, flute and harp, all rendering beautiful music, are some of the instrumental pieces.

Of all these instruments the piano is probably the most common. People do not only play piano solos but also use the piano as an accompaniment for vocal and violin solos. If you can play a violin, flute or some other instrument you can very likely play a piano.

Why do we have music? It is true that many people do not care for it but to others it soothes their feelings, rests them and brings peace to the mind. Many people are brought together through music and it is said that the lullabies and hymns form the home ties.

Clinkers.

Love at first sight is usually a case of poor judgment.

Concentration is a key which too few care to fit to themselves.

Realization of what we are here for to many would be an education in itself.

"The more one loves, the more he suffers." We are watching you, Morris.

Brevity may be the soul of eloquence, but few realize it.

If we see many more red-headed geniuses in our high school we may be led to believe that red hair is a distinct mark of a born intellectual wizard.

Love your teacher—there is always a like reaction.

"Fat" would have had no argument with Shylock over a pound of flesh.

An ounce of concentration is worth a pound of blank stares.

High School Orchestra.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of H. S. Snyder, had its first practice last Thursday evening and made the showing that only a beginning orchestra can.

The orchestra which was organized by H. S. Synder, about two weeks ago, showed some musical enthusiasm when it underwent what may be termed the preliminary of the better music that will be rendered after a few more practice evenings. About twenty students were present and nearly all the various instruments were represented except the slide-trombone and the organization is very anxious that some one give this consideration and join the works with such an instrument. A few pieces were practiced and all that is now needed is a little brushing up on the part of the individual players to make a right crack orchestra and it surely will be adhered to under the able direction of Mr. Snyder.

The orchestra has enough pep to wake up most any school that is not affected with the sleeping sickness and no doubt will tend to liven things up a bit and create an atmosphere that is well worth while mingling in.

Normal Department.

Seventeen of the Normal girls will do rural practice teaching during the second and third weeks of March. The department will not return to "Normalery" until after Easter vacation.

On Saturday evening Feb. 28, Miss Perry entertained the Normal girls and a number of the rural teachers in the Normal department. Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler, Mr. Gunderson, Mr. Pierce and Miss Ober were also guests. The evening was spent very pleasantly in playing games and a delightful lunch was served at 10 o'clock.

Mary Wing, who has been absent for a few days, came back Wednesday. We are glad to see you back Mary.

The following article was taken from the Waukon Democrat:

"Somebody sent the editor of the Poketown Gazette a few bottles of home-brew. The same day he received for publication a wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale. Here are the results: 'Will Smith and Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests, including two milch cows, six mules and one bob sled. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay rope and the bridal couple left on one good John Deere gang plow for an extended trip with terms to suit purchasers. They will be at home to their friends with a few kitchen utensils after the ten months from the date of sale to responsible parties and some fifty chickens.' "

Personals.

Teacher: "How would you go about irrigating the Sahara desert?"

Bright Freshman: "Well I would plant some potatoes and water them until the potato vines had potatoes on them. Then I would plant some onions beside the potatoes and pretty soon the onions would make the potatoes eyes water and before long the whole desert would be irrigated."

Harold Smithers had full sway over the Journalism class last Friday during the absence of Mr. Pierce, the instructor, who was attending a declamatory and oratorical contest at McIntosh, where he was one of the judges.

Some people eventually are very modest when it comes to handing in their pictures for the "Prowler." They don't seem to favor publication of their faces, not even their enemies!

If the number of "lost books" ads found on the assembly black-boards continues to increase, it will be necessary to obtain additional bulletin boards for other notices.

A number of "Prowler" staff members spent Saturday afternoon mounting snap-shot pictures. It is rumored and is quite evident that it will be one of the "snappiest" annuals ever published and the Alumni are urged to subscribe now before the supply is exhausted.

The members of the "Prowler" staff will soon take a day of rest, as the annual is about ready for press.

A few members of the H. S. faculty seem to be spending considerable time in the "Gym" playing a little "rough and tumble" basketball. The student body is giving its imagination a thorough search as to who will be their victims.

Alexander Pope says: "A little learning is a dangerous thing; drink deep or taste not the Pierin Springs." Probably that's the reason that so many are absolute abstainers from this type of drink.

Even the weather prognosticators must have a scientific turn of mind in order that they may be able to interpret the many and varied atmospheric changes these days.

Bright student: "Drink to me only with thine eyes," is an elegy.

This is not an age of romanticism, but nevertheless even some of our high school students could be important characters of romantic love stories.

Answer: "It won't register."

Found on an English IV paper: "Washington Irving wrote, 'Rip Van Wrinkle.' Poe wrote, 'The Death of the Hymn.' "

Bill H.: "I bet you'll be surprised when you see my examination paper."

Miss Patrick: "What, did you know quite a bit?"

"What are the two worst diseases a person can have at one time?"

Doc.: "Two broken arms and the seven-year itch."

Thief River Falls Represented.

The Ninth Congressional Oratory and Declamation contest, staged at McIntosh, Friday, March 4th, resulted in the selection of Bemidji, Warren and Thief River Falls in oratory and Moorhead, Warren and Black Duck in declamation. The contest was unusually keen and marked a distinct development in the line of public speaking. An exceptionally large audience attended the contest, the business places being closed while the contest was being staged.

The high school feels confident that it will be well represented by Edward Fiterman in the state contest to be held at St. Paul, March 24th and extends its congratulations to Mr. Pierce, whose coaching has made Mr. Fiterman's victory possible.

Locals Defeat Crookston.

Crookston was defeated for the second time this season by the local high school team, Friday, March 4th at the auditorium in this city, by a score of 20 to 11.

Ralston seemed to be the star, making five of the ten field baskets. Larson played his usual good game but was unfortunate in shooting baskets. LaBree tossed the first basket in a few minutes after the game started. The close guarding of Herron and Sorenson gave the Crookston players few opportunities to shoot. Fossum made several good shots, but luck did not favor him in most cases. Both teams played a strong defensive game, but our boys showed a superiority in team work and greater skill in shooting baskets, managing to keep a few points ahead of their opponents throughout the game. At the end of the first half the score stood 5 to 8 in favor of Thief River Falls, but Crookston kept up their fighting spirit until the final whistle blew, in spite of the fact that our boys steadily gained on them. Both teams played a clean, fair and square game, holding the interest of the spectators through every minute of the game. The lineup follows:

Thief River Falls		Crookston
Larson	F	Hendricks
LaBree	F	Grundvold
Fossum	C	Espey
Sorenson	G	Hindahl
Herron	G	Burton

Summary: Field baskets, Thief River Falls, Ralston 5, Larson 3, Fossum 1, LaBree 1. Crookston: Grundvold 3, Hendricks 2. Fouls, Crookston, Grundvold 1. Substitutes, Thief River Falls, Ralston for LaBree and LaBree for Fossum, second quarter. Fossum for LaBree second half. Crookston, Thorn for Burton.

Coming.

The big faculty play, of which the time of presentation, the name and characters are still unknown by the public, is arousing a great deal of interest and curiosity among the students. So far, we have been able to learn only one fact concerning the play and that is, that some time in the near future the people of this city will have the opportunity to witness the clever presentation of a three-act comedy, given by certain talented members of the faculty.

We are looking forward to this event with even greater anticipation than our spring vacation and we are certain that we will not be disappointed, as this is to be one of the greatest attractions of the year.

Northrup News.

All pupils of the Northrup school had a Patriotic Sing on Wednesday, Feb. 23, it being National Song week, National songs were sung. Mr. Ziegler gave a short talk in conclusion.

Miss Nepper has been called to her home at Superior on account of the illness of her sister. Her place is being filled by Mrs. Skog.

The teachers of the Northrup school and a few of their friends celebrated Washington's birthday by having a party at the E. O. Mogensen home.

Miss Pelto entertained the Northrup teachers Friday, Feb. 25, at the Northrup school.

BANK "JOBS" LEAD TO BIG THINGS

An astonishing number of stenographers and bookkeepers rise to high executive positions in banks, it is found. The Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., a leading commercial school, reports that 218 former pupils have become bank executives in North Dakota alone. The president, two directors and assistant cashier of one Fargo bank were trained there. So was J. L. Greitl, newly appointed cashier of the Merchants Bank of Napoleon, N. D.

I Am "Granny" Chamberlain

"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

Public Forum

A Dangerous Practice.

A copy of the following communication has been forwarded to The Times for publication. The matter is of decided importance and should be read with interest by all concerned:

Mr. W. A. Zeigler, Supt. of Schools, City. Dear Mr. Zeigler: The school children, instead of using the regular streets, are walking between the tracks and also crossing the railroad bridge just east of our passenger station at Thief River Falls. This is a very dangerous custom.

I would like to secure your assistance in stopping this dangerous practice. Perhaps you can, through your teachers warn the children in such a manner that it will do some good.

I dislike very much to resort to extreme measures, but unless the practice is stopped, I am afraid it will be necessary.

Several years ago, this matter was gone into very thoroughly and produced good results, but apparently, they have forgotten.

Anything you can do in this matter will be appreciated. Yours truly,

W. A. BARNARD,
Superintendent.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

(Quinn-Shepherdson Co.)

Comparatively quiet markets ruled during the week. As expected, the Fordney tariff bill, purporting protection for agricultural interests, was vetoed by the president, but prices for the most part of the week averaged higher principally due to the foreign political news and persistent unfavorable reports from the Southwest showing an increase of the green bug and Hessian fly pests.

The unsettlement of European affairs and whether military enforcement or an amicable settlement results in the Franco-English terms to Germany has caused a division in sentiment. Since construction both bullish and bearing are taken the market effect has been practically nullified, but judging from the German response the feeling is quite prevalent that military pressure will be unnecessary.

Added to the crop and war scare, sellers of wheat consider also the strengthening effect of further export business in which the surplus is nearly sold so that although wheat is relatively high priced the undertone has been firm. The action of wheat will likely continue to influence the trend of coarse grains.

Crop news from the Southwest is receiving considerable attention, but the conflicting reports and apprehension of damage from the fly infestation are creating a nervous market. No doubt, as usual, damage more or less will be sustained in the principal winter wheat sections, but for the present the crop is progressing satisfactorily.

Private statisticians in advance of the government report, which is due March 8, show large farm reserves. 45 per cent of the corn crop and 30 per cent of oats is estimated as the March 1st farm reserves, but this accounts for disappearance of 1,906,000,000 bushels of corn, which in view of the reduction in farm animals is extremely heavy and exceeds the marketing of the previous record crop in 1912-1913 by 20 million bushels. The rapid depletion sustains the theory that cheapness in any commodity develops waste and unaccountable disappearance.

"Here's Real Tobacco"
says the Good Judge
That gives a man more genuine chewing satisfaction than he ever got out of the ordinary kind.
Smaller chew, lasts longer —so it costs less to chew this class of tobacco.
And the good, rich tobacco taste gives a world of satisfaction.
Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

The Trail to Prosperity
SMALL business is essential to our national prosperity and has won for itself an important and an enduring place. But small business, however multiplied, cannot undertake to serve the public in a big way where unity of service is necessary.
This must be accomplished by great, highly specialized organizations, managed honestly and efficiently, and functioning to the benefit of all the people.
Such an organization is the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).
Its business is to refine crude petroleum into the many products needed by the people—to provide a system of distribution which will make them available everywhere, and to sell at a price which is fair to all.
To accomplish this, 25,000 men and women devote all their time, energy, and intelligence to the task, while the stockholders have invested more than $200,000,000 of capital.
In preparing to meet the demands of industry, agriculture, and motorists throughout the 11 Middle Western states served, the Company is now refining petroleum to the limit of its vast refinery capacity.
It is distributing gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oils to its bulk stations throughout the territory in order that it may be in position to give immediate service when the Spring and Summer rush comes.

Good Milling Wheat
THERE is great danger that we may lose our prestige for fine wheat. Millions of dollars normally come to the Northwest when we have good wheat; bakers will not use flours made from inferior wheat, and we should not force them to buy their flours ground from Kansas or Canadian wheat. Our wheat is the best in the world.
Why Marquis Wheat is Recommended
Marquis wheat is the favorite wheat because it contains plenty of gluten of the best quality for bread making, and outyields all other varieties.
It matures from five to ten days earlier than other wheats, avoiding that much danger from hot winds and drouth. When sown early, it matures early, which is important in a rust year, and it is not more susceptible to rust than any other good milling wheat.
Marquis does not shell out and waste so badly as Blue Stem, Fife and Velvet Chaff during harvest, even when over-ripe.
Marquis is a beardless wheat and easier handled than wheat with long awns. Marquis straw is shorter and stiffer, and therefore suffers less from lodging.
More fall plowing has been done this season than ever before, and we ought to be able to get our wheat in early.
The rust problem is a serious one, but black rust cannot directly infect wheat until it has passed the cluster cup stage on the common barberry bush. The red spores spread through weeds and grasses, and are blown by the wind for miles out of the barberry until they reach wheat. Then they turn into the black stage. Therefore dig up the barberries.
Be Sure to Plan Rotation With Clover
Every farmer should work out his own rotation, including sweet clover or other legume.
He should plant his Marquis first, at the earliest possible date, even if he plants some other variety as well, because it is our highest object to maintain the quality of our best hard wheat every year, for we know that in any year should we be reasonably free from rust, the quality of Marquis will vindicate itself. The danger of planting other varieties is that the two wheats will become so badly mixed that it will ruin the quality of both.
The very best seed available should be sown on the higher soil, avoiding low, wet land.
In addition to manuring and sowing sweet clover, acid phosphates and other artificial fertilizers should be used with intelligence, and every farm bureau ought to conduct practical operations along this line. We cannot rob our soil forever.
Don't Take Chances Neglecting Seed
It will pay to germinate your seed wheat in wet blotting papers, because much of it is badly shrivelled and full of diseased kernels.
Add to your insurance by treating your seed wheat with formaldehyde, not only because it destroys smut, but because it adds to the yield. Fan out all light, chaffy kernels, weed seeds and trash, and select only dark, hard, vitreous kernels for seed.

Congressman Scheduled For Many Chairmanships and Committee Places.

Minnesota will play a part in the next house equal to that of such republican states as Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Before the new congress is many months older Gopher state members will hold the chairmanships of four important committees and the chairmanship of an important subcommittee of the appropriation committee. In addition the state will have one on the steering committee and one of her members will be republican "whip."

Minnesota, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Iowa and California, it is understood, will work in combination in the committee on committees.

The Minnesota committee assignments, it is expected, will be as follows:

Chairman of appropriations committee, Charles R. Davis, third district.

Chairman of judiciary committee, Andrew J. Volstead, seventh district.

Chairman of postoffice committee, Halvor Steenerson, ninth district.

Chairman of pensions committee, Harold Knutson, sixth district.

Member of appropriations on agriculture, Sydney Anderson, first district.

Interstate and foreign commerce committee, Walter Newton, fifth district.

District of Columbia, Oscar E. Keller, four district.

Rules, Thomas D. Schall, tenth district.

Agriculture, Frank Clague, second district.

Rivers and harbors or foreign affairs, O. J. Larson, eighth district.

Mr. Davis will not be chairman of the appropriations committee for two or three months, or until Representative James W. Good of Iowa, who will resume the practise of law in Chicago soon, resigns.

MILLER CONVICTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Former Resident of This City Gets Life Sentence For Killing of Fenton.

A verdict of murder in the second degree and a sentence of life imprisonment for Robert Miller in district court at Bemidji lest Wednesday, terminated one of the most sensational criminal cases ever tried in northern Minnesota, and closed the final chapter in a neighbors' quarrel in which Alfred W. Fenton of Baudette, an innocent and disinterested party, was killed.

The case occupied seven days and attracted more than usual attention because the younger brother, George Miller, who actually did the shooting, was acquitted a week ago. M. J. Daly of Perham and C. R. and E. C. Middleton of Baudette appeared for the defendant, while County Attorney Graham M. Torrance prosecuted the case for the state. The case developed much legal strategy and talent which was displayed throughout the entire seven days.

During the trial of Robert Miller, County Attorney Torrance endeavored to prove that the accused was the master mind in the shooting affair. The evidence showed clearly that the shooting had been directed by the elder brother, the younger, upon being told to "take good aim and get him" as the two men crouched behind a hay stack, fired upon the man who was was crossing the meadow, believing him to be Ellis Bowman, with whom his brother had quarreled. The murdered man was later found to be Alfred Fenton.

Alfred Fenton was in the military service of the United States. He was a good citizen and a hard working mechanic. An only son, he leaves a mother, a 19-year-old widow and a baby girl to mourn his demise. He enjoyed a wide acquaintance in northern Beltrami county, where all were his friends. When the first jury acquitted the younger Miller, feeling ran high in that section and many protests were chard concerning the miscarriage of justice. Lynchings were even hinted at.

Robert, the man convicted, formerly resided in Thief River Falls and is remembered by many of the present-day citizens.

MANY MINOR DEFECTS IN CHILDREN FOUND BY RED CROSS NURSE

Medical Assistance, Financed By Junior Red Cross, is Being Administered in a Number of the More Serious Cases.

Following is the regular February report of Miss Marie Knudsen, Pennington county Red Cross nurse, submitted to the nursing committee of the county chapter of the American Red Cross, as showing her activities during the course of that month:

Number of schools visited	12
Number of pupils inspected	294
Number of children found:
Underweight	136
With defective teeth	119
With apparent def. throats	61
With apparent def. eyes	35
With apparent def. hearing	1
With apparent nasal obstruction	15
With enlarged cervical glands	28
With pediculosis	10
Number of talks to pupils in class room	14
Number of talks given at parents meetings	1
Number of home visits made	10
Number of visits to doctors' offices	4
Number of interviews held	13

This report in many respects is very similar to that of the county nurse submitted for the month of January, on the first day of which month she took up her duties. It will be understood that the schools and pupils enumerated in this report are an entirely different set from those visited during the foregoing month, and this fact will go to prove the importance and scope of the work which Miss Knudsen is undertaking. Aggravated or urgent cases discovered by the county nurse in her visits are brought to the immediate attention of parents and medical treatment is already being administered in many instances. This follow-up treatment in several cases is being temporarily financed by township units of the Junior Red Cross with a view to reimbursement when parents or guardians become financially able.

With the opening up of the roads in the spring, Miss Knudsen's visits will be accomplished more efficiently with the use of a Ford coupe, the purchase of which for her use has been authorized by the directors of the county chapter of the Red Cross from the funds of that organization.

Few See "Red Viper."

"The Red Viper" an Americanization photo drama presented at the Princess theater on Thursday and Friday evening under the auspices of the Elmer J. Eklund post, failed to attract the theater-goers of the city to any noticeable extent and the post came out about $50 in the hole. The picture was one of action, clean and wholesome and one with a stirring lesson to everyone who classes himself or herself as a citizen of the United States. Officers and members of the American Legion have expressed their disappointment at the poor attendance.

Description of Trip to Winter Show at Crookston By Spelling Contestants

The two representatives of Pennington county's rural schools who went to Crookston as county representatives in the spelling contest have written essays on their experiences while at the crop show. These have been submitted for publication by County Superintendent Geo. M. Gunderson, and are as follows:

MY TRIP TO CROOKSTON.

By Frances Hincik.

I won the second prize in the Spelling contest given in Thief River Falls Feb. 5th, 1921, and I therefore was one of the contestants from Pennington county to go to Crookston for the Spelling contest given under the auspices of the Farms Crop Show, Feb. 11th, 1921.

We left Thief River Falls Thurs-

what looked to me like snowbanks, but in reality were hills. At Red Lake Falls six Catholic sisters came on the train; they were very pleasant looking, but looked rather queer to me at first as it was the first time I had seen Catholic sisters.

At 5:30 p. m. we came to Crookston and were met by Mr. Geise and several school children. Each of the children who met us, was given one of the contestants to take to their homes. I went with a girl whose name is Cleon Trolson.

When we came to her home we went sliding down the hill until dark. After supper we went to the library. When we went to the library we went over one bridge and on our way back we went over another bridge. We came back to her home at 9:00 p. m. and went to bed an hour later.

I got up at eight the next morning and at 8:30 a. m. left for the high school where the contest was to be held. The schoolhouse is a large brick building and has three stories. Mr. Geise's office is on the third floor and we went there and stayed until 10 a. m. There were nineteen other contestants besides myself. Ten counties were represented. At 10:30 a. m. we went to a room on the second floor for the contest. Mr. Geise ied us to Crookston. The train was very crowded and we were glad to get a seat. While on the train I met a teacher and her sister who were also going to Crookston for the spelling contest. The girl was from Roseau county. There was a lady on the train who was very talkative and made us laugh. We went through a number of places, but I did not notice any one in particular except Red Lake Falls, which I thought was a very pretty place. Before we came to the town we could see nothing but the Great Northern. Mr. Gunderson, our county superintendent, accompanday, Feb. 10, 1921, at 3:30 p. m., on pronounced the words only twice. The contest consisted of fifty words. After we had written our words we had until 11 a. m. to look around. At 11 a. m. we were called and we had a written dictation. Then we had oral spelling of twenty-five words. Two men were chosen to pronounce the words. Each pupil was to go to one room and spell the words. There were two rooms and every pupil had the same words. At 12 a. m. we went back to the place where he were staying. After dinner we returned to the schoolhouse for a ticket for the shows. I went with a few other girls to a church where Miss Holiday was conducting the singing. We sang a few songs and then they had a style show of the latest fashions from Paris. Then eight men called the "Eight Jolly Boys" sang three songs for us. Then a farmer's wife gave a speech. I then returned to the schoolhouse and waited for Cleon.

After supper Cleon took me to the Armory. A large crowd was there. The first thing on the program was music by a band consisting of about twenty-five men. They played about four selections. The next was the oral spell down of about twenty spellers. Mr. Geise conducted the oral spelling and two judges judged the spelling. They first gave five rounds that did not count, after that if we misspelled a word we left the stage. After the contest the high school pupils sang two songs, then the "Jolly Boys" sang for us again. Miss Holiday then led the crowd in singing. In conclusion Mr. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, gave a speech. I then went to the depot where Cleon was waiting for me.

The next morning I got up at 7:30 and after breakfast Cleon took me to the depot. The train left Crookston at 9:15 a. m. although it should leave at 8:40. I came to Thief River Falls at 11 a. m. and was there met by Miss Collingwood, my teacher.

While at Crookston all our expenses were paid and free entertainment was given us. Our carfare was also paid.

My trip to Crookston was a very pleasant and enjoyable one.

MY TRIP TO CROOKSTON

By Abel Svobodny

I left Thief River Falls on Thursday, Feb. 11th for Crookston to take part in the spelling contest.

When I arrived at Crookston Paul Miethyke was at the depot to meet me. He took me to his home and I stayed with him while I was in Crookston.

Friday morning we went to the Crookston high school where the spelling contest was to take place at 9:30. There were twenty of us in the contest. First we had a written test, then we had an oral spell-down. After we were through with the oral spelling we were dismissed until 11:30. We then had a written dictation. After the dictation Supt. Geise of the Crookston high school, gave a brief speech about the spelling contest. He also stated that we should return in the afternoon for a short time to get our money refunded; as all expenses were paid by the Farms Crop Show.

Friday afternoon I attended the Farms Crop Show. There I saw a great many prize winning cattle, hogs and sheep.

In the evening there was an oral spell-down which was held at Crookston Armory. Besides the spell-down there were speakers and a musical program was rend... The program ended at 10:30 p. m.

Saturday morning I left for ... River Falls. I enjoyed the trip to Crookston very much and hope some day I will be able to take part in another spelling contest.

The most important and most interesting spring announcement we have ever made

NEVER in our history have we entered a new season in a condition to render a more satisfying clothes-service to men and young men than this spring season of 1921.

THE REASON: The decks are cleared of old merchandise, and we are able to present fresh, new merchandise, at the same moment when the clothing market has become stabilized and prices are down to where they should be.

In meeting the unsettled conditions which existed in the clothing industry during the past fall and winter, we revised our prices to even less than the downward market trend, and thus were able to reduce our stocks to a point, seldom, if ever reached, at the end of a season by any merchant.

Poultry House Plans.

The Northwest Experiment Station has a type of poultry house that has proved to be particularly well suited to the climatic conditions in northern Minnesota. A feature of this house is a straw loft which absorbs moisture giving the poultry a dry home. Blue prints and specifications of a house suitable for 100 hens may be secured by writing to the Station.

Entertains.

Mrs. L. A. Hermanson was a delightful hostess on Thursday afternoon when she entertained a number of ladies at cards. Mrs. Rowan, Mrs. Geo. Biddick, Mrs. Perry Froseth, Mrs. Henry Froseth, Mrs. C. O. Erickson, Mrs. H. F. Snyder, Mrs. A. S. Sapero, Mrs. F. E. Hunt and Miss Mable Brown were the guests. A delicious lunch followed the card playing.

Celebrates 70th Birthday.

Aug. Brown, one of the oldest residents of this city, had the honor of celebrating his 70th birthday anniversary on Tuesday at his home, Conley avenue south. Immediate relatives and friends were guests. Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Myhrum, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lanseth, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fuller and Miss Laura Brown, all of this city, were among the sons-in-law and daughters present.

In Honor of Mrs. Foley.

Ebbighausen, Mr. and Mrs. Rausch, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Gustafson, Miss Inga Thune, Miss Freda Ristau, Dagney Swensgaard, Hilma Risan, George Aspelund and Cora Melby.

Birthday Party.

In commemoration of her ninth birthday anniversary, little Mae Rausch pleasantly entertained a number of her young friends at a party at her home on Saturday afternoon. The young folks were entertained with various games until the lunch hour when they partook of delicious refreshments. The guests were Laura Nelson, Bernice McClelland, Marjorie Nicholson, Lorraine Zellmer, Lucille Rayson, Edith Ralston, Gladys Larson, Inga Loken, Ruth Mattson, Harriet Dillon, Marian Gray, Mary Alexander, Margaret Dillon.

Birthday Anniversary.

Little Bernadette Waldorf entertained seven of her little friends at her home, 123 LaBree avenue north, Saturday afternoon in commemoration of her seventh birthday anniversary. The hours which were from 2 to 5 were spent in playing various games. At five o'clock a delicious lunch was served by her mother assisted by Mrs. H. Holt. A feature which added to the delight of the luncheon was a large birthday cake adorned with seven candles. The guests were Kafen Langseth, Fern Collins, Elizabeth Baker, Verna Brandon, Lizzie Amon, Margaret Thill and Ethel Richards.

Girls' Community Club.

The regular meeting of the Girls' Community club was held in the new club rooms on Monday evening with the usual attendance. An exceptionally fine program had been arranged for the evening's entertainment. Miss Marie Nelson, president, was fortunate in securing Mrs. Daniel Shaw, president of the Woman's club, to give her report of the meeting of Federated clubs at the Curtiss hotel at Minneapolis, recently. Her account of the session was inspirational, educational and interesting and was very much appreciated by the girls. H. O. Chommie gave a very interesting explanation on two chapters taken from "The New Voter," a book which the club has been reading during the study hour and also made other instructive remarks regarding politics. This was followed by the business session, during which time the subject of taking over the Lyceum Course for the coming year was discussed and unanimously voted against by the club. A quartet made up of Misses Ella Miller, Mary Grizold, Edna Larson and Amelia Hoorn, favored the club with two Irish songs. Miss Ella Miller rendered two vocal solos which were greatly appreciated. The remainder of the evening was spent socially. A very fine lunch concluded the evening's festivities. During the absence of Miss Nelson, president, Miss Ida Tandberg, vice-president, will preside.

Would Erect State Memorial.

A resolution providing for a state commission of 11 members to select a proper memorial for the Minnesota soldiers, sailors and marines, who had served in the World war, was introduced in the House late last week by Representative N. T. Moen of Fergus Falls and referred to the committee on soldiers home and bonuses of which Representative J. B. Hompe, of Deer Creek is chairman. The resolution provides that the commission shall consist of one member from each Congressional district and one member at large, all of whom shall be appointed by the Governor. The erection of a suitable memorial on the state capitol grounds has been recommended.

YOU certainly want to save money, and you would like to have better bakings.

Then use Calumet. It's the biggest thing you can do to improve the quality of your bakings—and lower baking costs.

Calumet is made in the largest, most sanitary Baking Powder Factories in the World. No Baking Powder is made under better conditions—none can be better in quality.

It contains only such ingredients as have been officially endorsed by the U. S. Pure Food Authorities. An absolute guarantee that it is pure.

FARMERS WAR ON BLUE SKY FRAUDS

Federation Launches Move to Check Promotion of Worthless Companies in State.

"Blue sky" salesmen and fake promotors have a new foe in Minnesota. Sixty thousand farmers, through their state organization, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, announce their intention of breaking up the "skin games" by which, according to estimates of the state securities commission, millions of dollars are filched from the citizens of Minnesota every year.

The state federation has undertaken an intensive campaign to organize blue sky committees in every county and in scores of townships. These committees are to be made up of farmers. Their task is to be the investigation of doubtful promotion schemes in which their neighbors are asked to invest their money. Many county farm bureaus already have organized such committees. The state federation is calling on every county bureau that has not yet formed such a committee, to do so at once, and to urge all its members to refuse to consider any proposal to buy stock or sign contracts in promotion schemes that have not been approved by the farm bureau's "blue sky" committee in that county.

"Minnesota farmers have been swindled out of millions of dollars when they thought they were investing their savings in sound securities," L. E. Potter, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, said. "The time has come to put an end to the work of the shady stock salesman and other bunco men. When the farmer knows that a group of his neighbors stands ready to investigate all promotion schemes, he will hesitate before handing his money over to some firm that refuses to be examined."

Swindling schemes that are beyond the reach of the present laws are being worked every day in the state, Charles J. Andre, executive officer of the state securities commission, said. "If persons who are approached by stock salesmen or agents for promotion schemes will have nothing to do with them until a committee of business-like, hardheaded farmers has investigated the proposition, the farm bureaus can save hundreds of thousands of dollars for the people of this state by helping to wipe out the fake promoter," he said.

Report Approximatelq Half Enough Money For Relief Work in China

The American committee for the China famine fund which met in New York yesterday was notified by its advisory committee in Peking that present funds from all sources are sufficient to save only 2,500,000 persons facing starvation. Messages from American consuls and missionaries in the five northern provinces indicate that the utmost effort will be required to sustain enough able bodied men and women until time for planting the spring harvest, said the advisory committee, which added that the next few months will be the most critical period.

TAX LEVY IN MINN. FOR 1929 HUGH SUM

Total Levied in State Last Year, $115,391,095, Auditor Reports.

The total amount of taxes levied in Minnesota for 1920, on a valuation of real and personal property of $2,084,286,979, after all exemptions are deducted, is $115,391,095.69, according to the abstract of the state tax lists, made public by M. J. Desmond, acting state auditor. The average rate of taxation for the year was 55.243 mills.

The total taxes levied a year previously were $96,938,105.04, on a state valuation of $1,774,607,364, and the average rate was 54.63 mills, the lists show.

Of the amount of taxes levied for 1920, the state receives $11,339,354.71, of which amount $8,695,873.42 is credited to the state revenue, soldiers' relief, state road and bridge, prison building, and other funds; $2,563,703.40, school and University fund, and $79,777.80 to teachers' retirement and insurance fund.

The balance of the levy is apportioned to the respective county taxes, the city and village, township and school district taxes.

The county taxes revert to the following funds:

Revenue fund, $7,448,076; road and bridge, $10,843,682; poor, $1,122,643; interest and principal on state loans, $72,875; bonds, $868,778½ or a total of $21,691,078.

The city and village taxes are divided as follows:

Revenue, $16,952,445; road and bridge, $1,308,793; poor, $114,804; interest and principal on state loans, $401,849; bonds, $3,327,909, and other special taxes, $6,843,768, or a total of $32,921,990.

The total township taxes are reported as $10,542478, and the total school district taxes amount to $36,691,580, according to the list.

Exclusive of the real and personal tax the state has a money and credits valuation of $443,902,869, on which the taxes levied are $1,329,365.34. Of this amount, $221,569.37 is apportioned to the state funds. One-sixth of the levy goes to county; one third of levy to township, city and village, and the remaining third is apportioned to the school district taxes. The rate on these moneys or credits is 3 mills. The valuation placed a year ago was $359,112,619, with a tax levy of $1,079,972. The tax rate on moneys or credits does not change, according to Mr. Desmond.

MOTOR BUS SERVICE FOR RIVER VALLEY

Crookston Rapid Transit Company Formed; Passenger Line Operations This Spring.

The Crookston Times issue of March 9, in announcing the organization a company which will operate a motor bus passenger line between Crookston and Fargo, offered the following information:

The Triangle Transit Company was organized in this city and will have its headquarters here. It is an incorporated company, and a Crookston man, Mr. Ed. Carlson, is at the head of it. This company has recently ordered two large passenger buses, and has arranged to begin some time between the 1st and 15th of April, the operation of a passenger line on a regular daily schedule between Crookston and Fargo.

These busses will leave Crookston at 8 o'clock a. m., and 2 o'clock p. m., each day, and will return at 12:30 and 7:30 o'clock each afternoon, thus making two round trips each day. Each bus has a capacity of 16 passengers, besides conveniences for carrying a limited amount of express. Regular stops will be made in all the intermediate towns and a regular schedule of fares that compare favorably with rates now charged by the railroads will be made.

The busses are being made by the White Automobile company, and are the same commodius, reliable and comfortable vehicles now being operated by the government in transportating sight-seers through Yellowstone Park.

The installation of these two busses is only the starter of this business, if the plans at present formed by the Triangle Transit company are carried out.

As soon as this route is established, it is the intention of this company to establish a line from Fargo to Detroit, and from Detroit to Crookston, thus forming a regular triangle thru a territory that takes in a large part of the Minnesota Red River valley.

The establishing of a regular passenger and express service triangle, it is expected, will be accomplished during the present season, and a regular morning and afternoon schedule both ways over this route will be established.

MRS. ALICE GRESHAM DODD, mother of first American soldier killed in France, who gives entire credit for recovery of her health to the well-known medicine, Tanlac.

The following remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Alice Gresham Dodd, the mother of Corporal Jas. B. Gresham, who was the first American soldier killed in France. The statement was made at the Gresham Memorial Home, which was presented to her by the patriotic people of Indiana as an evidence of their appreciation of the services rendered to his country by her son.

The shock of her son's death resulted in a serious breakdown in Mrs. Dodd's health, but every one will learn with interest and pleasure that she is now in splendid health again. Mrs. Dodd gives the entire credit for her recovery to the celebrated medicine, Tanlac.

She said: "After my dear boy's death I had a general breakdown in health. At first it was just indigestion. My food would upset me and I had to diet myself very carefully. I also had rheumatism with severe pains in my shoulders, back and arms and at times I would suffer greatly, and my joints would become swollen and stiff. I was hardly able to do but very little about the house and at times could not even cook a meal. I became very nervous and restless and at night would lie awake for hours.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Tanlac. I am glad I did, for it proved to be the best medicine I have ever taken. It soon gave me a splendid appetite and relieved me entirely of indigestion. My rheumatism also disappeared and I am now able to do my house-work with the greatest ease. My nerves are steady and strong. I sleep well at night and my health is better than in years. I shall always be greateful for what Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls by Roy Lambert, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm and at Goodridge by G. G. Gubrid.—adv.

WHEN RHEUMATISM HITS YOU HARD!

Sloan's Liniment should be kept handy for aches and pains

WHY wait for a severe pain, an ache, a rheumatic twinge following exposure, a sore muscle, sciatica, or lumbago to make you quit work, when you should have Sloan's Liniment handy to help curb it and keep you active, and fit, and on the job?

Without rubbing, for it penetrates, apply a bit today to the afflicted part. Note the gratifying, clean, prompt relief that follows. Do you know the facts about building costs?

Do you know that lumber and building materials are down?

Have you talked to us lately about building?

Do you know how reasonably you can make needed repairs, build your new home, or remodel your old one?

Better get in touch with the situation at once.

The big building program that was expected in 1920 failed to develop. The manufacturers were caught with too large stocks, and were forced to turn them over at almost cost.

We can show you a substantial saving on every item in our line.

But it's only fair to tell you this condition may be only temporary. The country is short more than a million homes. Our own city is short 150 homes.

If you are planning to build, remodel, or repair, come in and let us give you figures. Then when we show you the actual savings over last year's prices and show you how favorably present costs compare with those of 1914, make your own decision.

The Case of Mary Rubin of Waukegan, Illinois, Which Baffled the Medical Scientists

You read about it in the papers. Day after day you saw the dispatches of the pitiful condition of Miriam Rubin of Waukegan, Ill., suffering from a strange talking malady. And you wondered how long this eight-year-old tot could live, what caused her to talk for more than two hundred and twelve consecutive hours, prohibited solid nourishment for nine days and raised her temperature to a point which implied impending death.

Yes, you pondered over her condition as did all the medical physicians and consulting specialists whose services were tendered to rescue little Miriam. Every form of sedative had been administered without improvement, no more could they do. Then finally Dr. Paul Berger, a Chiropractor of Waukegan, pleaded for the opportunity to save the child and gained consent of the parents. But a few moments and Dr. Berger found the second and fifth vertebrae in the child's spine column out of position and adjusted them. In a short time the child's temperature had dropped four degrees and she lapsed into the first slumber she had had for a week.

After a few Chiropractic adjustments her temperature returned to normal, her periods of slumber increased, her chattering ended and solid nourishment was administered.

SHE HAS COMPLETELY RECOVERED AND IS AS HEALTHY AND HAPPY AS YOU!

However, just as this child's maladjusted vertebrae pinched the nerves which control the organ of speech, caused her wakefulness and high fever, so you too may be suffering from some ailment due to a slight interference with the regular performance of the nerves which radiate from the spinal column. Diseases which baffle the medical science appear as ordinary under the skillful chiropractor's hands. Ailments which are commonly doctored with drugs or by surgery, are overcome on the chiropractor's table, where neither chemical nor knife are found.

No matter what is the nature of your sickness there is always a cause for it.

cial Welfare Workers Hear Report of Winter Meeting of Federation

re was a very good attendance last meeting of the Social Welfare section of the Woman's Club at the new Commercial club on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Shaw opened the session by very interesting account of eeting of Federated Clubs held Curtiss hotel in February. The follows:

delegates to the Mid-Winter began to arrive at the Curtiss el in large numbers as early They registered and at 10:30 alled to order by the state ent, Mrs. Allen. During the g session there was a general ence of district presidents and secretaries club presidents to club problems and plans for 2. The discussions were open delegates and many seized the tunity to ask questions border the work of the coming year. re urged by the state president tinue along the lines of citizen Americanization, public health ms and community service and rse, thrift.

iss James, with the Public h association, gave a fine out of work for clubs to follow. It d to me a very profitable pro could be worked out from her Under her suggestions came study of the life of the child, tal influences, concrete sugges

"Hygienic living, infant care, school sanitation, medical inspection, pure water supply and sanitary closets; nutrition, proper housing from the health point of view, hours of play, sleep, regularity of those things; habits of children, study of all national clubs working for public health welfare.

Prevention of Disease.

"The mothers' part in this is to see that the public water supply is pure, proper sewage, pure milk supply, good meat, etc. See that all fruit, cake, etc., in public places is not allowed to come in contact with flies; know that flies are disease carriers. The mother should be able to detect disease in early stages. We should be educated properly in effacing tuberculosis. Know contagious diseases. Early attention given to cancer, heart trouble. The study of government in its attitude to health.

"Mrs. Coonan, chairman of Social and Industrial conditions, urged us to work for legislation for the welfare of mothers and children. She spoke of the last few months as having her committee making special effort to arouse the club women to support and help secure the passage of legislative measures for the welfare of mothers and children—a protection of child welfare laws, child labor laws, advancement of education and for the benefit of women who are working for the public thru the trades and industries. 'Early in the 19th century it was said of women that if they should ever organize and co-operate steadily for the welfare of women and children, such a transformation would be brought about as the world hitherto had never dreamed of. Women have so organized. Today with the open door to new responsibilities and new possibilities a new vision of organization is glimpsed.'

"Mrs. Brandrup, chairman of public health, urged the support of the public health bill which calls for the creation of county boards of health. As we progress we are coming more and more to appreciate the value of preventive measures—prevention of crime, poverty, of delinquency of premature death and sickness.' She feels in this measure we will have an opportunity to take a forward step, which will bring immediate and splendid results. We will be able to place the wealth and physical efficiency of our people on an equal plane. Thus far we have 250 small boards of health, all working for health education. She also talked about the bill for examination of cattle for tuberculosis.

"Mrs. Caswell, chairman on literature, tried to impress the club women with the great need of the story hour for children so as to create a love for good literature in early life.

"Miss Baldwin spoke at length on the library extension bill relating to public and school libraries, establishment of county libraries. Saw the necessity of all library boards studying local conditions and thru co-operation along these lines.

"Mrs. Atwood, chairman of civil service, represented the federation abroad last summer. She told of studying our American embassies; the lack of suitable quarters and limited salaries of the American ambassadors; how the federation stands for the merit system and she hoped that the men enforcing the dry law would be put under civil service. She wanted all clubs to write their senator and representatives to support the Sherman child bill.

"Mrs. Palmer, chairman of Art Committee, said, 'The Art Society of Minnesota is the child of the Federation.' The society in 1903 got its first appropriation from the legislature. This lasted 13 years, then was cut off. Women were the first to see the need of an art society and the need is greater today than in 1900.

She declared that every club should have an art program during the year. The need of art in our country is great today. She told about the Illinois lectures from history of American paintings, history of American art in gardens, civic art, school art, abolishing the unsightly bill boards. The State Art society should be relived the legislature pass a bill before it now giving the society an appropriation.

Senator Peterson told us something about the moving picture bill he hopes to get passed this session. He told of Mrs. Gilman coming to the senate chamber and offering a voluntary committee to visit the moving picture houses in Minneapolis. The investigation showed four per cent were obnoxious, seven per cent obscene pictures of bed rooms, 24 per cent lewd dancing, 35 per cent of them tinged with vulgarity that would do immeasurable harm to boys and girls in their teens.

Sex Problem Handled Coursely.

Supt. McConnell sent out questionnaires to superintendents of public schools. There are over 500 superintendents and at the time Sen. Peterson talked to the Federation, 375 answers had come in outside of large cities. Eighteen had no moving picture houses, 178 were indifferent to them, ten indorsed the moving pictures, 133 said very decidedly that the effect on morals was bad. Fifty in the country begged for state consorship. Only 14 states have some kind of censorship. The states of Kansas, Maryland and Ohio have fine censorship laws and they work in harmony with the managers of moving picture houses.

Mrs. Godfrey gave a talk on Americanization. She said, "We cannot compel the immigrant to love America, but we can help to educate him along these lines." Mrs. O'Toole talked of the increased responsibility which enfranchisement has placed on women and on the 'Family Court.' She stressed the need of such a court, where family quarrels could be taken before a judge and not aired to the public.

Mrs. Froehlich gave an excellent talk on thrift and outlined the plans for the state. The resolutions committee consisted of Mrs. Wolff, St. Paul, chairman; Mrs. Selvig, Crookston, and Mrs. Schisler, Winthrop.

The Federation went on record for preserving our non-political forestry board as it sands. A campaign for saner dress will be undertaken by the women. This was brought about by a talk from Mrs. Pederson of Hamline. (I heard a man say Amen when that resolution was endorsed.)

That local clubs give sympathy to Armenia by adopting one or more war orphans.

That for child welfare and public health railroads be asked to furnish day coaches with running water. Bills endorsed before congress and the Minnesota legislature for the establishment of a court for domestic relations.

At the reception Friday noon in the receiving line were Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Winter, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. Preus and all district presidents.

At the midwinter breakfast the guests of honor were Governor and Mrs. Preus, Rev. Morgan, Mrs. Winter, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Plummer and Mrs. F. J. Meyers. Mrs. Carpenter, chairman of the 5th district, introduced the guests in a very happy manner. She said they were the best organized, most intelligent star cast in the community. She hoped that Gov. Preus would wend his way to the national capital, where he would shine in greater splendor. Mrs. Preus was a planet because she revolves around the "son." Mrs. Winter was likened to a brilliant comet of high speed. She shed her light by day and night. Mrs. Plummer the "big dipper"—she dips into many things and dips big. She also "scoops." Mrs. Allen was likened to an eclipse, for when she comes in view all eyes are turned on her. Then Mrs. Allen, in her quiet, dignified way, responded by talking on Community Service. In her remarks she said: "Political work will never make us great. It is from the home center that greatness must come." She concluded by repeating this quotation: "I am but one, I cannot do everything, but I can do something and, by the Grace of God, I'll do it well."

Gov. Preus welcomed the women into the political field and was glad we were non-partisan. He recognized the great good a competent woman would do on the board of control, dealing as it does with 10,738 inmates in the 17 institutions directed by the board of control.

Mrs. Plummer, corresponding secretary, talked on the "vanishing lady." She compared the modern woman with the woman of her grandmother's day. The girl of her grandmother's day applied the "seen and not heard" attitude; the young girl of today attempts everything and fears nothing. Although many things must be righted, she has great faith in this generation of girls. She told, to illustrate a point, an amusing story about a letter she dictated to a public stenographer. She inserted the phrase. "That, like Martha, I was cumbered about with many duties." A little later the stenographer hurried to her and said, "Oh, Mrs. Plummer, your letter is finished but you forgot to tell me Martha's last name." (There was an uproar from the company and when it subsided, Mrs. Plummer said, "I thought it funny, too, so I went to the head stenographer to tell her and let her enjoy the joke with me. To my surprise a look of questioning appeared in her eyes and she remarked: 'But I don't know Martha's name either.' Then I went home and found in my sitting room three young people and I told the story to them. Two of them had no idea of Martha and the third was hazy." It emphasizes the fact that an important branch of history, the foundation itself, is being omitted in the teaching of our youth of today. To Mrs. Plummer the woman without religion is like a flower without perfume. All who have heard Mrs. Winter know what a forceful speaker she is. She said in her letter press is a letter which was to be sent to every city, town and hamlet in the United States, calling on club women to help make July 4th citizenship day. By this method she hopes that the coming into citizenship of our boys and girls and the alien may be given the important place in the lives of Americans that is its due. She said anyone who visits a naturalization court is not impressed with the manner in which an alien is turned into an American citizen. One club woman put it this way: The one thing that was impressed on her mind was "step lively." Mrs. Winter believes her letter will receive consideration and rally the forces of woman from coast to coast.

"On citizenship day we want bands to give stirring music, parades to add pomp, with flags of the nations represented in the year's contribution to the melting-pot—mingling with the flag of our country. We want addresses on the duties of citizenship and an impressive public service when all the newly made citizens shall bow before the Stars and Stripes.

Mrs. C. A. Nason submitted the following report on the Lyceum course. Much credit is due Mrs. Nason for the financial success which resulted from her persistent efforts in the advance sale of tickets. The total receipts were $930.35, and total disbursements $868.75, leaving a net gain of $61.60.

Approximately 100 guests were served during the afternoon. Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, Mrs. Geo. Biddick, Mrs. C. E. Glines, Mrs. H. J. Rustad and Mrs. A. Craik were the committee on serving.

NEW FARM THRIFT CAMPAIGN BEGINS

Minnesota Producers Urged to Repair or Exchange Machinery to Reduce Exepense.

Minnesota farmers have started their own thrift campaign.

The Minnesota Farm Bureau federation has sent out a call to every county farm bureau for "repair and exchange bees." The "bees" apply to farm machinery.

"In view of high prices of farm machinery," the federation said in its message to farmers of the state, "the federation regards it as of the utmost importance for every farmer to repair every serviceable piece of machinery before he needs it, so that he will not have to make unnecessary purchases as a result of finding his equipment broken at the last moment."

Farmers were urged to exchange parts from machinery too much worn to be repaired, and use them to save the expense of buying new parts. The machinery thrift campaign in Minnesota is part of a nationwide movement launched by the American Farm Bureau federation, and taken up by the farmers in Illinois, Iowa and other middlewest and northwest states.

Thief River Falls Will Be Short More Than 100 Residence Houses This Spring

When the season is a little farther advanced and employment is again general there will be a demand for homes and the shortage will be more marked than a year ago. This can mean but one thing—higher rents.

Every community in the United States is preparing for a building boom. There is not a city, town or hamlet that has not permitted itself to lag behind on its housing program. When all get started catching up there will be an unprecedented demand for building material. Prices will certainly be forced higher than the present low level.

The time to buy is NOW. Build later if this will prove more convenient, but do not delay in placing your order for the required material. By attending to the matter at once you will save money —on this subject all authorities are agreed. The hauling cost will also be less if you buy while sleighs can be used. In fact, every indication points in one direction—

FARMERS WAR ON BLUE SKY FRAUDS

Federation Launches Move to Check Promotion of Worthless Companies in State.

"Blue sky" salesmen and fake promoters have a new foe in Minnesota. Sixty thousand farmers, through their state organization, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, announce their intention of breaking up the "skin games" by which, according to estimates of the state securities commission, millions of dollars are filched from the citizens of Minnesota every year.

The state federation has undertaken an intensive campaign to organize blue sky committees in every county and in scores of townships. These committees are to be made up of farmers. Their task is to be the investigation of doubtful promotion schemes in which their neighbors are asked to invest their money. Many county farm bureaus already have organized such committees. The state federation is calling on every county bureau that has not yet formed such a committee, to do so at once, and to urge all its members to refuse to consider any proposal to buy stock or sign contracts in promotion schemes that have not been approved by the farm bureau's "blue sky" committee in that county.

"Minnesota farmers have been swindled out of millions of dollars when they thought they were investing their savings in sound securities," L. E. Potter, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, said. "The time has come to put an end to the work of the shady stock salesman and other bunco men. When the farmer knows that a group of his neighbors stands ready to investigate all promotion schemes, he will hesitate before handing his money over to some firm that refuses to be examined."

Swindling schemes that are beyond the reach of the present laws are being worked every day in the state, Charles J. Andre, executive officer of the state securities commission, said. "If persons who are approached by stock salesmen or agents for promotion schemes will have nothing to do with them until a committee of business-like, hardheaded farmers has investigated the proposition, the farm bureaus can save hundreds of thousands of dollars for the people of this state by helping to wipe out the fake promoter," he said.

Report Approximatelq Half Enough Money For Relief Work in China

The American committee for the China famine fund which met in New York yesterday was notified by its advisory committee in Peking that present funds from all sources are sufficient to save only 2,500,000 persons facing starvation. Messages from American consuls and missionaries in the five northern provinces indicate that the utmost effort will be required to sustain enough able bodied men and women until time for planting the spring harvest, said the advisory committee, which added that the next few months will be the most critical period.

TAX LEVY IN MINN. FOR 1929 HUGH SUM

Total Levied in State Last Year, $115,391,095, Auditor Reports.

The total amount of taxes levied in Minnesota for 1920, on a valuation of real and personal property of $2,084,286,979, after all exemptions are deducted, is $115,-391,095.69, according to the abstract of the state tax lists, made public by M. J. Desmond, acting state auditor. The average rate of taxation for the year was 552.43 mills.

The total taxes levied a year previously were $96,938,405.04, on a state valuation of $1,774,607,361, and the average rate was 54.63 mills, the lists show.

Of the amount of taxes levied for 1920, the state receives $11,339,354.71, of which amount $8,695,873.42 is credited to the state revenue, soldiers' relief, state road and bridge, prison building, and other funds; $2,563,703.40, school and University fund, and $79,777.80 to teachers' retirement and insurance fund.

The balance of the levy is apportioned to the respective county taxes, the city and village, township and school district taxes.

The county taxes revert to the following funds:

Revenue fund, $7,448,076; road and bridge, $10,843,682; poor, $1,122,643; interest and principal on state loans, $72,875; bonds, $868,778½ or a total of $21,691,078.

The city and village taxes are divided as follows:

Revenue, $16,952,446; road and bridge, $1,308,793; poor, $114,804; interest and principal on state loans, $401,849; bonds, $3,327,909, and other special taxes, $6,843,768, or a total of $32,921,990.

The total township taxes are reported as $10,542478, and the total school district taxes amount to $36,691,580, according to the list.

Exclusive of the real and personal tax the state has a money and credits valuation of $443,902,869, on which the taxes levied are $1,329,365.34. Of this amount, $221,569.37 is apportioned to the state funds. One-sixth of the levy goes to county; one third of levy to township, city and village, and the remaining third is apportioned to the school district taxes. The rate on these moneys or credits is 3 mills. The valuation placed a year ago was $359,112,619, with a tax levy of $1,079,972. The tax rate on moneys or credits does not change, according to Mr. Desmond.

MOTOR BUS SERVICE FOR RIVER VALLEY

Crookston Rapid Transit Company Formed; Passenger Line Operations This Spring.

The Crookston Times, issue of March 9, in announcing the organization a company which will operate a motor bus passenger line between Crookston and Fargo, offered the following information:

The Triangle Transit Company was organized in this city and will have its headquarters here. It is an incorporated company, and a Crookston man, Mr. Ed. Carlson, is at the head of it. This company has recently ordered two large passenger buses, and has arranged to begin some time between the 1st and 15th of April, the operation of a passenger line on a regular daily schedule between Crookston and Fargo.

These busses will leave Crookston at 8 o'clock a. m., and 2 o'clock p. m., each day, and will return at 12:30 and 7:30 o'clock each afternoon, thus making two round trips each day. Each bus has a capacity of 16 passengers, besides conveniences for carrying a limited amount of express. Regular stops will be made in all the intermediate towns and a regular schedule of fares that compare favorably with rates now charged by the railroads will be made.

The busses are being made by the White Automobile company, and are the same commodious, reliable and comfortable vehicles now being operated by the government in transporting sight-seers through Yellowstone Park.

The installation of these two busses is only the starter of this business, if the plans at present formed by the Triangle Transit company are carried out.

As soon as this route is established, it is the intention of this company to establish a line from Fargo to Detroit, and from Detroit to Crookston, thus forming a territory of the Mi The esta senger an it is expe during the ular morni both ways tablished.

MRS. ALICE GRESHAM DODD, mother of first American soldier killed in France, who gives entire credit for recovery of her health to the well-known medicine, Tanlac.

The following remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Alice Gresham Dodd, the mother of Corporal Jas. B. Gresham, who was the first American soldier killed in France. The statement was made at the Gresham Memorial Home, which was presented to her by the patriotic people of Indiana as an evidence of their appreciation of the services rendered to his country by her son.

The shock of her son's death resulted in a serious breakdown in Mrs. Dodd's health, but every one will learn with interest and pleasure that she is now in splendid health again. Mrs. Dodd gives the entire credit for her recovery to the celebrated medicine, Tanlac.

She said: "After my dear boy's death I had a general breakdown in health. At first it was just indigestion. My food would upset me and I had to diet myself very carefully. I also had rheumatism with severe pains in my shoulders, back and arms and at times I would suffer greatly, and my joints would become swollen and stiff. I was hardly able to do but very little about the house and at times could not even cook a meal. I became very nervous and restless and at night would lie awake for hours.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Tanlac. I am glad I did, for it proved to be the best medicine I have ever taken. It soon gave me a splendid appetite and relieved me entirely of indigestion. My rheumatism also disappeared and I am now able to do my house-work with the greatest ease. My nerves are steady and strong. I sleep well at night and my health is better than in years. I shall always be greateful for what Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls by Roy Lambert, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm and at Goodridge by G. G. Gubrid.—adv.

Do you know the facts about building costs?

Do you know that lumber and building materials are down?

Have you talked to us lately about building?

Do you know how reasonably you can make needed repairs, build your new home, or remodel your old one?

Better get in touch with the situation at once.

The big building program that was expected in 1920 failed to develop. The manufacturers were caught with too large stocks, and were forced to turn them over at almost cost.

We can show you a substantial saving on every item in our line.

But it's only fair to tell you this condition may be only temporary. The country is short more than a million homes. Our own city is short 150 homes.

If you are planning to build, remodel, or repair, come in and let us give you figures. Then when we show you the actual savings over last year's prices and show you how favorably present costs compare with those of 1914, make your own decision.

"Hygienic living, infant care, school sanitation, medical inspection, pure water supply and sanitary closets; nutrition, proper housing from the health point of view, hours of play, sleep, regularity of these things; habits of children, study of all national clubs working for public health welfare.

Prevention of Disease.

"The mothers' part in this is to see that the public water supply is pure, proper sewage, pure milk supply, good meat, etc. See that all fruit, cake, etc., in public places is not allowed to come in contact with flies; know that flies are disease carriers. The mother should be able to detect disease in early stages. We should be educated properly in effacing tuberculosis. Know contagious diseases. Early attention given to cancer, heart trouble. The study of government in its attitude to health.

"Mrs. Coonan, chairman of Social and Industrial conditions, urged us to work for legislation for the welfare of mothers and children. She spoke of the last few months as having her committee making special effort to arouse the club women to support and help secure the passage of legislative measures for the welfare of mothers and children—a protection of child welfare laws, child labor laws, advancement of education and for the benefit of women who are working for the public thru the trades and industries. 'Early in the 19th century it was said of women that if they should ever organize and co-operate steadily for the welfare of women and children, such a transformation would be brought about as the world hitherto had never dreamed of. Women have so organized. Today with the open door to new responsibilities and new possibilities a new vision of organization is glimpsed.'

"Mrs. Brandrup, chairman of public health, urged the support of the public health bill which calls for the creation of county boards of health. As we progress we are coming more and more to appreciate the value of preventive measures—prevention of crime, poverty, of delinquency of premature death and sickness. She feels in this measure we will have an opportunity to take a forward step, which will bring immediate and splendid results. We will be able to place the wealth and physical efficiency of our people on an equal plane. Thus far we have 250 small boards of health, all working for health education. She also talked about the bill for examination of cattle for tuberculosis.

"Mrs. Caswell, chairman on literature, tried to impress the club women with the great need of the story hour for children so as to create a love for good literature in early life.

"Miss Baldwin spoke at length on the library extension bill relating to public and school libraries, establishment of county libraries. Saw the necessity of all library boards studying local conditions and thru co-operation along these lines.

"Mrs. Atwood, chairman of civil service, represented the federation abroad last summer. She told of studying our American embassies; the lack of suitable quarters and limited salaries of the American ambassadors; how the federation stands for the merit system and she hoped that the men enforcing the dry law would be put under civil service. She wanted all clubs to write their senator and representatives to support the Sherman child bill.

"Mrs. Palmer, chairman of Art Committee, said, 'The Art Society of Minnesota is the child of the Federation.' The society in 1903 got its first appropriation from the legislature. This lasted 13 years, then was cut off. Women were the first to see the need of an art society and the need is greater today than in 1900.

She declared that every club should have an art program during the year. The need of art in our country is great today. She told about the Illinois lectures from history of American paintings, history of American art in gardens, civic art, school art, abolishing the unsightly bill boards. The State Art society should be revived the legislature pass a bill before it now giving the society an appropriation.

Senator Peterson told us something about the moving picture bill he hopes to get passed this session. He told of Mrs. Gilman coming to the senate chamber and offering a voluntary committee to visit the moving picture houses in Minneapolis. The investigation showed four per cent were obnoxious, seven per cent obscene pictures of bed rooms, 24 per cent lewd dancing, 35 per cent of them tinged with vulgarity that would do immeasurable harm to boys and girls in their teens.

Sex Problem Handled Coarsely.

Supt. McConnell sent out questionnaires to superintendents of public schools. There are over 500 superintendents and at the time Sen. Peterson talked to the Federation, 375 answers had come in outside of large cities. Eighteen had no moving picture houses, 178 were indifferent to them, ten indorsed the moving pictures, 138 said very decidedly that the effect on morals was bad. Fifty in the country begged for state censorship. Only 14 states have some kind of censorship. The states of Kansas, Maryland and Ohio have fine censorship laws and they work in harmony with the managers of moving picture houses.

Mrs. Godfrey gave a talk on Americanization. She said, "We cannot compel the immigrant to love America, but we can help to educate him along these lines." Mrs. O'Toole talked of the increased responsibility which enfranchisement has placed on women and on the 'Family Court.' She stressed the need of such a court, where family quarrels could be taken before a judge and not aired to the public.

Mrs. Froehlich gave an excellent talk on thrift and outlined the plans for the state. The resolutions committee consisted of Mrs. Wolff, St. Paul, chairman; Mrs. Selvig, Crookston, and Mrs. Schisler, Winthrop.

The Federation went on record for preserving our non-political forestry board as it stands. A campaign for saner dress will be undertaken by the women. This was brought about by a talk from Mrs. Pederson of Hamline. (I heard a man say Amen when that resolution was endorsed.)

That local clubs give sympathy to Armenia by adopting one or more war orphans.

That for child welfare and public health railroads be asked to furnish day coaches with running water. Bills endorsed before congress and the Minnesota legislature for the establishment of a court for domestic relations.

At the reception Friday noon in the receiving line were Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Winter, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. Preus and all district presidents.

At the midwinter breakfast the guests of honor were Governor and Mrs. Preus, Rev. Morgan, Mrs. Winter, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Plummer and Mrs. F. J. Meyers. Mrs. Carpenter, chairman of the 5th district, introduced the guests in a very happy manner. She said they were the best organized, most intelligent star cast in the community. She hoped that Gov. Preus would wend his way to the national capital, where he would shine in greater splendor. Mrs. Preus was a planet because she revolves around the "son." Mrs. Winter was likened to a brilliant comet of high speed. She shed her light by day and night. Mrs. Plummer the "big dipper"—she dips into many things and dips big. She also "scoops." Mrs. Allen was likened to an eclipse, for when she comes in view all eyes are turned on her. Then Mrs. Allen, in her quiet, dignified way, responded by talking on Community Service. In her remarks she said: "Political work will never make us great. It is from the home center that greatness must come." She concluded by repeating this quotation: "I am but one, I cannot do everything, but I can do something and, by the Grace of God, I'll do it well."

Gov. Preus welcomed the women into the political field and was glad we were non-partisan. He recognized the great good a competent woman would do on the board of control, dealing as it does with 10,738 inmates in the 17 institutions directed by the board of control.

Mrs. Plummer, corresponding secretary, talked on the "vanishing lady." She compared the modern woman with the woman of her grandmother's day. The girl of her grandmother's day applied the "seen and not heard" attitude; the young girl of today attempts everything and fears nothing. Although many things must be righted, she has great faith in this generation of girls. She told, to illustrate a point, an amusing story about a letter she dictated to a public stenographer. She inserted the phrase, "That, like Martha, I was cumbered about with many duties." A little later the stenographer hurried to her and said, "Oh, Mrs. Plummer, your letter is finished but you forgot to tell me Martha's last name." (There was an uproar from the company and when it subsided, Mrs. Plummer said, "I thought it funny, too, so I went to the head stenographer to tell her and let her enjoy the joke with me. To my surprise a look of questioning appeared in her eyes and she remarked: 'But I don't know Martha's name either.' Then I went home and found in my sitting room three young people and I told the story to them. Two of them had no idea of Martha and the third was hazy." It emphasizes the fact that an important branch of history, the foundation itself, is being omitted in the teaching of our youth of today. To Mrs. Plummer the woman without religion is like a flower without perfume. All who have heard Mrs. Winter know what a forceful speaker she is. She said in her letter press is a letter which was to be sent to every city, town and hamlet in the United States, calling on club women to help make July 4th citizenship day. By this method she hopes that the coming into citizenship of our boys and girls and the alien may be given the important place in the lives of Americans that is its due. She said anyone who visits a naturalization court is not impressed with the manner in which an alien is turned into an American citizen. One club woman put it this way: The one thing that was impressed on her mind was "step lively." Mrs. Winter believes her letter will receive consideration and rally the forces of woman from coast to coast.

"On citizenship day we want bands to give stirring music, parades to add pomp, with flags of the nations represented in the year's contribution to the melting-pot—mingling with the flag of our country. We want addresses on the duties of citizenship and an impressive public service when all the newly made citizens shall bow before the Stars and Stripes.

Mrs. C. A. Nason submitted the following report on the Lyceum course. Much credit is due Mrs. Nason for the financial success which resulted from her persistent efforts in the advance sale of tickets. The total receipts were $930.35, and total disbursements $868.75, leaving a net gain of $61.60.

Approximately 100 guests were served during the afternoon. Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, Mrs. Geo. Biddick, Mrs. C. E. Glines, Mrs. H. J. Rustad and Mrs. A. Craik were the committee on serving.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Thief River Falls who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Thief River Falls woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Thief River Falls resident can doubt.

Mrs. Geo. Williams, 412 Main Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "I used many remedies for kidney trouble backache but had no permanent relief until I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Curtis Drug Store. This remedy not only cured my back but made me feel better in every way. I am only sorry that Doan's didn't come to my attention sooner."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Williams said: "During the past years Doan's Kidney Pills have done the work whenever I have used them for kidney weakness. I hold Doan's in the same high estimation as when I first endorsed them."

NEW FARM THRIFT CAMPAIGN BEGINS

Minnesota Producers Urged to Repair or Exchange Machinery to Reduce Exepense.

Minnesota farmers have started their own thrift campaign.

The Minnesota Farm Bureau federation has sent out a call to every county farm bureau for "repair and exchange bees." The "bees" apply to farm machinery.

"In view of high prices of farm machinery," the federation said in its message to farmers of the state, "the federation regards it as of the utmost importance for every farmer to repair every serviceable piece of machinery before he needs it, so that he will not have to make unnecessary purchases as a result of finding his equipment broken at the last moment."

Farmers were urged to exchange parts from machinery too much worn to be repaired, and use them to save the expense of buying new parts. The machinery thrift campaign in Minnesota is part of a nationwide movement launched by the American Farm Bureau federation, and taken up by the farmers in Illinois, Iowa and other middlewest and northwest states.

EX-SERVICE MEN ARE UNDER OBSERVATION OF HEALTH SERVICE

Three Former Soldiers Leave For Purpose of Having Extent of Disabilities Ascertained by Government Medical Inspectors.

Glenn C. Anderson and Arthur W. Thoreson, ex-service men who make their residence in Thief River Falls, left for the twin cities the first of the week to undergo strict observation at the hands of medical authorities of the U. S. Public Health service. Surgical operations, it is thought, will be imperative in both cases. Harold Provencher will leave here on Sunday evening for the same purpose.

Glenn C. Anderson, son of County Auditor T. P. Anderson, was one of the first from Pennington county to enlist during the late war. He was assigned to the First Minnesota Infantry in a clerical capacity, later transferred to headquarters, 89th Division, and then again to headquarters, 10th Division, with which he served as chief clerk until after the armistice was signed. Medical treatment is made imperative by disability incurred while in the service, he having been unwell ever since his discharge.

Arthur W. Thoreson is at present the representative of the Armour Packing company for this territory. As an observer he served sixteen months with the 266th Aero Squadron and two months with the 1103rd Aero Squadron, much of his enlistment period being spent in France, where the former named organization had headquarters at Tours. On June 28, 1918, he fell with his machine at Selfridge Field, Michigan, suffering an injury about the head, which has since necessitated several surgical operations. His pilot, Lieutenant Boyle, was killed in the plane accident.

Harold Provencher is employed at the Hotel Evelyn as chef. As a member of Battery F, 151st Field Artillery, he spent over eighteen months on French and German soil, surviving many of the most rigorous military campaigns which followed the declaration of war by the United States. His present disability is due to having absorbed a large quantity of mustard gas fumes.

LOCALS VICTORS IN ANOTHER BRILLIANT BASKETBALL MATCH

Defeat Company G Team of St. Paul After Getting Small End of Score in First Half—Eleventh in Succession.

The Thief River Falls Legion basketballers won their eleventh successive victory Saturday night when they defeated the Company G quint of St. Paul, 29 to 20, in a game played on the city auditorium floor. It was a game replete with thrills, and kept the huge crowd at fever pitch from the starting whistle to the final toot.

Visitors Take First Half.

Both teams started the contest in a determined manner, Holzknecht of the locals taking the first field basket from the center line after two minutes of playing. Keefe immeditely thereafter tied the score with a field goal made after two unsuccessful attempts. Carlson within the next three minutes took his five into the lead again by making the circle twice from the field, while Knopp scored on one personal foul and lost two others. Belden also made a pretty and successful shot from near center. With ten minutes gone Carlson made the hoop for the third time, following that with a successful free throw granted on Knopp's personal. The St. Paul men then took time out; and McGinn went out with a bloody nose to be replaced by Johnson. When play was resumed, Carlson and Hadrath missed comparatively easy shots and the latter was replaced by LaBree. Knopp scored on Kiland's personal foul; Carlson failed to do so on Knopp's personal twice in rapid succession. Keef's second field goal was followed by wild shooting and passing on the part of the Legion men, while the visitors took the lead with Knopp netting two balls in long clean shots. St. Paul [illegible] close of the half, which ended with a score of 12 to 9 in their favor.

Real Battling in Second.

The second half opened with the play surging wildly from one end of the floor to the other. Carlson took two field baskets, Holzknecht one and LaBree one in the first four minutes, during which time Carlson, for the locals, and Belden, for the visitors, lost free throws. The playing that followed was the most spirited of the entire game. Nelson netted a ball from the field after which Carlson made a successful free throw. LaBree who failed to get into action properly was replaced by Kiland. Knopp scored on a field throw. After eight and a half minutes of play, Thief River took time out. McGinn, who had been put back in the game with the beginning of the half, was still groggy and Johnson went in in his place for the second time. Two personals were called on Belden, one immediately following the other, Carlson missing the first free throw and making the second. The latter shortly after added four more points to his quint's total with two hoops made after fast passes from Holzknecht. Knopp missed a free throw on a technical and Carlson missed two on personals. Belden missed the net on Johnson's personal. Holzknecht then took the game to himself for over a minutes time during which he made two of his sensational basket shots from the center of the field, but it became necessary for his team to take time out when he was floored in the clash that followed. The battling that ensued grew hotter and hotter, bringing spectators to their feet, while Nelson of the downstate five, whose guarding at all times was of the finest type, made one basket. Kiland missed the circle at a time when he had the floor to himself but caught the ball and plopped it into the net as the opposing guards and center fell upon him. Belden took another two points just before the whistle blew, with the score standing at 29 to 20.

Carlson Comes Back.

Knopp was easily deserving of the honors for his team, in spite of his repeated fouling and his tendency to take long chances at the net. Nelson Keefe, and Belden also played well. For the Legion men, Carlson, who had returned to his stride, of former games, and Holzknecht did the major share of the work. The latter was guilty of several wild and too speedy passes.

Company G.		Legion
Nelson	RF	Carlson
Knopp	LF	Kiland
Belden	C	Hadrath
Bettenburg	RG	Holzknecht
Keefe	LG	McGinn

LaBree substituted for Hadrath and Johnson for McGinn.

Company G scoring: Field goals—Keefe 2, Belden 2, Knopp 3, Nelson 2. Free throws: Knopp 2 out of 5; Belden missed two.

Legion scoring: Field goals—Holzknecht 4, Carlson 7, LaBree 1, Kiland 1. Free throws: Carlson 3 out of 9.

Perry Johnson refereed the game.

Two More Enter Training.

Emil Hedlund of Thief River Falls, and Edward Clementson of Kratka are two more ex-service men from Pennington county to enter training thru the workings of the Federal Board for Vocational Training which conducted a two day session here during the early part of February. Both men left for the district office at Fargo on Monday.

The former named service man entered training in August, 1918, and very shortly after was sent to France and the firing line. After the armistice was signed he served with the army of occupation in Germany, during which time he contracted lung trouble. He has been under the observation of government medical authorities since his discharge. Edward Clementson enlisted in February, 1918, and served with the A. E. F. until after the close of hostilities.

Where are Yngve and Steen?

Information is needed from Anton Yngve, formerly a corporal, Co. C, 26th Bn. U. S. G., and Sanford Steen in regard to their claims for government compensation. The address of both men is given as Thief River Falls. They, or anyone having knowledge as to their whereabouts, are urged to get in touch with County Auditor T. P. Anderson, chairman of the home service section of the Pennington County Red Cross chapter, by whom the requests for information have been received.

Time For Chow.

Ex-service men, their ladies and their families are urged to line-up and have chow with the members of the Woman's Auxiliary next Tuesday night at the Commercial club rooms. Out-of-town auxiliary members and service men are given a special invitation to attend [illegible] is the regular monthly "open house" of the auxiliary.

Overheated Stove Causes $2000 Fire Sunday Night

Fire on Sunday night between 8 and 9 o'clock partially destroyed the residence of Soo Line Conductor Charles Maidment, 410 Crocker avenue north. Damage to the residence and household property is estimated at approximately $2,000, the loss being fully covered by insurance. Response to the alarm by the fire department was prompt and the blaze was well under control when members of the family, who had left the house early in the afternoon, arrived on the scene. An overheated stove is held responsible for the conflagration.

Plan to Market Own Grain

Establishment of a national sales agency for the benefit of organized farmers, the formation of a tremendous financial corporation which will pool the combined assets of the American farmers and the creation of a foreign trade corporation to take the surplus export grain off the market each year, thereby stabilizing the local market, these are the recommendations embodied in the report of the Committee of Seventeen. The committee proposes that the organized farmers of America, working under the leadership of the American Farm Bureau federation, shall take over to themselves the entire grain marketing machinery, according to the St. Paul Farmer. A more revolutionary movement was never proposed, yet the Committee of Seventeen presents the new plan as entirely practicable.

Last October the American Farm Bureau Federation, which is made up of nearly two million actual farmers, appointed the famous Committee of Seventeen for the purpose of formulating a gigantic plan for the co-operative marketing of grain crops. The members of this committee were intended to represent all of the agricultural interests and farm organizations of the country. The committee was given unlimited means to study all existing marketing plans of this and other countries, particular attention being given to the very successful fruit growers association of California and to the Grain Growers association of Canada. The only instructions were to report back to the united farmers of America a plan that would correct present marketing abuses and give to the grain grower all possible profit.

The committee has now reported and its report marks one of the important turning points in the agricultural history of America. Plans adopted by the Committee of Seventeen call for a farmer-owned national grain marketing agency to handle the surplus grain crops of the United States and thereby eliminate waste in distribution, provide for orderly marketing and more stable prices, and add materially to the grower's net returns without increasing the cost to the consumer.

Meetings will soon be held in each of the various states for consideration and ratification of the plan. It is so vital that every farmer, business man middleman in each community should be familiar with all of its details as covered by the complete report of the Committee of Seventeen in the March 12 issue of The St. Paul Farmer.

Rail Notes

Railroads Cannot Reduce Wages Without Hearing

The railway labor board Monday handed down a decision ruling that the Erie Railway had violated a previous board ruling in six respects in reducing the wages of its employes and in failing to cancel these reductions when ordered to do so by the board. The road had contended the board must hold a hearing before ordering the restoration of previous rates of pay.

The railroad ordered a 27 percent reduction in the pay of track men effective February 1st and later ignored the board's demand that the wages should be re-established to meet the order in the board's decision of July, 1920. The road set a precedent by contending a hearing should be held on the board's order. Had Monday's decision been favorable to Erie it would have opened up a score of similar contentions by other roads.

To Remodel Telemarken.

The city council in session on Tuesday night issued a building permit to Andrew Ness, granting him the privilege of remodeling the Telemarken hotel building, located on the corner of Knight avenue and fourth street. The contractor plans to alter the building to serve as a six-apartment residence flat. Present plans call for an expenditure approximating $5,000.

Bill Bids For Bathing Beauties.
(Baudette Region.)

But if it is true that, "California's real estate is humping northwards," we hereby put in a strong claim for the section where Mack Sennett rehearses his bathing beach scenes. Spooner can have the part where the old farm and the village church, are featured and Warroad is justly entitled to annex the frontier town stuff. Williams, which is a funny little place, can have the pie throwers.

Another Pennington Boy Makes Good in New Field

The following fine tribute concerns a former Pennington county boy whose people reside near St. Hilaire. The young man graduated as an ordained minister only last year but this notice, taken from the Blackduck American, indicates that he is making good:

"Wonderful progress has been made by the Lutheran church in the Blackduck country during the past year. Probably no other community in the northwest can show as large an increase in number of churches organized and total membership added as the gains made in this territory since the arrival of Rev. A. O. Odegaard a little over a year ago.

"Rev. Odegaard informs the American that, since his arrival on the field there have been a total of eight Lutheran congregations organized and during the same period an increase in membership of six hundred and eighty-five is reported.

"In Blackduck the membership of Zion church has more than doubled during this time. The church edifice has been moved to a more central location and remodeled and enlarged to meet the demand of the rapidly-growing congregation."

Courses in Public Health Nursing at University

In view of the continuing active demand for public health nurses the University of Minnesota will offer a third four months' course in Public Health Nursing, commencing May 1st. This is the first half of the full eight months' course in this subject. Lectures are given in the Medical School and in the Departments of Sociology, Economics, etc. Field work is provided through the rural model practice field in Hennepin county and by the courtesy of the Associated and United Charities of the Twin Cities, the Infant Welfare and Children's Protective societies, the Visiting Nurses' association, the public schools, and a number of industrial corporations.

Admission is granted to graduates or senior nurses of approved training schools who have the necessary high school requirements.

This work for the development of public health nurses is being done in a very quiet, but effective way and is directly meeting the public need. Already 118 women have taken the courses. Application for entrance should be made to Miss Louise M. Powell, Superintendent, School of Nursing, University Hospitals, Minneapolis.

TRUST COMPANY AGAIN REFUSES TO KEEP WORD

Capital Trust and Savings Company Tries to Back Out of Argeement Made.

Demands Return of Certified Check Deposited as Evidence of Good Faith.

City Officials Refuse to Relinquish and Will Bring Suit to Enforce Payment.

As a result of the action taken by the Capital Trust and Savings bank of St. Paul on Saturday, the matter of paving the streets in the business section of Thief River Falls has been brought to a standstill and in all probability will remain so until the next term of the district court. The above named corporation, which on February 8, contracted to effect the sale of municipal certificates of indebtedness aggregating a quarter million dollars, has announced a disinclination to fulfill the terms of the contract, giving as a reason the present international financial situation.

Will Retain Check.

The announcement was made by telegraph on Friday and was accompanied by a request for the return of a $15,000 certified check which had been deposited with city officials as an evidence of good faith. Following the refusal of the aldermen to relinquish hold on the check, A. J. Egan, representing the St. Paul banking house, appeared here on Saturday with a writ of replevin against City Treasurer E. M. Evenson. The check, however, was held by A. H. Akre, city clerk, and was not released. Made out against the First National bank of this city, it was presented for payment on Monday forenoon by City Attorney H. O. Chommie. The bank having been notified by the Capital Trust and Savings bank to stop payment on the $15,000 check except at its own risk, refused to make the settlement and later in the day was served with a summons in which the city laid claims to that amount. And there the matter rests until the court shall decide the ownership of the slip of paper.

Two actions are represented in the case, the Capital Trust and Savings bank having brought suit to force City Treasurer E. M. Evenson to release the check.

Objectors Not to Blame.

It is admitted that the faction which has consistently opposed paving had nothing to do with this latest development. It is the second time this same bonding company has repudiated its agreement with the city and the councilmen are rather inclined to find out whether or not a contract entered into in good faith can be set aside because one of the parties finds that compliance with its provisions is inconvenient.

But no matter what the outcome, the proceeding will in all probability have the effect of postponing the beginning of paving operations for some months.

Elks to Install Officers At Meeting Friday Night

B. P. O. E. No. 1308 will hold installation of offices at the Masonic hall on Friday night, March 25, instead of April 1, the regular meeting night. This change of date was made necessary because of the Elks mask ball having previously been announced for the night of April 1. A. R. Robert of Crookston, district deputy representative of the Grand Exalted Ruler, will act as installing officer. A light lunch and suitable fireworks will mark the occasion. Officers to be installed are: H. W. Protzeller, exalted ruler; L. G. Larsen, esteemed leading knight; G. W. Connell, esteemed loyal knight; John Bratrud, esteemed lecturing knight; T. J. Austad, secretary; F. H. Herrick, treasurer; Elmer Ohm, tyler; C. Storholm, trustee.

NORWAY RECOVERS FROM WAR EFFECT WITHOUT TROUBLE

The Crown Rapidly Regaining Pre-War Status and Conditions Generally Good.

Otto P. Hoff, of Christiania, Norway, manager of the American department of Den Norske Handelsbank (Norwegian Bank of Commerce,) was in the city on business the first of the week and took occasion to look up a number of old friends. Mr. Hoff was formerly secretary to Consul H. Bendeke during the six years the latter represented the Norwegian government as consul at Grand Forks and visited Thief River Falls a number of times while residing in the Dakota city. He went to Christiania to reside five years ago.

"Bank deposits in Norway have increased between 100 and 200 per cent during the past five years, said Mr. Hoff. There has been only one bank failure in the entire country since 1895 and this was a small institution in the far north which became involved when the Russian ruble practically ceased to have a value. As an indication of the amount of actual cash available in the country at the present time, Mr. Hoff mentioned the fact that Norwegian bankers recently loaned the new government of Finland 105,000,000 crowns. Business men, he said, have no trouble in borrowing money for any legitimate purpose.

Socialism in Norway is a different development from what it is in this country, said the visitor. "Over there a Socialist is simply an avowed progressive after the Roosevelt or La-Follette stripe. In the late elections the party lost heavily in public favor and is not nearly so strong as was the case a few years ago. Bolshevism is not tolerated, he said, in spite of some suspicions to the contrary in this country.

Mr. Hoff will start from New York on his return trip on April 22. He will be much pleased if anyone visiting Christiania from this section will call on him when there and will be happy to be of any service within his power.

ERROR IN FIGURES GIVES BANK WRONG POSITION IN LIST

Correction Places Citizens State at Top in Volume of Deposits Now Held.

In giving a summary of the latest statements submitted by the banks of Thief River Falls in The Times last week an inadvertent error was made, the correction of which makes something of a difference in the relative standing of our financial institutions. While this is perhaps a minor mistake so far as the banking house is concerned, our attention has been called to it and simply as a matter of absolute fairness the tables are herewith republished with the correction made.

At the close of business on February 21, the date of the call, the condition of Thief River Falls banks was respectively as follows, rotation being observed according to the total of deposits:

	1921	1920
Citizens State	740,081.91	762,558.03
First National	$ 718,047.81	$ 821,686.63
First & Peoples	454,451.10	686,025.29
Far. & Merch.	271,673.07	255,936.28
Total	$2,184,257.85	$2,536,216.53

As the totals were taken from our own figures these were naturally wrong by exactly the $30,000 with which we failed to credit the Citizens' State bank, which leaves a total for the four of $2,184,257.85, a decrease for the year of $351,958.68. During the same period the loans and discounts decreased $93,116.44.

Laborer Fractures Skull; Dies at Hospital Here

Jack Llynk, an Austrian laborer, employed as a section hand at Lancaster, was brought to the Physicians hospital here last Wednesday night in an unconscious condition, following a fall from a railway speeder. He died Friday night without having regained consciousness. He noticed no immediate ill effects from the fall and it was not considered he had sustained serious injury until several hours later, when he became unconscious. An x-ray examination disclosed a fractured skull.

IDENTITY UNKNOWN; DIES AT HOSPITAL

Unable to Give Account of Himself But Supposed to be G. Mount, Veterniarian.

Without having been physically able to offer the least information about himself or to account for his strange condition, an unknown man died at the Physicians hospital on Monday night, after having been in a delirium since last Friday. A subsequent examination of clothing and letters contained therein went to prove him a veterinarian by the name of Georg' Mount. He was sent here on Friday night by medical authorities at Clearbrook, where he had been for several weeks. As far as can be discovered he had made a week's stay at Leonard previous to that time. When received at the Physicians hospital he was conscious but in a crazed and stupefied condition. Rapidly becoming worse, he sank into unconsciousness later the same night and remained so until his death.

Letters in the man's pockets would indicate that a daughter and son-in-law live at Northome, Minn., but the hospital authorities have been informed by telephone that persons bearing the name given cannot be located there.

The deceased stranger is described as having been about 50 years of age, of medium height, dark complexion and smooth shaven. The body will be held here pending the receipt of further information as to the whereabouts of relatives.

Attending Circuit Meeting.

Rev. P. E. Sweger of Trinity Lutheran church, left on Monday for Holt where he was scheduled to preach the opening sermon at a circuit meeting which was held there on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The church at Holt is in Rev. Ordahl's charge.

SENATE PASSES ALL IMPORTANT FARMER BILLS

Five House Measures Are Rushed Through in Record-Breaking Time on Tuesday.

Future Trading Curbed and Chambers of Commerce Opened to Associations.

Favorable Action on All New Bills Expected by Governor Preus Without Delay.

Five house bills comprising the legislature's agricultural program for the session passed the senate on Tuesday and went to the governor for signature.

They provide:

That chambers of commerce and boards of trade shall be public markets. The state is given power to regulate all memberships.

That trading in grain futures—so-called futures gambling—shall be curbed.

That grain grading standards in Minnesota shall be revised.

That a commission of three senators and three representatives shall confer with the United States department of agriculture with a view to revising federal grain grading standards.

That the voters of Minnesota shall be given a chance to ratify or reject a constitutional amendment extending credit of the state in development of agricultural lands. This to be submitted at the next state election.

All of the measures have been tentatively approved by Governor Preus and he is expected to sign them.

Bitter fights were waged on the trading-in-futures bill and the measure throwing open the memberships in chambers of commerce and boards of trade. Some legislators look for court fights on both measures.

WOMEN APPOINTED TO SUCCEED MEN

Two Are Appointed by Mayor Bratrud to Fill Vacancies on Park Board of City.

Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg and Mrs. T. L. Melgaard have been appointed by Mayor John Bratrud to serve on the city park board. C. L. Hansen's term has expired and H. A. Brumund has resigned since his election to the city council. Other members of the board are Emil Zeh, Dr. G. W. Booren and Dr. C. R. Crandall. The latter is chairman. One of the objects of the park board at this time is the securing of a suitable location for a public or tourist camping ground within the city limits, to accommodate summer automobile parties that carry equipment for over-night or longer stops in the open. Dr. Crandall on Monday stated that the subject would be brought up for discussion at the Commercial club noonday luncheon today. The park board at an early date will formulate plans which it is hoped will ultimately result in a city park for Thief River Falls.

Blaze Does Little Damage.

A fire which broke out in the nurse's home of the Physician's hospital here last Thursday noon, was quickly extinguished by neighboring residents who rushed to the scene following the alarm. Damage to the property was small. The fire originated in the first floor near a hot air register.

COMMERCIAL MEN INSTALL OFFICERS; COUNSELOR SPEAKS

Local Branch Shows Remarkable Growth in Membership During Year Just Closed.

A large attendance marked the meeting of Minnesota Council No. 521 of the United Commercial Travelers, held at the Masonic hall Saturday evening, when the following officers were elected and installed: John Ward, senior counselor; John L. Rolland, junior counselor; L. G. Larsen, past counselor; E. M. Bennes, secretary-treasurer; F. A. Brown, conductor; O. C. Olson, page; H. L. Larson, sentinel. J. J. Weeks and O. G. Storholm were elected to succeed themselves as members of the executive committe for a period of two years. L. G. Larsen was appointed as delegate to the grand convention, which will be held at Virginia, Minn., with O. D. Ostby as alternate.

G. L. Biddick, vice president of the Peterson-Biddick company; Isak Helseth, manager of the local branch of the Minneapolis Bridge company, and W. J. Meloy, salesman in this territory for the Drewry company of St. Paul, were initiated as members of the council immediately preceding the election of officers. Frank Tonskemper of Stillwater, grand senior counselor for this district, acted as installing officer. During the informal session of the meeting, which followed the serving of a lunch, he also talked on general activities of the U. C. T. throughout the state, and discussed the hotel situation as it exists today. Short talks were given by the new officers and new members.

The local council of the commercial travelers has shown a remarkable growth the past year, the membership having increased from 54 to 82. Over 40 members were present at the meeting Saturday night.

RED CROSS DIRECTORS, ATTENTION!

A special meeting of the board of directors of the Pennington chapter of the American Red Cross has been called for Friday afternoon, for the purpose of taking some action in regard to the Chinese Relief fund. The meeting will be held at the Commercial club rooms at 2 o'clock.

POSTOFFICE MUST HAVE NEW HOME; CONTINUE TO RENT

No Chance of Federal Building in This City For Ten Years, Say Officials.

Following brief talks by J. A. Armstrong of Bemidji, post office inspector for this district, and Postmaster John Morgan at the noonday Commercial club luncheon last Thursday, it was voted to have a committee from that organization appointed to confer with Mr. Morgan and assist in securing more suitable quarers for the Thief River Falls post office. President W. W. Hall, Jr., has since appointed as members of the committee John Bratrud, Daniel Shaw, H. C. Johnson and E. O. Mogensen.

It will undoubtedly be ten years or more before this city can secure a federal building, Mr. Armstrong stated, in speaking of the present need of larger quarters. An appropriation of $55,000 for the erection of a post office here was made in December, 1916. A later appropriation authorized the expenditure of $75,000 for that purpose. But with the war at hand, all such appropriations were practically cancelled. John W. Langly, chairman of the federal building and housing committee, in a letter to Congressman Halvor Steenerson, dated March 5, stated that because of the necessity for economy at this time and because of the pressure of emergency legislation, no general public building bill would be presented at this session, aside from that providing for the hospitalization and housing of disabled ex-service men. Congressman Steenerson has made a diligent effort to secure an appropriation for the erection in Thief River Falls of a suitable post office and federal building. Postmaster Morgan stated that even could a bill be passed at this time, it would be from five to ten years before the building would materialize.

The city post office, with the expiration of the lease on Nov. 1, will have occupied the present quarters for 16 years, and the floor space is now decidedly insufficient. Congestion of incoming and outgoing mail often occurs. In 1905 receipts approximated $8,000 and in 1920 they aggregated $26,000. Six clerks, one assistant clerk, three rural carriers, three city carriers, two star route carriers, one mail messenger and one city delivery man are now employed by the local office and must be accommodated with floor space in which to work. The present building has less than 1500 square feet of available floor space. The new lease will call for at least 2400 feet.

Wm. Cavert, expert farm management accountant of the state university farm, was also a guest and speaker at the club lunch. He spoke chiefly of farm conditions today as compared with those of years ago and explained the popular movement from the farm to the city by stating that many people were virtually "farming in the city by working at the manufacture of time and labor saving farm implements." His talk was most enthusiastically received.

The attendance at the noonday luncheons has shown a remarkable increase since the moving of the club to the new quarters, over 50 members and business men having been served each time.

HOME GUARDS WILL BE MUSTERED OUT

To Hold Reunion Saturday Night When Discharge Papers Will Be Given.

Company "C" of the 11th Battalion of home guards will assemble for the first time since 1918, at the Hotel Evelyn on Saturday evening at 10 o'clock following the Crookston-Thief River basket ball game. The distribution of discharges which have been received from the state Adjutant General's office, will be made at this time. Approximately $100 remains in the company treasury and it has been suggested that this be turned over to the local post of the American Legion to be used in relieving urgent financial or other wants of former service men. The subject will come under discussion on Saturday night. All members of the company are urged to attend the meeting, which will be in the nature of an informal smoker. A buffet luncheon will be a feature of the evening.

DELEGATES WILL MEET TO RATIFY NEW SALES PLAN

Minnesota to Send Six Farmers to National Meeting at Chicago on April 6.

Committee of Seventeen Will Ask Endorsement or Modification of Program.

Preliminary Meeting of State Organization Members at St. Paul March 22.

Representatives of Minnesota's farmer organizations will meet in St. Paul on March 22 to ratify or modify the national co-operative grain marketing plan drafted by the Committee of Sevnteen. The convention also will elect six delegates to represent Minnesota farmers at a national ratification convention in Chicago on April 6, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation has announced.

Five farmers' organizations, working to improve marketing conditions, have been invited to the state convention. Two members of the Committee of Seventeen, C. V. Gregory of the American Farm Bureau federation, and J. M. Anderson of St. Paul, will outline the national marketing program worked out by the committee in five months of research. The organizations which will take part in the state convention are the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, the Farmers' Grain Dealers association, the Equity Co-operative exchange, the Minnesota Grange and the Minnesota union of the American Society of Equity. Every county farm bureau has been asked to send at least one delegate.

Seventeen state conventions already have been called to elect delegates to the national convention and six more are to be announced. The ratification plan was worked out with a view to giving every grain growing community an opportunity to approve or modify the nation-wide grain marketing plan before it is put into effect.

MAN WANTED FOR CRIME IN CANADA IS CAPTURED HERE

Escapes From Provincial Police Inspector on Trip From Chicago to Winnipeg.

Homer I. Stevens of Chicago, wanted at Edmonton, Alberta, on four counts for obtaining money under false pretenses, was taken into custody here on Tuesday morning after having escaped from his escort, Inspector John Skelton of the Manitoba provincial police. He spent most of the day in the city jail, escaping shortly after noon only to be retaken at St. Hilaire, and continued his northward trip on Wednesday morning in the custody of Inspector Skelton.

Stevens descended from the north-bound Soo flyer when it stopped here early Tuesday morning. His escort, exhausted by several nights traveling, had fallen asleep shortly before the train arrived here and did not wake until Newfolden was reached. He immediately wired Night Policeman Ed. Brooten and the latter instigated a thorough search for the missing man through the city hotels and the railroad yards, toward which his trail led. Stevens was finally taken as he tried to board a six o'clock south-bound Soo local and placed in the city jail. When taken he had effected a complete change of costume, the clothing which he had been described as wearing being found in a traveling bag carried by him.

Stevens' second escape was discovered when Chief of Police Erickson went to the city jail at noon to take the prisoner to dinner. Tracks in the fresh snow leading towards St. Hilaire, Frank McGinnity immediately gave chase and the man was again taken at the above named place after having walked the eight miles in Tuesday's blizzard. When questioned as to how he had made his escape, he stated that the cell door had not been securely locked, and he simply walked out.

Inspector Skelton, having been notified of the capture, boarded the first south-bound train out of Newfolden, took Stevens in charge upon his arrival here and continued to Winnipeg on Wednesday morning. The accused is a citizen of the United States but waived all proceedings as to extradition.

Holstein Breeders Elect Officers and Make Plans

At a meeting of the Pennington County Holstein Breeders' association held at the Farm Bureau office here on Saturday afternoon, Hans Anton was re-elected president for the ensuing year and F. D. Satre secretary-treasurer. M. T. McFarland, Fred Beerbower and V. C. Noper were appointed to a publicity committee.

According to enthusiastic expression on the part of those in attendance at the meeting, a concerted effort will be made to enroll every Holstein owner in the county as a member of the association. A committee will be appointed to inspect all Holsteins which will be shown at the Pennington county fair in August or other county or state fairs, in order that the association can be positive that the best animals are being shown. Other meetings will be called during the spring and summer to arrange for exhibiting on the show circuits of the Northwest.

Lecture and Banquet For Businessmen Wednesday

R. H. Pelz of the department of Business Economics of the state university, will speak before the Merchants association following a banquet supper at the Brumund hotel next Wednesday evening. The subject of his talk will be "The Retail Merchant's Opportunity." Business men of the city and surrounding towns are given a special invitation to attend this fourth banquet-lecture of the series. Serving of the banquet will begin promptly at 6:30.

COMPANY I TEAM COMING SATURDAY BY SPECIAL TRAIN

Crookston Legion Basketeers Expect to Wipe Out Sting of Early-Season Defeat.

The Company I basketball team of Crookston will meet the American Legion five in a return game played at the auditorium Saturday night. In an early season game Thief River Falls won from Crookston 31 to 29 on the Crookston floor. Since the defeat the locals have not lost a game, while the Crookston men, too, have taken a long string of victories to their credit. The game should be a scrap from the first toot of the whistle.

Crookston will go into the game without the services of Miller, star center, who was injured in the first few minutes of play in a game played ten days ago with the Minot Independents and will be out of the field for the remainder of the season. The rest of the Crookston men are reported as being in first-class condition for a hard battle.

A special train has been chartered to bring the Company I men and a large crowd of fans to Thief River Falls. It will leave Crookston at 5:30 and return immediately following the game. Not only will the game be one of the fastest of the season, but the enthusiasm of spectators can be expected to reach a high pitch as this is the first time that a visiting team has been backed by a large number of followers.

Epileptic Youth Committed.

Albert S. Wood, 22-year-old son of W. E. Wood, 210 Kendall avenue north, as a result of an examination conducted by city physicians on Tuesday, will be sent to the state school at Faribault. When a child he fell, striking his head, and has since been subject to epileptic fits.

Northwest Auto Dealers Meet Here This Evening

The automobile dealers of this section will meet at the Northwestern garage in this city this evening for thee purpose of organizing a district association. About 25 dealers are expected to attend, representing all of the towns on the Great Northern as far as Warroad, north to Newfolden on the Soo line and Oklee and Plummer to the south.

The aim will be to agree to go on a cash basis and to equalize prices. It has been stated that in certain cases excessive prices have been charged, particularly where emergencies have arisen, and it is for the purpose of discountenancing any such action on the part of garage men in the future that this get-together session was called.

SIX FROM COUNTY AMONG GRADUATES

Northwest School of Agriculture Will Hold Commencement Exercises Mar. 24.

The largest class in the history of the institution will graduate from the Northwest School of Agriculture on March 24. As a part of the commencement week program the pageant, "The Valley Spirit Speaks," will be given at the Armory, Crookston, on Wednesday evening, March 23, to be followed the next day by the formal commencement exercises. An operetta with 80 voices will be given the same evening. This occasion will be of special interest to the hundreds of the former sutudens of the school living in this section of the state.

The graduates from Pennington county this year are: Myrtle Reubena Erickson, Goodridge; Harold Halstrom, Wylie; Edith Irene Shosten and Sophie H. Krbechek, Erie; Joseph Johnson and Carl Gullingsrud, Kratka.

The class numbers 53, making the total number of graduates nearly 500, with an additional 1000 former students who have taken from three months up to two years of work. Dr. J. C. Brown of the St. Cloud Normal school will deliver the commencement address on the afternoon of March 24. All are cordially invited to see the Valley Spirit on the evening of the 23rd and to remain over for the commencement exercises.

Crookston comes Saturday. It will be some game.

RESIGNATION OF W. A. ZIEGLER AS SUPT. IS FILED

City School Head States Intention is to Complete Degrees at University.

Announcement Comes as Surprise, Public Having No Inkling of His Intention.

Number of Other Teachers State They Do Not Intend Returning For Next Term.

W. A. Ziegler, superintendent of the Thief River Falls public schools, on Monday night submitted to the board of education his resignation from that position, to go into effect with the closing of the school term in June. Mr. Ziegler has announced his intention of completing his Masters degree at the University of Minnesota during the summer months, following which he will start his degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the same institution of learning, with the hope later of attending Columbia University, New York. Mr. Ziegler came here as superintendent of the city schools direct from a post-graduate course at the sate university and in resuming the course, he states, is carrying out plans formulated at that time.

L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the Lincoln high school, also has announced that he will leave Thief River Falls with the closing of the school term, it being his intention to seek a high school superintendency. Supt. Ziegler on Wednesday said that fully 75 per cent of the teachers in the city schools had already informed him that they did not contemplate returning here as instructors for the term of 1921-22.

EXPLAINS ERROR IN MAKING WINONA PAVING STATEMENT

A. D. Hanson of the Bitulithic Company, Had Wadena in Mind at the Time.

The Times issue of Feb. 24 credited A. D. Hanson, vice president and general manager of the Bitulithic Contracting Ltd., of Winnipeg, with having made the statement that the ciy of Winona had recenly received bids for the construction of gravel-concrete paving, the lowest of which was $4.65 per yard. The article further stated:

"The lowest bid for similar paving received here at the time of the letting of the paving contract to the above menioned firm was $3.98."

A Thief River Falls citizen endeavored to prove the veracity of Mr. Hanson's statement by writing to the city clerk of Winona. The reply to his inquiry stated that no hearing of bids had been held and that it must be some other Winona. It was requested that the matter be given publicity through the columns of The Times and accordingly a brief statement of the case was made, pending the receipt of further information from Mr. Hanson, who was believed to be mistaken only in the name of the city in which bids had been opened. A letter received from him on Monday reads:

"In a recent issue of your paper I notice you quoted me as saying a bid for paving received at Wynona, Minn., was $4.65 per square yard for Bithulithic on a gravel-concrete base.

"You will remember that I expressed some doubt as to whether the name of the town was Winona or Wadena, as we did not bid on the work, and my information was only hearsay. Since returning to Winnipeg I have found that I was mistaken in the name of the city and that it was Wadena, Minn., instead of Winona, and that the bids received on the work were as follows:

"Class B Asphaltic Concrete, which is the state specification for Warrenite Bitulithic on a 6 inch concrete base, using gravel for the mineral aggregate, C. W. Schrueth, $4.65 per square yard; General Contracting Co., $4.72 per square yard.

"I am giving you this information simply to correct the error I made in giving you the name of the city, as you will note the low tender price that I gave you was correct."

Famous Violinist Will Be Heard in Recital Here

J. G. Norgaard of Saetsdal, Norway, one of the most widely known violinists of that country, at present making a tour of the United States, will appear in a recital under the auspices of the Sons of Norway lodge at Masonic hall on Thursday evening, March 24. Mr. Norgaard appears in the picturesque men's costume used in Satesdal in the seventeenth century. He holds many prizes won in competition with some of the most noted violinists of Scandinavia, one of these being an extra prize awarded him in Christiania on May 16, 1910.

An admission charge of 50 cents will be made and tickets have been placed on sale at Neset's jewelry store.

Society and Club

Honoring Mrs. Iverson.

Mrs. F. M. Iverson of Minneapolis, who is the guest of her daughter, Miss Grace Iverson, has been honor guest at a number of dinner parties since her arrival in the city a week ago. On Saturday evening Mrs. Iverson and daughter were guests of Miss Maude Johnson at a six o'clock dinner at the home of Mrs. N. K. Harris. Covers were laid for Mrs. Iverson, Grace Iverson, Irene Patrick, Lillian Poppitz, and Mrs. N. K. Harris. Sunday noon Mrs. Gay Halvorson entertained them at dinner. Sunday evening they were entertained by Mrs. Robert Vance. Monday evening they were dinner guests of the Misses Lillian Poppitz and Irene Patrick at the Brumund hotel. Dr. and Mrs. Fisher were hosts at dinner on Tuesday evening. Last evening Mrs. Gay Halvorson entertained at dinner in their honor. The guests included Misses Lillian Poppitz, Irene Patrick, Grace Iverson and Mrs. Iverson. This afternoon Mrs. Iverson will be honor guest at a party given by Mrs. T. L. Melgaard at her home. She will return to Minneapolis tomorrow evening.

Musical Section Meets.

One of the most enjoyable social evenings that the musical section of the Woman's club has had this season was held at the home of Mrs. August Holmberg on Tuesday evening. A splendid Italian program was arranged by the chairman, Mrs. Gay Halvorson. The current events, which were given in response to the roll call, were especially interesting. Among these taking part were Mrs. W. A. Ziegler, Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Miss Maude Johnson, Miss Mae Bark, Miss Edna Larson, Miss Una Nelson, Miss Amelia Hoorn and Miss Thora Hanson. Preceding the piano solo by Miss Bark, who played "Miserere" from Verdi's Il Trovatore, Miss Johnson read a very interesting story of Il Trovatore. During the course of the evening a very delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Holmberg, assisted by Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Cronstrom. The next meeting will be held at the Northrup school, when a demonstration of music by the grade pupils will be given.

Woman's Club Meeting.

On Monday afternoon the Woman's club met at the Commercial club rooms. The opening number was a vocal solo by Mrs. Gay Halvorson, accompanied by Mrs. Harris at the piano and Mrs. A. Holmberg, violin, which was greatly appreciated by all present. Current Events were led by Mrs. A. I. Anderson, assisted by Mrs. Wassgren, Mrs. Schutt and Mrs. G. Halvorson. In the absence of Mrs. J. J. Richter, who had charge of the lesson on "City Government of Thief River Falls," Mrs. Daniel Shaw, president, very ably substituted. This organization, which is recognized as one of the leading clubs in the state, should receive the enthusiastic support of its members and it is hoped that the usual good attendance will continue.

Chapel Program.

The second of a series of entertainments arranged by members of the faculty during high school chapel period was given yesterday. Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher delighted the audience by singing a group of Irish songs, which were generously applauded. Miss Mary Vance appearing in Irish costume presented an Irish folk dance. The program was concluded by Irish duets sung by Mrs. Fisher and Miss Iverson. The latter, who had charge of the program, was also accompanist.

Surprise Party.

A number of the neighbors and friends of Mrs. W. F. Edgar arranged a pleasant surprise for her at her home on Saturday evening, the occasion being the 39th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar. The time was spent socially and at a late hour lunch brought by the guests was served. Those present were Mrs. A. Langseth, Mrs. P. J. Keating, Mrs. O. L. Ihle, Mrs. E. M. Stanton, Mrs. J. Thill, Mrs. W. A. Bishop, Mrs. J. F. Farr, Mrs. R. Mundt, Mrs. Sophie Swanson and Miss Kolberg.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

Owing to the inclement weather on Tuesday, the attendance for membership day of the local W. C. T. U. was unusually small. However, a very good session resulted. Several interesting papers were read on the results of prohibition in other states. Mrs. A. Bottelson offered a vocal solo, with Mrs. C. D. Gustafson as accompanist. At the close of the meeting a fine lunch was served by Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Geo. Biddick.

Party.

Misses Ella and Marian Miller shared honors at a card party given at their home on Duluth avenue south Saturday evening. The guests included Misses Vivian Swift, Esther Johnson, Laura Forde, Ausilga Sorenson, Marian and Ella Miller, and Guy Johnson, Perry Johnson, Ed. Brevig, Roy Miller and Phil Bryant, the latter of Superior, Wis. St. Patrick decorations and appointments were used in the serving of a delicious lunch.

Surprise Birthday Party.

About forty ladies went to the home of Mrs. H. A. Tellow on Wednesday afternoon unannounced, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Tellow. Before the departure of the guests Mrs. Tellow was presented with a handsome library lamp as an indication of their friendship and esteem. A delightful lunch concluded the afternoon's festivities.

Masquerade Dance.

Members of the Elks lodge are looking forward with much pleasant anticipation to the masquerade dance which will be the next big event on the B. P. O. E. social calendar. The dance is to be given on the Monday following Easter. A local five-piece orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

Stag Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Anderson was the scene of a "stag party" on Saturday evening, when their son, Derby, entertained a number of his friends at cards. At midnight a lunch was served by the host's mother, assisted by Miss Gladys Anderson.

Entertains at Cards.

Mrs. F. A. Brown delightfully entertained a few ladies at cards at her home on Saturday evening.

Girls Community Club.

The Girls Community club will meet at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening, March 21. At this time Mrs. Daniel Shaw, president of the Woman's club, will read "An Indian Legend." It is hope that a large number will be present.

Six O'Clock Dinner.

The members of the Pine Tree Patrol, of the local organization of Girl Scouts, with their leader, Miss Margaret Dix, were entertained by Miss Lorraine Crandall at a 6 o'clock dinner at her home on Saturday evening.

Birthday Surprise Party.

Among the successful surprise parties this season was that given for Mrs. Bertha Lonson at her home on Sunday afternoon. The guests, numbering ten, spent the afternoon socially. At six o'clock a sumptuous dinner was served.

Presbyterian Ladies' Aid.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid will be entertained by Mrs. Scott Laird and Mrs. Carl Carlson at the former's home on Friday afternoon, March 25. Lunch will be served promptly at 4 o'clock.

Entertains.

Mrs. John Ward informally entertained at her home on Markley avenue north, Thursday afternoon. The hours were spent in needlework. Light refreshments concluded a very pleasant afternoon.

Entertains Informally.

A number of the neighbors and friends of Mrs. F. H. Herrick were pleasantly entertained at her home on Friday afternoon. A delicious lunch was served at five o'clock.

American Legion Corner

District Box Car Soon Ready.

According to advices received by Elmer Eklund post, La Societe des Forty Hommes et Eight Chevaux is ready to stage an initiation in the Ninth congressional district. Interested Legionnaires are urged to get in touch with Walter Peltoniemi of New York Mills, who has been appointed to represent this district until such time as a Voiture (box car) is established and a district organization formed. The interpretation of the French name is "The Society of Forty Men and Eight Horses." The idea arose from experiences of ex-service men in traveling around France in French box cars or side door Pullmans. It is a secret society and one must be a Legionnaire in good standing in order to hold membership therein.

Only one Voiture is allowed to each congressional district. The initiation fee has been set at $7.50, to include emblem, cap, badge and cost of initiation, banquet and entertainment. State dues of 25 cents and national dues of 25 cents are included in this fee. The object of the organization is to provide change and relaxation from the more serious and realistic work of the American Legion, and to hold Legionnaires together in a great goodfellowship bond.

For Miss Cornforth.

The following item taken from the Crookston Times will be of interest to her many friends here. Miss Cornforth was formerly operator at the local offices of the Western Union Telegraph company:

"In compliment to Miss Evelyn Cornforth, who will leave this evening for Fargo, N. D., where she has accepted a position with the Postal Union Telegraph Co., a very pleasing dinner party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Duval last evening, by Miss Lillian Duval. Places were laid for Miss Cornforth, Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Melby and Mr. Roy Proctor. The evening was passed informally with music providing the principal entertainment.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet on Tuesday afternoon, March 22, at the home of Mrs. Olaf Ramstad, who will be assisted by Mrs. Anna Watson. This is White Ribbon Recruit Day, so all members are urged to attend.

"Service to Country and Comrades."

A special bulletin from the Minnesota department of the Legion makes the statement that the service bureau has been able to clear up nearly nine thousand difficulties for service men, covering matters such as allotments, allowances, back pay, liberty bonds, federal $60 bonus, Minnesota bonus, clothing equipment claims, compensation, vocational training, medical and dental clinics, death claims, travel pay, state tuition bonus, duplicate discharges, war risk insurance reinstatement and conversion, victory medals, French souvenir booklets.

Legion and Auxiliary Social.

A very pleasant social evening was spent at the Commercial club rooms on Tuesday evening when a number of members of the American Legion and their wives, sisters and lady friends were assembled. The guests present numbered about 40 and the hours were spent in a most enjoyable manner with music, games and dancing. At 10 o'clock the refreshment committee served a fine lunch. The meetings in the future will be held at the Masonic hall, the use of which has been donated for that purpose thru the courtesy of the Masonic lodge.

Yngve Found; Goes to Duluth.

Anton Yngve, information as to whose whereabouts was requested through these columns last week, left Thief River Falls on Friday evening for Duluth, where he will receive medical attention at the hands of the U. S. Public Health service. He was formerly a member of the 89th Division, with which he served in the A. E. F. He is at present salesman in this territory for the Deere & Webber company.

Miss Rena Swenson, who is employed at Eveleth, returned Monday to resume her duties after spending several days at the parental home, being called home by the illness of her sister, Miss Hannah, who is greatly improved at this writing.

PROGRAM GOES THROUGH.

Th Minnesota legislature has kept the promises made to farmers before last election by passing all the major measures demanded by agricultural organizations. It took the senate only a short time to put its final approval on the bills already passed by the House, and as Governor Preus has tentatively approved them all there is no question but that his official endorsement will be attached without delay.

While some of these laws may fail to accomplish all that is expected, others will correct certain flagrant defects that have operated to the disadvantage of the farmer for years.

The bill declaring that all boards of trade shall be public markets and stipulating that representatives of co-operative associations shall be permitted to hold memberships in such organizations, will give the producer an opportunity to have a more direct voice in the control and disposition of his products. This will be the effect of the bill, which simply gives the state the right to regulate memberships.

Gambling in futures will be curbed when another bill is signed. This measure was bitterly contested by the grain interests of Minneapolis and Duluth, the claim being that it would be of no avail in helping the farmer and consumer, particularly so long as trading in futures is permitted in other states. This bill is perhaps the most important of the five passed.

The bill providing that Minnesota grading standards for grain shall be revised is of great importance to the farmer. Abuses have, according to farmer representatives, worked to the disadvantage of the producer and in favor of the elevator and milling men, and this condition it is the purpose of the measure to correct. A commission of three senators and three representatives will confer with the United States department of agriculture with a view to securing a revision of the federal grain grading standards.

A constitutional amendment will be submitted to the voters at the next elecion for he purpose of discovering whecher or not they wish to extend the credit of the state in the development of agricultural lands.

All this is progressive legislation and it must be admitted that the legislature has kept faith with the people. The later demanded and were promised passage of these laws and the lawmakers have kept the promise. Only the future can tell what their effect will be, but that all are considered of importance is evidenced by the fact that the Illinois legislature has asked for copies with the evident intention of introducing similar measures in that state.

THE FARM BUREAU.

The Farm Bureau is a business organization of farmers of this nation. The farmers are all agreed that they must have an organization of their own for the purpose of improving marketing conditions, distribution of farm products, storage, rural credits, farm leasing, legislation. Let's take up distribution today.

It is highly essential that a more economical and efficient system for the distribution of agricultural products in Minnesota be devised to the end that needless intermediaries between farm and consumer be eliminated; that the products be marketed in quantity and under conditions which will assure the greatest possible returns to the producer. This implies:

That the existing terminal exchanges in Minnesota which deal in farm products and as yet have not granted membership privileges to farmers' selling associations on equal terms with all other selling agencies holding membership therein be required to do so.

That, in addition to the above, such terminal facilities be provided by co-operative action of producers, either within the state or at export points, as the demands of the trade in farm products require.

That agriculture can only be made permanent and profitable when the producer of food receives the cost of production of his products plus a reasonable profit, and therefore, the prices such producer receives for his products, should have some relation to such cost of production and the means for accomplishing this result should be provided by cooperative action of the producers.

That occurately and fully to know the cost of production of food stuffs, the necessary facilities for a complete and accurate system of accounting of the cost items going into the production of food, should be had and provided.

DO YOU WANT IMMIGRATION?

Does the Minnesota farmer want unrestricted immigration? The state Farm Bureau Federation wants to know, so that it can tell the American Farm Bureau Federation, and help shape the policy of the United States government toward the floods of immigrants clamoring for admission. To inform congress as to the stand of the American farmer on immigration legislation, the national federation has sent out a call for an informal referendum. Write to state headquarters, and tell your federation whether you favor unrestricted immigration, or would prefer restrictions based on an educational test and a law compelling immigrants to report to proper supervising authorities as a means of controlling foreigners after admission. Would you favor laws to distribute immigrants throughout the country according to the districts where their trades or experience would be most valuable. What will be the effect of large immigration on labor supply and wage schedules in America? Is it desirable from the farmer's standpoint to increase our industrial population rapidly? Would it be wise to permit immigration from some nations and prohibit it fro mothers? If immigration is to be restricted, should the restrictive tests be applied by American officials in foreign countries, or after the immigrants reach American ports?

EFFERVESCENCE.

The new broom presented to Warren G. Harding on November 4 is very apparently living up to its proverbial reputation.

Speaking of "pearls before swine"—An Illinois farmer recently found an $800 one between the toes of one of his hogs, tho the animal was not recognizedly of the pearl-bearing variety.

The final blow at the liberties of the male of the species started on its decent when the city of Macon, Georgia, recently passed an ordinance prohibiting flirtations with the fairer sex.

Ninety-nine chances out of a hundred the woman who went over Niagara Falls in a wooden cask never labored over a wooden wash tub in her life.

Doctors of the country by way of [illegible] epidemic of human ailments scheduled to arrive very shortly, might do well to provide themselves with rubber facsimiles of their signature.

In the better circles evening "skirts" for summer wear will be both sleeveless and waistless.

The tidal wave of crime balks not at straws nor bridges—anyway, hard pressed natives in South Dakota stole a three-span wagon bridge.

One man who rested easy with the approach of March 15 was that father of 36 children.

The somewhat of a slump in the market is noticeable, the price of ostrich eggs still remains at several dollars or more a dozen.

From mud dauber in a one-horse town to a salaried man with some $10,000 a year; from a gaukly, spineless, shuffling country boy to a man of ultra refinement, well tailored and correctly poised; from pushing a wheelbarrow to riding in a Jamard limousine; from a shack beside the village dump heap to an establishment in town and one in the country; from single blessedness to a married man with a wife and two children; all in less than a year's time—in the

INTELLIGENCE TEST APPLIED IN SCHOOLS OF THIEF RIVER IS MOST APPROVED METHOD

Endorsed by Educators Everywhere, Plan Provides For Placing Student in the Particular Division Suited to His Mental Development.

"A penetrating scientific survey of the grade ranks, from the second to the eighth grades, and incidentally the high school students, has been completed in the Thief River Falls schools by Supt. W. A. Ziegler.

This work is of the very latest and most up-to-date character. It is being taught in all normal schools and universities everywhere as the only correct way to ascertain the real capacities and abilities of students. Supt. Ziegler studied this work at the university of Minnesota for three years in classes taught by L. D. Coffman, now president of the university; Dr. A. F. Payne, who spoke at the Merchants association banquet last week; Dr. C. A. Prosser, president of Dunwoody Institute, Minneapolis, and others. This survey, as carried out by him, was conducted under advisement by Dean M. E. Haggerty of the College of Education, University of Minnesota. It will therefore be seen that the testing must be considered of an expert nature and of great significance as well as value.

At the request of The Times, Supt. Ziegler has prepared the following general statement and synopsis of findings:

"Before presenting the findings of the grade survey, a little should be said regarding the testing movement in the United States in order that the significance of the work may be the more readily understood. The larger cities of the United States engage a staff whose whole time is devoted to scientific testing. In Minnesota there are comparatively very few schools that have taken it up as exhaustively as has Thief River Falls. Most every school has done a little of the work, however. The state normal school at Moorhead has sent out an invitation to all schools that care to accept, offering to conduct tests for them.

"In an address given in Chicago at the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, by V. A. C. Hennon of the University of Wisconsin, that educator stated that in his extensive study of the results obtained by testing school children, he discovered that 20 to 25 per cent of children are in higher grades than they belong, and 20 to 25 per cent are in lower grades than they belong. The figures for Thief River Falls show that about 15 per cent should be in higher grades and 35 per cent should be in lower grades. In Oakland, Cal., where some of the state tests were used that have been used here, the figures show about the same as for Thief River Falls. If anything, they are better here. The fifth grades here make the poorest showing, while the third grades show up the best. About 25 per cent of all the children are over age for the grade they are in. The remedy for all this is to put all children in the grades where they belong. This is what is being done in all the cities where the tests are given, and the results are very satisfactory. Chilren can learn best in that grade where they can do the work best.

"While many children here are in grades they should not be in, the same thing is found to be true in the very best schools in the country. Our schools are in just as good shape as any of them, but none are in the best shape. Only tests can show up the spots that need attention. Within the very near future testing will be done very generally everywher, for that is the only real way to measure the status of pupils. Every other way is more or less guessing—and there is many a wrong guess.

"Another feature of testing is the placing of pupils in the same classes who learn at the same rate. There are pupils who learn very easily, some for whom it is very hard to learn, and some who are in between. The best results are obtained where pupils of one type only are in one class. It may seem strange, but a little observation will show that those for whom it is hard to learn, and who must therefore study harder, usually become most successful because they have learend to work. Easy learners are apt to idle their time away, and do the same thing when grown up. It is much better to become an adult having learned to work hard, than to grow up having learned to take things easy. The pupils in the seventh and eighth grades have thus been divided into easy learning groups and harder learning groups. It is very interesting to note the hard earnest work of these children. They are learning habits they will not forget.

"Ex-service men know the great amount of this testing that was done in the army. Two million men were thus classified. The results were so largely satisfactory that the movement to test school children the same way is growing very rapidly. Employers of labors are also testing applicants. The old method of epplying for a job is disappearing. In the larger places, now, all applicants must take an intelligence test and are rated accordingly. These scientific tests are here to stay, and Thief River Falls can be considered one of the pioneer locations of the Northwest."

FEDERATION CALLS FOR TWO TRAINS OF CORN FOR STARVING

Every County Asked to Help Women and Children of Stricken Countries.

Two solid train-loads of corn will be the gift of Minnesota farmers to the starving women and children of Europe and Asia, if an appeal sent out by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation is answered.

Assured of free railroad transportation for every carload of grain donated to save the lives of starving women and children abroad, the federation appealed to the 45 leading corn producing counties of the state to load 60 to 70 cars for early shipment. The corn relief movement in Minnesota is part of a nation-wide campaign begun by the American Farm Bureau federation. The first of 3,500,000 bushels already pledged is on the way to the seacoast. A single county in Illinois has loaded 16 cars.

The Minnesota corn counties were urged to set "Corn-Relief" days when all farmers will haul corn to a central railroad point and load it on cars bearing "Farmers' Gift Corn" banners and the name of the county.

"Children are dying by hundreds and thousands in famine stricken regions," says the appeal. "They aren't your children; they aren't Minnesota children; but they are children and they are dying. Corn means life to them and to hundreds of thousands of men and women doomed to die unless help comes. The railroad brotherhoods have donated their time to haul the corn; the railroads have offered cars and engines free. Now it is up to the farmers."

MAINTAINING PLOT FOR SEED POTATOES IS A REQUIREMENT

Stock Cannot be Certified Unless This Provision is Strictly Complied With.

From now on every grower intending to raise potatoes for certification will be required to maintain each year a seed plot large enough to furnish good seed potatoes for his own use or at least obtain seed stock to be grown for certification from some grower who does take such interest in improving and maintaining the productiveness of his potatoes. This requirement is necessary in view of the fact that during the past two years a great deal of variability in productiveness and quality of different "strains" of potatoes grown for certification has been observed. The past performance of a strain is a good indication of what it will do in the future, so that if the strain grown is unsatisfactory it should be disposed of as table stock and a better one obtained. The best time to select potatoes for the seed plot is at digging time, but a start should be made this spring by growers who have not been in the habit of growing such plot.

The seed plot should consist of about one-twelfth of the total acreage grown and may be located at one end of the field, especially if potatoes have not been grown on the field for four or five years. When selecting out of the bin no one can tell whether each individual tuber was produced under a high yielding, vigorous healthy vine, but since weak vines generally produce small potatoes only medium sized smooth potatoes should be saved for the seed plot. This procedure does not necessarily eliminate all undesirable tubers but helps considerably.

Discard for seed all tubers showing rots or brown discolorations within the tuber or the stem end as well as all those that are knobby and irregular in shape. Disinfect all tubers with the standard corrosive-sublimate solution, for such diseases as scab, black scurf (Rhizoctonia) and blackleg. After disinfecting the potatoes put them in clean bins, sacks, baskets or other containers to avoid contamination.

After the potatoes have been planted keep the weeds down and give the plot a little extra attention in the matter of cultivation, spraying and inspection for undesirable plants, which should be removed so that when digging time comes a first-class crop of seed potatoes can be harvested for next year's field intended for certification.

What Do We Mean
---Thrift!

Most of us have a hazy, indefinite idea as to the meaning of thrift. Thrift, is nothing more nor less than the use of good judgment in the spending of money.

Waste and extravagance are the enemies of thrift. Sensible spending and a savings account at the Citizens State Bank are enemies of waste and extravagance.

Postponement of Building Operations Is No Longer Justified

No matter how you figure you cannot arrive at the conclusion that money may be saved by staving off that delayed building program any longer. On the other hand, it does not take much of a phophet to see where you will surely lose money in so doing.

Lumber Is Down in Price

In fact, it has reached a point where there must be a reaction. Mills are today selling their product at less than the cost of production. Any person at all conversant with conditions will tell you this is so. No great amount of timber has been cut this winter, the prospect of a drop in lumber prices having the effect of making manufacturers hold back. A shortage will hit the country one of these days and prices may advance even beyond points reached toward the close of the war.

The Claim Is Reasonable

If conditions are noted, it must be apparent to any observant person that money may be saved by buying now. We will prove it to you if given the opportunity.

A Dangerous Spot.

Editor Times:

To W. A. Barnard, superintendent Soo Line; City Council of Thief River Falls and School Board of Independent District No. 18: In regard to Mr. Barnard's communication in The Times last week dealing with the danger of permitting school children to use the railway tracks in going to and from school, will say that I agree with him fully that this is a very dangerous practice. I would say further that the Eighth street crossing is also very dangerous and think something should be done by the proper authorities to make it safe, not only for school children, but for all users. There have been several narrow escapes at this place. I have two children who cross there four times a day and do not care to lose them because no safeguard has been provided. I have already lost one child through the neglect of the authorities. March 15. authorities.

WAS BARELY ABLE TO MOVE HIS ARMS

St. Paul Man Overcomes Rheumatism by Taking Tanlac. Feels Splendid Now.

"Tanlac certainly is the medicine to take all the aches and pains out of a fellow and make him feel like something," said Robert Trotter, of 148 State St., St. Paul, Minn.

"I've only taken two bottles of the medicine but am already feeling like a different man. Over a year ago my appetite went back on me and my stomach got out of order and I began to go down hill. Everything I ate soured on my stomach and bloated me until I could scarcely breathe, and I had the most awful pains in the pit of my stomach. Then I commenced having rheumatism in my arms and shoulder blades and in damp weather I could hardly move my arms at all. I got to where I couldn't sleep and was just about down and out.

"Well I noticed in the papers where Tanlac had helped so many people in St. Paul that I decided to give it a trial. All my aches and pains have disappeared, I have a fine appetite and my stomach is in first-class condition. I also sleep well and get up feeling just fine."

WALTER MILLER DOWNS CAL FARLEY TWICE IN LOS ANGELES MATCH

Walter Miller of Los Angeles, former middle-weight wrestling champion, threw Cal Farley of Minneapolis, winner of the welter wrestling championship of the A. E. F. and of the inter-Allied armies, in two straight falls at Los Angeles on the night of March 11.

Miller won the first fall in 1 hour, 1 minutes and 25 seconds, with a head scissor and a double wrist lock, and the second fall in 15 minutes and 47 seconds with a head lock and arm-hold.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

GOPHER STATE BUREAUS MAKE GREAT STRIDES

Start New Year With Membership of 53,282 and More Rapid Growth Promised.

Worked on 1191 Projects Out of 1272 Planned During the Same Period.

Value of Products Handled Thru Bureaus Over $1,700,000 in 46 Counties.

Striking progress was made in 1920 by the Minnesota farm bureaus, according to the annual report of F. E. Balmer, state leader of county agents. The membership in county bureaus had grown from 26,136 in 1918 to 53,282 on January 1, 1921. Sixty-six counties of the state have adopted the $5 a year continuous membership plan and seven additional counties will do so soon.

The report says that the 82 co-operating bureaus of the state worked upon 1,191 projects in 1920, the grand total of all projects planned for the year having been 1,273. In addition to farm projects, 26 counties included home economic activities in their programs and 71 counties included boys' and girls' club work. Fifty-eight counties published a Farm Bureau News or similar publication and 37 issued an exchange list.

Value of Cooperation.

To summarize a few of the many great achievements of the year it can be said that 138 drainage systems, involving 17,378 acres, were planned and adopted in 26 counties. In 72 counties 1,026 farmers co-operated in growing 4462 additional acres of alfalfa. The acreage of sweet clover was increased by the co-operation of 677 farmers in 57 counties to 6,402 acres.

Some splendid results are reported in the movement for better sires and better classes of livestock. In 71 counties 1,220 registered bulls were procured and in 61 counties 1,607 registered boars were added to swine herds. Fifty-nine counties reported additions of 1,885 registered cows and 46 counties added 1491 high grade cows. In 27 counties 619 cows were discarded as unprofitable as a result of cow-testing association work. Twenty-nine associations were in operation with 10,042 cows under test. In 56 counties 1,240 farmers were assisted in balancing rations for livestock; in 49 counties 1,201 silos were erected. In 57 counties 24,062 animals were tested for tuberculosis, and in 32 counties 25,924 hogs were vaccinated for hog cholera control.

Big Saving Effected.

The value of farm products sold or exchanged through farm bureau service during 1920 amounted to $1,701,533 in 46 counties. In 52 couties the farm bureaus and county agents gave assistance to the work of 819 associations, previously in operation, which transacted a volume of business amounting to $40,665,868 and effected a saving of $1,603,383.

FRENCH AGAIN CHOSEN AS SECRETARY OF FEDERATION

F. L. French was re-elected secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation at the closing session of the executive board meeting on Friday, March 11 at the Old Capitol. Mr. French has been with the federation since it became a permanent organization and his present term expires on April 1. Mr. French formerly was agricultural agent in Redwood county and has been connected with agricultural extension work and farm bureau activities for several years.

New Solum Election.

The township election held at the Prichard school building last Tuesday resulted in the re-election of all previous officers, save that of assessor, to which office was elected L. L. Furan, to take the place of Olof Opseth, whose name was not on the ticket. The following officers are now in charge: Clerk, John Halvorson; supervisors, Alex Hellquist, B. P. Sagmoen and E. A. Silverness, chairman; Justice of the peace, Olof Opseth, constables, Selmer Haugen and T. C. Eide; treasurer, P. Sorenson. The overseer for the Rosewood district is Anton Gullseth.

GREAT SHOWING BY WOOLSON GUERNSEY HERD DURING TEST

Balanced Ration and Study of Results Responsible For Fine Showing Made.

What is conceded to be one of the best milk and butter-fat records ever established by a dairy herd in this section is that of the Silverton Guernsey herd owned by Harry Woolson, well-known dairyman. Careful attention to properly balanced rations for the milking herd is held as responsible for their great production. It is the same herd shown last fall at four county fairs in Northwestern Minnesota and the North Dakota state fair in addition to the Pennington county fair held here. In each instance honors and ribbons were shared with the Guernsey herd of F. B. Conklin, also a resident of this county.

The test was made by officials from the College of Agriculture of the University of Minnesota, feeding and records being checked each month. It is the first official annual test to be completed in the county. The prize Guernsey herd owned by Albert Johnson of Thief River Falls is being likewise tested at the present time. The records established by Mr. Woolson's herd are as follows:

Stranford's Governante No. 46206, 9,730 lbs. milk. 514 lbs. fat. Class A. A. Requirements for entry, 360 lbs. fat. Average test 5.3.

Kelly's Lady of Belleview No. 48,019. 9,387 lbs. milk. 450.06 lbs. fat. Class A. A. Requirements for entry 360 lbs. fat. Average test 4.8.

Rose Masher of Silverton No. 61,037. 9,822.9 lbs. milk. 457.42 lbs. fat. Class C. C. Requirements for entry 330.80 fat. Average test 4.7.

Glendora of Geneva No. 66,761. 9,668.1 lbs. milk. 512.40 lbs. fat. Class C. C. Requirements for entry 330.80 lbs. fat. Average test 5.3.

Dolly of Silverton No. 26,006. 9,818.90 lbs. milk. 506.23 lbs. fat. Required for entry 360 lbs. Average test 5.4.

Total made into butter, lbs. 2,928.77
Average butter per cow, lbs. 585.74

These cows were entered in the double letter or farmer class. They were fed and milked twice daily. Each dropped two calves during the year and was given a dry period of four weeks. For roughage in winter they were fed all the alfalfa hay they would eat up clan and about 50 pounds of corn silage daily. In summer they were paced on clover and wild pasture. In addition in both winter and summer each cow was allowed for every pound of five per cent milk produced, an average of three pounds per day of a mixture made as follows: 300 pounds of oats, 150 pounds of ground barley, 100 pounds of bran, 80 pounds of wheat middlings and 25 pounds of oilmeal. The average cost of this ration was three cents per pound, that of hay $25.00 per ton and of silage $5.00 per ton.

The test was conducted under the average farm conditions; no forced feeding methods being employed. In tests that have been conducted throughout Minnesota, the average of butter fat produced per cow has been 170 pounds. Mr. Woolson's herd averaged 487.82 pounds per cow.

LEGISLATURE STOPS GAMBLING IN GRAIN

Measure Demanded by Farmers Passed by Overwhelming Vote of 101 to 18.

Minnesota farmers won another legislative victory when the lower house passed the bill to prohibit short selling of grain and other farm products. The victory was overwhelming, with only 18 votes against the measure and 101 for it.

"The farmers of Minnesota, by voicing their opinions have played the biggest part in the decisive action of the house" L. E. Potter, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, said: "They asked the legislature to pass a measure to stop short selling of grain and other farm products and at the same time protect hedging. The house has responded to the wishes of the farmers."

The results of the farm bureau federation's statewide referendum on the bill, showing the farm bureaus of 62 counties virtually solid in support of the measure, were laid before every member of the house a few hours before the measure came up for passage. Speakers upholding the bill stressed the fact brought out by the referendum, that "60,000 farmers know what they want; there's no guessing about it—they know."

The farm bureau referendum was the first ever taken in the state to ascertain the actual stand of the rural population on a matter pending before the legislature.

Why Higher Telephone Rates Are Necessary in Minnesota

The money obtained from the sale of our service must be sufficient to pay all expenses and leave a fair return on the money invested, if we are to meet the reasonable requirements of the public for telephone service.

Enough money can be obtained only by charging sufficient rates for the service furnished.

If present rates are continued in Minnesota, this Company will sustain a loss of more than a million dollars this year in the state. Our stockholders would have to stand this loss and, in addition, nothing would be earned to pay dividends on the money invested.

This Company requires an average of three million dollars each year in the state to provide additional telephone facilities for the public. Investors will not supply the necessary new money each year unless the business is earning a fair return.

VACATION

Here is our Easter vacation to relieve us from school for a whole week. How are you going to spend it? Why do we have vacation? Is it so we may indulge in sports of all kinds to our hearts content while we haven't any lessons to prepare, or is it a time when we can release our minds from our studies and partake in both play and rest? To which class do you belong? If you were to stop to think for a minute, which path would you take?

All work and no play makes Jack a very dull boy. That answers the question, why do we have vacation, but it does not answer how it should be spent. All rest and no play will leave a lazy feeling and all play and no rest will make it worse. Thereby a balanced vacation of work, play and reading is the most preferable.

Traditions! Traditions you say! What are they? Such things really have existed in our dear old Lincoln High, but now who could enumerate them? They are being forgotten, one by one, until the present day when the majority of our student body knows nothing about the traditions begun by our alumni away back in the early days of our Lincoln high. Is it because we do not love old Lincoln high as our alumni did that we have forgotten the traditions, or is it simply negligence on our part?

Surely we love our school, so why not be as considerate of these things as the students of former days, who hoped that their traditions might never be forgotten? First and above all traditions are the high school colors, red and blue, to which both big and small should stick like glue. Next in line is the school song and then the high school yells and so on, including the Junior and Senior banquet, which was begun in the year of nineteen hundred thirteen, and also the pennants left by every senior class since the class of nineteen hundred four. So "pep" up, students, of our old Lincoln high, and above all be loyal to the traditions given us, and make sure that we leave as many if not more, to our followers.

Attention, Alumni.

Dear Alumnus:

Can we count on you?

The 1921 Prowler without a doubt will be the very best and brightest annual ever published by our high school. The Staff has been working steadily forward toward a goal far in advance of that set by our predecessors. We have made a special attempt to make the annual your annual as well as ours and we feel without a doubt that it will meet your highest expectations.

Though smaller in size it healthily was up to the old proverb, "Good things come in small packages." The price has been reduced accordingly and at one dollar you simply can't afford to be without one. Without question it is one of the very best investments you can make—you can't afford to let the opportunity slip thru your fingers.

We wish your subscription now so as to be able to know how many copies it will be necessary to publish in order to meet the demand.

Your subscription is desired and we assure you that the 1921 Prowler will meet all the requirements of the best and brightest annual ever produced in our dear old high.

Mail one dollar immediately to the undersigned and your subscription will be given our immediate attention. Act—and do it now.

Farm Credit.

An interesting talk was delivered to the Farm Management class, last Thursday morning, by Mr. W. L. Cabert of the extension division of the University of Minnesota, on the topic of "Farm Credit," the theme being, "too much credit instead of not enough."

Mr. Cabert maintained that credit was a very essential part of the farmers' business, insofar that he knows when and how to use it. When receiving credit the farmer should invest it in the interest of a cause that will give the largest returns, that is invest it properly within the realm of his own business. As an example of this Mr. Cabert stated that an inexperienced man with little capital might lose quite heavily in the in- he had bought cheaper cattle his loss would be diminished proportionately and therefore be less pronounced.

In concluding Mr. Cabert advised that a man making a second mortgage on a loan should have it cover a period of at least ten years, in order that he be safe in its payment, and if a large loan is made it should be with the Federal Farm Loan because under the working scheme of this organization the principle is diminished proportionately year after year from the time it is made until the date set for expiration, usually from about fifteen or twenty to about thirty-three years, the later being the most common.

Honor Roll.

The following are the honor roll students for February:

Seniors — Marguerite DeCremer, Ruth Hadrath, Dreng Bjornaraa, Betsy Ness, Adolph Sundrud and Benny Lind.

Juniors—Bertha Aasehy, Johanna Wedul, Julia Langaas, Boletta Sandon, Ingaborg Borstad and Alice Bredeson.

Sophomores — Lorrayne Crandall, Lucille Curtiss, Pearl Weeks, Lydia Dahlen, Borghild Wallen and Ole Helle.

Freshmen—Marie Paulson, Mildred Peterson, Alice Gobler, Herbert Keene, Gladys Russell, Margaret Melgaard, Ruby Conklin and Albert Stengelson.

Gopher Candy Sale.

A candy sale was held Thursday at the close of school by the Gopher patrol of the Girl Scouts.

Such candy sales are being planned to be staged at intervals of every two weeks.

High School Song Wanted.

Have you started writing for the school song contest? If not, let's get started and show the school what we can do. The school has been in need of a song for some time and a few of the students have taken it upon themselves to conduct a contest in order that an appropriate song, set to stirring music will be produced and kept for all times.

Let's all get busy and produce the Realization.

Have you subscribed for the 1921 Prowler? If you have not, you had better, in order that you may be positive of your copy. The 1921 Prowler has met a great many obstacles in its production but the seniors have been very optimistic and have surmounted every one.

One of the greatest obstacles that was run into was the necessity of cutting our annual down to 60 pages. But what our book lacks in quantity will doubly be made up in quality. As the old saying goes, "good things come in small packages," so our annual is being published.

The annual, although being smaller than those of former years, is made up of the things that really make an annual, and all things that are merely space fillers are cut out.

One of the big features of the 1921 Prowler is its picture and kodak department. The pictures of every class, society and club of the school are included. The kodak and snap department are full of good snappy pictures that will interest all persons who are directly or indirectly connected with the school. The alumni department has been especially taken care of this year and is anticipated as being the best department of the book and has been improved a great deal over alumni departments of previous years.

The price of the annual this year has been cut almost in two, due to the cut in size and will be sold for $1.00 the copy. Send all subscriptions to "Business Manager of the 1921 Prowler."

Central Notes.

Last Friday the 7th grade of the Central School took a try-out examination in geography. This examination was questions that were taken from previous exams. The results were very good.

On March 18 the 8th grade will have an annual party. Games are to form the chief amusement and refreshments are to be served. The students look forward to this as a big success and are expecting to have an enjoyable time.

On Thursday, March 17, the students of the 7th and 8th grades will observe St. Patrick's day. At the regular singing period both grades will take part in the singing of Irish folk-songs.

Those students having a perfect attendance for the month of February in the 7th grade are:

Garlin Adkins, Mary Alexander, Clarence Dahle, Altha Gabrielson, Noami Henoiks, Edna Hovin, Helen Jacobson, Elmyra Langseth, Harvey Patten, Millicent Sweger, Elsie Vorseth, Thorston Williamson, Mabel Johnson, Loretta Mulry, Melvina Ruprecht.

Violin Solos Rendered.

The second of a series of programs, which are arranged for each Wednesday chapel period by a member of the faculty, was given March 9, with Mrs. August Holmberg of this city appearing as violinist.

To the student in need of relaxation nothing is so refreshing and so agreeable as good music, and everyone must admit that the violin, in the hands of an artist, is the king of musical instruments. Mrs. Holmberg played several selections, which were appreciatively received by an attentive audience.

The success of these programs is proven by the great interest and attentiveness on the part of the students. The originators of the idea are to be highly commended, and it is to be hoped the custom will long be continued.

Thief River Wins Second.

The Thief River Falls High School basket ball team won second honors at the district tournament held at Crookston March 11 and 12, where they met the fast Fosston quint in the second game of the series. The game was a fast one and ended with a score of 26 to 16 in Fosston's favor.

The first few minutes of play both teams showed up equally strong, which greatly pleased the spectators, the first quarter ending with a score of 4 to 3 in Thief River's favor.

In the second quarter Fosston came back strong, geting three baskets in a few minutes time. By this time the T. R. F. team had found themselves and began to increase their score and at the end of the first half the teams left the floor with Fosston leading by a score of 20 to 9. This, however, did not lessen the spirit of the local boys and they came back on the floor for the last twenty minutes of play with a determination to fight for the championship. But Fosston was in perfect shape and began their usual sensational playing and continued in the lead to the end of the game.

Fossum is credited with three field goals; Ralston made 6 out of 7 free throws and 1 field goal. Sorenson also secured 1 field basket.

The Fosston players are a fast team and rightly deserve the district championship and we wish them the best of luck at Carleton. However, the Thief River Falls team won second place, as no other team which played the champs at the tourney scored as many points on them as the local quint.

The lineup was as follows:

T. R. F.		Fosston
Ralston	lf	Tygerson
LaBree	rf	Solberg
Fossum	c	Hanson
Sorenson	lg	Carlson
Herron	rg	Olson

McDaniel substituted for Fossum for the second quarter, Fossum coming back in the game at the start of the second half. Sundahl substituted for LaBree during the last half of the game.

Solberg started for Fosston, making 8 free throws and 4 field goals. Tygerson made 5 field goals and Olson is also credited with 5 field baskets. Olson substituted for Hanson, Johnson for Olson and Mittum for Tygerson during the last half of the game. The final score was 36 to 16 in Fosston's favor.

The final game of the series was fought out between Fosston and McIntosh with the result of a decided victory for Fosston over their last opponents in the district, with a score of 38 to 8. This accredited Fosston with the championship of the Ninth District, for which each of our neighboring high school teams have been working.

Dr. Payne Speaks.

Wednesday afternoon, March 9, the high school students were unexpectedly called together and were greatly pleased when, upon entering the assembly, they were informed that Dr. Arthur F. Payne, dean of the department of trade and industry at the University of Minnesota, was to address them.

Dr. Payne was in the city by request of the Merchants association. He favored the high school with a similar visit a year ago, and the students were delighted to listen to this instructive and entertaining speaker again. Dr. Payne speaks from experience and observation and has a message to bring to every high school boy and girl by which they may profit.

The keynote of his talk was "Efficiency and Integrity," the motto of our school. "The thing that strikes me the most in regard to high school students," he said, "is that you have a great burden of responsibility to accept, this by virtue of the fact that souls. This is a wonderful period of opportunity for the aspiring young person, but we must, however, consider the fact that a great majority of the nation's youth has not the opportunity to attend high school or any other higher institution of learning. Some people lack the native ability, while a great number do not have a chance for various other reasons. The responsibility therefore rests on those who are capable of carrying it."

Dr. Payne, who has traveled a great deal in the states and also in foreign countries, stated that Minnesota has one of the finest educational systems in the country, ranking second only to that of Utah. It is therefore essential that we make use of this fact and prepare ourselves for the tasks that are before us; for the country needs us more than ever before. He had recently been in New York, where he had observed the steady and enormous tide of immigrants coming into this country. "It is to me," he said, "one of the greatest and most important problems that this nation has to contend with and must eventually solve, that it may continue in its present rate of development. You, the Americans of today, must Americanize these immigrants and by your own actions and attitude show the real American spirit and the ideals for which we stand." He put particular emphasis, and impressed strongly, the three marked and apparent factors in civilization. First, the application of scientific knowledge to all forms of activities. One of the most striking and profound examples of this is the mental tests, by which it is possible in a very simple way to ascertain a person's ability in using his mind. It has done more to develop and increase efficiency than any other invention. The second influence is the adoption of scientific methods in doing everything, as for instance in the modern educational system.

Thirdly, he mentioned the development of a scientific attitude of mind in individuals. This is one of the essential factors in the ability to look at all sides of everything, that is, to be able to see both sides of every question. It determines to a great extent a person's success at the university.

"All this may be brought together and condensed into "efficiency," which means to do things in the right way, both in regard to the services we perform for society and what we accomplish for ourselves. To promote our efficiecy it is necessary that we take good care of our body and mind, that we may be capable of doing our best. Integrity, which is closely allied to the preceding statement, means to be true to oneself.

There are two kinds of fools, the natural born fool and the fool who fools himself, the latter of whom is far the worse off. Honesty to ourselves makes it selfevident that we must be honest to others, and to do the right thing in the right way.

At the present time there is necessity of sane and efficient leadership, for which the student of today should equip himself. It is interesting to note, and it may act as an impetus to some ambitious youths, the fact most of the leaders of our nation came from the smaller towns.

As a conclusion Dr. Payne again emphasized the fact that we have a great burden of responsibility, which is to make the best use of ourselves in everything we do.

Speeches of this type are highly educational as it is the expression of ideas and thoughts of living men of learning and experience.

Coach Entertains.

A. Tommeraasen entertained the high school basket ball team on Tuesday evening at his home. The evening was spent in playing progressive whist, after which a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Tommeraasen and Miss Whipps. Those who attended were: Mr. Tripp, Hugh McDaniel, Bernard Sandahl, Elmer Larson, Allan Fossum, Charles Herron, Milford LaBree, Stanley Sorenson and Forest Ralston.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

THREE MORE GAMES WON BY EKLUND POST INVINCIBLES; MINOT AND FOSSTON BEATEN

North Dakota Champions Go Down in Sensational Series After Putting Up Stiffest Battles Thus Far Experienced by the Locals—Fosston Easy.

A brand of basket ball different from any ever seen here was played at the auditorium on Thursday and Friday nights, when the Thief River Falls Legion team met and twice defeated the Independents of Minot, 32 to 28 and 23 to 18. This is the first series the Independents, who are claimants of the North Dakota Independent championship, have lost to any team played this season. While the crowd which turned out to witness the first game apparently took up all available floor space, the nature of the game brought out many more on Friday evening, when over 650 persons were assembled.

Both games were fast to the extreme. The second was sensationally so, the visitors, by methods of their own, having thoroughly antagonized both local team and audience on the previous to such an extent as to remove almost entirely the element of sportsmanship from the playing of both quints. The climax was reached on Friday night, when but for the fact that the Independents carried but five men it would have been necessary to remove one of their players because of his long string of personal fouls. Great elation over the two victories, which would have been present had the clash been of a more wholesome nature, was noticeably lacking.

First Half Easily Taken.

Carlson opened Thursday night's game with the neatest of field goals made within the half minute following the toss up. The five minutes of play that followed developed some real tussling as the players felt out their men, but passes and goal shots were noticeably erratic. That part of the game which followed was entirely to the credit of the locals. Carlson scored a point on Worner's technical, following it up with a ball caged after a pass from Holzknecht and another successful free throw on Hayes' technical. Holzknecht dropped the ball into the net, but in doing do traveled with the pigskin, giving the men from North Dakota a free throw. Hayes failed to make it. Thief River's score went to 12 with a basket made by Hadrath from the center of the field, two free throws in rapid succession made by Carlson and a successful goal shot by Holzknecht. The half was well gone before Minot scored four points with goal shots on the part of Emanuel and Worner, which took place in 30 seconds time. Hadrath's goal shot from the center line was followed by his team taking time out, after which LaBree entered the game in Kiland's place. During the remaining two minutes Carlson took one more point on a free throw and two on a field basket. The half closed at 18 to 4 in favor of the home men.

Worner's Shooting Phenomenal.

Emanuel of the visitors took the ball on the toss up at the outset of the second half and plopped it into the circle with nice precision. Hadrath scored a goal at a time when he had the center of the field to himself and Worner took two more points for the opposition. Johnson went in to replace LaBree, who failed to get into action to any noticeable extent, after five minuts of play. Carlson's successful shot from the field was followed by several minutes of heated playing which resulted in poor shots on the part of both quints. The mixing that followed Emanuel's second nicely netted ball was of the straight-from-the-shoulder variety, which allowed the making of but one basket and that by Carlson. Hayes failed to cage the ball on Johnson's personal foul and the latter redeemed himself by scoring with a clean-cut goal from the field. Minot's stock started on the up-grade immediately thereafter when Worner, right forward, dropped the sphere fair through the hoop three times in two minutes. Carlson missed a free throw for the first time during the game and Hadrath took his fourth field basket. A touch of comedy entered the battling when a wild scrambling ensued directly under Minot's goal and the ball, striking McGinn on the head, bounced off and through the hoop without other assistance. Bonynge and Worner made the hoop, as did Johnson, all in rapid succession. If such were possible, the mixing that followed was wilder than ever, Hadrath taking another two points to his credit and Emanuel, Bonynge and Hayes adding six to the mounting score of the Dakota five. The latter named took time out once at the 18 minute mark and once at the 19th. There was no further scoring and the game closed with a score of 32 to 28 in Thief River's favor.

Worner easily copped the honors for the visitors, with his somewhat uncanny basket shooting. Emanuel's work was good, as was that of Hayes and and the guarding of Bonynge. The latter resorted continually to long and chancey basket shooting, making no less than 12 failures of that nature during the game. Carlson starred for the city Legionnaires. Holzknecht and Johnson as usual played a good and consistent game. McGinn's guarding was exceptional and Hadrath showed good form in making his goals.

Minot		T. R. F.
Worner	R.F.	Carlson
Bonynge	L.F.	Kiland
Greenfield	C.	Hadrath
Hayes	R.G.	Holzknecht
Emanuel	L.G.	McGinn

Johnson substituted for Kiland and LaBree.

Minot scoring: Field goals—Worner, 6, Emanuel 4, Bonynge 2, Hayes 1, by a fluke 1. Hayes missed four free throws.

Thief River scoring: Field goals—Carlson 5, Hadrath 5, Johnson 2, Holzknecht 1. Carlson made 6 out of 7 free throws.

Second Game Harder Fought.

Both teams returned to the fray on Friday night in apparent good form despite the strenuous action of twenty-four hours previous, and playing immediately became speedy and rough. Carlson, Thief River forward, made two out of three free throws granted during the first five minutes. The score was tied when Bonynge at the end of that time made the net by long shooting. Five minutes more and the score had gone to the locals favor with baskets made by Hadrath, Carlson and McGinn. Greenfield meanwhile made two points for his team. Hadrath's basket taken several minutes later, was followed by the most striking play of the game, that when Carlson cleverly eluded his guards and made the hoop from the center of the field. The score of the visitors went to seven points with a field goal made by Bonynge, whose long shots met with better results than in Thursday night's game, and a free throw successfully made by Hayes. Carlson took two free throws to his credit; Hayes for the opposition took one on Kiland's personal; Worner made the hoop from the field and the half was over. The score stood at 14 to 9.

Lose by Rough Stuff.

Hayes, Minot guard, early in the second half cleared the hoop in a remarkable shot from the opposite end of the floor. Carlson missed a free throw granted on a personal. A little later Johnson, who entered the second half in Kiland's stead, took the ball on a toss up, snapped it to Carlson who was in an advantageous position, and the Thief River stock went up two points. What followed approached fighting and resulted in the calling of a string of personal fouls. Carlson made 4 out of 6 free throws; Hayes missed one and Worner made one. Greenfield meanwhile made two field goals for the Independents. The quints pursued the pigskin swiftly from one end of the field to the other following long-distance tries for the baskets, which resulted in Holzknecht scoring once. Bonynge immeditely neutralized the two points however. Kiland went in for Hadrath in the last few minutes of playing, during which time Carlson made another free throw. The game was taken by the city quint on a margin of but five points.

A noticeable feature of the second game was that the visiting team failed to successfully put in operation their criss-cross play on a tip off from the toss up, which had worked so nicely on the previous night. Greenfield redeemed his colorless playing of the first game by his interference and basket shooting. Carlson if anything played a better game than ever. Otherwise honors remained much in the same quarters.

The line-up was the same for both games, Johnson subing for Kiland and Kiland for Hadrath.

Minot scoring: Field goals—Bonynge 3, Greenfield 3, Hayes 1, Worner 1; free throws—Hayes 1 out of 3, Worner 1.

Thief River scoring: Carlson 3, Hadrath 2, McGinn 1, Holzknecht 1; Carlson made 9 out of 15 free throws.

Perry Johnson refereed both games. L. H. Lawrence acted as umpire for the second. The eighth grade and freshmen teams furnished amusing preliminaries, and the city band turned out for both occasions.

The Fosston Legion team was easily defeated in a game played on Wednesday night. The visitors failed to put up the class of opposition that has been met with in the more recent clashes staged here and the locals, with one or two exceptions, never one got into their stride of Thursday and Friday nights.

Carlson played a game outstanding so clearly from start to finish as to be classed as the season's sensation. Playing a great deal of the first half practically alone, he took nine field goals to his credit, shutting out entirely the Fosston five. The latter quint played to hard luck and lost two baskets after the ball had seemingly entered the net. The second half offered a little more excitement, with both teams entering the struggle more wholeheartedly. The blue and white resorted to long tries for the goal because of defense put up by the Thief River men against which the former quint's efforts made little impression, ragged as it was. Movold took two nice baskets as a result of these tactics. The Larsons also scored from the field and Wynne made a free throw. Carlson took 4 more field baskets, Hadrath 3 and Kiland 3. Hadrath was carried from the floor following a crash in which he received a blow in the chest, and was replaced by LaBree. Johnson played the second half in a fast way and Holzknecht showed bursts of speed. The final score was 38 to 11.

Fosston		T. R. F.
Wynne	R.F.	Carlson
R. Larson	L.F.	LaBree
P. Larson	C.	Hadrath
Movold	R.G.	Holzknecht
Granum	L.G.	McGinn

Johanson replaced P. Larson during the third quarter. Kiland substituted for LaBree in the second quarter, Johnson for McGinn in the third and fourth, Kiland went back in for LaBree in the same, and LaBree returned in Hadrath's position following the latter's injury.

Stephen Promises Hard Come-Back Next Season

The following, which was clipped from the Stephen Messenger of Mar. 4, would indicate that that village is somewhat wrought up over the fact that the Sephen high school basket ball quint was barred from the district basket ball tournament and competition for the state high school championship:

"Stephen High will be represented at the district basket ball tournament held at Crookston tonight and tomorrow, but the members of her all-star quint will be there as spectators only because of a ruling of the state conference authorities which approved the action of the district authorities in barring Stephen from participation in the district tournament. This action is the outgrowth of charges preferred against the Stephen team by the Thief River Falls organization last year. The charges were that a member of last year's team (district champions) had smoked cigarettes following a game at Thief River. They failed to keep Stephen out of last year's tournament, where the boys won the district title by decisive victories over Fosston and Thief River Falls in the best exhibition of basket ball ever staged on the Crookston armory floor. But this year the charges were revived when it became evident that our boys appeared as the strongest team in the district and seven teams again asked that Stephen be barred from the tournament. They are Argyle, Warren, Crookston, Thief River Falls, Fosston and others. The boys quite naturally are keenly disappointed, justifiably so when it is considered that the single circumstance upon which the charge against them was based was entirely beyond their control. But they'll be back in the fight next year and they say it's going to take something more than 'baby stuff' on the part of their opponents to keep them from a championship then."

OBITUARY

Oscar A. Bishop.

Oscar A. Bishop, residing on a farm one mile southeast of the city limits, died at his home Sunday morning. Mr. Bishop had been ailing for the past two years, although his trouble was of such a nature that it caused no serious alarm. On Saturday evening he retired, apparently in usual health but during the night was forced to sit up because of difficulty in breathing. His condition continued to grow worse and death came quietly while he was seated in a chair at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Tuberculosis, resulting from influenza two years ago, is given as the cause of death. Deceased was born at Henderson, N. Y., Feb. 16, 1817. As a youth he went west, settling at Blue Earth, later engaging in the hardware business for a period of 35 years. He was also postmaster at that place for a number of years. In 1906 he came to Thief River Falls and conducted a meat market in company with George Elder, in the building now occupied by Rolland's store. He later moved to St. Paul, engaging in the real estate business there and returning to this city in 1915, where he has since made his home. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and one son, Arthur, of Milwaukee. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon and interement made at Greenwood cemetery. Rev. R. L. Barackman of the Presbyterian church, officiated.

Louden Senior Carrier
Louden Power Hoist

Louden Senior Carrier Draws the load right up close to track, drags it over beams and puts it where you want it every time. Large roller bearing pulley wheels — less wear on rope. Will outlast the barn.

Louden Power Hoist Elevates load, draws it into mow, pulls back empty carrier for next load. All slack rope taken up—eliminates wear on rope. Takes place of team.

Louden Balance Grapple Fork Handles clover, alfalfa or straw as perfectly as timothy—picks up half a ton and grips it tight, drops it exactly where you want it.

Beat the Weather Man to It

You count yourself mighty fortunate when you can put up one whole cutting of hay without a drop of rain on it. While we cannot offer you anything that will make you absolutely independent of the weather man in hay time—we do have a complete line of the famous quality made Louden Hay Tools that will come the nearest to it of anything we know of.

We can fit you out with a hay tool combination that will not only speed up hay making but an outfit you can absolutely depend on to finish any job it starts — with no delay—no running to town to replace broken parts right in the middle of a busy day—when every hour counts so much in saving the crop.

LOUDEN
Hay Unloading Tools

Go out from the factory with a positive guarantee that they are quality built, that they work easily, continuously—that they will uphold every claim we make for them — and more.

With Louden Hay Carriers, Forks, Slings and Power Hoists you can pick up from a half ton to a ton at a time, carry it and drop it exactly where wanted, either on the stack or in the loft. One man on the wagon, one man in the loft or on the stack and a boy at the hoist is all you need for unloading.

Haying is a race between you and the weather. A half day gained may save many a ton of valuable hay and it doesn't take much hay to buy a complete Louden outfit of the biggest capacity. Don't put this off — let us show you these time savers and give you a catalog describing the full line of Louden Labor-Saving Barn Equipment.

Small Profits Per Sale

THE last link in the chain between the oil well and your car is the filling station where you buy your gasoline or the tank wagon which delivers it to your home.

From refinery, to tank wagon or filling station, to consumer, the business of manufacturing and marketing gasoline is conducted on a basis of selling many gallons at a price which gives only a small profit per gallon.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) applies this principle in the conduct of its business.

The ideal of this Company is to manufacture a gasoline of uniformly high quality, to sell it at a price which will permit of universal use, and to maintain a system of distribution so comprehensive as to make it available everywhere.

Only an organization great in ability, and great in size, can give such a service as that provided by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The tremendous volume of business it enjoys has been won through efficiency plus the economy of large-scale operation.

When bigness, efficiency and economy all work together, the result is low manufacturing cost, and low product prices.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

BOARD SELECTS NORTH DAKOTAN AS SCHOOL HEAD

I. T. Simley, Now Superintendent at Rugby, Elected as Ziegler's Successor.

Chosen Because of Qualifications Out of Field of More Than Thirty Applicants.

Agricultural and Commercial Departments Will Be Discontinued For the Present.

The board of education at a meeting held on Monday night unanimously elected I. T. Simley of Rugby, N. D., as superintendent of the Thief River Falls public schools for the coming year, to fill the vacancy arising through the resignation of Superintendent W. A. Ziegler, which was presented on March 14 to go into effect early in June. The new superintendent will move here from Rugby with his wife and three small children in July to assume his duties preparatory to the opening of the fall school term.

Mr. Simley has served as superintendent of the city schools of Rugby for the past four years and comes here individually recommended by all members of the school board of that city as standing high in the educational circles of the state. He is president of the northwestern section of the North Dakota State Teachers association and an officer of several other educational organizations. He is known as a gifted public speaker and a young man of exceptionally pleasing personality. Mr. Simley met members of the board of education here on March 14, at which time he created a very favorable impression. His election followed a thorough investigation of over thirty applications received.

Teachers Re-appointed.

All members of the present teaching staff of the grade and high schools were re-elected for the year 1921-22 with no reductions in salaries, and contracts returnable April 4 are being given out at this time. While it is known that many of the teachers will not return to Thief River Falls next year, members of the school board are confident that the number will not exceed 50 per cent of the present staff. No increases in salaries have been granted.

Courses Discontinued.

It was also voted to discontinue the high school agricultural course and the commercial department, and to reduce the staff of the domestice science department to such an extent that it can be supervised by one instructor. This course of action was decided upon by the board after careful consideration of the most feasible means of reducing expenditures in the city schools in line with the present financial conditions, members of the board state. It will result in lowering the running expenses by not less than $5,000 during the coming year. The discontinuance of the departments is not regarded as being more than a temporary measure made necessary until normal conditions have returned to the country. President H. W. Froehlich on Wednesday stated that the board would endeavor to reduce the teacher force to the greatest extent possible.

Dead Man Identified and Buried at Expense of City

The body of Dr. George Mount, veterinarian, who died at the Physicians hospital here on March 11, without his identity having been clearly established, was buried in Greenwood cemetery today at the city's expense. During the early part of the week hospital and medical authorities were enabled to get in touch with relatives of the deceased residing at Northome, Minn., and subsequently received a wire from a daughter, Bertha Mount, in which it was requested that the city dispose of the body as seen fit, relatives being financially unable to defray traveling expenses to this point or otherwise to care for the funeral arrangements.

Deceased was sent to the hospital here on March 11 by medical autorities at Clearbrook and when received was in a stupefied and crazed condition. He died without having completely regained consciousness. As far as can be ascertained Dr. Mount is survived by his daughter, Bertha, and another daughter who is married and resides at Northome, a son who is an inmate of the state home for the feeble minded at Faribault, and one other son, father of several children, who has deserted his wife and family.

OFFERED FIVE HIDES FOR ONE PAIR OF $5 SHOES; PAYS THE CASH

Dairyman Might Possibly Have Made Trade Had He Offered to Furnish Thread and Pay Cost of Manufacture.

"If five cowhides will make 25 pairs of shoes, and shoes sell at five dollars a pair, how many cowhides will it take to get a pair of shoes?" That's the neat little problem which V. C. Noper, a prominent Thief River Falls dairyman, is still trying to solve.

Upon the occasion of his needing a nifty pair of kicks for spring wear in the barn yard, he looked over the stock of a city dealer and found several pairs exactly to his liking. The pair most greatly favored by his admiration bore a price ticket of $5. Said he:

"Now, I've got a nice cow hide that'll make five pairs of shoes like this and I'll trade it to you for this one pair."

Friend Shoe Dealer couldn't see Mr. Prominent Dairyman at all, but the latter's bargaining blood was up and he came back strong with:

"Say, I've got five nice cow hides that'll make 25 pairs of shoes and I'll give you the whole five for this $5 pair."

"Nope, V. C., nothing stirring on such a trade. You see—"

Mr. Noper later hurried homeward with the coveted foot gear under his arm, but not until he had played a tune on his wallet to the extent of five silver beans worth one hundred cents each.

DISTRICT MEETING OF WOMEN VOTERS TO BE HELD HERE

Delegates Expected from Every County in Ninth District For Two-Day Meeting.

Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, Ninth District chairman of the Minnesota League of Women Voters, on Wednesday returned to Thief River Falls from Minneapolis, where she attended a meeting of the state executive committee of that organization. She has announced that a convention of the district League will be held here on April 4 and 5, with delegates from every county in attendance. Over 50 members from out of town points are expected to attend the two day session.

The convention will assume the form of a school of instruction. Miss Margaret Wells of Minneapolis, state president of the League, will speak at the afternoon meetings on the relations of the League to the political parties. She will also speak at a six o'clock banquet supper to be held at the Brumund hotel on Monday evening, April 4. A mock election of city officials will also be a feature of that evening's meeting. Miss Emily Kneubl of Minneapolis, state chairman of the department of political education, will conduct a class in public speaking during the forenoon of both convention days. Miss Kneubl is considered one of the most able women speakers of the state. Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, county chairman, will have charge of all arrangements for the two day program, particulars of which will be given out at an early date.

FAREWELL SMOKER FOR HOME GUARDS

Official Discharge Papers Distributed at Pleasant Party Held Saturday Eve.

Fifty members of Company "C" of the 11th Battalion of home guards assembled at the Hotel Evelyn on Saturday night for the company's farewell meeting and smoker. Although members of the organization were furloughed shortly after the armistice was signed in 1918 and have not been meeting for drill since that time, it was not until Saturday night that the distribution of official discharge papers was made. Card playing was a diversion of the evening.

Following a buffet lunch, Capt. W. B. Fuller made a short address appropriate to the disbanding of the home guard unit, touching briefly upon its accomplishments during the period of war and expressing his great appreciation of the spirit of co-operation which had been shown at all times by the rank and file of the company. Following his talk, Capt. Fuller was presented with a handsome period chair bearing a suitably engraved silver plate by his former command. Dr. G. A. Penney, who acted as spokesman at the presentation, asked that the chair be accepted as a token of the company's appreciation of their captain's efforts in so successfully keeping together the organization.

It was voted that the small company fund remaining in the treasury be used when needed in relieving urgent wants of former service men or their families.

Citizens Bowling Alleys Sold; Carlsons to Leave

Edward Carlson, for the past four months proprietor of the Citizens bowling alleys and billiard hall which are located in the basement of the Citizens State bank building, on Tuesday disposed of that business to H. F. Laufle of Austin, Minn. The new proprietor took possesion immediately. Mr. Carlson, with his two sons, Phillip and Irving, will return to take up their former retail confectionery establishment at St. Cloud. The family will move to that city at once. Mr. Laufle, formerly a southern Minnesota railroad man, states that the only contemplated change in the policy of the Citizens pleasure resort will call for the same being kept open both summer and winter instead of closing for the summer as has heretofore been the case.

"Americans who hold their Liberty bonds will come to know the joy of "The End of a Perfect Pay."

WELL PROVIDES AMPLE SUPPLY OF PURE WATER

Has Met All City Requirements Since the First of November Without Trouble.

Believed That Summer Capacity Can be Increased to 300 Gallons Per Minute.

Work of Cleaning Out Tank and Flushing Mains Will be Undertaken at Once.

Many residents of Thief River Falls have not been aware of the fact that since the first of November the source of the city's water supply has been the 12-inch drilled well located near the pumping station. Water was formerly drawn from the well during the winter months only when the amount required was small compared with that needed during the summer, at which time water was pumped from Red Lake river. It is now thought that the well will allow the pumping into the city water mains and tank of approximately 300 gallons per minute, or enough to more than supply the demand at any season of the year. Pumps now being used will be speeded up and slight alterations made to give the well a thorough test as to maximum supply, it developed at the regular meeting of the council Tuesday night.

The well is drilled to a depth of 216 feet. The water taken therefrom has been analyzed by the State Public Health department and is pronounced suitable for drinking purposes. The council has authorized a thorough cleansing of the 75,000 gallon city water tank as soon as it is entirely free from ice and a flushing of water mains by the opening of all hydrants on the average of once every two weeks. Water will be pumped directly into the mains while the tank is emptied in order to avoid shutting off the supply entirely. City officials do not advocate the use of water flowing through the mains at this time for drinking purposes, as mains and tank have not been thoroughly cleansed for several years. When the above mentioned precautions have been taken tap water may be used for all purposes.

The council, by way of furthering the spring "house cleaning" in another direction, on Tuesday night authorized the painting of the two-span steel bridge over the Red Lake river on First street, which is badly in need of proper protection from the elements. A hearing of bids on will take place at an early date.

Silverton Will Discuss Eradication of Barberry

At the regular meeting of the Silverton Community club which will be held in the Silverton town hall on Saturday night, the principal topic to come under discussion will be the means of eradicating the common barberry plant. Scientific investigations have proved conclusively that the barberry carries the rust-producing spores which later develop into black rust through the winter season and that no other plant is known to serve as a host to the spores. The loss caused by black rust is enormous, in some years reaching $20,000,000 in Minnesota alone. The state legislature has been requested to grant an appropriation of $25,000 annually to be used in destroying the common barberry plants wherever found in the state and steps are being taken to have this amount increased to $50,000.

JUDGE WILL HEAR CONTINUED CASES

Three Civil Suits to Come Before District Court on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Three civil suits are scheduled to come before Judge Andrew Grindeland at an adjourned term of district court held at the Pennington county county court house here on March 29 and 30. The first case on the docket is that of Independent School district No. 102 against the Farmers and Merchants State bank of Thief River Falls, and L. D. McAdams, intervenor. Mr. McAdams, Thief River Falls contractor, in the spring of 1919 contracted to erect a school building in the above named district, depositing a $2,000 certified check as an evidence of good faith. The contract was never fulfilled by the contractor because of alleged changes made in the original specifications. Legal action was taken by district No. 102 against the Farmers and Merchants State bank and Mr. McAdams, when the bank, acting on the latter's instructions, refused to cash the certified check. The case was first entered on the court calendar for February, 1920, since which time it has twice been continued.

The case of the State of Minnesota ex rel Theo. Quale vs. John Bratrud, as mayor of the city of Thief River Falls, and A. H. Akre as city clerk, is also one of long standing. Mr. Quale in 1919 was serving as city attorney when duly elected county attorney, the duties of which office he immediately assumed. Dr. G. A. Penney, at that time mayor, failed to sign city warrants for the attorney's monthly stipend after they had been approved by the city council. Mr. Quale continued to serve as city attorney for the year, at the close of which he presented his bill for 12 months salary and brought suit against Dr. Penney as mayor and A. H. Akre as city clerk, who alleged that the office of city attorney became vacant upon Mr. Quale assuming the office of county attorney, the two being incompatible. A hearing was held before Judge Grindeland in the spring of 1920, when the court ruled against the plaintiff. The case involves many fine legal points.

The case of Sam McClure and Carl Zwer against Ira B. Walker, Swan B. Swanson, C. M. Showers, Nels Swanson, heirs of H. Brown, H. Christianson, Ole Linstad, John Severson, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company, the Minneapolis and St. Cloud Railway company, Town of Sanders, and Ole Larson, C. August Carlson and Herman Ortloff, as town board of the town of Sanders, is a section boundary dispute.

HELP CHINESE BY SELLING TAGS ON STREET SATURDAY

Everyone Will Be Asked to Assist in Swelling Fund Started by the Red Cross.

Members of the Girls Community club and the local organization of Girl Scouts will conduct a tag sale throughout the business section of the city on Saturday for the benefit of the Chinese Famine Relief fund. This sale will conclude the drive for funds which has been conducted in the community for the past month, and those in charge of the drive urge that every person approached on Saturday contribute a cash amount, no matter how small, to swell the grand total sum which will be forwarded to the district headquarters. All expense of the undertaking is being donated.

The directors of the Pennington county chapter of the Red Cross at a special meeting called on Friday of last week voted to appropriate a lump sum of $100 to the cause of the starving hordes of Northern China. The churches of the city have responded liberally to the call for aid, their contributions in the main being sent through their denominational charity organizations. Contributions left at the Lambert drug store have been noticeably few and far between, and it is for this reason that the tag sale is being conducted on Saturday. The young ladies do not intend to let anyone who appears in the down-town section escape without having first purchased one of the tan-colored pasteboards. The price of the tags will be whatever the purchaser is inclined to give—anything from one cent to a ten dollar bill.

Reports of American missionaries and business men who have made a study of the dire situation existing in China today, show that at least fifteen millions of Chinese, men, women and children, are affected by the two years of terrible drought and one of flood which have devastated northern China. The numbers of deaths by starvation, purely and simply, are mounting higher and higher each day and the natives will continue to die the most horrible of all deaths until American aid can reach them. "Selfish as the Chinese race may always have been and remote as the area of dire distress may seem," said L. D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, "we as the most benevolent race of the world can not forget that human beings are perishing by the hundreds of thousands because of the lack of food."

Says Tide of Business Depression Has Turned

R. H. Pelz of the department of Business Economics of the University of Minnesota was the guest of the Merchants association at a banquet supper given at the Evelyn hotel on Wednesday evening. Mr. Pelz was also the speaker of the occasion, taking for his subject "The Retail Merchants Opportunity." While his talk was all of great interest that part of his message which struck deepest was the statement that the tide of business depression has turned, in support of which he quoted articles from a large number of the leading trade journals of the United States.

Kollen and Jensen Meet On Mat Here Friday Night

Henry Kollen and Thor Jensen will meet on the mat at the Lyceum theatre on Friday night, to determine which will walk off with the gate receipts. The regular Lyceum picture show for that night will be held at the Princess show house in order that the doors may be opened to sport fans at 9 o'clock, the preliminaries to start promptly at 9:20. It is predicted that this will be one of the best mat events ever staged here.

Kollen, whose home is at Greenbush, is well known to the community, having frequently been seen in action in this section of the state. He took Kirkness to two falls in 11 and 6 minutes here on the night of February 12, at which time he showed excellent form. Jensen claims the welter weight championship of the United States and has wrestled some of the fastest men in the game, including Kid Hiatt of Wheaton, Parcaut, Reynolds and other well known mat artists. Kollen and Jensen will wrestle at 158 and 156 pounds respectively.

AGAIN ACCEPTS CONTRACTS FOR OUR BEET CROP

Minnesota Sugar Company Official Argees to Take Entire Neighborhood Output.

Growers Net Returns Expected to be About the Same as For the Past Year.

Superior Quality of Local Beet Only Reason For Section Being Included.

H. H. Dana, agriculturist for the Minnesota Sugar company of Chaska, was in Thief River Falls on Wednesday for the purpose of explaining the new form of contract being used for the 1921 season. Mr. Dana states that while the company is not desirous of securing additional sugar beet acreage, contracts will be entered into with agriculturists in the vicinity of Thief River Falls because of the extra fine quality of the beets produced here. His company has already contracted for a total of approximately 12,000 acres of beets, or 3,000 acres more than for 1920.

Labor Cost Reduced.

The representative of the sugar company while here interviewed several growers. He stated that it was his belief that the price paid for beets this year would approximate that of last year and that growers would average more per acre because of the decreased cost of labor. Labor this year can be secured at about $23 per acre when furnished by the factory, he said, but it will not be possible to furnish experienced labor to other than those who contract for a large acreage. Growers with a small acreage are advised to furnish their own labor.

Freight rates during 1920 averaged $3.30 per ton on all beets shipped from Pennington county. This was paid by the factory but a deduction of $1 on the price per ton was made on all beets shipped from the northern part of the state. This year the grower will pay the $1 per ton, no deduction to be made when beets are marketed. Mr. Dana explained that this method of arranging for the payment of high freight rates was virtually the same as that employed last season.

Sliding Price Sale.

The new contract provides for a price paid for beets based on a sliding scale depending upon the average price of standard granulated beet sugar. Thus, if sugar sells for six cents per pound, beets are worth $6.00 per ton; if sugar sells for ten cents per pound, beets are worth about $11.00 per ton. This is what the sugar beet growers of older established sections have long been working for.

County Agent J. J. McCann this morning said that practically all farmers who put in crops of beets last year will again take up about the same acreage. Ten others have signified their intentions of putting in this crop. It is also known that over a thousand acres of beets would be contracted for in Pennington county if they could be loaded at other points than Thief River Falls during the marketing season.

Mr. Dana also confirmed the statement that beets grown in the vicinity of this city last fall were higher in sugar content and purity than those from any other section of the state.

Contracts may be secured by calling at the Farm Bureau office in the auditorium. Mr. McCann is also prepared to give prospective growers a full explanation of the contract and instructions as to the proper cultivation of the sugar beet for manufacturing purposes.

ELKS OF LANCASTER PUT ON "SALTLICK"

Engage Professional Entertainers For Program and Ball in Honor of Pearson.

The 27 members of the Thief River Lodge of Elks who live at Lancaster on Monday night put on one of the finest "saltlicks" that has ever been staged in the northwestern section of the state by an Elks lodge. The lick was in the nature of a surprise for Elmer O. Pearson, a progressive young Lancaster farmer, who is moving away from that village. Many Elks and their ladies from the nearby towns of Bronson, Orleans, Pembina and Kennedy were in attendance at the festivities.

Edna Furlong, pianist; Beulah Lockwood, vocal soloist; Elizabeth Lloyd-Jones, dramatic reader, and David E. Dahl, saxphone player, presented an excellent program as a starter for the big time. All are twin city professional entertainers and artists in their line. They were engaged special for the occasion. Their program was preceded by the showing of several of the latest moving picture films, and was followed by an elaborate lunch and a program ball.

Masons to Attend Church In a Body Next Sunday

Conforming to a custom in practically all Masonic lodges in the United States, the members of Northern Lodge No. 236 will attend church services next Sunday. The Masons will meet at their hall at 10:30 o'clock and march to the Methodist Episcopal church, where Rev. J. B. Smith will deliver the sermon.

An invitation is extended to any Mason who may be in the city temporarily as well as those residing in the neighborhood to join in this observance.

Stork Must Think There's A Shortage of Girls Here

The Times correspondent at Golden Valley reports the valley stork as being disheveled of appearance, feathers awry, feet muddy, hungry and rushed to death, but very much right on the job. He put in his busiest day on March 19 when a baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Torval Kolden, one to Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Dahl, and twin girls to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Anderson.

INVITED TO BRING TAX TROUBLES TO EXPERT MONDAY

Anyone Not Satisfied With Assessment Will be Given Hearing at That Time.

Samuel Lord, chairman of the Minnesota Tax commission, will confer with assessors of Pennington county at the court house here on Monday, March 28, for the purpose of instructing them in regard to their duties. Members of the county board are also requested to be present. The meeting will be open to the public and all persons interested in the subjects to be discussed may attend.

The tax commission desires to help assessors in every possible way, and the meeting will not be confined to an explanation of the law, but every question relating to the duties of an assessor will be fully discussed. Great stress will be placed upon the proper method of listing and assessing the different kinds and classes and property. Tax payers holding grievances because of the 1920 assessments will be allowed the opportunity of presenting any questions relative to the same. The meeting will be called promptly at 10 a. m.

PARK SITE PURCHASE URGED AT LUNCHEON OF CLUB LAST WEEK

Recommended That Lover's Lane and Tindolph Point Be Secured as a Starter—Both Tracts Suitable and Easily Available.

At the Commercial club luncheon of last Thursday a motion was made and unanimously carried whereby it was recommended that the city park board make every effort to have the city council purchase two tracts of land within the city limits for park purposes. The subject was broached by Dr. C. R. Crandall and Emil E. Zeh, members of the park board, and gave rise to a lengthy discussion in which several other suitable locations for small parks were discussed.

Both of the sites recommended, because of their location, have for years been made use of by the public during the summer months of the year. They are popularly spoken of as "Tindolph Park" and "Lovers' Lane." The former named tract lies on the east side of the Red Lake river near its confluence with Thief River. Possessing many shade trees and a beach suitable for bathing purposes, it naturally adapts itself to use as a park, hence its name. Daniel Shaw, in speaking in favor of purchasing the point of land, stated that not only was it one of the last available pieces of property abutting the river, but it possessed an historical significance. Indian lore relates that it was there the last battle between the Chippewa and Sioux tribes was fought, when the former drove their adversaries out of the forests and onto the plains. Squaw point, just across the stream, was made the burying ground, bodies being removed when the Red Lake Indian reservation was opened for settlement. The purchase of the point was recommended to the council during 1920 but was never accomplished.

What is popularly termed "Lovers' Lane" is located in the south end of the city several blocks below the dam on the west side of the river. It, too, naturally constitutes a small and natural park with bathing facilities. Several hundred dollars were expended by the city last year in erecting bath houses at this point. Both spots are popularized by camping and picnic parties.

While the need of two parks on the west side of the river, one in the south an done in the north end of the city, and at least one on the east side was spoken of, action at the meeting of Thursday centered upon the two locations mentioned above. E. M. Stanton spoke of the old Kretzschmar property on the west side adjacent to the damsite as being one of the most logical locations for a city park, possessing as it does many fine shade trees and natural advantages.

The proper location of a camping ground for automobile tourists passing through this section was also brought up, but owing to the fact that the Pennington County Automobile association has already taken some action in this respect, the matter was dropped for the time being. It was stated that the automobile association would have suggestions to offer in the near future.

COMPROMISE IN STREET PAVING WILL BE TRIED

Spokesment For Both Factions Discuss Matter at Length at Meeting Monday.

Develops That Many Previously Opposing Improvement Will Come Half Way.

Area to Be Paved Under First Contracts May Be Cut Down to Meet Objections.

A possible compromise between the paving and anti-paving factions of the city is in the wind as a result of a public meeting called on Monday night by Mayor John Bratrud for a general discussion of the situation. The meeting was held in the municipal court room in the auditorium and a large number of citizens representing both factions were present. City Attorney H. O. Chommie acted as chairman and with E. M. Stanton explained the legal aspects of the case and the various civil actions pending. Many citizens and property owners, including W. W. Prichard, Sr., Mayor John Bratrud, H. A. Brumund, R. M. Sheldon, F. F. Haynes, H. C. Johnson, Olaf Neset, J. J. Aga, O. Ramstad, M. V. Evenson, F. J. Stebbins, Robert McGinn, Rasmus Oen, Math Barzen and others addressed the assemblage on various phases of the paving question.

While several of the talks waxed strongly to the personal, the general tone of the meeting expressed a sincere desire to effect a compromise which would result in the carrying out of the proposed project, possibly on a reduced basis as to area to be paved, the improvement of the city streets in the business section and a saving of money to the city through the withdrawal of pending suits. The main fact brought out by the opposing party was the undeniable one that taxes are steadily mounting each year, in connection with which dire calamities were propliecied for Thief River Falls. Those who are pushing the project spoke of the need of paving, the advantages to the community of an early start in this direction, the preliminary work already completed and the futility of trying to evade the contract with the Bitulithic Contracting, Ltd., without financial settlement.

By the carrying of a motion made by F. F. Haynes and seconded by Mayor Bratrud, Mr. Chommie was instructed to appoint a committee of five members to meet with the established committee of the same number of members of the opposition, or the organization itself, to determine whether or not a compromise could be arrived at. In point of fact this newly appointed committee would act as a go-between for the city council and the so-called opposition.

Mr. Chommie on Tuesday appointed F. F. Haynes, Math Barzen, Robert McGinn and Carl B. Larson to serve on the committee, and a short meeting was held on Tuesday afternoon. After outlining a course of action the committee sat in session with the committee from the opposition, at which time both sides of the question were fully discussed in a quiet way, the outcome being the decision of the latter to lay the matter before the main body with a view of determining whether or not a compromise can be effected. W. W. Prichard, Sr., M. V. Evenson, Rasmus Oen, O. Ramstad and J. J. Aga form the last named committee.

Firemen's Annual Dance, Auditorium Next Monday

The Thief River Falls fire deparment will hold its twenty-fifth annual ball at the city auditorium on Easter Monday, March 28. Dancing will be formally opened by the firemen's grand march at 9 o'clock. Those who attend are promised all that is late and popular in the way of dance music, with a generous insertion of the good old-fashioned variety. Prize dances of both kinds will be features of the evening's entertainment. A midnight supper will be served by the Lady Foresters.

Moore Working Out Here For Meeting With Tibetts

"Putsy" Moore, speedy Minneapolis boxer, is working out here for a bout with Kid Tibetts of Bemidji, to be staged at the Lyceum about the middle of April. Tibetts, better known as the "Indian Pug," fought Young Fulton here a short time ago, placing him on the mat early in the second round. Those who have seen Moore working out claim that he will at least take a decision over Tibetts.

Soo Asks For Authority to Buy W. & N. Short Line

The Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railway company has asked authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission to purchase for $3,339,500 the Wisconsin & Northern railroad, 133½ miles in length, and described as a short line serving a district having heavy traffic but unable to provide a market on its line for the products it originates.

Society and Club

In Honor of Miss Granum.

Prominent among the numerous social events this season was the dinner party given by the Library board on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. T. L. Melgaard in honor of Miss Gena Granum, librarian, who recently retired, and whose marriage to A. Skarstad of Argyle will occur this spring. The rooms were made attractive by the use of artificial spring flowers in shades of yellow and pink, which color scheme was cleverly carried out in the dinner appointments and favors. The hours following the repast were devoted to the hemming of towels for the bride-to-be. The members of the Library board presented Miss Granum with several pieces of silver as a token of their friendship. The invited guests were Misses Grace Wilson, Edna Larson, Meta Kiland, Irma Johnson, Una Nelson, Lena Evenson, Dora Holmes, Nettie Ove, Avis Akre, Elsie Sundahl, Laura Forde, Marian Miller, Ida Tandberg, Marie Nelson and Gerda Mortenson. The hostesses included Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg, Mrs. Daniel Shaw, Mrs. Emil Zeh, Mrs. P. W. Mabey, Mrs. L. G. Larsen and Mrs. Gaston Ward.

Anniversary Party.

The Winslow chapter of the Eastern Star lodge held an anniversary party at the Masonic hall last night following the initiation, which proved to be one of the most elaborate and successful events held this season. The local chapter was organized 16 years ago, March 20th, but was not constituted until May of that year. Those initiated between that period are considered charter members. Only six of those, who were guests of honor last evening, are in the city at present. They include Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Stebbins. The two latter were unable to be present at the party. Short talks were given by each of the honored guests. Among the first group of officers were Mrs. Edna Cavanaugh, G. W. Hawes, Mr. Day and Mrs. J. M. Bishop. A feature of the lunch was an elaborate birthday cake which was appropriately decorated. After lunch dancing became the diversion in the main hall. At the close of the evening the members presented Mrs. Effie Hamry with a beautiful gold worthy matron pin, today being the occasion of her birthday.

Luncheon.

Honoring Mrs. W. J. Foley of Rainy River, Ont., Mrs. C. O. Erickson and Mrs. Eli Eelland entertained a number of ladies at an attractive luncheon at the former's home Tuesday afternoon. Appointments and favors were carried out in a color scheme of green and white. The guests were Mrs. L. A. Hermanson, Mrs. H. E. Froseth, Mrs. C. E. Andrews, Mrs. T. J. Rowan, Mrs. M. W. Brink, Mrs. W. J. Foley, Miss Meta Kiland, Miss Grace Wilson and Miss Myrtle Blair. Mrs. Foley, who had spent a month here visiting with friends, will return to her home on Saturday.

Community Girls Club.

Owing to the absence of a great many of the teachers, who are enjoying their Easter vacations, the attendance at the last meeting of the Girls Community club Monday evening was comparatively small. However, an enjoyable social evening was spent, at the conclusion of which delicious refreshments were served. The reading, "An Indian Legend," which was to have been given by Mrs. Daniel Shaw, was postponed at the request of the numerous members who were unable to attend, until the next meeting on Monday evening, April 4.

Guest of Honor.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop who was in attendance at the meeting of the executive committee of the ladies Auxiliary to the American Legion, held at Minneapolis, returned to this city yesterday morning. While away Mrs. Bishop was honor guest at a luncheon given by the St. Paul Republican women, on Saturday evening. On Sunday she was the guest of Mrs. Manley L. Fosseen in Minneapolis. She also visited her daughter, Mirriam, who attends the university. Enroute to her home she was the guest of friends at Breckenridge and Fargo.

Dancing Party.

Miss Twila Glines was hostess at a very charming party at her home, 809 Horace avenue north, on Wednesday evening. Music, cards and dancing made up the entertainment for the guests, who included Misses Elsie Granum, Dotty Krafthefer, Ruby Bennes, Palma Langseth, Anna Froseth, Ethel Erickson, Edla Norquist, and Lynn Halvorson, Bernard Bischoff, Milton Larson, Forest Ralston, Herbert Johnson. At midnight a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. C. E. Glines, mother of the hostess.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The Woman's club will hold a regular meeting at the Commercial club rooms on Monday afternoon. Lesson No. 10, "Municipal Activities," will be led by Mrs. J. J. Richter in the absence of Mrs. G. Howard Smith. A feature of the afternoon will be a community sing under the direction of Miss Maude Johnson, instructor in music in the public schools. Current Events will be given, with Mrs. G. A. Penney as leader, assisted by Mrs. C. W. Stewart, Mrs. August Holmberg, Mrs. W. H. Akre and Mrs. A. P. Fox.

St. Patrick Dinner Party.

St. Patrick day appointments were prominent Thursday at a six o'clock dinner given by Mrs. J. L. Stitt at her home. Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Cronkhite, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bottelson, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson, Mrs. August Holmberg, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Durrin. The hours following the dinner were spent in a social manner.

For Mrs. Booren.

Mrs. Wm. Booren, who is visiting numerous friends and relatives here this week, was honor guest at a party given by her niece, Mrs. S. Salveson, at her home Tuesday afternoon. The guest list included Mrs. Geo. Nicholson, Mrs. Ole Hanson, Mrs. J. L. Stitt, Mrs. Jennie Erickson, Mrs. J. O. Yotter and Mrs. H. D. Keene. The afternoon was spent in needlework.

Birthday Party.

Little Wendel Kilty celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary yesterday by entertaining twelve of his young friends from the kindergarten. The little folks were entertained with games of various kinds until the lunch hour when they partook of delicious refreshments. A huge birthday cake topped with candles was a feature of the lunch.

Haugen-Nybakken.

On Friday, March 18, at the Zion Lutheran parsonage, occurred the marriage of Alfred Haugen and Ruth Nybakken, with Rev. George Larson officiating. The couple was attended by Ole J. Snstad and Bertha Mjelde. Mr. Haugen is a member of the clerical force in the grocery department of the Oen Mercantile company.

Farewell Party For Miss Brokke.

In compliment to Miss Anna Brokke, of the clerical force at the local postoffice, who has resigned and will leave in the near future for Little Rock, Ark., where she has secured employment, the Misses Gladys Anderson and Lena Evenson entertained at a farewell party last evening, at the former's home on Horace avenue.

Entertains For Mrs. Booren.

Twelve ladies were informally entertained by Mrs. O. C. Hanson at her home, 707 Main avenue north, yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Wm. Booren of Minneapolis, who is visiting friends here this week. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in conversation and needlework. A delicious lunch was served at five o'clock.

Underberg-Braaten.

Helmer T. Underberg of Bisbee, N. D., and Mabel E. Braaten of Halma were united in marriage on March 18, by Rev. George Larson at the Zion Lutheran parsonage. Mr. Underberg is a prosperous farmer of the Flickertail state.

Reception.

The J. L. Stitt home, 901 LaBree avenue north, was the scene of an informal reception on Saturday evening given by the Christian Endeavor society for Miss Bradt, district state secretary, who lectured at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

Entertain at Dinner.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Froseth was the scene of a dinner party last evening when they entertained a few of their friends. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hermanson, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Froseth and Miss Edna Nickolson.

Entertains Informally.

Miss Grace Wilson informally entertained six girls at her home on Markley avenue Thursday evening, honoring Mrs. W. J. Foley, who is a guest of friends here. In the serving of a dainty lunch, St. Patricks day appointments were used.

Entertains.

A number of ladies are being informally entertained at the home of Mrs. S. Salveson this afternoon in compliment to Mrs. W. J. Foley of Rainy River, Ont.

A week prior to his death he was stricken with a stroke of paralysis and scarcely regained consciousness thereafter. His relatives, whom reside in North Dakota, were present during his illness and death. Deceased was born in Grans Prastegjald, Hadeland, Norway on the 6th day of June, 1849. He emigrated to this country in his early days where he lived for a number of years on a homestead in Cass county, N. D. He later went to Canada from which place he came to Pennington county where he filed on a homestead in Star township. Here he spent his last years. The body was taken to Kindred, N. D., by his nephews, Henry Grinaker and Julius Erickson, for burial.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Thief River Falls who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Thief River Falls woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Thief River Falls resident can doubt.

Mrs. Geo. Williams, 412 Main Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I used many remedies for kidney trouble and backache but had no permanent relief until I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Curtis Drug Store. This remedy not only cured my back but made me feel better in every way. I am only sorry that Doan's didn't come to my attention sooner."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Williams said: "During the past seven years Doan's Kidney Pills have done the work whenever I have used them for kidney weakness. I hold Doan's in the same high estimation as when I first endorsed them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Williams had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

Select the right place to buy your clothes for Easter

BE discriminating this spring—wary of "shopping." Don't buy clothes marked low because something has been sacrificed to make the price appeal. Wear and good appearance which lasts—are the two things you want—at a fair price.

Be sure of the make you buy. Select clothes made by a concern with a past reputation to maintain—not only for earnest standards of value, but style and tailoring.

You'll find Kuppenheimer good clothes here because we're sure you know of their half-century tradition for high quality standards and right style. The name "Kuppenheimer" guarantees them—They're the kind of clothes for a man to form a season-long companionship with—therefore the best clothes for us to offer.

---about prices for spring?

This store and the House of Kuppenheimer were fortunate in being able to co-operate in anticipating what the season's proper level of prices would be. Instead of watching for the other fellow's glide downward we took the jump the second we could make it—you get the benefit right at the start of the season.

GETTING STRAIGHTENED OUT.

While some things may have been said at the citizens meeting on Monday evening that might perhaps better have been left unsaid, yet the getting together for a discussion of this paving matter will prove a good thing. The arguments disclosed the fact that there is ample latitude for the effecting of a compromise and that nearly everyone who has taken an active interest in the matter is willing to make some concessions. There are a few irreconcilables on the side opposed to paving, it is true, but it is doubtful if even these will hold out against an overwhelming public opinion.

Committees of good, substantial citizens have been appointed by both sides to see if there is not a common ground upon which the matter may be adjusted. Tentative basis for compromises have been advanced and have been promised consideration. There is no longer a disposition on the part of anyone to insist that his particular pet in the way of a program shall be adopted.

The probabilities are that if things can be so arranged as to somewhat reduce the size of the area to be paved at the outset a large part of the difficulty will have been overcome. It is admitted that some of the streets included in the original plan for paving are not at present carrying an amount of traffic that makes improvement to such extent imperative, and that these might be cut out for the present. In some instances the property along these minor thoroughfares is of a kind that constitutes a bill of expense rather than a source of revenue and it would be something of a hardship on the owners were they compelled to foot a bill for paving just now. Members of the city council and the business men favoring paving realize this more fully since the meeting on Monday night and it is not likely they will insist that these areas be included in the first contract. With their elimination the opposition is expected to largely disappear and the work of paving the business streets permitted to proceed without further obstruction.

The efforts of the committee representing those who favor paving will be directed toward securing a withdrawal of the injunction suit which, if left to take its regular turn in court, cannot be decided until the June term convenes. While the council and paving supporters are certain that their stand will be upheld, yet they are desirous of avoiding the delay, particularly as further postponements might give the company awarded the paving contract an opening for a damage suit.

Much depends on the outcome of the meetings of the committees. The matter has in a manner been left to them, particularly as regards the extent to which the original program may safely be curtailed. If approached in the proper spirit there is nothing about the controversy that cannot quickly and satisfactorily be straightened out. This will be the task of the committees, and as these are composed of men of good judgment and intentions, some plan satisfactory to all concerned should result from their deliberations.

JUST AN EXAMPLE.

It is too bad that the people of Thief River Falls cannot get behind every undertaking with the unanimity that characterizes their support of the Legion basket ball team. If everything were tackled in the same spirit there would be nothing that we could not accomplish.

Thief River Falls may be said to have gone just a little "batty" on the subject of basket ball during the past two months, but such is the effect of backing a winner. We backed the team because the boys played the way they did and they, on the other hand, played that way because of the backing they received.

This rule does not apply to basket ball alone—not by any means. It could be extended so as to cover every enterprise upon which we, as a community, engage. And if we supported other things with the same enthusiasm as that which has marked our backing of the basket ball team, the result would be the same—we would simply win.

There are a number of things of more importance to the welfare and prosperity of Thief River Falls than winning basket ball games, but it seems impossible to get the same kind of action on them. We know they are there and should be attended to, but do not seem to be able to get the required amount of energy behind them to insure their success. There are parks to be provided, the Jefferson highway to be boosted, a road to the reservation to be built, paving to decide upon, and perhaps a hundred things of more lasting benefit than winning sports events, but for some reason we cannot get up the same amount of steam when it comes to pushing them ahead. Thief River Falls is by no means in a class by itself in this respect; other towns are exactly the same way, but this does not alter the fact in the least.

However, let us all be glad that we are able to get excited over something. It would be a sad commentary on our condition to find that even the best basket ball team in the Northwest failed to receive the support to which it is entitled. Now that we have proven to our own satisfaction that pulling together pays, perhaps we will get the habit and apply the plan to more important enterprises.

YOUR INCOME TAX.

Were you a little peeved because you had to pay the income tax?

Did you sort of have a feeling that your rights as a free born American citizen were being trammeled, abridged, abused and everything?

Didja say to yourself or anybody, "It isn't the few dollars so much, it's the principle of the thing that grinds?"

Tut, also tush and shame on you.

If you paid such a tax it was because you had an income—and that is something these days.

Also, there are a lot of other things for which you can thank kind fate.

For instance, how would you like to be paying taxes in Russia? Or Germany? Or Austria? Or most any other country in this wide, green world? You would find the income small and the taxes great.

You remember the saying, "The more I know of men the better I like my dog." The better you know the other countries of the world the better you are going to like the United States of America.

Here we have exemplified the most perfect form of government ever devised by the brain of man. The poor boy of today is the rich man of tomorrow. There are more happy homes, more luxuries, more amusements, better clothes, freer and better schools, more churches, more automobiles, more everything that goes to make life worth while than any other place on earth.

If it is the principle of the thing, then you were proud to pay, for the principle behind the tax is the thing which will keep Uncle Sam doing business at the same old stand for a thousand years to come.

Be glad that you are privileged to pay such a tax. Look forward to the tax payment day. Prepare for it. Anticipate next year's obligation by putting aside each week a certain amount. Many persons who are putting their savings into government securities add enough additional treasury stamps each week to meet the income tax bill. If necessary they cash their stamps, but frequently they find this can be avoided and they are just that much ahead in government savings securities, which yield them 4 per cent compounded quarterly.

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP.

Minnesota cities as a general thing are preparing for a busy season, according to a review of conditions in the state sent out by a twin city bank this week. Among the signs of returning prosperity noted are the following:

St. Cloud's modern hotel has been completed; the paper mill at International Falls has resumed operations; a concrete products company may locate at Crookston; one contractor is building 14 houses at Albert Lea; Iowa farmers attended a Mower county hog sale and the average price paid was $115; the Waseca Ice company is taking contracts for shipments as far south as Mason City, Iowa; North Dakota farmers are buying cattle at Thief River Falls; Albert Lea may erect a detention hospital to cost about $140,000; Itasca county produced 6,289,933 tons of iron ore last year; Alexandria business men are raising $4,000 for city development; a number of cities report that small factories which had suspended operations have resumed production.

It all helps. Now if our farmers can get an early start we will be practically assured of a prosperous season. People have again begun to buy goods and the merchants are consequently feeling better. In fact, there is nothing much the matter with Minnesota, and soon there will be less.

In the death of Bert Leston Taylor (B. L. T.) the country loses one of its foremost humorists and one with whom people in the Northwest became well acquainted through the columns of the Minneapolis Journal. "A Line o' Type or Two" was one of the most famous "colyums" of its kind in the United States, the quaintness of the comments and criticism offered being perhaps its most outstanding feature. Thousands of people will feel as if the Journal is "not quite all there" when they fail to find B. L. T.'s comment on the back page.

It seems to us that most anybody would have answered the purpose as mayor, while it is hard to see just how anyone is going to fill Bill's place on the newspaper. However, the affairs of Baudette will be safely, sanely and capably administered during his incumbency. Bill can be quite serious at times, but dislikes the mood and gets away from it as quickly as possible. This trait will probably prove an advantage in his new job.

READING OF EYES HAILED UPSET TO MEDICAL THEORY

New Science of Diagnosis May Revolutionize Physisians' Practice.

By Forbes W. Fairbairn.
Universal News Service.

London, March 7.—Discovery of a treatment that will revolutionize the practice of medicine has been announced by Clement Jeffry, M. A., distinguished British physician. It consists of detecting illness by the appearance of the eyes and is called "iridiagnosis."

The method is a complete revolution to orthodox medicine. Instead of a patient detailing more or less accurately his symptoms, in order that the doctor can tell the patient his complaint and prescribe, under the iridiagnosis method, the practioner has only to read the eyes of the patient in order to discover both the symptoms and the disease.

Discovered By Hungarian.

"It is the most accurate and most wonderful diagnostic method yet discovered," explained Dr. Jeffry to Universal Service. "It has been ignored by the leaders of orthodox medicine, although it is being practiced by several physicians, including Dr. Lahn of Chicago and another American, Dr. Lindlahr.

Dr. Vistaunet, of this city, was issued a diploma last fall for a post graduate course at Dr. Lindlahr's College of Natural Therapeutics wherein iridiagnosis was included as one of the studies.

"It was discovered by a Hungarian, Dr. Peczely. When he was a boy he caught an owl in his garden. The owl's leg was broken in its attempt to escape and the boy was looking straight in its eyes at the moment and noticed a black spot appear. As the leg healed a white ring formed around the spot.

"The doctor some years later noticed a black spot in a similar position in the eye of a man who had also broken his leg and further investigation over a long period of years proved that all the ills of and the accidents to the body are reflected in the eyes. From his investigations he worked out the chart of the iris.

Accepted In America.

"It has been accepted in Sweden, in Germany and in America. British physicians have so far refused to accept the treatment, calling it absurd. But it is the greatest discovery in modern medical science.

"The condition of every organ and part of the body is reflected in the iris. That there are an orderly grouping of areas has been proved by the examination of thousands of irises by independent investigators of unquestionable integrity.

"It is possible for the iridiagnostican to detect cancer in its chrysalis stage and thus to prevent its development. We shall have less illness when the medical professions adopt this method in dealing with their patients, for it is the only sure way of understanding the condition of the patient's nervious system."

The method described by Dr. Jeffery has created intense interest in the London medical world as the result of a series of lectures he is giving. Many prominent Harley street physicians after hearing him and seeing demonstrations of the treatment have expressed their approval of the discovery.—Adv. m24

CITY DELIVERY OF CREAMERY PRODUCT

Milk, Cream, Butter and Buttermilk Will be Brought Directly to Consumers.

The board of directors of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery association at a meeting held on Saturday made plans which will result in the early establishment of a city delivery of milk, cream and manufactured dairy products, including butter and prepared buttermilk. Delivery will start by wagon or automobile truck as soon as a reliable person can be secured to undertake the work.

Heretofore pasteurized milk only has been dispensed by the creamery. It is planned to add a clarifying machine to the equipment at an early date, the installation of which will enable the local plant to put out as fine a product as is possible with the aid of modern inventions. In practically all of the larger cities the pasteurization of milk is compulsory. Many cities of the state, including Bemidji and Duluth, have recently passed ordinances prohibiting the sale of other than clarified milk. The process which takes place before the milk enters the pasteurizing machine removes all foreign matter from the milk.

A cut of one cent per quart on the retail price of milk and five cents per quart on cream will go into effect on the first of April, it was also decided at the meeting of Saturday. This cut in prices, which is usual at this season of the year, is due to the falling off of butterfat prices with the increase in production. Milk will sell at ten cents per quart and sweet cream at 40 cents.

Former Governor Heads Bureau.

The farm bureau movement, in its remarkable growth to power, is attracting the nation's biggest men and commanding their services. Henry C. Stuart, a practical farmer and former governor of his state, has been elected president of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation.

Texas Bureau Law Passed.

The Texas legislature has just passed a co-operative marketing bill sponsored by the farm bureau federation in that state. It was drawn to make the legal status of co-operative marketing organizaions absolutely unquestionable. It is the most comprehensive marketing law ever passed in the southern states; members of the Texas legislature characterized the measure as the most important of the whole session.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER
"BEST BY TEST"

It is reasonable in cost and possesses more than the ordinary leavening strength. You pay less and use less. You get the most in purity, dependability and wholesomeness.

In every way — it is the best way to keep down baking costs. That's what has made it the world's biggest selling baking powder — has kept it the favorite of millions of housewives for more than thirty years.

Pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Calumet Sunshine Cake Recipe

1/2 cup of butter, 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar, 2 1/2 cups flour, 1 cup water, 2 level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder, 1 teaspoon lemon, yolks of 9 eggs. Then mix in the regular way.

There Is Something You Must Fix This Spring

Comparatively few persons will find it necessary to build a house or barn this spring, but those who have no fixing whatever to do are still fewer. The winter has not passed without leaving some ravages, and these must be taken care of. It may be only a fence, a few repairs on the outhouses or the reshingling of a roof—but somewhere repairs must be made if the property is to be kept up.

We Are Prepared to Fill These Small Orders

as well as take care of the larger ones. Our stock comprises everything in the building material line, whether it is to be used on the outside or inside, and our prices are right. In fact, these are lower now than they have been for years or will be two months from now, in all likelihood.

You Will Be Money Ahead by Ordering Now

Remember that no order is too large for our facilities and none too small to receive our most careful attention. Whether you want a complete building bill or only a two-by-four we are here to give you service.

Wisconsin Organizing.

Ten Wisconsin counties have completed their permanent organization of county farm bureaus, and eight more counties have completed their temporary organization. Meetings have been scheduled in ten additional counties, so that the work of federating the farmers of that state is on in 28 counties.

The Hennepin county farm bureau has decided to employ a paid secretary and business manager to take charge of its organization and business activities. E. E. Beninan was appointed to this position. Counties in Wisconsin and some eastern states have adopted this plan. The secretary works in co-operation with the county agent.

The Fun of Starting the Home Garden

The best home gardens are started when the ground is really under snow and ice. And no other job about the garden brings as much downright joy as its planning. Every good home garden is built just as a house is built. It starts (or should) with a plan, drawn on paper. The most essential things to start the garden plan are a definite idea of what you want to grow, plus an accurate knowledge of the size of the garden, plus that valuable guide called the seedsman's catalogue.

Draw your garden plan to a scale say one-quarter inch to represent a foot of ground in the open. Make a list of the vegetables you wish to raise, and plan to plant them in groups in different parts of the garden, according to their importance to you. Arrange to plant the most space to substantial staples, such as beans, corn, tomatoes and potatoes. The vegetables that are grown for their roots, like beets, carrots, Kohlrabi, etc., are also thought of as the winter staples. Then there are the salads and vegetable fruits, like cucumbers, melons, etc. To grow the latter, your garden should be of fairly good size because their spreading vines take up considerable room.

It matters little how you run your rows—east and west, or north and south. Many years of experimenting have proven that results in either case are generallyy the same. But it matters a lot what you plant in these same rows.

Experienced gardeners now recognize the importance of both the selection of correct varieties and the special strains of these varieties especially adapted to home or market garden conditions. Here is where the seedsman and his catalogue come in.

It is suggested that you send to some reliable seed house for its catalogue. When the book comes, read up on the various culture directions of the different vegetables. Study the claims made for the different strains, study the illustrations, for they are generally a pretty good guide to the best the seedsman has to offer. Otherwise he wouldn't illustrate it. A couple of hours spent in the entertaining company of the catalogue will generally help you to form definite ideas of what you want.

When you have decided upon just what you want, bring your list to your local dealer. He will by that time have on hand a fresh line of seeds from which to supply you. If your gardening operations are on a sufficiently extensive scale it will pay to buy seeds in qualities.

One ounce of radish or letuce seed, for instance, at 20c or 25c contains five or six times as much seed as a packet sold for 10c. The seeds are good for several years if they are given proper care.

DROPPING OFF IN LIVE STOCK RUNS

Trade Pulse Nervous at Week's Opening. Cattle Steady to Lower—Hogs Advance.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Minn. Dept. of Agriculture.)

South St. Paul, Minn., March 21, 1921. Cattle 2,200. Market steady to lower. Calves 800. Market steady, top $9.00. Hogs 6,500. Market uneven, averaging 50 to 75c higher. Range $8.00-$11, bulk $9.50-$10.75. Pigs higher, bulk better grades $11.75-$12. Sheep 3,000. Market strong. Top lambs $9.75. Top ewes $6.00.

General movement of live stock to the seven central markets at the week's opening fell off sharply compared with last Monday, totals being 38,000 cattle, 57,600 hogs and 49,000 sheep, against 61,000 cattle, 106,000 hogs and 70,000 sheep a week ago. Many live stock producers are probably holding off shipping in order to await the outcome of the conference at Washington this week relative to the packing house labor situation, having been so counseled by their representatives at leading markets in whose opinion general conditions underlying live stock markets at the present time are healthy. Most men in the trade hold the opinion that producers are wise in withholding shipments during the present unsettled period, which will probably be of only short duration.

The local market had about a normal run of cattle Monday and trade opened on a steady to 25c lower basis. Closing trade was a little firmer in line with conditions at outside points. Feeder buyers paid up as high as $9.25 last week for steers on the beef order, but best here today to killers were some medium grades that brouhgt $8.50, with bulk of common and medium steers at $6.75 to $7.50, with most sales at $4.50 to $6.50. Canners and cutters continue at $2.50 to $4.00. Veals opened steady with best at $9. Heavy feeders sold at $8.50 to $8.65 and these sales were about steady, but common and medium grades were slow and weak to 25c lower.

Hog market was very unsettled, prices ranging from 25c to $1 higher Monday. Range was $8 to $11, with bulk $9.50 to $10.75. Pig prices were boosted sharply, bulk of desirable grades bringing $11.75 to $12. Sheep and lambs moved on a firm basis Monday, best lambs here going at $9.75, clipped lambs at $9, choice 102 lb. ewes at $6. Yearling ewes up to $6.50 and yearling wethers at $7.50 to $8.00.

National Federation Expands.

National headquarters of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Chicago has again outgrown its offices and has been moved to 1116 Garland Building, 58 East Washington street, Chicago. The new offices occupy three times as much space as the former quarters. The rapidly increasing work of the federation made enlargement of office space imperative.

Legion Men Ask For Work.

Hundreds of war veterans are out of work in the twin cities, according to headquarters of the American Legion. Many of these men are former farmer boys, the Legion officers say, and are fitted for farm work, but are absolutely penniless and cannot pay railroad fare to seek work on farms. The state federation suggests that when county farm bureau members need help, the county agent communicate with the state Legion's employment office in the Old Capitol, St. Paul. In many cases it will be necessary for farmers to send railroad tickets to the men they hire, Legion officers said. Co-operation with the American Legion to give work to jobless veterans is urged by the state federation.

Exchange Handles Supplies.

The purchasing department of the Minnesota Potato Exchange is doing a big business for the farmer members of its local shipping associations. Up to the first of the year, the statement of the exchange shows, its purchasing department handled 488,300 sacks, 169 potato car stoves, 425 rolls or car lining, one set of scales, 6 trucks, 9 graders, 14 carloads of apples, 17 carloads of flour and feed and bookkeeping supplies to half of the locals in the exchange. The department is prepared, it announces to handle insecticides and fungicides, potato sprayers, commercial fertilizers and corn and oats direct from farmers' elevators.

Minnesotan in Market Research.

W. A. McKerrow, director of livestock extension work at the University of Minnesota and well known as an organizer of co-operative shipping associations, has been appointed a member of the committee on livestock statistics, reports and market reporting, to carry out the investigations of the Committee of Fifteen. This committee, was appointed by J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, to work out a nationwide plan for co-operative marketing of livestock, met for the first time in Chicago on Feb. 24, and set six subcommittees to work on a nationwide marketing investigation. Their findings will be the basis for a co-operative marketing plan. The inquiry will be along the lines of that conducted by the Committee of Seventeen in working out its national grain marketing program.

Letters to The Times

SPENDING WINTER IN FAIR SANTO DOMINGO WITH THE DEVILDOGS

Former Thief River Falls Boy Writes of Conditions Found as a Member of the Marines on Duty in the Dominican Republic.

It would almost seem as if there are places on this globe where the winter may be spent more pleasantly than has been the case in northern Minnesota this year, and Santo Domingo is evidently one of them. At least this much is to be gathered from a letter to The Times from John E. Fondahl, formerly of Thief River Falls but now with the U. S. marines at Santo Domingo city. Mr. Fondahl, who is a member of the 44th Company Mounted, Third regiment, writes as follows under date of March 4:

"Thinking that you might be interested in hearing from a former Thief River boy who is at present serving with the marines in the Dominical Republic, I am taking the liberty of writing these lines.

"It surely does seem strange for one brought up in the cold and snow of northern Minnesota to spend a winter in the ideal conditions down here. The year here is divided into a rainy and dry season, although they don't come with the regularity of the seasons in the temperate zone. The climate is healthful, especially at the higher altitudes of the inland country, which is very mountainous.

"Santo Domingo City, at which place I am now stationed, is on the south side of the island and is about 100 feet above sea level. A tidal wave here in 1916 did considerable damage to the city besides washing the United States battleship "Memphis" on the rocks.

"Conditions down here as far as armed bands, bandits, etc., are concerned, have been very peaceful during the past year. Naturally the natives are in favor of all Americans being removed and every once in a while there are rumors of an impending uprising, but these disturbances are generally nipped in the bud.

"There has been a proclamation issued that all marines will be withdrawn as soon as possible but it will be a considerable time before they even begin.

"At the present time improvements for quartering troops are being effected. A new camp is being constructed in the city and tents are being replaced by portable barracks. In view of all this it would seem that the authorities are not contemplating withdrawing any troops from here in the near future.

"In closing I wish to say that any extra copies of The Times would be gladly received. If the editor should wish, I would gladly drop you any news items that would be of interest."

Criticises System.

To the Editor of The Times: It is a generally known fact that United States of America boasts of the best educational system in the world. Every child is entitled to compulsory education. But how complete is that education? Generally people do not understand what is meant by the word "education." They seem to think that it means to learn the common subjects such as reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar and composition, geography, history, orthography, physiology, civics, physics and other higher subjects. Knowledge of those subjects is very far from education. Education is the development of human mind and the establishment of character for right living as a social being.

In observing the conduct of the pupils of some of our public schools it does not appear that they are acquiring any education. They may be acquiring knowledge of the subjects enumerated above. If anyone passes by some of our public schools the conduct will be seen to be far below the standard of a civilized community. Pupils often interfere with people of old age that are neither their associates nor of their rank. Politeness and respect for old age or mature age is lacking. And whose fault are such conditions? The fault certainly lies both with the school teachers and the parents. Discipline is lacking in both school and home. Many of the parents can hardly be blamed, because they lack education themselves. Teachers, if legally and professionally qualified, should command the necessary influence over their pupils that poor conditions would improve in a short time. The school boards and school superintendents are also to blame. The teachers should be inspired by them with the idea that proper discipline is more important than instruction in common subjects. Too many of the teachers are contented when their pupils have passed satisfactory examinations.

Lack of proper discipline in homes and schools is filling up our corrective institutions with persons that should have been respectable and honorable citizens. If our homes and our public schools would do their full duty there would not be half as many inmates in our state prison and state reformatories. And to this I may justly add that only a small percentage of criminals are sent to the correctional institutions.

It is high time that our educational system includes quality with the quantity of our education.

Respectfully,
March 22. CITIZEN.

The Times Gets Results.

Editor Times: By the way, Tom Jurgenson had rattling good luck advertising his marshy farm in the center of Mud Lake, receiving as high as 30 and 40 letters every day. I have advertised my farm for sale in various farm papers and never received as much as a postal card from anyone. I realize now that the Thief River Falls Times is the best paper to advertise in.

Two black ravens from some other planet descended on Hazelbrush and scattered a vast quantity of fire and brimstone. It is said that some of the people have eaten so much of the darn stuff that they have gone skyrocketing bughouse. The next thing on the program should be the ordering of these fakes back to hades, with instructions never to show up on our planet any more.

Just at this time the farmers are all busy figuring their income tax, which is going to be very large owing to the big crops and the sky-high prices they have been receiving, but it is better to have high income taxes to pay than it would be to borrow it.

This winter I am taking it easy. I arrived in this country from Antler, N. D., where I was engaged in mushroom and toadstool farming, but found business slim picking and sold out to the other fellow, after which I beat it for Plummer where I was introduced to Camp Nelson and a little half-pint lady clothed in blue ribbon. After staying with them awhile I went out into the country where I bought a farm, but I sold it and bought another one two miles from town, which I still have. The frog and sow thistle industries have not been of the best in late years, hence I have partly retired from the business. Nevertheless the country is all right in every respect.

Yours for more advertising and higher land prices, "O. S."
Plummer, Minn., March 17.

Legislative Letter

The members of the Legislature learned many facts when they spent a large portion of a day visiting the University of Minnesota. President Coffman and members of the board of regents effectively presented the emergency needs of the state's great educational institution. As a result it is probable an interim commission will be appointed by the Legislature to consider the needs of the state's educational activities with a view to having a comprehensive report for the next legislature.

The "farmer's program," represented in about six bills, have gone thru the legislative mill and two of these have been signed by the Governor. There remain for the executive's attention four bills which were [illegible] during the past week, with slight amendments which were promptly accepted by the House, as follows:

The anti-futures bill, prohibiting trading in grain futures, passed by a vote fo 50 to 11, defines "gambling" in grain as an agreement wherein the actual delivery of the commodity sold is not, in good faith, contemplated or intended by the contracting parties.

The public markets bill, passed by a vote of 47 to 14, declares all grain exchanges and live stock exchanges of the state open markets and requiring them to admit to membership cooperative associations of every nature. Some questions of the constitutionality of this measure was raised.

The bill for the re-establishment of "Minnesota" grades which were for a time set aside by the Federal grades of grain—passed 57 to 1—is said to make probable much [illegible] in grading at Minnesota terminals, with two systems of grading.

A rural credits system, framed after the existing system of South Dakota, is provided for in the bill passed without a dissenting vote providing for a constitutional amendment to be submitted to the people next year.

The probability of deep cutting in the appropriations being demanded for the various departments of the state, was forecast in a statement by Representative Theodore Christianson, chairman of the House committee on appropriations. He warned particularly against the tendency toward extending governmental functions into activities that are essentially the affairs of private business, or community concern.

The state income tax amendment to the constitution which was voted down by the people in 1920, has again been made a live issue through the action of the House, which passed a bill by a vote of 95 to 5 for resubmission.

Both the Senate and the House have bills for the registration of aliens.

When the "lid" went onto the legislative hopper with the expiration of the time limit in which bills could be introduced by members of the legislature, the Senate showed a total of 838 measures and the House 1,079.

The bill for adjournment April 9 is now in the hands of the House rules committee. Under the usual rules of procedure adjournment would come about two weeks later than this date.

PRACTICAL TRAINING ON NORTHWEST FARMS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Vocational Board Aims to Supplement College Course With Actual Work in the Field, but For Study Purposes Only.

The Federal Board for Vocational education has at the present time in agricultural colleges in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana, 750 men in training, and it is the desire of the board that these men receive practical training along with their school work. For this reason the board is planning on placing a great number of these men on modern up-to-date farms for summer training.

The general plan of project work is to place the man now in school on farms that will give him training of a more practical nature along the line in which he is specializing. In other words, it would be practical training along the line the man intends to follow in making his living after completing his course.

The interest and energy of the federal board trainees will naturally be divided between the farm and the community. It is the feeling of the federal board that to make a successful agriculturist, a man should not only understand the handling of his own problem, but he should be interested in the other problems of the community. For this reason, the man will be encouraged to take part in community activities of all kinds.

At least one special problem will be selected by each trainee and a complete report will be submitted to the federal board upon this subject. The amount of credit granted to the trainee on project training will be determined by the agricultural college which he has been attending, and will be based upon the complete report of the trainee and the supervisor of the project work. The supervisor will inspect the work being done by trainees on project work regularly at least once a month. When the supervisor cannot inspect the work being done, arrangements will be made by the supervisor with the county agent or high school agricultural instructor.

It is the desire of the federal board to secure the co-operation of all farm associations, breeders' associations, live stock associations, and all similar organizations, in order that a sufficient number of opportunities may be obtained for its agricultural trainees.

The federal board trainees will be placed in agricultural lines for the purpose of training, and it is not the desire of the federal board to secure jobs for these men during the summer. While it will be necessary for them to assist in the work, it is the desire that emphasizes be placed upon training and not upon the amount of work which is done.

Maintenance While in Training.

The federal board pays all the expenses incident to training of men who elect to take training under Section II of the Vocational act, and pays for the maintenance and support of the man while in training.

While a man is in training under Section II of the Vocational Rehabilitation act, at an educational institution or on the farm where he is being trained on the job, he receives an allowance for the maintenance and support of himself of from $80.00 to $170.00 per month.

Full particulars and information regarding Uncle Sam's work for the disabled soldier may be obtained from the District Vocational Officer, Federal Board for Vocational Education, 600 Keith Plaza Building, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

LaFleur New State Adjutant.

State Commander A. H. Vernon has appointed M. P. LaFleur of Two Harbors as Minnesota Legion State Adjutant. LaFleur is Commander of the Two Harbors Legion Post and a member of the state executive committee of the Legion. In addition he is Grand Chef de Guerre of the "40 and 8," the Minnesota branch of the French box car society. P. L. O'Toole, who has been acting as state adjutant since the resignation of H. G. Whitmore, will resume his work as assistant adjutant and publicity director.

Convention Dates Set.

August 1, 2 and 3 are the dates for the 1921 state Legion convention at Winona. This decision was reached at a meeting of the state executive committee, at which Winona representatives painted glowing pictures of the good time in store for delegates. Some of the convention sessions will be held on a Mississippi river steamer capable of carrying three thousand delegates.

Baseball Next.

More than one hundred basket ball teams were kept in the field during the past season by Minnesota Legion posts, which are now planning to invade the baseball diamonds of the state, says the weekly news bulletin from the state department headquarters. Last winter Red Wing Legionnaires won thirteen games and lost seven. The Thief River Falls Legion team, after defeating some fifteen Minnesota Legion teams, invaded North Dakota territory and cleaned up the Minot team, which previously held the championship of North Dakota and Montana, continues the bulletin.

To Utilize Peat.

Believing that vast deposits of peat lying close to the Minnesota iron mines should be used in smelting iron ore right at the mine locations, Sen. Fred D. Vibert of Cloquet is preparing a bill appropriating $25,000 a year for experiment in the use of peat as a fuel, to be administered by the school of mines of the University of Minnesota.

Peat already is being used as a fuel in the state, but Sen. Vibert said that "the pioneer experimenters often are running into obstacles that they are unable to solve and their problems could be straightened out by the university authorities if they had a fund to work with."

"I am going to belong to the circus when I grow up," said one boy. "The circus is going to belong to me when I grow up," responded his companion. One guess as to which boy is putting his money into Thrift stamps.

FORFEIT GAME BY REFUSING TO PLAY WHEN TIE RESULTS

Company I Players Choose to Ignore Rules of Game and Take Consequences.

The Company I basketball team of Crookston forfeited a game to the Thief River Falls Legion team on Saturday night when, after playing to a tie score of 11 to 11 in the allotted time, they refused to continue for an extra period of five minutes to decide the victory. The game was played on the auditorium floor here before the largest crowd that ever turned out to witness a sport event. The Crookston team, accompanied by over two hundred followers, arrived here at 7:30 on a chartered train, and were met by the Thief River Falls City band and a delegation of citizens. Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire contributed a large number of neutral enthusiasts to crowd the special. This is the second game taken by the Legion men from the fast Company I quint this season. The locals have not been defeated in 14 starts made.

The game, while not displaying the excellent playing seen here earlier in the season, was a tight one from the moment the first ball was tossed. Carlson started the scoring for the Legion men on a free throw granted on Haaven's foul in the first minute of playing. Haaven immediately took the score to the visitors' favor with a goal made in a neat fashion from the field. More than five minutes of close playing followed, with many wild passes and poorly directed shots on the part of the ten players, after which Company I took time out for consultation. McGinn made the hoop from the field after playing was resumed. Sampson failed to score on Hadrath's personal. Both teams overworking their guard, action was very heavy and resulted in nothing more than many held balls. With 16 minutes of the half gone, Carlson made the net with a pretty shot from the center of the field. Johnson replaced Hadrath late in the half. Sampson failed for the second time to make the hoop on McGinn's personal. Just before the whistle blew for the half, Carlson again scored from the field after eluding in a clever fashion two of the Crookston men. The score stood at 7 to 2.

For the second half, Sampson for the visitors went to center and Haaven to left forward. After four minutes of tight work, during which the ball traveled but little because of numerous toss-ups, Haaven succeeded in placing a nice toss fair through the net. The game became noticeably more spirited and spectators for several minutes witnessed the only real basket ball played during the evening. With nine minutes gone Haaven made his second field goal. Hermanson made his first appearance with the Thief River men this season when he replaced Kiland for the last ten minutes of the half. Both Sampson and Carlson failed to make free throws granted on a double foul. Carlson also failed on Sampson's personal. Sampson made the hoop but in doing so broke his dribble and Carlson took another point for the Maroon and Gray. McGinn took a field basket to his credit. Company I forged to the lead with a clean goal shot made by Nelson and a free throw and field goal made by Sampson, the three plays occurring in rapid succession. When but a half minute of play was left, a most obvious foul was called on two of the Crookston players when they rushed Carlson to the side line just as he was all set for a goal shot, with such force as to lift him bodily from his feet. Carlson, in making the free throw, plopped the pigskin into the net without touching the circle, thereby tying the score. Close guarding all around followed, neither quint being able to score in the 30 seconds of the half remaining.

Perry Johnson, referee, being unaware that the score stood at a tie, followed the time keeper's whistle with his own, otherwise play would have continued for an additional five minutes or as many periods of five minutes as would have been needed to leave one of the two quints in the lead. The Company I players, apparently not sensing the ethics of the game as laid down in the rule book, desired to call the game a tie with the stipulation that another game be played on a neutral floor with neutral referee and umpire. Backed by an over-zealous crowd of Crookston fans, they flatly refused to continue playing for a five-minute period when given two minutes time in which to decide by the referee. As a consequence victory was forfeited to the Thief River Falls quint.

Sampson and Weber for Crookston played an outstanding game. Haaven's game, while heavy, was deserving of mention. McGinn and Carlson starred for the Legion men. Holzknecht also played well. The Legionnaires, badly battered as a result of recent scrimmages, failed to get into the stride shown in former games played here and had difficulty in locating the baskets with their customary ease.

Co. I		T. R. F.
Weber	rf	Carlson
Sampson	lf	Kiland
Haaven	c	Hadrath

Johnson substituted for Hadrath, Hermanson for Kiland and Kiland for Johnson.

Crookston scoring: Field goals—Haaven 3, Sampson 1, Nelson 1; free throws—Sampson 1 out of 4.

Thief River scoring: Field goals—Carlson 2, McGinn 2; free throws—Carlson 3 out of 5.

"B.L.T.," Famous Humorist, Is Dead; Was Widely Read

Bertram Leston Taylor, for more than a quarter century one of America's leading humorists and "column conductors" died last week at his Chicago home from pneumonia, after a two weeks' illness.

His "Line o' Type or Two," which he wrote for the Minneapolis Journal, Chicago Tribune and a group of other newspapers, has been considered the foremost "column" in American journalism. He kept up his work on the column until almost the last, and in several of his last contributions he referred jokingly to the illness that resulted in his death.

Mr. Taylor was born in Goshen, Mass., in 1866 and received his early newspaper training on a paper in Plainsfield, N. H. In 1896 he came west to edit the Duluth News-Tribune, where he remained for three years. Going to Chicago in 1899 he went to work on the Chicago Journal and remained for two years, when his bent for the humorous side of journalism led him to start the column for which he became famous as "B. L. T."

H. W. BORING, a well-to-do Kansas farmer, says he has gained twenty pounds and is in better general health than he has been in years, since taking Tanlac.

"Since Tanlac has overcome my troubles I have gained twenty ponds in weight and am in better general health than for years past," was the straight-forward statement made a few days ago by H. W. Boring, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living at Overland Park, Kans.

"During the two years I suffered I tried everything I knew of to get relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I tried Tanlac. My appetite was poor and my digestion was so bad I could hardly retain my food. Nothing seemed to agree with me; in fact, I was almost a confirmed dyspeptic. My whole system seemed to be out of shape. I would have pains across the small of my back so bad at times I could hardly move around.

"My nerves were all unstrung and I would become upset at the least little thing. I seldom slept well at night and finally, became so weak and run-down that I lost weight rapidly. I was also troubled a great deal with catarrh and of mornings had to spend a half hour or more clearing up my head.

"This is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac and it certainly has been a blessing to me. It just seemed to be made especially for my case. I improved from the first. My digestion now is perfect and regardless of what I eat I never suffer any bad after-effects.

"The pains across my back have entirely disappeared. The catarrh has left me, too, and my head is perfectly clear. I am no longer nervous and rest well at night. I have regained my lost weight and am feeling better and stronger than I have in years. I am going to keep Tanlac in my house so it will be handy at all times."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store; at Oklee by John H. Gassman, at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm and at Goodridge by C. C. Gulrud.—Adv.

CREAMERY PATRONS HAVE GOOD MONTH

Payments For Milk and Cream Over $2,000 More Than During Previous Month.

With a marked increase in butterfat production during the month of March, prices paid for cream will show a marked reduction in comparison with those of February, according to P. Engelstad, secretary of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association. Production in February also showed an increase over that of January and, as prices paid for cream were cent higher, the Thief River Falls creamery disbursements were over $2,000 in excess of those for the previous month. The average price paid for sour cream was 51 cents; that for sweet cream was 54 cents. Following is a list of the creamery patrons whose cream checks for the month were $50 or larger:

P. Egelstad, $249.04; Jens Kierk, $232.73; Hans Anton, $206.42; Waldie Christensen, $201.44; Henry Koop, $144.86; R. M. Johnson, $122.51; C. Christensen, $118.33; Paul Engelstad, $116.36; August Englin, $107.73; L. O. Senseth, $101.40; Fred Copp, $94.65; S. Wiberg, $89.16; E. Eidman, $85.68; Chris Nelson, $83.80; H. T. New Officers Elected For Jefferson Highway Ass'n.

At the annual meeting of the Jefferson Highway association held recently at St. Louis, Mo., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, E. H. Frisby, Bethany, Mo.; vice president, A. H. Shaffer, Pitsburg, Kan.; secretary, C. M. Weeks, Caryville, La.; treasurer, J. E. Coombs, St. Louis.

The association starts the year with all expenses paid and a balance in the treasury of $5,166.98. It was decided to push work on the Jefferson in the different states with increased vigor during the year and reports were received showing that in some sections the enterprise had been carried on without letup all through the winter.

With St. Olaf Choir.

The famous St. Olaf choir starts on another concert trip tomorrow, this time through the Middle West states. Last year's tour of the East was a great success and there is no doubt but that this will be repeated during the present season. Among the students of St. Olaf who will appear with the choir is Reuben Teslow of Thief River Falls. A hree-column picture of the aggregation appeared in last Friday's issue of the United American, published at Northfield.

Ziegler at St. Paul.

W. A. Ziegler, superintendent of Thief River Falls public schools, is in attendance at the Minnesota Schoolmasters' Short Course which is being held at St. Paul from Tuesday to Saturday of this week. Mr. Ziegler is scheduled to appear on the programs of several days, when he will explain the results of the scientific or intelligence tests which have been conducted in the grade schools here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Barnett left on Wednesday evening for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will visit the former's mother for a month. They were accompanied by their daughter, Fern, who will remain with her aunt at Minneapolis until the return of her parents.

Learn to Concentrate.

The person who falls discouraged is forgotten instantly—the world is cold and stingy with sympathy. It's the person that gets up every time he is knocked down and comes back for more, that wins. What we do today will serve as a passport for tomorrow.

If the great Edison had just done one thing and then stopped, he would probably not be known today. His secret is simple—he concentrates on one subject and works.

Success is not on the bargain counter—it is only for the person who can and will pay the price.

Always play the game fair and square.

A person can't win by trying to skin.

All of us can be teachers and the world needs us.

In order to be a success, we must throw our hearts and souls into our work—get into it for all we are worth—and it will respond with all it is worth.

All of us have problems—master them.

"Learn to Concentrate."

—Exchange.

Efficiency of Integrity.

This is the esteemed motto and shibboleth of the high school and it should be in the minds of every student to make this watch-word make the deepest impression on his or her mind.

The meaning of these words, as has been defined by our superintendent and other efficient men, is to be truly educated. Efficiency means to do a thing and do it well. Every person in high school ought to realize what this means as they should know that to do anything well is the greatest achievement in one's life. If one could but do everything well, he would receive all the conveniences and happiness of life for his labors. If this phrase could be taught to every student, understood and enacted by them, there would be no greater accomplishment of a high school training.

The second part, integrity, is interpreted to mean to be true to yourself. Do not cheat yourself for a conscience is never restful if such a suspension is upon it. For instance a game of solitaire. If one cheats in this game and wins he is not mindful of any pleasure derived from the victory. One should be honest in business as well as other respects and it is known that efficiency of integrity is a hard shibboleth to live up to, but by a steady training of the mind to live up to and keep the phrase as a watch-word one will find his life a more pleasant and happier period.

Bored to Death.

Are you on the list with those who are always bored to death and look on life as a bore?

Some people are bored to death when they have everything in their power, others with the idea of having a long hard days work ahead of them; students are bored to death with lessons and others over nothing.

Is it because you are incapable of fulfilling your duties you think you ought to do, or are afraid that you will not do the thing right—and to do it is bored.

Laziness is the stepping-stone to boredom—and therefore takes the joy out of life.

You think of the "might be" but if it takes a little mental and physical energy you pass it up, and lay your hands on something more easily acquired.

You cannot expect a "Good Deal" for "Nothing" and when you hesitate upon something you do not like, and only think of the thing you might enjoy, life is naturally a bore.

Life is what you make it—so in everything, even your lessons. Let's not make life a bore.

Me and Ed Traveling.

Dear Old Top:—

I thought you might be interested in hearing about the trip me, Ed. and Mr. Pierce had to the city of McIntosh a while ago. McIntosh is quite a ways further south than Thief River Falls, so there wasn't as much snow down there. Well, I might as well tell you all about the trip. Ed. was going down there to help in an oratorical contest, that is he was going to meet with some other fellows to find out who could say their "piece" the loudest. Of course Ed. has got a strong—well, we'll come to that later.

Of course we had to get up awful early that morning, but the alarm clock sure gives a fellow a helping hand in such times. Me and Ed. got down to the depot just in time to get a ticket and Mr. Pierce was scared that Ed. might have forgotten to get up and miss the train, but I told him Ed. was coming; you see he hasn't as long legs as I have. We all got on the train and reached Erskine, which is quite a big town for its size. It seems to be several miles from the depot, mebbe they couldn't find the depot when they built it or vice versa. They wanted to take us up town in a big buggy but we thought that in these hard times it was better not to be extravagant, so we walked. When we had been there awhile and people began to get up and opened the stores, we found out that Harding was going to be what they call "inaugurated" for President of the U. S. of A., that day, and I said to Ed. that it sure was too bad that it had to be on the same day, otherwise we might have gone too. But I 'spose he couldn't help it; maybe he didn't know just what day Ed. was going to speak.

We heard they had a high school there so we went over to see how the kids were getting along with their teachers. Mr. Pierce thought it wouldn't hurt us to get acquainted with some more teachers so he introduced us to a bunch of 'em (as tho we didn't know enough of them up here!) Anyhow, I like the ones we have much better. We stuck around there for a while till we heard a "toot," so we beat it down to the depot, but I guess it was another train because we had to wait a long time before the right one came rambling along. We pretty nearly started to "walk it," but Mr. Pierce thought it wouldn't be good for Ed.'s voice.

We barely had time to give the brakeman our tickets, when a fellow, with a big sign on his cap, came running between the seats "hollering" out "McIntosh!"

When we stepped out on the platform there were so many people that we could'nt hardly get up town, but we followed the crowd and finally got up to the high school where there were a lot of kids I'd never seen before. Everybody wanted to shake hands with us and one of the teachers there asked me if I was teaching up at Thief River Falls and I didn't know what to say at first. But then I thought I'd fool him a little, so I said that they would have hired me as principal if they hadn't known me there.

Well Rome wasn't built in one day and as there is quite a bit more to tell and I've already got sprained fingers from writing, I'll have to quit for this time. I'll write the rest of the tale next week.

Yours Respectful,

Musical on Friday.

Chapel Friday morning was opened with the singing of Irish songs, in recognition of St. Patrick's Day. This was followed by a vocal solo, "The Palms," by Miss Grace Iverson and two piano solos, "Le Sylvans" by Chaminade, and "The Butterfly," by Grieg, rendered by Miss Pearl Weeks. All three of the numbers were rendered in a highly pleasing manner and were well received by the audience.

Miss Johnson, the music instructor, who has charge of the Friday morning chapel periods, is endeavoring to have a special musical number to offer every Friday in addition to the regular program.

To a Senior.

(By a Sophomore.)

Under a softly shaded light
The haughty Senior stands
The Senior is a man of might,
With small but useful hands.

His hair is soft and waved, and long
His face is light as down,
But his brow is wet with honest sweat
And he bluffs where'er he can.

Week in, week out, from morn till night,
You can hear his constant blow,
You can hear him walk to classes
With measures beat and slow.

And the Freshmen going by the room
Look in the open door
They love to see the smiling face
And hear his jovial roar.

He goes on Sunday down to "Blacks"
And sits among the "boys",
He hears the waiter's angry voice,
And tries to make more noise.

It sounds like Mr. Pierce's voice
Scolding in the assembly hall (???)
He needs must think of him once more
How on him all blame doth fall.

Toiling—Rejoicing—Sorrowing
Onward through school he goes
Each morning sees some task begun
Each evening sees it close.

Thanks, thanks to thee my worthy friend (Senior)
For the lesson thou hast taught.
Thus at the flaming forge of school
Our fortune must be wrought.

Apologies to
HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

St. Patrick's Day Program.

The third of a series of faculty programs was given Wednesday, March 16. Miss Iverson had arranged for the occasion a very pleasing and entertaining Irish program, as it was the day before St. Patrick's day.

The program consisted of three parts; a selection of Irish songs by Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher; an Irish jig by Betty Vance and a group of duets by Mrs. Fisher and Miss Iverson. Mrs. Fisher sang several Irish songs, portraying the great love and deep loyalty of the Irish for their country and countrymen. Betty Vance performed an Irish jig so well that she was promptly encored. Perhaps the best part of the program, however, were the duets by Mrs. Fisher and Miss Iverson. We hope we shall have the opportunity of hearing them again before school closes.

Senior Class Play.

Now that the Seniors are practically thru with the work of putting out an annual, they are ready for a new job. This new and pleasurable job is the presenting of the Senior class play.

We have reason to believe that the class of 21 will make a great success of the class play. The Seniors are exceptionally fortunate in having Mr. Pierce as coach. We already know what Mr. Pierce has done along the line of debate and oratory for the L. H. S., and as dramatics is his favorite avocation he will undoubtedly be responsible for the best senior class play ever presented by any class previously.

Watch for the appearance of some real talented people! A try out which is to be given will be open to any senior and in this way giving everyone a fair trial.

We hope to find a few Sotherns and Barrymores in the class of '21.

Personals.

A student went to his teacher to get his report card mark changed, as he did not think his "F" was justified.

"How did you come out?" asked a fellow sufferer under the same teacher.

"I came out faster than I went in," sadly answered the disillusioned young hopeful.

Wearers of the Shamrock were quite conspicuous at the Lincoln high on St. Patrick's day. Lest we form a wrong impression of the unusual display of greenness, Supt. Ziegler explained that a green tie did not signify a green student, but a love for the beautiful Emerald Isle.

Miss Marguerite Burns, a student at the North Dakota "U" will spend her Easter vacation at her home in this city.

Miss Viola Lund, a student of the local high school, will spend her Easter vacation in the cities, visiting with friends and relatives.

Harold Smithers left Thursday for Minot, where he will spend the Easter vacation.

When all the world goes wrong and everything on the bum, a two-cent grin and a tilted chin, helps some, my friend, helps some.

Jim P. (in a meditative mood): "You can lead a horse to water and you can push a pen, but a pencil must be lead."

A girl was asked to tell what the word "that" was in a given sentence. She said that that that that that sentence contains, is an adjective.

It is kind of abusing the word in telling it, but there is no one that has the authority to sue us for the wear and tear of the word.

Mr. Pierce will leave Tuesday for Minneapolis where he will attend a principal's and superintendent's convention which will be held during the week. He will also attend the state oratorical contest where Edward Fiterman will represent the Lincoln high school as representative from this district.

A great historian said: "Happy is the nation that has no great events to record." The student suggests a slight change: "Happy is the student if the nation has no events to record."

"In arguing too, Clarence owes his skill
For e'en though vanquished he can argue still."

Teacher: "What ship did Wilson use in going to Europe?"

Reuben A: "The Mayflower."

Dreng Bjornaraa left last Saturday for his home near Gully, where he will visit with his parents during the spring vacation.

Bacon says: "Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested." From observation it must be concluded that text-books belong to the first class, and suffer sadly from a prejudiced taste.

Miss Iverson left Saturday for Pembina, North Dakota, where she visited several days, returning Wednesday evening.

Miss Mealy left Friday for her home at Minneapolis where she will spend Easter vacation.

Miss Merrian Miller, a high school instructor, and her sister, Miss Ella Miller, an instructor at the Knox school left Friday for Minneapolis where they will spend Easter vacation.

With the spring vacation the following teachers left last Friday evening for their respective homes: Misses Mealy, Swift, Patrick, Poppitz, Hoorn, Svedal, Elliot, Esther Johnson and Brown and Mr. Melby.

Clarence Rice and Marshall Race left last Friday evening for their respective homes to spend the spring vacation with their parents.

The treasurer of the Senior class is swimming in hopes that the members of the class find something to do during their spring vacation that they might pay their class dues promptly on their return.

Last Tuesday evening the Freshmen played a pick-up team of a few Freshmen and Eighth Graders in a preliminary game for the Legion-Fosston match. The Freshmen team won over the Pick-ups by a score of 38-16.

The winners are fine, sturdy players and we hope to see them as the Champions of this district representing our high school in a few years hence.

Supt. Ziegler addressing the student body on St. Patrick's day: "I hope and don't think that all you people are as green as you look this morning."

The basketball and football letter men held a meeting Wednesday after school, for the purpose of selecting a fitting monogram. It was decided to have only one letter L (Lincoln), instead of the usual T. R. F. H. S., which is deciphered with difficulty.

The Journal states that typewriting classes in a Minneapolis high school are being conducted with the accompaniment of Jazz music. It is said that students become very fast and accurate typists under the influence of the inspirations furnished by the phonograph. This might possibly be used to a good advantage in Journalism class, to act as an impetus for some students to write some real "peppy" and "live stuff" for the Progress.

Knox School Notes.

The Kindergarten pupils gave a patriotic program last week to which the parents and other relatives were invited. The following program was given by the pupils:

Song of Greeting—Pupils.
"Rococo," "Stars and Stripes"—Kindergarten orchestra.
"America"—Pupils.
Salute to Flag with Gestures—Pupils.
"Red, White and Blue"—Pupils.
Soldier Boy Drill—By pupils with soldier caps and drums.

Miss Nylander's studens won the marching pennant last week, and the pennant was awarded this week to Miss Fjelstad's room.

Friday afternoon the Easter Bunny visited the kindergarten room, each child receiving a basket of candy Easter eggs.

Last Friday afternoon the boys in Miss Lofgren's room brought their toys and the girls their dolls, the occasion being an Easter party.

The following teachers will spend their Easter vacation at the following places: Miss Fjeldstad will visit with friends at Grand Forks, Miss Friestad and Miss Nylander will visit at Northwood, N. D., Miss Morley will visit at her home in Redwood Falls, and Miss Miller will visit with friends in the cities.

Mrs. W. H. Akre of this city is substituting during Miss Lindquist's absence, on account of illness in the family.

Central Notes.

Those teachers who will spend the Easter vacation in this city are Miss Tanberg, Miss Jordan, Miss Frissell and Mrs. Pierce.

A letter was received last week from a student attending the seventh grade at La Platte, Maryland. This letter was sent by a student interested in this city. It contained a description of La Platte which was very good. This student also asked that some student write a description of Thief River Falls and send to him in return. Tom Gullingsrud will answer the letter.

The teachers who left Friday for their homes to spend the Easter vacation are Miss Dodge, Rock Lake, N. D., Miss Batten, Rosewood, Miss Mortenson, Fosston, Miss Friestad, Grand Forks.

Northrup News.

Teachers of the Northrup school, who are spending their vacation at various places are: Miss Klober at Little Falls; Miss Bark at Winnipeg and Miss Nepper at Superior. The rest remained in this city.

The marching pennant was awarded Miss Adams' room for the lower grades; for the upper grades there was a tie between Misses Bark, Pelto and Sandum's rooms.

Miss Pelto had her tonsils removed on Saturday.

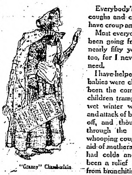
I Am "Granny" Chamberlain



Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with Obituary.

John Rafteseth, one of the young farmers of this community, quietly passed away at his home north of town last Thursday morning, following a lingering illness from tuberculosis of the hip. John Rafteseth was born at Semnor, Norway, March 25, 1885, and when three years old emigrated with his parents to America. His death was the direct result of an injury received several years ago while acting as engineer on a dredge. On Feb. 26, 1918, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Hanson of Grygla. Besides his wife there are left to mourn, his daughter, Irene Harriet, aged 2; an aged father and mother, seven brothers and sisters. The funeral was held on Tuesday and interment made in the Rindal cemetery.

Ole Steen, at his home south of town, gave an evening party last Saturday, with Olof Opseth, Herbert Carlson, Olof Nordhagen and John Sjolsvold as guests. The evening was happily spent at cards and a palatable luncheon was served.

Miss Esther Crown, in company with a friend from Thief River Falls, spent Saturday visiting Miss Ethel Kron.

Miss Lyda Batten, teacher at the Central school, Henry Stengelson and Chester Dols, students at Lincoln high school, Thief River Falls, arrived last Saturday morning to spend the Easter vacation at their respective homes.

A carload of feed and machinery was shipped in for the Melacheck family from New Prague. These people will live on the old Gullseth farm.

Miss Elsie Vorseth arrived Tuesday morning from Thief River Falls and will spend a few days visiting with Miss Gladys Sagmoen.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hanson left Tuesday morning for Euclid, where they will be employed during the coming summer.

The Mosbeck brothers moved on Tuesday to the John Bratrud farm, where they will make their home for the time being.

While enroute to the Farmers club meeting at Edgewood last Friday evening, a number of people from north of town had the misfortune to tip over their sleigh, resulting in the dislocation of an arm of Mrs. T. J. Taggart. Mrs. Taggart was taken to the Warren hospital, where she is being treated.

Emil Blomberg left Tuesday evening for Thief River Falls to undergo another operation on his arm, which was broken in an accident four months ago and which refuses to heal properly.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hanson, Elmer Hanson and Miss Alice Mosbeck of Wylie arrived last Sunday for a few days' visit with the Victor Mosbeck family.

The Treatment for Seed Wheat

Cleaning and Grading

After you are sure that you have the very best seed wheat available, it will pay you to clean it and grade it two or more times by running it through a good fanning mill. Uniformity of seed is of great importance. Extra large or giant kernels are not always the best, especially when mixed with ordinary kernels. You can tell by the general appearance of the seed whether or not it has been attacked by rust, scab, smut or other disease.

Be careful to fan out all shriveled kernels and kernels with discolored tips. Examine to see that you have no great amount of yellow berry but dark colored kernels. A little work on a rainy afternoon will give wonderful results in the intelligent use of the fanning mill. You can hitch up your gas engine and do the work easily.

Treat Your Seed for Smut

The waste from smut is entirely preventable by the formaldehyde treatment. An increase of over four bushels per acre has been found in spring wheat in which only a little over one and one-half bushels were actually destroyed by smut. The increase, when it occurs, is probably chiefly due to the fact that the grain is affected by other seed-borne parasites than smut and which are as effectually checked as the smut. You can get full directions where you buy your formaldehyde.

Test Seed Wheat for Germination

It is a serious risk to sow any grain without first testing it for germination in wet blotting papers.

All of the pupils in our rural schools know how to do this. Count one hundred seeds just as they come, into a blotting paper which has been moistened. Fold over like a book, wrap in oil paper or cloth, invert a strip of rag about one inch wide by ten inches long exactly like a lamp wick. Wet the whole test and then place so that the wick hangs in a glass of water, keeping the whole thing damp for several days. Open after the fifth or sixth day and count the strong, weak and dead kernels. This will give you the percentage of germination. If you want to see how strong the grain is, turn the test inside out without disturbing it and the kernels will grow into green shoots. They ought to grow three or four inches tall before beginning to bend over. It is very important that you should know the vitality of your seed. Sowing more seed when poor is not the way to do it.

If your test is below 93 or 94 per cent, you had better change seed.

Good Marquis seed wheat is available in almost any quantity.

If You Need Seed, Advise Us

Spring wheat varieties are becoming badly mixed. If you have any doubts about your seed, you had better send a sample to your agricultural college for judging, or send for list of seedsmen or growers who have fine Marquis seed of superior quality. Fine, clean, heavy wheat always brings a premium. Quality is always most profitable.

Brunswick

Why the Brunswick Phonograph is what it is

WHILE we rely entirely on the inherent merit of THE BRUNSWICK to prove its own case, as it has always done yet, it is a source of great satisfaction to occasionally reflect on the wonderful organization and resources back of it which has not only been responsible for the present unique position of esteem in which the instrument is universally held, but which also furnishes us and our clientele of BRUNSWICK owners with the satisfying assurance that THE BRUNSWICK will always be the most desired of all phonographs.

A few facts concerning the Manufacturers of the Brunswick Phonograph

They are capitalized for $56,000,000.
—have branch offices in twenty-five cities in the United States —five in Canada, one in France, one in Cuba and one in South America.
—operate their own timber lands in Northern Michigan.
—make every part of the BRUNSWICK Phonograph in its entirety.
—are the only phonograph manufacturers in the United States, and, we think, the only one in the world, that actually does this.
—have at the present time seven factories devoted to the manufacture of phonographs and parts, and two factories to the pressing of records.
—cut their own veneer logs and slice their own veneer.
—manufacture their own panels and are just completing a plant to manufacture shipping cases for their phonographs.

Ponder over these facts and you will readily discover the reason of our enthusiasm for Brunswick Phonographs and Records.

Hear, then compare

The way to fully appreciate the superiority of The Brunswick is to hear it, then make comparison. Your ear will quickly decide in favor of The Brunswick.

Taking 25,000 Partners

WITHIN a few weeks the employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) will be given an opportunity by the Company to buy shares in the capital stock of this organization under conditions which are distinctly favorable to the employee.

This stock is to be paid for from the employees savings running over a period of five years.

At the end of that time it is believed that the men actively engaged in conducting the business of this corporation will be possessed of a substantial interest in the business.

This is but one other step which the Company has taken to make mutual the interests of those who are engaged in its activities and those who by the investment of their capital have made these activities possible.

It is this spirit of fairness ever dominant in the minds of the management which has enabled the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to gather an organization of enthusiastic, efficient, thoughtful and conscientious men and women who are devoting themselves to the betterment of that complete cycle of service which the Company is rendering the public.

To give you the service you are entitled to receive and which it is the Company's wish to render, every employee realizes that infinite pains must be taken with every step leading up to the transaction.

The Company believes that by making the active employees partners in the business, another step has been taken to achieve that perfection of service toward which we are striving.

Committees in Charge.

Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, county chairman of the League, is in charge of arrangements for the two days. Mrs. Guy Halvorson is in charge of the musical section of the program. Mrs. Scott Laird is publicity director. Mrs. L. H. Lawrence and Mrs. C. T. Christianson have in charge the arrangements for the Monday evening banquet. Mrs. Victoria McKinney, Miss Carrie Trogan, Miss Una Nelson, Mrs. J. O. Sether and Mrs. Robert Vance make up the boosters' committee.

Other county officers of the League are: Miss Sarah Vaughn, first vice president; Miss Una Nelson, second vice president; Mrs. Scott Laird, secretary; Mrs. Gaston Ward, treasurer. Mrs. J. M. Bishop is chairman of the legislative committee, Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg chairman of the public health committee, and Mrs. Daniel Shaw chairman of the American citizenship committee. Mrs. H. W. Froehlich is chairman of the executive committee of the Ninth district.

NORWAY SONS BUY DAVIS AVE. SITE

Contemplate Erection of Up-to-Date Club House in Ideal Location Shortly.

Snore lodge, Sons of Norway, this week purchased from the Tessum Seed, Grain and Supply company, the triangular piece of property lying east of Davis avenue at the end of Third street, and will erect thereon a modern club house. The site is one of the most desirable to be found in the city for a building of this kind and is directly across the street from the plot acquired earlier in the season by the Elks lodge for a similar purpose.

Direct management of the new property has been placed in the hands of nine members of the lodge and an incorporation formed as a holding company, of which the following have been elected officers: Bernhard Knudsen, president; Edward H. Ness, vice president; T. J. Reierson, secretary; Lars H. Larson, treasurer. Added to these as a board of trustees are Jorgen Eide, E. K. Aasen, C. C. Gulrud, Ole C. Nesja and H. S. Dahlen.

The corporation has a capital stock of $15,000, practically all of which has been subscribed and will be paid in as demanded. Whether or not building operations will be begun this coming summer has not yet definitely been decided upon, btu it is the intention to begin the erection of a modern building for housing the Sons and Daughters of Norway lodges as soon as conditions seem favorable.

The purchase of this property by the lodge assures the improvement of that section to a great extent. It is certain that the Elks will take steps to erect a club house as soon as conditions become a little more settled and as the properties practically adjoin the improvements will mean much to that part of the city.

SCHOOL FACULTY WILL BE SEEN IN FAMOUS COMEDY

"Charlie's Aunt" to Be Presented Next Wednesday to Help Athletic Association.

Members of the faculty of the Thief River Falls schools will present the farcial-comedy, "Charlie's Aunt," at the city auditorium on the night of April 6, the proceeds to go to wipe out a deficit existing in the high school athletic treasury. The play is being produced under the direction of L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the Lincoln high school, not as a dramatic work but purely for entertainment purposes and as the most feasible means of assisting in the furtherance of athletics in the school. Part of the present indebtedness existing in the department was carried over from last year.

A special matinee for school children will be presented at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon at the nominal price of ten cents per admission. No reservation of seats will be made for the evening performance, when a general admission of 50 cents will be charged.

An added attraction for the evening presentation of the comedy will be the new city orchestra of 20 pieces which makes its first public appearance. The orchestra was organized early in February and under the direction of Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, has been making marked progress. Music lovers of the community are promised a pleasing surprise in the first appearance of the musical organization.

"Charlie's Aunt" is full to the brim of great laugh material. It is the tale of three young college fellows who get up a big reception for a promised visit of a wealthy aunt of one of their number. Auntie at the last minute wires that she will not be present, but the college men, thinking the arrangements for the reception have progressed too far to withdraw, prevail upon a gentleman friend to impersonate her. Complications, not to mention jealousy, enter into the affair when the fiances of the three youths take a sudden fancy to the "aunt." The climax is reached when the lady herself appears upon the scene. The cast is as follows:

Steven Spettigue, Oxford solicitor ---- Clarence Pope
Col. Sir Francis Chesney, late of the Indian service ---- Albert Tommeraasen
Jack Chesney, Charles Wykeham, Lord Fancourt Babberly, undergraduates St. Olde College, Oxford ---- F. A. Tripp, J. J. McCann, G. B. Melby.
Brassett, college scout ---- Carl Sundahl
Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez, from Brazil ---- Edna Riff
Kitty Verdum, Spettigue's ward ---- Margaret Mealey
Amy Spettigue, Spettigue's niece ---- Irene Patrick
Ella Delahay, an orphan ---- Olga Lofgren

MEETING HERE OF DISTRICT PASTORS

President I. T. Anstad Among Those Who Will Attend Devotional Meetings.

Pastors of the Thief River Falls circuit and others will meet in Trinity Lutheran church next Tuesday for a devotional meeting that will be in session three days. The opening sermon of the conference is to be delivered by Rev. A. N. Skogerboe of Erskine, a former pastor of this city. The portion of Scripture chosen for discussion is Paul's epistle to Titus, second chapter, eleventh to fourteenth verse. The introductory address on this passage will be given by Rev. C. M. Grimsrud of St. Hilaire.

Wednesday evening divine services will be conducted by Rt. Rev. I. T. Anstad, president of the Northern Minnesota district. Other pastors to be in attendance are: Rev. Annestad, Roseau; Rev. Hagen, Pine Creek; Revs. Olson and Bernhards, Greenbush; Rev. Gjerde, Thief River Falls; Rev. Ordahl, Holt; Rev. Saebo, Mavie; Rev. Hanson, Goodridge; Rev. Anderson, Grygla, and Rev. Hougen, Fergus Falls. The public is most cordially invited. It is hoped that attendance will be large at every session of the conference.

Thos. H. Smith, banker at Mavie, was in the city Tuesday on a business mission.

EQUALIZING TAX FIRST DUTY OF NEW ASSESSORS

Chairman Lord of Tax Commission Says Absolute Impartiality Must Be Used.

Speaker of Opinion That Not Forty Per Cent of Moneys and Credits Are Listed.

Poor Man Almost Certain to Be Hit Hardest Unless Assessor is Very Careful.

Samuel Lord, chairman of the Minnesota Tax Commission, spent Monday in conference with the township, village and city assessors at the Pennington county court house, bringing out during the course of his talks many interesting facts regarding the constitutional provisions for property assessment, together with the duties of the assessor and of the property owner. Twenty-three assessors of the county were present. The meeting was held for the purpose, as Mr. Lord styled it, of so instructing both newly elected assessors and those holding over from former years that every taxpayer will have his property measured in a half bushel container identically the same as that in which his neighbor's is measured. The Minnesota statutes now provide that such meetings be held once a year in every county in the state.

The commissioner opened his discussion with a brief statement regarding the importance of the position which the property assessor now holds because of the increase in tax rates. He stated incidentally that a tax rate of 100 mills on the dollar was no longer unusual in villages and cities of this and other states. Twenty-six hundred assessors are now required yearly to list the state's property.

Personal properties, moneys and credits and property improvements, or destruction of the same by fire or storm, are all that will be listed during 1921. Mr. Lord placed great stress upon the value of proper assessment of moneys and credits, inasmuch as they are in the possession of those best fitted to contribute to the country's support. It was his estimate that less than 40 per cent of such assets are now being listed. He also stated that mercantile assessments were as a rule the most unequitable and advised that merchants be persuaded to show annual invoice sheets, inventories of goods received and sales sheets in order to assist the assessor in arriving at a proper valuation of stock. As a remedy in case merchants refused such a request, he suggested that their assessments be made high enough to assure their cooperation for another year. The law now provides that buildings or improvements destroyed during the year by storm or fire will not be included in assessments.

Mr. Lord said that the state tax commission has discovered after several years of nivestigation that larger property owners are given the "best of the deal" as to assessments in every locality of the state and that its mission at this time was to see that proportionate values are maintained in all cases. He personally visited 33 counties during the investigations and in 66 comparisons of the assessed valuations of wealthy and poor discovered that in every case the wealthy property owner was not paying his proportionate share of taxes. He recommended arbitrary assessments large enough to bring the owner before the county board of equalization, or even the state tax commission, in cases where proper information could not be secured, adding that few people realized that they were punishable for the offense of gross misdemeanor for misstatement as to their property values or failure to give such.

Many questions were asked by those in attendance during the course of the conference, which was five hours in length, and were met with a ready answer by Mr. Lord. Assessors present were:

Emil Larson, Bray; Harold Holmes, Black River; J. M. Schie, Cloverleaf; Ed. Rustan, Deer Park; E. H. Besancon, Goodridge; Sever Nilson, Highlanding; Julius Olson, Hickory; Joe Kilen, Kratka; M. O'Leary, Mayfield; G. K. Haavi, North; G. J. Nordhagen, Norden; Oscar Peterson, Numedal; A. C. Hullstrom, Polk Center; J. C. Tangen, Reiner; J. W. Denhart, River Falls; F. T. Satre, Rocksbury; Eric Anderson, Sanders; Lewis O. Stenseth, Smiley; P. A. Peterson, Silverton; Elias A. Peterson, Wyandotte; M. O. Seavey, village of Goodridge; Carl Johnson, St. Hilaire; Lars Backo, Thief River Falls.

STAFF HOME GIVEN BOARD'S APPROVAL

New Structure to Cost $30,000 Will Be Erected This Summer at Oakland Park.

The board of directors of the Oakland Park Sanatorium district on Friday approved the plans and specifications for a staff building to be erected on the sanitorium grounds here during the coming summer. The plans must further be approved by the state board of health as to proper sanitation, by the advisory committee of the state as to the fitness of the proposed building for housing tubercular patients and medical staff, and by the state board of control, through which state moneys will be appropriated. The construction and equipment of the two-story brick building, which is patterned after the sanatorium proper, will be financed by the state and the sanatorium district composed of Red Lake, Marshall, Roseau and Pennington counties, the state paying one-half and the district one-half.

Bids on the construction of the staff building will be heard during the latter part of April, following the approval of the plans by the above mentioned state boards. The specifications as now drawn up call for its completion by October 1 this year. It was originally estimated that the construction work alone would cost $35,000, with an additional $5,000 for proper equipment. Sund & Dunham, Minneapolis architects who drew up the plans, have lowered the estimate to $30,000.

STATE ENGINEER IS SPEAKER AT CLUB LUNCH THURSDAY

C. A. Forbes Explains Workings of Babcock Law—Grain Embargo is Requested.

The attendance at the Commercial club weekly luncheon last Thursday established a record, over 70 business men being present. The serving of the noonday meal was accomplished with such dispatch as to allow practically all of those in attendance to remain for an excellent address by Charles A. Forbes, civil engineer for the state highway commission, and the brief but snappy business session which followed.

Mr. Forbes, whose work with the highway commission has extended over a period of years, during which his services have been invaluable, is well known to many residents of Thief River Falls and Pennington county. He spoke of the history of his department from the date of its establishment to the present time and explained briefly the objects to be accomplished in the years to come, dilating upon the working of the Babcock plan as adopted for the construction of 7,000 miles of highway within the state. Much credit for the successful administration of department affairs during the years following its formation, he said, was due to the unceasing efforts of G. W. Cooley, pioneer commission engineer. He lauded the accomplishments of C. M. Babcock as Minnesota state highway commissioner, together with his staff of assistants, and explained many of the problems confronting the state senate in providing for the operation of the good roads amendment.

Very little actual construction work under the new law will take place during 1921, according to Mr. Forbes, though projects already under way will be carried to completion. It is estimated that the state will derive over $6,000,000 this year from the automobile tax. The federal government appropriations will increase this to over $8,000,000, of which at least 20 per cent will be devoted to maintenance purposes. It is also planned to reimburse counties for the cost of construction work already done on roads taken over by the state.

Arterial highways leading into Thief River Falls were placed in the "hard surfaced" class, when the visiting engineer in response to questioning stated that hard surfacing would first be undertaken on those roads which carry an average traffic of over 500 vehicles per day. Should the city pave Main avenue, over which the Jefferson highway passes through Thief River Falls, reimbursement could be secured from the state under the Babcock amendment as originally proposed. Mr. Forbes stated that he was not aware of any changes having been made in that regulation. Appreciation of the speaker's visit and talk here was expressed through a rising vote of thanks by his audience. A short business meeting followed.

Isak Helseth, revolving committee chairman for Thursday's meeting, stated that it was an opportune time for the club to go on record as taking some stand on the city paving problem. When the matter was put to a vote every club member present rose to his feet as signifying his approval of paving the streets of the business section during the present summer.

On motion made by W. B. Fuller and seconded by F. J. Stebbins, and without discussion, a resolution was passed, urging the placing of an absolute embargo on the importation of all cereals and cereal products and expressing the belief that the life of the farming and business interests of the Northwest is being jeopardized by unfair foreign competition. Daniel Shaw, H. O. Chommie and W. J. Brown, having been appointed as a legislative committee, were given the matter in hand to redraft the resolution and forward copies to other commercial clubs of the Northwest and to congressmen.

N. J. Silk Named Member of Park Board by Mayor

N. J. Silk has been appointed to the city park board by Mayor John Bratrud vice Dr. G. W. Booren, whose term expired recently. The board is now composed of the following members, their terms expiring in the years noted: Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg, 1922; Dr. C. R. Crandall, chairman, 1923; Emil E. Zeh, 1924; N. J. Silk, 1925; Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, 1926.

LEGION QUINTET CLOSES SEASON; ARE CHAMPIONS

Thief River Basketeers Rightly Deserving of Championship of Northwest Minn.

With Total Score of 506 Against 197 For Opponents, Title is Unchallenged.

Crookston Co. I Men Dropped Out of Running Upon Forfeiting Game to Locals.

The Thief River Falls Legion basket ball team has closed its 1920-21 season, Manager G. W. Connell officially announced on Saturday. The last game was played here on the night of March 19 with the Company I quint of Crookston, the visitors forfeiting the laurels. With 14 victories to their credit out of 14 starts made during the season and having cleaned up everything in northwestern Minnesota, as well as several Dakota and southern Minnesota teams, the Legionnaires are easily entitled to the championship of the northwestern section of the state. The Company I team, the only formidable claimant for the title, ceased to be in the running after having been defeated once on their home floor and once on the Thief River floor. The last game was played to a tie and forfeited to Thief River Falls when Crookston refused to allow her players to continue.

The season has been a successful one in every way, for which much credit is being given G. W. Connell, coach and manager. The Legion treasury is to the good, record crowds having turned out for every game played here. Gate receipts indicate that over 7,000 persons witnessed the many clashes which have been, with but few exceptions, of the highest order. Residents of the city and all Pennington county are unanimous in their approval of the brand of basket ball played by the Maroon and Gray and in the statement that the city auditorium this year has been the scene of the finest in the way of sportsmanship—and of the poorest at times. The seven men who constitute the playing force have been outweighed man for man in every game, emerging victorious on each occasion through a thorough knowledge of the game, speed and good team work. Each of the seven men has starred in one or more games, though Carlson, right forward, undoubtedly takes the higest honors. The spirit of the community which has backed the team found expression at a recent meeting of the Commercial club, when plans were formulated which will result in that organization feteing Perry Johnson, who has refereed all games, Coach Connell and the players, who are: Irving Carlson, Ray Kiland, Guy Johnson, Reuben Hadrath, Alvin Holzknecht, Dennis McGinn and Gordon LaBree.

Following are victories which the champions have to their favor, listed in the order played:

Fosston Legion, 24 to 16.
Crookston Company I, 31 to 29.
Grand Forks Y, 44 to 6.
Bemidji Legion, 41 to 18.
Ada Legion, 51 to 12.
Detroit Legion, 67 to 7.
Greenbush City, 53 to 18.
Excelsior Independents, 40 to 22.
Excelsior Independents, 31 to 11.
St. Paul Company G, 29 to 20.
Minot Independents, 32 to 28.
Minot Independents, 23 to 18.
Fosston Legion, 38 to 11.
Crookston Company I, by forfeit, 2 to 0.
Total points, 506 to 197.

Henry Eide Buys Business Block; Will Occupy in Fall

Henry Eide, traveling salesman for an Eastern novelty house, with headquarters here, on Tuesday purchased of W. F. Tank the building on Third street at present occupied by the Laird Specialty Shop. It is known that Mr. Eide contemplates establishing himself here in a retail business but not earlier than this coming fall; Scott Laird, proprietor of the Specialty Shop, will continue to occupy the building until June, when his lease expires, and perhaps until later.

The one-story brick building is of modern construction throughout, having been built by Mr. Tank, Fergus Falls tailor, in 1915, at which time he expected to open an establishment here. The former proprietor spent Monday and Tuesday in Thief River Falls for the purpose of closing the deal.

DANGER IN TELLING TRUTH IS EXPOSED

Elks Will Try to Prove That Strict Veracity is Not Always the Safest Policy.

The first reading of "Nothing But the Truth," a three-act comedy to be staged by the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks about the middle of April, took place at the Elks' club rooms on Monday night. The cast of ten characters will be made up entirely of local talent. Roles will be definitely determined as a result of try-outs now being conducted. Immediately upon securing the desired cast, work on the comedy will be pushed in order to secure its presentation as early as April 15. It will be produced under the direction of L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the Lincoln high school.

"Nothing But the Truth" is described as being a play that will first make the comedy hound sit up and take notice and then collapse in his seat from sheer mirth. It tells the story of four young brokers who, becoming saddled with an almost overwhelming load of Quick Silver stock certificates, endeavor to unload by the most nefarious means. One of their number, displeased with that process, engages his partners in a discussion, the upshot of which is a bet of $10,000 that he can get through a twenty-four hour day without telling a lie, even of the whitest variety. Trouble starts at once and continues to pour down upon his head when his sweetheart asks him what he thinks of a most weird creation which she is wearing for a sky-piece.

An evening of exceptional entertainment is promised.

ALL DONATE WHEN GIRLS SELL TAGS TO HELP CHINESE

Secure $117.49 in This Manner Saturday, Bringing City's Total to Near $300.

On Monday a draft for $265.89 went forward from Thief River Falls to E. W. Decker, treasurer of the Minnesota branch of the American Committee for the China Famine Relief fund. That amount represented the contributions of the community for the relief of the starving yellow hordes of North China. Of this sum, $48.40 was deposited during the past month in a contribution box placed in Lambert's drug store, $117.49 was the proceeds of the tag sale conducted here on Saturday by members of the Girl Scouts with the assistance of members of the Girls Community club, and the balance of $100 was donated by the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Credit for the success of the drive is to be given to Mayor John Bratrud, who has given the work his personal supervision. Roy Lambert acted as treasurer for the Thief River Falls committee. The following girls, assisted by Mrs. E. M. Stanton, Mrs. Emil Zeh, Miss Ida Tandberg and Miss Carrie E. Trogan, conducted the tag sale on Saturday: Lilly Robert, Melvina Rupprecht, Maverette Hilson, Margaret Melgaard, Harriet Morgan, Ersyl Anderson, Rose Flynn, Maxine Johnson, Muriel Loken, Ella Monsebraaten, Esther Bennes, Elizabeth DeCremer, Ruth McGilvery, Georgia Coyle, Dorothy Fuller and Ellen Crandall.

In addition to the above named sum the churches of the city have responded liberally to the call of the yellow race. Their contributions were forwarded through denominational charity organizations but were credited to the general committee fund. It is estimated that the total sum sent from Pennington county for the China Relief fund is upwards of $500.

Two Important Dates For Local Elks to Remember

Tomorrow night Thief River Falls lodge of Elks will install officers for the coming year. The meeting will be the first held in the new quarters in the Citizens bank block and it is expected that there will be a record attendance.

The official house warming will take place on Friday evening, April 8, when the Elks and their ladies will enjoy themselves at a grand masquerade party. The committee in charge promises that this will be an event long to be remembered in the annals of the Elks lodge. It is expected that the members residing in nearby towns will be on hand in larger numbers than ever and special efforts will be made to see that they have a good time.

The new Elks quarters present a most inviting appearance. Repainted and revarnished throughout, the rooms are light, airy and pleasant. A refreshment stand handling candy, cigars and soft drinks has been installed and is in charge of E. M. Korstad, who will be found on the job from noon until midnight.

Uncle Sam's Assistant Gets Transfer to Arkansas P. O.

Miss Anna Brokke, for the past six years a member of the Thief River Falls post office staff of clerks, left on Tuesday evening for Little Rock, Ark., where she will make her future home. Miss Brokke, a Pennington county girl, as one of Uncle Sam's assistants has won the esteem of the entire community and her smile will be missed by those who approach the wicket for a "couple o' twos." She has been transferred to the post office at Little Rock, in which city a brother and sister make their home.

Last in Winter Series of Banquets Called Off

The last of a series of lecture-banquets given here during the past two months by the Merchants association of the city has been indefinitely postponed, it having been decided that the season has become so far advanced as to materially affect attendance. The last banquet was scheduled to take place at the Hotel Evelyn on the night of April 6, with M. C. Elmer of the Department of sociology of the University of Minnesota, as guest of honor and speaker of the occasion.

PAVING FIGURE FOR WORK HERE EXTREMELY LOW

Contracts Let in the Northwest Since March 1 Are at Considerably Higher Figure.

This is Proven By Jobs Awarded Warren Bros. in Ramsey County and at Ashland.

Expert Says Thief River Falls Price is Best That May Be Quoted For Three Years.

Mayor John Bratrud is in receipt of a communication from O. C. Olson, an official of the Warren Brothers Bitulithic Paving company, whose branch offices are at Minneapolis, in which the letter quotes prices on paving contracts let since March 1. The prices quoted offer some interesting side lights on the paving controversy as it exists in Thief River Falls today. The body of Mr. Olson's letter follows:

"We received a contract at Ashland, Wisconsin, about 30,000 yards, at a price of $4.22. This is on a 6 inch concrete base, with gravel for the mineral aggregate, which gravel is dredged out of the lake which borders on the city of Ashland.

"We received a contract last Saturday from Ramsey county for the White Bear road, 73,000 yards, at a price of $4.19 per yard. This is on a 6 inch concrete base, using a limestone aggregate which is quarried in the city of St. Paul.

"Yo uwill note from both of these prices that considering the fact that your contract is on the basis of a 6 inch base, using granite, your price is lower than either the price at Ashland or St. Paul. The price on the rock alone is from $1.50 to $1.75 per cubic yard more at Thief River Falls, and of course freight rates are higher on practically everything.

"I am positive that your price is lower than any price which will be given this year and it must also be taken into consideration that the price at Ashland and St. Paul are lower than prices prevailing a little later in the season, when contractors will not be as hungry for work as they are now, these two contracts being the first to be let in Minnesota and Wisconsin so far this year.

"I shall be glad to keep you posted on future lettings, but as above stated I can assure you that you have as good a price as you will be able to get in the next two or three years, and better than you would be able to get this year.'

The city council entered into a contract with the Bitulithic Contracting, Limited, of Winnipeg, Canada, for the construction of approximately 24 blocks of paving at a price of $3.98 per square yard for bitulithic and a five-inch base, 20 cents additional to be paid for a six-inch base, and 30 cents additional for the use of crushed granite as a mineral aggregate instead of gravel as originally proposed.

Many Hear A. E. F. Story As Told By Salvationists

A large audience assembled at the city auditorium on Tuesday night to hear Commandant and Mrs. J. W. Hale of the Salvation army talk of their experiences while serving with the late American Expeditionary forces in France and Germany. Both Salvationists served many months in and near the battle fronts where the fighting was hottest and are gifted with the power of relating the story of their life there in a telling and interesting manner. The speakers of the evening were introduced by Mayor John Bratrud in a short address.

Buy Spokane Hotel Lease.

The following is taken from the Spokane (Wash.) Daily Chronicle: "For a consideration of $15,000 Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ludtke of Hibbing, Minn., have purchased the lease and furnishings of the Dunsmuir apartments, E. 21 Second avenue, from George Dunham. The purchasers have been hotel operators in Hibbing for several years and will make their permanent home in Spokane. They took possession of the Dunsmuir immediately." Mrs. Ludtke is a sister of Leonard DuChamp of Thief River Falls and the daughter of Mrs. J. A. DuChamp of Mavie, where she formerly made her home.

Woman's Auxiliary Meeting.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion met at the home of Mrs. L. H. Lawrence yesterday afternoon. At this meeting Mrs. J. M. Bishop gave a report of the state executive committee, she having met with the board a short time previously. The remainder of the time was spent in discussing ways of raising money and also kinds of entertainment for the monthly open house meetings. The session closed with the serving of a delicious lunch by Mrs. Lawrence.

Erecting New Residence.

The Prichard company on Wednesday began the excavation work for the basement of a residence for H. A. Pratt at 240 Markley avenue north. The building will be a bungalow costing in the neighborhood of $5,000. The same concern is submitting estimates on several other structures to be erected in the city in the near future.

Society and Club

Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the Social Welfare section of the Woman's club will be postponed on account of the school of instruction to be held here on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Mogensen to Entertain.

A number of ladies will be informally entertained by Mrs. E. O. Mogensen at her home on LaBree avenue Saturday afternoon. Needlework will be the diversion.

Miss Hamry Entertains.

A few young ladies were informally entertained by Miss Effie Hamry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Richardson on Thursday evening. The hours were spent in needlework.

Entertains.

Honoring Mrs. Wm. Boreen of Minneapolis, Mrs. George Nicholson entertained a number of ladies at her home on Friday afternoon. Needlework and conversation were the chief diversions.

Miss Culver Entertains.

Miss Frances Culver entertained a few friends at cards on Saturday evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Thackery, Mrs. Hal Stanton, Alice Welch, Joseph and Max Dumont of Chicago.

Sunday School Entertained.

Miss Thelma Christianson was hostess to the members of her Sunday school class at her home on Friday evening. Music and games furnished the entertainment. A delicious lunch concluded a most successful party.

Entertains Informally.

Mrs. M. Aalberg informally entertained a few ladies at her home Friday afternoon in compliment to Miss Regina Halvorson of Badger, who was a guest at the home of Mrs. C. T. Christianson the latter part of last week.

Luncheon.

Mrs. C. T. Christianson entertained a few ladies at a luncheon at her home Wednesday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. C. E. Russell of Superior, and Mrs. Wm. Boreen of Minneapolis, who were guests of friends here last week.

Banquet at Brumund.

Misses Caroline Wells and Emily Kneubahl will be honor guests at a banquet to be given by the League of Women Voters at the Brumund hotel on Monday evening. Both men and women who are interested are invited to be present.

U. C. T. to Have Party.

The U. C. T. lodge will give another of their successful parties at the Masonic hall on Saturday evening. Dancing will make up the chief entertainment for the occasion. All members and their families and friends are invited to be present.

Pleasantly Surprised.

In commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Rev. O. J. Lundell, a large number of friends of the family gathered at their home unannounced on Tuesday evening. Chas. Gustafson read from the Scriptures and stated in well chosen words their purpose in coming. Brief talks were also made by Messrs. Schermer, B. Swanson and Gustav Anderson. A liberal sum of money was presented to the honored guests by A. Eklund, as a token of their love and esteem, for which Mr. Lundell expressed his thanks to all. The ladies' quartet rendered several good selections, after which lunch was served by the ladies.

Birthday Club Has Party.

The members of the Birthday club met at the home of Mrs. Scott Laird on Tuesday evening, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. The members, besides Mr. and Mrs. Laird, include Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Booren, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Sapero. A large birthday cake was a feature of the event.

Frye-Austin.

On March 28 occurred the marriage of Harry Frye of this city to Miss Nelida Austin of Crookston at the last named place. The newlyweds are well known here, the bride having visited her cousin, Miss Lottie Austin, on several occasions. The marriage comes as a complete surprise to everyone.

Basket Shooters Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Connell entertained the members of the Legion basket ball team at a 7 o'clock dinner at their home on Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for Irving Carlson, Alvin Holzknecht, Dennis McGinn, Ray Kiland, Reuben Hadrath, Gordon LaBree, Guy Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hermanson.

Easter Party.

Misses Olive and Evelyn Carlson delightfully entertained about twenty of their young friends at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Carlson, on Thursday afternoon. The decorations were in keeping with the Easter season and a color scheme of yellow and white prevailed in the serving of a lunch at five o'clock.

Young People's Program.

Next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock the young people of the Presbyterian church will give a full program. The Junior choir will render a cantata and the Sunday school will present two playlets, one depicting conditions in Alaska and the other a sketch from Siam. The church gladly keeps open house for all who wish to attend.

Bridge Club Entertained.

The members of the Tuesday Night Bridge club and those who had substituted on several occasions were guests of Mrs. Victoria McKinney, Mrs. Beatrice Hieber and Mrs. W. H. BonDurant at a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the home of the latter on Tuesday evening. The hours following dinner were devoted to bridge. Prizes were won by Mrs. L. F. Fisher and F. J. Stebbins.

Girls' Community Club.

The Girls' Community club meeting has been postponed for a week because of the school of instruction to be held in the Commercial club rooms on Monday and Tuesday afternoons and evenings. All club members are urged to avail themselves of the privilege of attending these meetings, as two of the most prominent workers in the League of Women Voters will be the principal speakers.

Birthday Surprise.

A successful surprise party was that given by several of the young folks for Mrs. Scott Laird at her home on Monday afternoon in commemoration of her birthday anniversary. A delightful supper, prepared by the guests, was served at six o'clock. Places were arranged for Alice Gobler, Beatrice Sandum, Marjorie Hoppa, Ariel Kinghorn, Ella Monsbroten, Lucille Roark, Isabel Richter and Mrs. Laird.

Birthday Party.

Sunday being the eighth birthday anniversary of Melford Haugen, eleven of his young friends were entertained at his home that afternoon. Much merriment was created with various games until the lunch hour. Those present were Amber and Violet Prugh, Irene Haugen, George Lambert, Ralph Lieberman, Merle Johnson, Arthur Myrum, "Buster" Lane, Ardell Rupprecht, Clarence Rasmussen and Hartman Larson.

Junior-Senior Banquet.

An event which is being looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by the younger set is the Junior and Senior banquet which will be given in the auditorium on the evening of Saturday, April 2. Elaborate arrangements are being made by the Juniors and from every indication the affair promises to be one of the most successful ever held in this city. A splendid program has been arranged which will include vocal and instrumental solos and readings. Refreshments will be served.

Dancing Party.

The J. M. Bishop home, 121 Duluth avenue north, was the scene of an informal gathering of the younger set on Saturday evening. Dancing, cards and music made up the pleasures of the hours. During the course of the evening delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Bishop. Those present were Misses Grace Wilson, Meta Kiland, Florence Aalberg, Grace Iverson and Florence Gallagher, the latter of Cass Lake; also Messrs. Guy and Perry Johnson, Ed. Brevig, Morlan Bishop, and George Borden of Brooks.

Firemen's Ball.

The post-lenten season was ushered in with the firemen's annual dance at the city auditorium on Monday evening. The large ball room was crowded from the start and remained so throughout the entire evening. The program of music, which included the latest dance hits, was played from 9 until 2 by Snyder's five-piece orchestra. The hall had been appropriately decorated for the occasion. Among the special features for the events were prize dances, quadrilles and polkas. Lunch was furnished by the Lady Foresters in the basement of the auditorium.

Provencher-O'Neill

It is announced to relatives here that the marriage of William Provencher, son of Julian Provencher, of this city, to Miss Gertrude O'Neil, daughter of former Senator and Mrs. D. P. O'Neill, of St. Paul, takes place today at Minneapolis.

Suffering From Gas Effects.

Harold Provencher, chef at the Hotel Evelyn, is in Minneapolis undergoing observation preliminary to receiving treatment at the hands of medical authorities of the U. S. Public Health service. Mr. Provencher, formerly a member of Battery F, 151st Field Artillery, Rainbow Division, was gassed while his regiment was in action and has since been suffering from internal disorders.

Victory Medals Go Begging.

Difficulty is being encountered by the war department in getting service men of the world war to take the Victory medals which congress authorized as a special distinction. Department officials state that the total number of medals so far issued is 1,500,000, though the estimates are that 4,000,000 men saw service in the war and consequently are entitled to the citation.

Department Rules on Athletics.

Athletics and other teams and bands using the name of the American Legion must be made up of Legionnaires, according to the ruling of the state executive committee. Previous to this ruling there was no authoritative decision to guide the Legion posts of Minnesota on this point.

War Trophies Hard to Get.

Until congress agrees upon the method of distributing captured Gerwhat type of war trophy is wanted and the town for which it is requested.

Adopt Disabled Soldiers.

Practically every disabled soldier in Minnesota hospitals has been adopted by some white-haired mother of the man war trophies, the only way a Minnesota town can secure its trophy is by having its congressman introduce a special bill naming exactly American Legion Auxiliary. These mothers are scattered all over the state, but the link that binds them to the boys could not be closer. Letters of cheer and encouragement are frequent and many tokens of motherly affection find their way to those sick buddies, with the help of Uncle Sam's postman.

1200 Heroes Honored.

Twelve hundred gold stars shine from a blue background on the huge service flag in the state historical building—symbol of Minnesota's sacrifice in the great war. But that is not all. New stars are being added as new names are received. Many are yet to be reported.

County in Drainage Area.

Out of a total land area of 388,480 acres, Pennington county has 349,624 acres within organized drainage enterprises, according to the preliminary announcement of figures for the last census sent out by W. L. Austin, chief statistician for agriculture. This is 90 per cent of the entire land area. The total cost of all drainage enterprises to Dec. 31, 1919, the date for which the figures are given, is placed at $603,019. The same report gives the timbered area of the county as 21,773 acres and the other unimproved lands as 131,532 acres.

SHOWING THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

The success of the noonday lunches served by the Commercial club must be a source of decided satisfaction to the originators of the plan particularly as well as to the members in general. Every Thursday a large part of the club membership gathers and partakes of an excellent lunch, after which topics of general interest are discussed. Arrangements have been made for feeding all the room will hold, but often it is impossible for those attending to be seated at one time.

This outcome is so different from what was expected that it is everywhere the subject of comment. It was freely predicted that not only would the luncheon plan prove a failure so far as accomplishing anything was concerned, but that after the first week there would be only a half dozen members showing up. Exactly the opposite is true. The attendance is steadily increasing and matters of most decided importance are being talked over and some disposition made of them.

It is certain that these men do not go to the club luncheons every Thursday simply to get something to eat. The probabilities are that they even would very much prefer to eat at home or at their usual boarding places. They have learned, however, that there is liable to be something going on in which they have an interest and intend to be on hand to find out what it is. They have never yet been disappointed, something of importance being brought to their attention at every meeting.

Now that such a good start has been made it is to be hoped that the work will be continued. It might even be enlarged upon to some extent with highly satisfactory results. There are any number of ideas that may be worked out along the lines now followed and these will be taken up in their natural order. For the present it is enough that everyone takes a genuine interest in the work of the club. When this is present everything else will follow in due time, while if interest is lacking nothing further can be accomplished in any direction.

EFFERVESCENCE.

The city of Greycourt, N. J., bemoans the fact that twenty dollar bills are a rarity there. Evidently they are still in circulation.

A prominent member of the University of Illinois faculty told the divorce court that his wife's love cooled after she met the local butcher in his refrigerator. The wife evidently was searcing for a cold shoulder.

Help! Help!

The St. Paul Dispatch says that there is pending in the Wisconsin senate a bill by Senator Bilgren which would impose upon bachelors a tax of "$100 in their thirtieth year, increasing $100 annually for ten years, then $200 annually for ten years, and $100 a year for the next ten years." Apparently at the age of sixty years the critter would be allowed to die if he wanted to—and still had the price.

The Cedar Rapids judge who attributed the great number of divorce cases heard during the spring court term to the "restlessness of the age" would have hit nearer the truth had he said "recklessness."

From a flask on a hip or a few stogies in a pocket, campaigning politicians have progressed to a pocketful of bon bons.

It doesn't pay after all, judging from the headline "Superior Woman Found Strangled to Death."

We are in receipt of queries as to whether or not the hazel twig will detect the presence of anything stronger than water.

The flag of the Irish republic will fly over the county court house at Milwaukee on April 4, when Miss Mary MacSwiney speaks in that city. Quite naturally the city hasn't been able to dig up the required flag.

Storage companies remain optimistic. As being appropriate to the season of divorce courts they run the ad, "Breaking up hosekeeping? Store your household goods with us."

There being little else left to worry about, great attention is now being given to the shoulder straps of m'lady's evening gown.

The weather which prevailed over the last week-end here brought forth the remark, "So long asz da vinter iss, ve need idt." Figure it out for yourself.

If eggs can be hatched in ten minutes time and "Rainmaker" Hatfield can cause it to rain at will, then Henry Ford can conjure up a tin bovine.

The man who looks longest at his dollars generally has the most dollars to look at.

Cool, Indeed!

It becomes our painful duty again to bring to light the fact that the editor of the Tuttle (North Dakota) Weekly Star has absented himself from that vicinity ever since the following appeared in his sheet a full half dozen years ago:

"At the burning of a barn in Steele recently our superintendent displayed some nerve and pluck. Miss Sherman did not wait for the men to get there, but hastened to the barn without stopping to dress, and in bare feet untied the horses before they had become unmanageable, thus saving them with little trouble. There is not a man we venture to say in all Steele but would have stopped to put on his pants before venturing out into the crisp air, but she did not, her whole thought being of the dumb animals imperiled, and it was, indeed, a nervy and cool-headed performance."

Retail Clerks, Attention!

The retail clerks' association will hold their regular meeting at the I. O. O. F. hall at 8 p. m., April 4. All members are requested to be present. A special invitation is extended to former members of the Retail Clerks' Union.

SHIRTS

are the finest shirts made anywhere in the world. They establish the American fashions. They have so serious rivals, either in quality or in social preference. And, because they are the best shirts, they possess the added advantage of being the most economical. They cost more than some others, but less per year than any others. We offer a satisfactory service to every man who is far-sighted enough to appreciate and want the best.

Farm Machine Demonstration

On April 6th at Thief River Falls, Minn.
On April 8th at Grygla, Minn.

A big day at both places, to all farmers interested in knowing the latest improvements in farm machinery.

This is to be our spring opening and general demonstration day. Two of the Managers of the International Harvester Co., of America will be here, also a number of other prominent leading men in the machinery world. Short but very interesting talks will be given by these men, and we assure you that it will be worth your time to spend the day with us.

Our machinery will be arranged in such a way that same will not only be on display, but a number of machines such as Cream Separators, Fanning Mills, Feed Grinders and Washing Machines will be coupled up to Gasoline Engines and shown in actual demonstration, besides a number of machines torn down to give these visiting men an opportunity to explain how made and why so made, etc.

As a matter of showing our good will, and an additional inducement to have you with us on these days, we are going to give away free of charge on each of these days, a Washing Machine or your choice among a number of other articles should you not care for the washing machine. Your chance of winning this Washing Machine can only be considered, however, by your registering your name at our office. So be sure and register.

Everybody welcome.

MRS. J. M. CRAIG, of Los Angeles, Calif., who says no one can feel more grateful for what Tanlac has done than she does. Has gained twelve pounds and health is better than in years.

"Of all the people who have taken Tanlac I don't believe there is anyone who feels any more grateful to it than I do," said Mrs. J. M. Craig, of 674½ E. 40th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

"I suffered from nervous prostration and was so weak that I could not even sweep the floor and during the day I would have to lie down four or five times. I tried to walk, but found out that half a block was all I could stand before I would give out. Nervous spells came on me often. Finally my husband urged me to try Tanlac and I am indeed glad he did, for it proved to be just what I needed.

"The first two bottles did not seem to help me. I guess it was because I was so bad off, but on the third bottle I could tell I was improving and that gave me more hope than ever of getting well. My improvement from then on was rapid and by the time I had taken five bottles I was better and stronger than I had been in years.

"It enabled me to sleep soundly at night and I have gained twelve pounds. That was several months ago and from then until now I have been in as good health as I ever was in my life. I have told all of my friends and relatives what a wonderful medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store; at Oklee by John H. Gassman, at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm and at Goodridge by C. C. Gulrud.—adv.

WHY NOT STUDY?

Why have so many of us only in a small degree, and some not at all, the desire for studying while we are in school? What can be done to remedy this malady which is such a great detriment to our success in school and in our later life work? These are questions asked especially by our teachers who feel the burden of responsibility in the development of the high school students.

One of the main factors in this development is to stimulate a desire for studying. This has been the object of much consideration by instructors, and resulted in various methods being tried in order to bring out the desired attitude on the part of the student.

The chief reason for this careless and indifferent attitude is the fact that many students have not the realization of what they are in school for. Some seem to think they are here for the welfare of the teachers. The student of today also searches for almost elimination of that phase of education which requires work in the form of study. Lessons and assignments given to the students for their own benefit—not the teachers'—are being resented, and attempts are made to evade them as much as possible. If we are in school for the purpose of learning and being educated and developed, we seldom, if at any time, have any reason for grumbling or "kicking" in regard to the work we are going to perform.

At the universities the person who doesn't apply himself to his studies, or in other words is unwilling to work, is undesirable and usually has to move to give place for other more industrious students. This, it is said by those who have had the experience, is the main difficulty that high school students have to contend with and overcome when they attend more advanced institutions of learning, where there is less "pushing" by the teachers.

It appears, then, that the solution to the uncertain problem of success in general is to WORK and at school in particular to STUDY.

Why not acquire the habit of studying? The benefits will be manifold, and there will be less cause for gnashing of teeth or wailing on account of "flunks" or low averages. It is absolutely essential for a student's success, therefore consider it.

In connection with this matter it may be of interest to note what some of the instructors at the University of Minnesota are doing to "make 'em study." The following is an article from the Journal, which tells some of the methods used:

"New methods of stimulating in students the desire for studying are always being sought by members of the faculty at the University of Minnesota.

"Conversely, new short cuts in the matter of studying, sometimes to the point of almost eliminating that phase of a college education, is being constantly searched for by students.

"There are two unwritten laws that regulate both student and instructor at the university. The student must not get too low an average in his work and the instructor must not get too many "flunks" in his classes.

"C. L. Holmes, assistant professor in agricultural economics, is said by students to mark very severely papers in the first examination of the course. This almost always, it is said, produces good results because no person likes to face a flunk in a subject from the very start. D. D. Mayne, principal of the school of agriculture, calls his roll at the beginning of the class period by a short quiz. Dr. Charles P. Sigerfoos establishes an atmosphere of uncertainty and mystery as to when quizzes will come. This causes studiousness, students aver. But he sometimes uses tactics far more effective than that.

"'The reason for your uncalled for grade,' he once told an unhappy biology student, whom he was using as an example in one of his classes, 'is either from lack of application or from lack of brains. If it's application you had better get busy, but if it's brains—'

"L. L. Bernard, professor of sociology, believes that the Missouri system, which operates on the theory that certain percentages of every class are destined to get a certain grade, establishes such a spirit of competition among students that they need little urging to study.

"Dr. E. J. Durand, professor of botany, not only checks up carefully on marks but also on attendance. A subject, to be mastered correctly, must be taken in class is his theory, and he grades accordingly.

"Dr. C. O. Rost, assistant professor in soils, probably has the most unusual method, students say. He tells every student personally who needs a little bracing up.

"'You are right on the ragged edge,' he says firmly. 'A word to the wise—.'

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS.

Interest has been somewhat lacking in athletics during the past term. The exact reason is not clearly known. A number of rousing mass meetings have been held, but seem to be of little use in arousing enthusiasm among the students.

Athletics is considered one of the highest assets of a high school, and determines the tone of the student body.

A team of men play, not merely for the honor and pleasure that is derived from it, but to give and leave honor with the school which they attend.

The prospects for next year's team are good. With enthusiasm throughout the school, and in every student, the honors that our team may win for our school are unlimited.

We have the material.
Let's have the spirit.

We are now entering upon the last lap of the school year 1920-21. We have yet two months left of school. What shall we do with them? We can use the remaining weeks in such a way that they will be of little significance; on the other hand, by reviewing and completing our subjects so that everything we have learned this year will be indelibly fixed in our minds, we may make them the most fruitful of the whole year. The result of our further efforts will depend almost entirely on the length of our own plan, or the objective which we have in mind. If our sole aim is passing the state exams and getting our credits, we may expect that our studying will serve us as far as the end of the year, and no farther. But if we study and finish up our courses with a view of fitting them into our future career, we may be certain of lasting benefits and adequate returns.

Although the coming spring months may be more productive of laziness and indolence than the past winter months, we must remember that the true success is the man or woman who overcomes all obstacles and retarding influences, and profits by them.

What Every Girl Can Do Before She is Fifteen

The Girl's World can suggest 15 things every girl can do before she is 15 years of age. Not everyone can learn to play and sing or paint well enough to give pleasure to her friends, but the following "accomplishments" are within every girl's reach:

Never fuss or fidget.

Never keep anyone waiting.

Shut the door, and shut it softly.

Have an hour for rising, and rise.

Always know where your things are.

Learn to make bread, as well as cake.

Keep your room in a tasteful manner.

Never come to breakfast without your teeth brushed.

Never go about with your shoes unbuttoned.

Never let a button stay off more than twenty-four hours.

Speak clearly enough so everyone can understand.

Be patient with the little ones, as you wish your mother to be patient with you.

Never let the day pass without doing something to make someone comfortable.

The girl who has thoroughly learned all of these fifteen things, might be called "A Mistress of Arts."

Coming of Spring.

Out stepped a pussy willow one day,
From its bud it peeped as if to say:
Spring is here again, with balmy air,
Oh, wake my sleepy mates and take a dare.

Out popped they, one by one,
All came to peep at the sun.
And glorious was the whole day long.
For next came the thrill of the bluebird's song.

Sinking was the snow drift, sinking away,
As the snow was melting under the sun's bright ray;
Tripling and dripling the water was flowing,
Softly and softly as the breeze was blowing.

All was stirred when the pussy willow dared,
To peep at the sun to show that they cared.
For the birds cheered the world with their song,
While the sun made a brook run along.

Mildon Boreen, member of the class of '20 and now attending the University of Minnesota, visited with relatives and friends in this city during the spring vacation. He returned Tuesday to resume his studies in the mining engineering department.

Albert Sengelson and Chester Dola returned Monday evening from Rosewood, where they had spent Easter vacation at their respective homes.

Leland Schuster, '20, now a student at North Dakota University, visited his Alma Mater last Monday.

Soph: "Have you heard about Caesar?" Bright 7th grader: "William Tell killed him."

Irving Duff of Red Lake Falls is visiting friends and relatives in this city and at the same time is visiting at the high school.

While walking in a grave yard we found a tombstone bearing this inscription: "Here lies Tim Bodkin, now he is no more. What he thought was H2O was H2SO4."

All of the teachers have been re-elected, but we wonder if all the students have been re-elected.

Irma Marcoe returned on Monday from her home at Malcolm, where she had spent the Easter vacation.

Mildred Hauglid was unable to spend her vacation at her home at Angus because of having a very serious case of mumps, from which she has not yet fully recovered.

Clara Lund returned on Saturday from Oklee, having spent her vacation with friends and relatives.

Forrest Ralston has composed a song entitled, "Those New Shoes of His," which he has dedicated to Bernard Bischoff.

A Born Orator.

One Kentucky gentleman meets another Kentucky gentleman, and they address one another with that solemn earnestness which is characteristic of Southern high life: "Good mohning, sah. Hope you are well, sah. Whar have you been this mohning?" "I have just come from the coat-house, sah. Sen'toh Blackbuhn has been making a speech, the finest speech I have heard since the wah. He is a bawn awter, sah—a bawn awter!" "Excuse me, sah, but what do you mean by a 'bawn awter?'" "A bawn awter? Don't you know what a bawn awter is? Why, saw, you and I would say 'two and two make fo',' but a bawn awter would say: 'When, in the coase of human events, it becomes nee'sa' or expedient to coalesce two intergers and two other intergers, the results—I declah it boldly and without feah or favor—the results—by a simple arithmetical calculation termed addition, is fo'!' That is a bawn awter, sah!"

What's An Anthem.

Speaking of anthems reminds us of the story of two old British sailors who were talking over past experience. One had been to a cathedral and heard some very fine music, and was descanting particularly upon an anthem which gave him much pleasure. His shipmate listened for a while and then said:

"I say, Bill, what's an anthem?"

"What," replied Bill, "do you mean to say you don't know what a hanthem si?"

"Not me."

"Well, then, I'll tell yer. If I was to say to yer, 'Ere Bill, give me that 'andspike,' that wouldn't be a hanthem. But if I was to say, 'Bill—Bill—Bill—giv—giv—give me that—Bill, giv me, giv me, giv me that 'and, giv me that 'and, 'and spike, spike—spike—spike—Billl, giv me that—that ah—men, ah—men, ah—men!' Why that would be a hanthem."

Flowers.

The following is a theme written in English two classes:

What does the word "flowers" bring to your mind? Some may say they see a room in a hospital in which are many beds and sick people. A nurse brings a box to a patient, who eagerly opens it. Oh, what a wonderful fragrance! 'Tis as though a whole garden bloomed at one time. All the people breathing the freshness of nature begin to seem more cheerful and to start on a campaign for life. What could be more blessed than to bring joy to the sick or sorrowing?

Others again may think of an entirely different example. As of a small girl who has been caged in the house all winter and longs for spring. The bright sunshine being gone she has become pale and sickly. However, after she has waited long and patiently and watched for her playmates—the buds and the birds—she discovers a bud, a dandelion bud. Even this most common flower will cause the child to run into the house exclaiming, "Oh, mother! I found a dandelion. It is so tiny and sweet."

These are only two small examples of the work the flowers must perform. They are used as decorations and gifts of all kinds, as distributors of joy, happiness, peace and prosperity.

Spring.

The following is a theme written in English II classes:

Spring, with its swiftly vanishing snow drifts, muddy streets, noisy children, snowball fights, and sweetly singing birds, is with us again. After the rigor of our usually severe northern winters, nothing is so refreshing and so welcome as the first signs of spring. The March winds, bringing with them the warmer air of the sunny southland, are hailed with delight and pleasant expectations. Then people who have shut themselves in behind closed doors and windows during the entire winter again come out to enjoy the warm sunshine and the reviving spring atmosphere. Although spring may not have the most favorable effect on a person's ambitions, it certainly is the most eagerly looked forward to of all the seasons.

Croup

"Granny" Chamberlain

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health—Granny Chamberlain

50,000 CHEVROLET "Four-Nineties"

CHEVROLET

THE production schedule of Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Models for the seven months from January 1st to July 31st, 1921, is fifty thousand cars.

To each retail purchaser of a new Model "Four-Ninety" car at present list prices, we will make the following cash payments,—"Four-Ninety" Touring $70; "Four-Ninety" Roadster $70; "Four-Ninety" Light Delivery Wagon $70; "Four-Ninety" Chassis $70; "Four-Ninety" Coupe $100; "Four-Ninety" Sedan $1.00; provided the Chevrolet Motor Companies manufacture and sell fifty thousand new Chevrolet Model "Four-Ninety" cars between January 1st, 1921, and July 31st, 1921. This offer to be subject to the terms as set forth in full in the refund certificate which will be delivered to each purchaser.

This refund represents savings in material prices under present readjusted conditions, which savings can be made provided Chevrolet factories continue to operate on the estimated average quantity production basis.

It is in keeping with the Chevrolet policy to make the price of its product as low as quality manufacture on a large scale will permit. It is in keeping with the Chevrolet purpose of providing quick, convenient, economical transportation at a cost within reach of those who want an automobile.

Fifty thousand cars is the minimum which Chevrolet engineers estimate will secure substantial savings in cost in manufacture. These savings will be passed on to the purchasers of these fifty thousand cars.

Each purchaser of a Model "Four-Ninety" will receive a certificate from his dealer, or from the Chevrolet retail store manager. This certificate will be redeemed as indicated on its face.

The entire plan is a straightforward business proposition presented in a straightforward way. Whether you are in the market for a new car or not, you must not fail to learn the details of this unique and simple plan. It offers to every man of sound business judgment an opportunity to take advantage of the best automobile value obtainable.

Retail purchasers of Model "Four-Ninety" cars since October 1st, 1920, will receive their certificates through their local dealers or retail stores on application to them.

Production results will be announced not later than August 10th, 1921. Certificates will be subject to payment according to their terms, thereafter, up to September 15th, 1921.

Present Telephone Rates Enjoined by the Federal Court

The enforcement of existing telephone rates in Minnesota have been enjoined by the Federal Court.

Had the present rates been continued in Minnesota this Company would sustain a loss of approximately $1,000,000 this year. The stockholders would have to suffer this loss and in addition nothing would be earned to pay them dividends on their investment.

The Court in this case has granted partial relief because of the great need of the company and has not attempted to determine the amount required to give us a fair return on the value of our property. This amount will be determined when the case is finally disposed of.

It should be borne in mind that the company cannot meet the requirements of the public for service and make the necessary extensions to its property unless it is able to pay all expenses and a fair return upon the money invested in the business.

For extensions and betterment to our property in this state we must expend approximately $3,000,000 each year and this money can only be secured from people who must be persuaded to invest it in our business by the offer to them of a fair return on their money.

For the present no charge will be made in the local rates at this exchange.

LARGER YIELDS, BETTER GRADES, IS AIM IN WHEAT

In Order to Bring This About Certain Rules Must Be Followed Strictly, However.

Fall Plowing, Early Planting, Clean Seed Are Among the Most Important Factors.

Yield Could Be Greatly Increased if More Advanced System Were Followed.

The Red River Valley, the natural home of No. 1 Northern, the best bread-flour wheat in the world, must produce larger yields and better grades of wheat. To this end, some things must be heeded.

Factors under the farmer's control:

1. Wheat should be planted on fall-plowed land only. The land should be weed free; if necessary an additional harrowing or discing should be made to destroy more of the weeds and put the ground in better condition. Weeds and wheat cannot grow together if wheat farming is to bring a profit.

2. Wheat should be sown as early as the ground is in the proper condition. Wheat will germinate when the temperature of the soil is as low as fifty degrees Fahrenheit, even starting to grow before the weeds. Planted early, it has ample time to develop a strong root system and to "stool" well, both of which are necessary to the production of a good yield. These conditions, too, mean fewer weeds. Early sown wheat will escape insects, disease, hot winds and rust.

3. Seed wheat should be cleaned to get rid of all the small, shriveled, cracked, scab affected kernels, weed seeds, wild oats, dirt and chaff, which make the stand uneven if run thru the drill, with smaller yields and lower grades the inevitable result. It costs no more to raise a full crop than a half crop.

4. Seed wheat should be tested for vitality. Wheat may "over-run" in weight, be plump and of good color, yet possess a low germinating power. A ten percent loss due to low vitality also means more weeds, for weeds will grow where there is room, sunshine, and fertility. If there is any suspicion that the seed wheat lacks vitality due to freezing, to heating in the bin, or to any other cause, it should be tested.

5. Seed wheat should be treated. It requires only a little more additional time to treat the wheat for scab and smut, which are the cause of heavy annual losses. Formaldehyde treatment, full directions for which may be found in any farm paper at this season, also in many local papers, will prevent this loss.

6. Should sow early variety to escape the black rust. Be it remembered that for rust there is no remedy when once it gets started. It is not caused by the weather, but favorable weather is the cause of its ravages. There are three ways that will safeguard the crop against rust. First, the complete eradication of the common barberry against which the United States and the state departments of agriculture are waging a vigorous fight; second, early sowing, and third, early maturing varieties. Of all the early varieties so far tested out, the Marquis is best. Besides being stiff strawed, less rank of growth, beardless, not shelling readily when over-ripe, a good yielder with fully as good milling qualities as any other northern hard spring wheat, it is about a week earlier than any other good bread-flour wheat. It is this quality that commands the best price in any bread wheat. Some Durum wheats are good yielders, and are also claimed to be somewhat rust resistent, but they are not so good bread wheats and therefore do not command the highest price. In view of these facts we would not encourage the sowing of much Durum. Amber Durum is considered among the best of this class and far better for bread than D-5, the variety claimed to be rust resistent. It is better, also, not to mix the standard and the Durum wheats. D-5 should not be sown, or but very little of it.

The Marquis is quite generally grown and seed grain should therefore be comparatively easy to procure. What the wheat raiser wants is a wheat that yields well, that escapes the rust and that has the qualities sought by the bakers. The Marquis has stood the test for the millers and its earliness makes it safer from rust attacks. Black rust may strike the wheat crop any season and exact a toll of a few bushels an acre or the entire crop. A shrinkage of only three bushels an acre means a loss of $500 to the quarter section. In 1904 the shrinkage for the Northwest and Canada was 300,000,000 bushels. The wheat growers must get away from this calamity. The early sowing of an early variety is almost a sure way out of the black-rust trouble.

7. We stated above "sow early." If, because of unfavorable seeding weather or because of lack of help the intended acreage cannot all be planted before the season gets too late, the remainder should be seeded to another crop, even though the price of wheat may be tempting and and the prospect of a good yield excellent. It is better to take a smaller net return from some other crop than a half crop, or no crop, from wheat sown too late.

To summarize the discussion:

1. Destroy all weeds possible before planting.
2. Clean the seed.
3. Treat the seed.
4. Test the seed.
5. Plant standard bread - flour wheats.
6. Plant early and the earliest varieties.
7. Stop seeding before the season gets too late.

We have had the satisfaction of traveling all through the Northwest to study agricultural conditions and have found that everywhere conditions are not satisfactory for wheat raising the average yield is too low. The quality, due to weeds, late sowing and poor varieties, too inferior, and the consequent profit therefore too small. All thinking farmers will bear me out in these statements. This is a natural wheat raising country, and will be for all time to come, provided conditions are made right. Farming is a science and a business. The farmer must take time by the forelock, listen to the experiment stations, study the work of the successful wheat grower and do "long distance" planning. There is no gloom hanging over the wheat business of the Northwest. We are not unfriendly to wheat farming but we are to "Exclusive" wheat farming, and also to wheat farming without a definite rational plan. Small yields, late varieties, poor methods, low grades, with their consequent small profits or no profits and discouragement must go. Rotation of crops, grass, earlier varieties of the best milling wheats and better methods must be the new order in wheat raising. The wheat raiser himself holds the key with which to unlock the temple of the new agriculture-prosperity, in which wheat will be a vital factor. We believe in agriculture and also in a wheat country. Man despoiled it. Let us save our wheat production and reap our annual millions. It costs no more to raise a good crop of good wheat, commanding the highest market price, than a partial, poor, low priced crop. To be prosperous, pays; merely to exist, doesn't. An average yield of twelve bushels and the most of it grading below No. 1 Northern, will get us nowhere on high priced land—except into debt.

No Let-Up in Quality

THE one factor which is guarded carefully and never allowed to vary is the quality of products manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The price may go up or down as the markets of the world may dictate, the quantity of products may vary as the demand for them varies, but the quality which has been established by specifications determined with scientific exactness, remains fixed.

Only an organization financially secure, physically well-equipped and directed by men mentally alert, could maintain the high standard of quality which has been the crowning achievement of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an organization of 25,000 experienced, capable men and women who are carrying out with enthusiasm the plans and policies formulated by 7 trained directors.

These plans and policies are designed to furnish maximum service to the public, regular profitable employment to the personnel and protection to the more than $200,000,000 which the stockholders have invested in the business.

In furnishing service to the public no single factor is so important as the insistence upon a uniform high quality of every gallon of product manufactured, an insistence which is felt in the most remote corner of the organization and of the 11 states served by the Company.

Take, as an example, Red Crown gasoline. This is but one of fifteen kinds of gasoline manufactured and sold by this organization. Each is made to meet certain uses for which gasoline is needed. Red Crown is made for use in the modern internal combustion engine and for this purpose it has no superior. Red Crown is the last word in a gasoline for power purposes. That this is generally recognized is attested by the fact that last year 725,000,000 gallons were sold and used by the people of the Middle West.

This tremendous volume is the inevitable result of uniformity, high quality and reasonable price. It is but one phase of the business but it serves to symbolize the earnest, honest endeavor which every individual connected with the organization is putting forth to enable the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to furnish the public a highly essential service.

A Quickening Of Building Activities

From every section of the country come reports of an awakening of building activities. The country is so far behind on its construction program that it will take years to catch up, even though the work is rushed to the utmost.

The Best Time to Build Is Now

The price of material is at the lowest ebb possible and there is plenty of labor to be had at a reasonable figure. When the entire country gets into its stride and the demand for both labor and material is correspondingly increased there may be another shortage of both. The result will inevitably be higher costs.

The Wise Ones Everywhere See This Coming

That is the reason for the sudden rush in building reported in the larger cities. Take your cue from their action and build what you need at once. It will mean a saving of both time and money.

Ask us for prices on any kind of an order of material. You will be surprised to find how much they have dropped.

Texas Bureau Law Passed:

The Texas legislature has just passed a co-operative marketing bill sponsored by the farm bureau federation in that state. It was drawn to make the legal status of co-operative marketing organizations absolutely unquestionable. It is the most comprehensive marketing law ever passed in the southern states; members of the Texas legislature characterized the measure as the most important of the whole session.

Linde, Oscar Joel Linde, Agnes Pauline Lovel (formerly Agnes Pauline Linde), Clara Oline Tessum, Colman Jeffers Linde, and all persons interested in the determination of the descent of the real estate of said decedent: The petition of John O. Linde having been filed in this Court, representing that said decedent died more than five years prior to the filing thereof, leaving certain real estate in said petition described, and that no will of decedent has been proved nor administration of her estate granted in this State, and praying that the descent of said real estate be determined by this Court.

Therefore, You and Each of You, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of April, 1921, at ten o'clock A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, The Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, this 17th day of March, 1921.

LARS BACKE,
(Court Seal) Probate Judge.
H. O. CHOMMIE,
Attorney for Petitioner.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Nine Hundred Ninety-four and 60-100 ($994.60) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William G. Hunt and Harriet Hunt, his wife, Mortgagors, to C. L. Hansen, Mortgagee, bearing date the 24th day of January, 1917, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of February, 1917, at 8:30 o'clock, A. M., in Book 55 of Mortgages, on page 446.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said C. L. Hansen, Mortgagee, to The First National Bank of Thief River Falls, a corporation by written assignment dated the 14th day of May, 1918, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 15th day of March, 1921, at ten o'clock A. M., in Book 65 of Mortgages on page 117, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, Notice Is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lots Seven and Eight (7 and 8) in Section Twenty-nine (29), and the East one-half (E½) of the Northeast Quarter (NE¼) of Section numbered Thirty-one (31), and the Northwest Quarter (NW¼) of Section numbered Thirty-two (32), all being in Township numbered One Hundred Fifty-three North, of Range numbered Forty (40) West of the Fifth P. M. in Pennington County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 6th day of May, 1921, at Ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Nine Hundred Ninety-four and 60-100 Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 19th, A. D. 1921.

SPOUSE REFUSED TO TALK, HUSBAND SAYS; IS GRANTED DIVORCE

Domestic Troubles of Myroms Aired in District Court—Bonds Severed After Hearing Lasting Half an Hour.

Harry Myrom, Norden township farmer, at an adjourned term of the district court held here on Tuesday with Judge Andrew Grindeland presiding, was granted a divorce from Anna Cecelia Myrom after a hearing which lasted less than half an hour. Mr. Myrom had appealed for a divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment at the hands of his wife, formerly Anna Cecelia Bergquist. The latter failed to appear in court and no testimony was taken down, though the applicant's statement was heard.

According to the plaintiff's story he and Anna Bergquist were married in November, 1919, after which they immediately took up their residence on the husband's farm west of this city in Norden township. Mrs. Myrom apparently never reconciled herself to married life, took no interest whatsoever in housewifely duties, did not speak except when spoken to, and then only in monosyllables, and finally claimed to have lost power of speech entirely. Physicians consulted stated that they could not account for her inability to make use of her vocal organs. She later regained her voice when startled into making an attempt.

Mrs. Myrom was pouty, the plaintiff continued, but vouchsafed no reason for being so. He could not make her work, nor get her to argue. During the cold weather she would sit by the stove with her feet in the open oven, from which position she seldom stirred. Every time he left home for this city or other places, the defendant would make it a point to go to the home of her parents several miles distant in the same township, and he would be obliged to go after her. She once arose in the middle of the night and traveled on foot to a neighbor's home. Mr. Myrom said that he gave up trying to get her to live with him and applied for a divorce when members of his wife's family told him if he did not allow her to remain at her former home they would have him placed under arrest.

A child born to Mr. and Mrs. Myrom having died on March 12 this year, the case was simplified for the court. Nor did the question of alimony hold up matters, as some satisfactory arrangement had been made between husband and wife previous to the case coming up on Tuesday.

Judge Grindeland stated that he considered it the strangest divorce case ever brought before him, in that the complaint ordinarily was that the defendant used his or her tongue too freely.

Of the three other cases coming before the court at this time, that of the State of Minnesota ex rel Theo. Quale vs. John Bratrud as mayor of the city of Thief River Falls, and A. H. Akre as city clerk, was continued on the plaintiff's motion. The case of Independent school district No. 102 against the Farmers and Merchants State bank of this city and L. D. McAdams intervenor, was taken under advisement by Judge Grindeland, the counsel being given ten days in which to file briefs. That of Sam McClure and Carl Zwer vs. Ira B. Walker, Swan B. Swanson, heirs of H. Brown, H. Christianson, Ole Linstad, John Severson, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company, Town of Sanders, and Ole Larson, C. August Carlson and Herman Ortloff, as town board of Sanders, a boundary dispute, was also taken under advisement pending the location of section corner stakes.

KOLLEN TAKES TWO FALLS FROM JENSEN; STICKS THOUGH ILL

Greater Strength of Greenbush Grappler Makes Him Victor Over Fast and Plucky Opponent.

Henry Kollen of Greenbush took Thor Jensen, St. Paul welter weight wrestler, to the mat twice in less than 80 minutes at the Lyceum theatre here on Friday night. The first fall was taken with a toe hold after six minutes of fast work in which both men displayed real professional ability.

The second fall required a little over 20 minutes of time. Jensen made good use of the body scissors, while Kollen employed a telling crotch hold. Being the most powerful of the two, the latter was at all times able to elude his adversary's scissors though noticeably taking punishment in doing so. Twice during the second period Jensen almost succeeded in pinning his man to the canvas but lost his hold because of the other's great strength. Kollen employed the crotch hold no less than three times after the first fall before he was able to make it stick long enough to get the second decision.

Jensen, easily the quickest man of the two, was not in physical trim to go into the ring. Following the match he announced from the ropes that he had been off his feed during the day and had employed medical aid. The attending physician later corroborated the wrestler's statement, saying that Jensen entered the match against his, the physician's, advice, given during the afternoon. The mat work was clean and interesting from the word go. The main event was preceded by several interesting preliminaries put on by local amateurs, the best of which was that in which Johnson of Roseau downed Johnson of Thief River Falls twice in ten minutes.

Bureau Prevents $20,000 Loss.

One county farm bureau in South Dakota is credited by the state federation with having saved its members $20,000 in nine months. The saving in checking an outbreak of anthrax in Jones county, S. D., is estimated by the state federation at $12,000; while demonstrations in prairie dog poisoning saved 800 acres for corn and other demonstrations saved 800 acres of alfalfa from grasshoppers.

Former Governor Heads Bureau.

The farm bureau movement, in its remarkable growth to power, is attracting the nation's biggest men and commanding their services. Henry C. Stuart, a practical farmer and former governor of his state, has been elected president of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation.

LUTH. BROTHERHOOD WILL MEET IN STATE CONVENTION APRIL 20

State Organization to be Formed at Convention Held in Flour City Will Discuss Religious, Benevolent and Patriotic Subjects.

The Lutheran Brotherhood of America will hold a state convention for Minnesota at the Curtis hotel, Minneapolis, on April 20. A permanent state organization will be formed at this convention.

An elaborate, though well defined, program will be arranged. Men of national prominence are expected to take part. A large banquet will be held after the close of the last session.

A local committee of seven members has been elected to take charge of the arrangements of the convention. Dr. J. A. O. Stub, pastor of Central Lutheran church, Minneapolis, is the chairman. The other members are Otto Leonardson, Rev. J. Richard Olson, Dr. C. M. Roan, E. W. Ehlert, Byron Lindgren and Dr. Hugo Hartig. Olaf R. Kelly of Minneapolis, is the manager of the state convention.

Dr. J. A. O. Stub, president of the Lutheran Brotherhood of America, says, "Lutheran men in the state are of the firm belief that the time has arrived when definite steps should be taken in the formation of a permanent state organization. Opportunities await the church on every hand today for doing active Christian work among thousands of Lutheran men in this commonwealth. Many of these are being lost through the lack of a proper organization. The Lutheran Brotherhood affords an effective instrumentality through which they may be seized. This organization was formed for religious, benevolent and patriotic purposes. Its chief objects are to lead men into fellowship with Christ and to encourage them to be faithful to their own congregations.

"Among matters to be considered will be the erection and maintenance of club rooms and a dormitory for the benefit of the Lutheran students at the University of Minnesota."

Early Seeding

EARLY SOWING of early maturing varieties of wheat, such as the Marquis, usually results in a good crop being harvested while fields of wheat which are ten days or two weeks later in development may be heavily damaged by rust when harvest time comes around. Sometimes where the soil is so heavy and rich in organic matter, early seeding is difficult, but such fields should be drained and worked as early as possible.

Twelve hundred good farmers in the states of North and South Dakota and Minnesota, when asked by us, are agreed upon this point. There is not one dissenting voice, that Marquis wheat has a better chance if it is put in the ground early.

It would be well therefore if you are going to plant more than one variety of wheat, to sow the Marquis first; then if we have a rust-free year, the Marquis will be its own best vindication in quality, quantity and price.

What the Soil Needs

THERE ARE many other things besides rust which will affect the quality and quantity of the wheat crop. We must supply the plant food elements which have been removed by continued cropping. One farmer writes:

"I believe that our wheat is easily a prey to disease because of something lacking in the soil. For instance I sold to our mill this fall $1,200.00 worth of Marquis wheat that graded No. 1 Northern and weighed 61 pounds to bushel, and I am sure it was good stuff, as I received $2.05 a bushel for it with only one-half pound per bushel dockage. In one field where lime rock sticks out in places, the finest Marquis grew this year and it was a great big plump berry. In spite of the rust I got 10 bu. per acre. I am going to try liming and a little phosphate this year and will give you the results.

"I believe something is lacking in our soil to put our spring wheat over the 'bad time,' as it is filling in and it falls by the wayside. I have lots of nitrogen and straw."

To County Agents

Wheat growing is a problem for you to solve. We urge you to conduct local seed plots and get the assistance of as many of your good farmers as possible in solving the problem. We hope you will demonstrate the value of sweet clover and other legumes, acid phosphate and limestone.

Please study carefully the procedure of your best farmers. It is worth millions to your county to conquer this problem.

DEATH SUMMONS DAN PATTERSON, PIONEER BANKER

Prominent Pennington County Citizen Dies From Heart Disease at St. Paul.

Was For Forty Years a Resident of St. Hilaire and Widely Known in District.

Funeral From Home Today Under Auspices of Thief River Falls Masonic Lodge.

Daniel Patterson, a pioneer resident of Pennington county, died at St. Luke's hospital, St. Paul, early Monday morning of heart disease, from which he had for some time been a sufferer. In company with Mrs. Patterson he left this city only a few days previously for the purpose of consulting specialists, and while his condition was considered grave the news of his death came as a surprise. The body arrived at St. Hilaire on Tuesday morning and the funeral will be held from the family home this afternoon under the auspices of Northern Masonic lodge of Thief River Falls, of which the dead pioneer had long been a member. He was also a charter member of the Odd Fellows lodge in his home town. Besides the Masons it is expected that a considerable number of friends of the family from this city will attend the funeral.

Was Immigrant Boy.

Born near Inverness, Scotland, on April 16, 1849, Daniel Patterson came to America when 19 years of age and for about two years worked at his trade of baker in Canada. He came to the United States in 1870 and followed the same pursuit, being employed in Chicago and Madison, Wis. Later he drove a stage coach in North Dakota during the building of the Northern Pacific railway and also followed logging on the upper Mississippi river for two or three seasons.

In 1881 Mr. Patterson landed in St. Hilaire and drove the stage coach between that village and Crookston before the advent of the railroad. He was married on Nov. 14, 1883, to Miss Anna L. Peterson at Crookston. To this union were born nine children, eight of whom, together with their mother, survive. The children are: Mrs. Oscar Gunstad, St. Hilaire; Mrs. C. F. Brantner, Aurora, Ill.; Misses Mabel, Inez, Ann, Olive and Margaret, and one son, Donald, all of whom are either employed in the neighborhood or reside at home. One daughter, Rosa Ann, died some years ago. Besides these there is a twin sister, Mrs. Ann Ross, residing in Denver, and a half sister, Mrs. J. Shaw, at Paterson, N. J.

Was Progressive Citizen.

While continuing to make St. Hilaire his residence, Mr. Patterson had substantial interests in other parts of the county. About 20 years ago, in company with C. L. Hansen, now president of the First National bank of Thief River Falls, he founded what later became the Merchants State bank of St. Hilaire and at the time of his death was vice president of the institution. He was also a director in the First National in this city. Recognized as a business man of the very highest character, he enjoyed the esteem of all with whom he came in contact and his various business enterprises prospered. He enjoyed the confidence of his neighbors and business associates to a remarkable degree, being a fine gentleman of the old school with a level head and an open hand.

BULLET MIGHT HAVE HIT MAYOR HAD THE LATTER BEEN THERE

Shot Presumably Fired From Across River Goes Through House During Absence of Owners—Dangerous Carelessness.

Thief River Falls might now be looking for a new mayor had John Bratrud, now serving in that capacity, sat down to dinner with his wife last Sunday at the usual hour. But luckily the Mayor and Mrs. Bratrud had dined that day earlier than was their wont and were not at home during the afternoon when a 25 calibre bullet entered the house, piercing two front windows and striking an oaken kitchen door from which it rebounded and rolled to the floor. When Mayor Bratrud returned home after a short absence, he immediately noted the peculiar condition of his windows which command a fine view of the river and West Thief River Falls, and upon investigation discovered a pistol ball under the dining table.

By sighting from the marred spot in the door through the broken windows, he deduced that the iron coated missle must have traveled from across the river. By seating himself at the dining table in his usual position as head of the house, and recalling the usual dining hour of a Sunday, he further deduced that had not circumstances called for an early dinner on the day in question, he might easily have "got it in the neck." The mayor's conscience is easy, however, and he is not inclined to believe that an attempt was made upon his life, even though he did have a hand in abolishing the dice box at cigar counters of the city during the past week. Rather is he inclined to believe that the bullet was from a pistol unlawfully fired at a target at some point on the opposite side of the stream, presumably near the Soo railway trestle.

While no serious damage was done on this particular occasion the incident goes to show the danger of discharging fire arms within the city limits. There is an ordinance against this kind of thing with a severe penalty attached for violation and if the parties guilty of endangering life and property are found they may have a lot of embarrassing explanations to make and wind up by paying a stiff fine or serving a jail sentence.

CITY CHURCH MADE EXCELLENT RECORD DURING PAST YEAR

Annual Reports Covering Activities of Local Congregation Are Most Gratifying.

The annual meeting of the Presbyterian church of this city was held in the lecture room of the church on Tuesday evening following a six o'clock dinner served in the church basement. Reports received from the church and its auxiliary organizations, in view of the financial conditions which existed during the past year, were considered as highly gratifying.

The report of the session showed 27 accessions during the past 12 months. The Ladies Aid raised more than $500; the Woman's Missionary society secured $250 for church benevolent purposes; the Christian Endeavor and the junor societies each gave $25 to mission work, while the Sunday school contributed during the past year the sum of $150, one-half of which was devoted to benevolent work. Every department of the church reported progress and excellent spirit and work. The totals for expense accounts footed up to over $3,400 and for benevolent work, $1,200.

H. C. Johnson acted as chairman of the meeting. George L. Sterns was elected to the office of ruling elder for a term of three yars to succed himself. The following were elected as a board of trustees: F. F. Haynes, O. L. Cronstrom, H. O. Loken, E. O. Mogensen, George L. Sterns, E. O. Green and H. C. Jacobson.

Verdict For Landlord Who Notified Tenant to Move

In a case taking up the entire day before Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant and a jury, Bernhard Knudsen was given a verdict against C. B. Bradley. The latter, who has for some time been occupying a building belonging to Knudsen was recently notified to move and refused to comply, claiming that he had a verbal agreement with the owner which insured him possession for a term of five years altogether, which would leave the alleged lease some time yet to run. No such arrangement was admitted by Mr. Knudsen, who in the absence of further proof, was given the verdict. H. O. Chommie appeared for the plaintiff and W. J. Brown for the defendant.

Woodmen Elect Delegate to State Meeting June 4

The Modern Woodmen of America held a county convention here on Wednesday for the purpose of electing one delegate and one alternate to the state convention at Virginia on May 4. George W. Werstlein was selected as delegate and Judge N. W. Tarrant as alternate. County conventions are held but once in four years, Thief River Falls having been designated on Wednesday as the point at which the 1925 meeting will be held. Delegates present were: N. W. Tarrant, Frank Protz, E. K. Aasen, J. J. Weeks and George W. Werstlein.

Baptismal Sponsor For Girls of 3 Generations

Joyce Ruby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Olson, on Tuesday was christened at the home of Rasmus Oen, Ellef Gravlie acting as sponsor. Mr. Gravlie acted as sponsor at the christening of the child's mother, who was formerly Cora E. Oen, and that of the grandmother, Mrs. Rasmus Oen. He is 74 years of age and states that he will live to assist at the christening of the great-grandchild.

Will Postpone Production of "Nothing But the Truth"

The three-act comedy, "Nothing But the Truth," which is being produced by the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks for presentation during the month of April, will not materialize for the 15th of the month as was originally planned. The cast of characters has not as yet been completed and rehearsals have consequently been somewhat delayed. L. Nathan Pierce, under whose direction the comedy is being produced, expects that by diligent effort on the part of the local talent filling the roles, the play will be seen here during the week of April 17 to 23.

VOTERS' SCHOOL ATTRACTS MANY DISTRICT WOMEN

Two Days of Instruction Conducted Here Prove of Unusual Interest and Value.

Foremost Women Speakers of State Explain Purpose of Voters' Organization.

Banquet and Musical Program Feature One of Best Meetings Thus Far Held.

The school of instruction held here on Monday and Tuesday by the League of Women Voters of the Ninth Congressional district has been pronounced the greatest kind of a success by all who attended one or more of the meetings. Members of the Pennington county league most enthusiastically express the opinion that every voter, man or woman, would have profited greatly by attending either the morning or afternoon sessions, or both, and that those who did not attend missed an educational opportunity which will not soon be returned to this community. Delegates from many other counties were present.

Speakers Win Great Praise.

The principal speakers at the day meetings and the Monday night banquet at the Brumund hotel were Miss Margaret Wells, president of the Minnesota State League, and Miss Emily Kneubuhl, state instructor of political education. Their talks at the Monday evening banquet were particularly inspiring. It is the opinion of all who heard them that higher ideals for humanity and the world at large have never before been more forceably expressed here. Those who attended left the banquet hall thoroughly convinced that the League of Women Voters is the finest organization of its kind that has ever been started in this country.

Miss Wells spoke on the relation of the League to the political parties. The League has but two objectives, she said, the first being to furnish the women of the country with absolutely unbiased information on how to vote, the duties of the voter and pending issues before state and national legislature as well as in city and municipal government. Having secured this information they are urged to vote as their conscience may dictate. The other object of the nation-wide organization is o secure more and broader social legislation. Miss Wells is herself a typical example of the finer type of women who are being enlisted as members and workers of the League. She is a daughter of wealthy parents and priviliged to enjoy the greatest benefits that wealth might secure. Many of these she has renounced, instead devoting her time and money to furthering the interests of the woman voter in state and nation.

Made Striking Impression.

Miss Kneubuhl in her discussion of "Political Education For Women" at the banquet, proved herself well deserving of the recognition accorded her as one of the foremost women speakers of the Northwest. She is an animated talker and held her audience in closest attention throughout. She is without a doubt one of the best posted persons as to the legislative issues of the day in the entire state. She has been described as a virtual encyclopedia of general information. It is conceded that it is largely through her efforts that the Minnesota League of Women Voters is recognized as second in status only to that of New York city. Miss Kneubuhl has been asked to conduct a two weeks school of instruction in that metropolis during the coming season, a highest tribute to her ability as a speaker and organizer.

Directly following the serving of the banquet dinner on Monday evening, Miss Maude Johnson, instructor in music of the Thief River Falls schools, conducted a brisk song period in which the entire assemblage took part. Visiting delegates and lecturers speak of Miss Johnson and her ability as of the greatest benefit to the success of the evening and a distinct asset to the city.

The morning classes in public speaking which were held in the Commercial club rooms drew each day an attendance of over 30 women. Miss Kneubuhl, who conducted the classes stated that the idea was not to make women into what is generally known as "public speakers," but to assist them in feeling at ease and voicing their thoughts clearly, and logically through the forgetting of self. Further proof of the leader's ability was displayed by the fact that she succeeded in having every woman present give a short talk on an original thought.

Mayor Urges Co-Operation.

The Monday afternoon meeting opened with a vocal selection given by Miss Grace Iverson, accompanied by Miss Laura Forde at the piano. Mayor John Bratrud delivered a short address which clearly set forth a thinking man's view of the object of the League of Women Voters. He stated that it was only through intense co-operation between the men and women voters of the community, state and nation that the best of results for all concerned could be secured. His talk was filled with expressions of fine sentiment which won the approval of all who heard him. Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, Ninth district chairman of the League, explained the manner of organization employed for the district and spoke of the accomplishments of the body to date. Miss Wells delivered the address of the day, "The New Voter, Her Opportunity." Miss Kneubuhl answered many questions put to her by city and visiting delegates.

Before the meeting adjourned the Pennington county league voted to finance the department by imposing a fee of $1. for sustaining membership. It is to be clearly understood that any woman voter wishing to become a member of the local organization may do so without paying the membership fee, which will be paid by those sustaining members as a means of showing their belief in the policies of the League.

The Tuesday afternoon meeting opened with a vocal selection by Miss Meta Kiland, following which Mrs. J. M. Bishop addressed the assemblage on "Women in Legislative Work." Mrs. Bishop is well posted on her subject and her talk met with great approval. Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher then rendered two vocal selections. Miss Kneubuhl spoke at some length on the subject of community organization, urging the cooperation in any city or community of the educational, social, industrial, business, farm, and other classes. Visiting delegates each spoke a few words as to the accomplishments of the League in their widely separated communities. A vocal selection by Mrs. G. Halvorson was followed by the serving of coffee by a volunteer committee of the local League. Miss Forde accompanied all vocal numbers on the piano.

Among the out-of-town delegates present from the Ninth district were: Mrs. O. O. Larson, district secretary, Detroit; Miss Otlina Rokke and Miss Mary Bergstrom, Strandquist; Mrs. Gillmore, Mrs. J. O. Herrick, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Stadium, chairman of Marshall county, Warren; Mrs. M. O. Phillips, first vice-chairman of the Ninth district, Mahnomen; Mrs. R. E. Spinks of Middle River and Mrs. Lena Clark, county chairman of Roseau county, Greenbush.

$2500 BLAZE CAUSED BY OILY FLOOR MOP; SECOND FIRE IN DAY

Residence of Wilhelm Michelet Badly Damaged Early Monday Morning. Palace Clothing Stock Slightly Smoked Up.

Early Monday morning fire partially destroyed the residence occupied by United States Court Commissioner Wilhelm Michelet at 505 Main avenue north. The property is owned by Swen Swenson, former Thief River Falls merchant, who now resides on a farm near Rosewood. Loss on building and household goods is estimated at over $2,500.

The rumor circulated on Monday to the effect that the blaze was due to defective wiring was false, investigation going to prove that the fire originated from the spontaneous combustion of an oil or dustless mop kept behind the wood box in the kitchen. The alarm was sent in at 3 a. m., by a member of the Michelet household. The fire department had great difficulty in mastering the blaze, which had eaten through the second floor walls and the roof, because of the dense smoke. It was fully an hour and a half before Chief Paul Midderigh pronounced the building saved.

The department was called out just 12 hours previous to the Michelet fire to extinguish one in the Palace Clothing store of which Louis Cohn is proprietor. Damage by the Sunday afternoon blaze was slight, being mostly due to smoke. It originated in a rear room of the building when burning soot dropped from a defective chimney-stop into papers beneath the chimney.

House Warming Masquerade of Elks Next Friday Night

The first dance to be given by Thief River Falls lodge of Elks in their new quarters, Citizens Bank building, will take place on Friday night. The party will be a masquerade affair to which all Elks and their ladies are invited, it being particularly desired that those residing in the nearby towns be present. The committee in charge has decided that all dancers must be masked in order to dance, the disguises being removed at midnight.

This is going to be one of the really big parties given by this lodge and it is hoped that all members will make it a point to attend. Dancing will begin at nine o'clock sharp, this being another detail insisted on by the committee. Snyder's orchestra will furnish the music, while costumes will be provided by merchants usually dealing in such things.

Record Crowd at Meeting of Silverton Farmer Club

More than one hundred and fifty persons attended the regular monthly meeting of the Silverton Farmer club which was held at the Silverton town hall on Saturday night. The matter of eradicating the barberry bush, which is conceded to be the scource of black rust, was discussed at length as was the use of phosphate as a commercial fertilizer and stock food. Many farmers present at the meeting expressed a detrmination to give the phosphate a thorough try-out during the coming season. An entertaining program and a spelling match for the "old folks" were features of the evening's entertainment. A splendid lunch was served to the large gathering by the farm wives shortly before midnight.

COUNTY BOARDS MAY HELP FIGHT BARBERRY BUSH

Bill Enacted By Legislature Permits Their Appropriating $500 For Purpose.

State Also May Provide $25,000 For Detailed Survey of Red Lake River Basin.

Annual Appropriation of $4,000 to Help Work of Development Association.

C. G. Selvig and Joseph Ball returned from St. Paul Saturday morning, very much pleased over the week's developments regarding legislation that this section of the state is interested in, says the Crookston Times. As a committee representing the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, they urged legislation looking toward the complete eradication of the rust-producing barberry. A suggestion made by them that county boards be authorized to expend not to exceed $500 annually for the anti-barberry campaign, was speedily enacted into law. Senator Cumming had the bill prepared and it passed both Senate and House under suspension of the rules, and is now a law. An annual appropriation of $25,000 advocated by the Development Association and supported by resolutions passed at numerous valley meetings, was approved by both the Senate and House committees and will be voted when the appropriation bills are brought up for final action. Several prolonged and weighty discussions of the destructive action of black rust from the barberry were a feature of the week, according to Mr. Selvig, who says that Joseph Ball held the entire committee spellbound. While at the St. Francis hotel he was dubbed "Barberry Joe." Former Representative John H. Boyd was present also during a part of the week interviewing his former associates regarding Red River Valley needs, and helping to create a real Red River Valley atmosphere in the Saintly City. A. D. Stephens and S. M. Sivertson were also legislative visitors during the week.

Both the House and Senate committees heard Messrs. Selvig and Ball explain the work of the Red River Valley Live Stock association. Later the Senate Finance Committee, upon Senator Cumming's motion, voted to appropriate $4,000 annually for the association. Several members of the committee complimented the association upon its enterprise in providing the substantial building and staging such wonderful shows. The House Committee is in favor of the same amount and favorable action is expected. The item will be brought up in that committee by Representative John Perry as soon as it is reached in the regular routine of business. Much credit is due Senator Cumming and Representative Perry, as well as the members of the legislature from this section of the state in standing by this "baby" organization. Others, also, from central and southern Minnesota, gave invaluable encouragement and support and they said they were glad to support so worthy an undertaking.

Late yesterday afternoon, Superintendent Selvig, as chairman of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board, appeared before the senate committee in support of an appropriation of $25,000 for a detailed working survey of the Red Lake basin, preparatory to lowering the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers. Others appeared in behalf of the Minnesota Valley. The committee voted this amount also. The House Committee has this matter under advisement, with favorable action expected there. This is the most important drainage project under way in the entire state. With the passage of this appropriation completed, plans will be prepared as soon as it is possible for the engineers to do so.

Welterweight Grapplers Meet Here This Month

Goldsmith, welterweight wrestler of Crystal, N. D., who holds the finest kind of a record for work on the mat, will meet Henry Kollen of Greenbush here on the night of April 22, according to a wire received late Wednesday evening by Kollen's managers.

CAMPING GROUNDS AND SITES FOR PARKS LUNCHEON SUBJECTS

At the Thursday noonday luncheon of the Commercial club, the matter of getting behind the concerted opposition to the passing in the state legislature of a wheelage tax law was referred to the club legislative committee with the understanding that the civic body go on record as being emphatically opposed to the plan. The proposed law would promit any city in the state to impose a tax of one mill on automobiles over and above all other motor vehicle taxes. Two cities, Duluth and St. Paul, now impose such a tax. While opinion was expressed that in all probability Thief River Falls would never be called upon to levy such a tax for purely local purposes, it was voted to take the above mentioned action on behalf of those cities which would be materially affected.

The problem of providing a camping ground for automobile tourists was also brought up before the club by members of the Pennington county Automobile association. A committee reported to the effect that after conducting an investigation, it had been decided that the tract of river-shore property on the south side known as Lovers Lane offered the greatest possibilities as a quiet, shaded retreat for tourists passing through Thief River Falls. No action was taken by the club at this time other than that of referring the matter to a public welfare committee which is yet to be appointed. This committee will be made up of two members of the Girls Community club, two members of the Woman's Civic club and two members of the Commercial club. Two members of the Merchants association will also be requested to confer with the committee on the subject.

The attendance at the club luncheon was again exceptional, over 50 business men of the city being present.

GROWERS ENDORSE COMMITTEE OF 17 MARKETING PLAN

Curbing of Speculation Considered Most Important Feature Connected With Plan.

Complete machinery by which the farmers of the country may take over the marketing of grain on a cooperative basis was laid before the national conference of grain growers at Chicago yesterday. Plans were presented by the committee of 17, which has been working on a cooperative grain handling system for the past six months and which called today the ratification conference. While the plans were given their final touches only late last night they differ in no essential details from those previously worked out by the committee, its members stated.

Pressure from several quarters for the compulsory pooling of grain did not succeed in winning endorsement. The plan calls for pooling at option.

Curbing of speculation in grain is set forth in the final report of the committee as one of the chief aims of the proposed plan. Declaring there was speculation in grain that "almost staggers all human comprehension" the committee said in its judgment the "only adequate remedy" was to "enter extensively into the business of grain distribution, merchandising grain as the products of other industries are merchandised."

Establishment of a corporation known as the United States Grain Growers, Inc., is provided for by the laws of the corporation.

FACULTY PLAY IS WELL PRESENTED; ORCHESTRA A HIT

"Charley's Aunt" Greatly Appreciated While Work of Orchestra Proves Revelation.

"Charley's Aunt" as staged by the school faculty under the direction of L. Nathan Pierce at the city auditorium on Wednesday night was a pleasing and entertaining success in every way. The comedy is an old one but it offers great scope for the display of real talent. The many humorous situations and lines fill all the requirements of such a production. G. B. Melby, playing Lord Fancourt Babberly, Oxford student who assumed the role of "Charley's Aunt," was without a doubt the hit of the evening, taking the feminine role with admirable versatility. F. A. Tripp as Jack Chesney, Oxford undergraduate, worked into his character with truly proffessional ability. J. J. McCann as Charley Wykeham, and Albert Tommeraasen as Col. Sir Francis Chesney, late of the Indian service, took heavy-speaking roles. Other members of the cast were: C. W. Pope, S. Carl Sundahl, Edna Ryff, Margaret Mealey, Irene Patrick and Olga Lofgren. The feminine roles were played, without exception, in a pleasing manner.

With the exception of Mr. McCann and Mr. Sundahl, the cast was made up by members of the school faculty. The comedy was staged for purely entertainment purposes and not as a dramatic work, the proceeds going to cancel the indebtedness of the high school athletic department. Over 700 persons witnessed the production.

An added and rivaling feature of the evening was the first public appearance here of the concert orchestra of 13 pieces recently organized under the direction of Dr. P. L. Vistaunet. The orchestrations, including the Escanaba overture composed by Edward Hazel, and the "Calif of Bagdad" by Boieldieu, were meritoriously played and won prolonged applause from the large audience. The talent displayed in the several numbers rendered was a distinct surprise to those present and much favorable comment is being heard. The director and the individual musicians are to be congratulated upon the marked success scored by the orchestra's first appearance. The personnel of the new organization is as follows: First violins, F. S. Ebert, Mrs. August Holmberg, H. S. Snyder; second violins, Joseph Votava, Lorraine Will; cello, Lyman Fossum; bass viol, Theo. J. Hagen; clarinet, George Loken; flute, Chas. E. Cruzan; cornet, P. G. Peterson; trombone, Perry Froseth; drums, Clarence Andrews; piano, Jessie Barnett. The orchestra will be increased to 20 pieces in the near future.

TEACHERS WANT MORE PAY; ONLY 13 MAY RETURN

Thief River Falls Facing Same Situation as Confronts Many Other Municipalities.

Declared Intention of Denying Further Salary Advances Given as Main Reason.

One Department Cut Out and Two Others Curtailed in Order to Lessen Expense.

Of the fifty-six teachers now employed in the Thief River Falls schools, three from the high school staff and ten from the graded schools have signed contracts to return for the term of 1921-22. The board of education distributed contracts a fortnight ago with the stipulation that they be returned, signed or unsigned, not later than April 4. To date but thirteen contracts have been signed. Several of the teachers, whose going will be felt as a keen loss by the community, have requested a raise in salary. The school board at a meeting held on March 21 voted that no increase in salaries would be granted, the aim being to lower, if possible, the cost of maintaining the schools. It is now thought that if this action had not been taken many more of the teachers would have contracted to return for the coming year.

Want More Money.

Mathew A. Schmitt and Clarence W. Pope will return as manual training instructors and Miss Minnie Leavitt, as instructor of English in the high school. Grade teachers who will return are: Miss May Bark, Miss Valborg O. Sandum, Miss Maude Frissell, Miss Ida C. Tandberg, Miss Olga Lindquist, Miss Carrie E. Trogen, Miss Gladys N. Smith, Miss Viola Nepper, Miss Francis Wengeler and Miss Edna Larson. Miss Lorna Dodge may also return but has not as yet handed in her signed contract.

Mrs. L. G. Larsen, secretary of the board of ducation, on Tuesday stated that without a doubt higher salaries would have to be offered to fill the vacancies existing in the teacher staff for the coming term, as applications received by her carry with them demands for not less than $130 or $135 per month from normal and college graduates who are as yet without actual teaching experience. Superintendents who applied for the position as head of the city schools to fill the vacancy arising through the resignation of Superintendent W. A. Ziegler, asked for more money than has ever been paid by this city. Mrs. Larsen also stated that two normal graduates who applied in person for positions on the teacher staff informed her that heads of normal schools and colleges are upholding teachers in their demands for greater pay, suggesting that they should not consider taking positions paying less than twelve to fifteen hundred dollars per school term, this being for inexperienced instructors. Other members of the school board were of the opinion that an increase in salary would not result in holding all of the teachers now employed here over another term. The situation as pictured above is not peculiar to Thief River Falls alone, many cities, including Cass Lake and Bemidji, find themselves confronted by the same problem.

May Try Night Course.

It was also voted on March 21 to discontinue the high school agricultural course and the commercial department, and to reduce the staff of the domestic science department to such an extent that it can be supervised by one instructor. This course of action was decided upon after consideration of the most feasible means of lowering operating expenses. The action of the board in this respect is meeting with censure to a certain degree. President H. W. Froehlich has said that he will gladly call a mass meeting to discuss the situation and learn the will of the tax payers if a petition can be circulated and enough signers secured to indicate clearly that the continuance of the courses is desired by the city at large. This particularly refers to the commercial course. Other members of the board would favor offering a night commercial course, as being of benefit to those not attending high school. Still other members would not favor the calling of a public meeting because of the belief that the school board pursued the only course consistent with the complaint on the part of some that the schools were costing too much money to operate.

Inspect Paving in Many State Cities This Week

T. L. Melgaard, T. P. Hamre, R. McGinn and Carl B. Larson, prominent business men of this city, left here on Sunday night for points in Minnesota where they will inspect bitulithic and other paving with a view to ascertaining which kind is giving the greatest satisfaction and proving the most durable. The committee of four represent the city at large. This tour of inspection is the outcome of several months' controversy over the advisability of paving the streets throughout the business section of Thief River Falls during the coming summer. Among other places the party will visit the twin cities, southern Minnesota points, St. Cloud, Fargo and Grand Forks.

ELKS PREPARE FOR SEASON'S BUSINESS; THE COMMITTEES

Preparing to Do Their Share Toward Swelling National Membership to Million.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks want a membership of one million by the time the grand lodge convenes at Los Angeles in July and every subordinate lodge in the country will try and provide its share of the total. Exalted Ruler H. W. Protzeller of No. 1308, had this fact in mind when he appointed committees for the coming year, his aim being to put men at the head of different activities in that lodge who would work to keep interest at a high pitch.

Thief River Falls lodge, according to the district deputy exalted ruler last year made the best record of any in the state, with the possible exception of Minneapolis, and it is the desire to improve on this showing during 1921-22. With a fine progressive program announced and energetic committees to look after its progress the lodge should hang up a record for growth.

The committees announced for the year are as follows:

House committee: Harry Brumund, chairman; F. H. Herrick and C. W. Vorachek.

Building committee: F. H. Herrick, chairman; Math Barzen, A. Anderson, Loren Johnson, G. Howard Smith, C. A. Nason, T. L. Melguard, W. A. Barnard, W. W. Prichard, Jr., L. A. Lampert, L. D. McAdams, G. W. Connell, John Bratrud. F. W. Skogren, Lancaster; George Marvin, Warroad, and Frank Johnson, Mahnomen.

Show and entertainment committee: L. A. Lampert, chairman; G. W. Connell, L. H. Lawrence, W. W. Prichard, Jr., and George Loken. This com- Jr., and George Loken.

Initiation committee: Andy Anderson, chairman; Alf. Borry, W. R. Patterson, L. D. McAdams, Chester Barden, Oscar Olson, Willis Akre, Ole Legvold, Fred Protz, E. O. Mogensen, and L. G. Larsen.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION Of The Sons of Norway Building Corporation of Thief River Falls.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that we, the undersigned, have associated and do hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation under and pursuant to the Laws of the State of Minnesota; and to that end we do hereby execute under our hands and seals the following Articles of Incorporation, to-wit:

FIRST—The name of this corporation shall be "The Sons of Norway Building Corporation of Thief River Falls."

SECOND—The general nature of its business shall be the buying and selling of real and personal property to be used for fraternal and social purposes only, and specifically the owning, creation, construction, and operation of a building together with the ground on which it shall be situated, to be used as a place for holding meetings for fraternal and social purposes only, and specifically for the use of Snorre Lodge No. 70, of the order of Sons of Norway, and members thereof. Said building shall be erected and located within the corporation limits of the city of Thief River Falls, in Pennington County, Minnesota.

THIRD—The said corporation shall commence on the 28th day of March 1921, and shall continue for a period of thirty years.

FOURTH—The names and places of residence of the incorporators are as follows: Bernhard Knudsen, Edward H. Ness, Tilfred Releroon, Lars H. Larsen, Jorgen Eide, E. K. Aasen, C. C. Gulrud, Ole O. Nesja and H. S. Dahlen, all residing in the city of Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

FIFTH—The government of this corporation and the management of the same shall be vested in a board of nine trustees, consisting of its President, Vice-president, Secretary and Treasurer, and five other directors, all of whom shall be elected at the regular meeting of the stockholders, to be held annually on the first Thursday after the first Wednesday in January. The first board of trustees shall consist of the following members: Bernhard Knudsen, President; Edward Ness, Vice-president; Tilfred Releroon, Secretary; Lars H. Larsen, Treasurer; Jorgen Eide, E. K. Aasen, C. C. Gulrud, Ole O. Nesja and H. S. Dahlen, who shall hold office until the first annual meeting and until their successors are elected and qualified.

SIXTH—The amount of the capital stock shall be Fifteen Thousand Dollars, ($15,000.00), which shall be divided into three hundred (300) shares of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) per share par value.

SEVENTH—The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the Corporation shall at any time be subject shall be Eight Thousand Dollars ($8,000.00).

EIGHTH—Members in this corporation shall be entitled to only one vote, regardless of the number of shares of stock owned; and no person shall be entitled to become a member hereof, or to vote, unless in good standing a member of Snorre Lodge No. 70 of the Order of Sons of Norway, of Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hands and seals this 23rd day of March, A. D. 1921.

Seeding Time

THIS is the season for sowing Nature's seeds. It is likewise an appropriate time for planting the seeds of thrift.

In order to make certain of a bountiful crop the farmer sorts out the foul seed—if you would reap a financial harvest take care that the seeds of extravagance are not planted.

An early planting will produce an early harvest. Make a small deposit now, rather than wait to make a larger one later on. As Nature's seeds thrive with the proper attention, so will a Savings Account grow if small monthly deposits are made and the interest permitted to accumulate.

Watch your Savings Account grow.

The J. C. Penney Company's 312 Department Stores add the strength of their vast stocks of Dependable Merchandise at Lowest Prices to this National Effort to bring Peace, Comfort, Happiness and Prosperity to the people of this Miracle-Land of America

THE J. C. PENNEY COMPANY'S 312 DEPARTMENT STORES EASILY ACCOMPLISH PROSPERITY in their respective communities through Savings, which grow out of elimination of waste of every sort

Our Nation-wide Institution, serving millions of people, saves for them—through its economic conservative methods .....

—the loss of bad accounts —collection expenses —middlemen's profits (because of buying, largely, direct from manufacturers)

—buying for cash —selling for cash —and last but not least the J. C. Penney Company stores are content with very small profits.

Such Service brings the Savings that are really the Foundation of Prosperity. Coupled with Fair Dealing and the inherent desire to serve—such savings have built this Nation-wide Institution; and every community served by one of our 312 Department Stores, is materially benefited because these savings are passed on to patrons in Standard Quality Merchandise at the Lowest Price.

CUTTING SCHOOL COSTS.

The school board in charge of educational matters in Thief River Falls is in somewhat of a quandary. There is a more or less well defined demand that expenses be cut on the one hand, while on the other there is very serious objection to efficiency being in any manner curtailed. The board cannot so steer its course as to meet the requirements of both sides.

In an effort to reduce expenses it was decided at a recent meeting to eliminate the commercial and agricultural courses from the curriculum of the high school for the present, at the same time cutting down the domestic science division to a point that would permit of its being taken charge of by one instructor. Before this action was taken the board members gave the matter very serious consideration and came to the conclusion that until such time as conditions in general assumed a more nearly normal aspect some such economy would prove advisable.

It quickly developed that while the move might be necessary it was not particularly popular. Especially did objection to the abandonment of the commercial department develop. It was pointed out that several students had elected to take his course a year or two ago and that it would work an injustice to have them thus suspended without an opportunity of completing it. A further contention is that the one department turning out a somewhere near finished product has been the commercial. A student finishing this course in high school required very little additional training in order to step into a position commanding a suffcient salary to provide a livelihood, something that cannot be maintained for any other division in the school with the exception of the normal. An education along commercial lines is something that every boy particularly should have, while only girls expecting to make use of the course in the future would select it in the first place.

Under these conditions it is not surprising to find that there is objection to its being dropped.

The board will do whatever the taxpayers desire in this matter. It was not the wish to do anything that would lower the efficiency of the school. The aim was simply to lower the cost in some degree, and the board members took the only way open. Refusal to grant increases in teachers' wages comes under the same head and this does not at the present promise to meet with any greater success.

It has been suggested that a meeting of taxpayers and the members of the school board should be called for the purpose of talking the matter over. While public meetings called in such instances are seldom productive of much good, yet such a move might have the effect of at least letting the board know where the majority stands. If the taxpayers are willing to pay the costs nothing will be eliminated from the high school courses. If, however, there is proved to be a widespread demand for lower costs, something will have to give way. We cannot have all the departments now maintained and a lowering of school taxes at the same time.

The matter is largely up to the people themselves. The board will gladly continue not only the commercial course, but will reinstate the agricultural branch as well as the more extended normal division if it is so desired. A meeting may prove the wise thing.

LOOKING FORWARD.

For the past twenty years Thief River Falls has been busy growing—has been too busy doing that to look far into the future and lay plans for a park which would be in keeping with the rest of the city. But the time is coming, if it is not already here, when the issue can no longer be dodged. Park sites once available have been devoted to other purposes, residential or industrial. The best of these, naturally, lie along the Red Lake river and all hope of ever acquiring them except by outright purchase at a high price must be abandoned.

E. M. Stanton at a Commercial club luncheon held early in February spoke of the natural qualifications of the old Kretzschmar property located at the south end of LaBree avenue between the avenue and the river and directly adjacent to the power dam. Those acquainted with the spot can readily see the possibilities which it offers in the way of parking. With the removal of the antiquated and unused residence, the trimming out of trees and a small amount of filling in of low places—behold, a more than fair start toward a park of which any city might well be proud. But:

Having accomplished that much it would not do to stop there more than temporarily. Looking forward five, ten or fifteen years, an option should be secured on all of that property now devoted to residence purposes, to the east of LaBree avenue and as far north as the Winton-Nichols property, with a view to purchase for purely park purposes. To be sure, it could not now be bought for a song—but can property abutting the river in any section of the city be purchased for that? No, the day has long since passed and no matter which property is purchased it is going to cost real money. Consider the qualifications, natural and otherwise which the above mentioned tract possesses.

It is the one location, which if properly parked, would serve equally as well the residents of both east and west sides of the river, for it is, above all else, centrally located. The contour of the land is pleasing, sloping as it does gradually south to the damsite, which will one day be modernized and sightly. The residence properties are already graced by many beautiful trees and the river bank itself is bountifully supplied with such. The objection may be offered that the bank at this point is too high and too steep to permit approach o the river. Possibly, but the park need not necessarily be designed for beach purposes. Visit the parks of this or foreign countries and you will find that many, if not all, of the more beautiful ones are located on heights of land from which a splendid panoramic view is obtainable. The commonplace park will be found on a smooth or lower piece of ground, its very location making it such.

Looking forward a few years more, the park might eventually grow to the extent of including all of that territory on the east side of LaBree and south of First street. The lumber yard and buildings of the Winton-Nichols company are not at present in the most advantageous location in the industrial section of the city and later arrangements could undoubtedly be made to move the entire establishment at the city's expense to another location equally, if not more, suitable, the same to be purchased by the city at this time when good sites are still available. The unused church could be likewise disposed of, if necessary. This plan for a truly beautiful city park which would materialize in its entirety many years hence, is submitted without accompanying financial plan. It would, in truth, be financed as parks are in other cities, where many thousands of dollars, and ofttimes millions, are spent for the one purpose of making the surroundings more beautiful and habitable.

A GENEROUS RESPONSE.

Millions of lives undoubtedly have been saved through the prompt response of the American people to the appeal for aid sent out by those in charge of Chinese famine relief. Every community in the state, large and small, has contributed something toward alleviating the terrible suffering which these people on the other side of the globe are undergoing and the total is something to be proud of. In reporting for the week just past, state headquarters says:

"Hamlets as well as larger towns are hearkening splendidly to China's moan of despair, according to Harry R. Wilbern, associate secretary of the state famine fund committee. Among the weeks' developments he reports:

"In Northfield, St. Olaf's college gathered $400 and St. John's Lutheran church $550, sent by Rev. L. W. Boe. A tag day in Thief River Falls netted $265.89 and the good work goes on. Miss E. P. Slipp sent a check from the First Congregational church in Brainerd for $101.50. At Little Falls N. N. Bergheim of the Civic League is interesting churches and lodges in the work. A. A. Habedank of Ada sent in $616.60. The First M. E. church at Adrian raised $126 and Blackduck citizens $159.85. From Lakefield, Rev. F. H. Harvey sent $200, collected in his church. Sleepy Eye is planning a tag day and the city is showing great interest. The Union Congregational church of Glenwood, Rev. J. H. Yaggy, pastor, reports with $150, and $92.71 came from Rev. R. P. Upton of the Presbyterion church at Cottonwood. C. C. Campbell, editor of the Ellendale Eagle, started a subscription in his newspaper office and secured $70.

"According to word received at state headquarters this week from the national committee, between five and six million starving Chinese have been rescued through the generosity of American contributors. About ten million remain to be cared for."

EFFERVESCENCE

"Deputy Sheriff is Reported Improving." Now and then ther's need of it.

A city is a municipality in which a dress suit has ceased to be a community affair.

The country lad will soon be in the field seeding; the city sport is already on the road speeding.

"Viviani Pleads With Harding For League." As long as we apparently have little or no use for it, why not give it to him?

In the border states the liquor runner is still held up by the ever watchful arm of the law, even though on the other side of the line he has been upheld by the Canadian courts.

It is doubtful which has the auto-itch the worse this spring, the man who is waiting to unhitch the old girl or the man who still dreams about the boat he 's going to have some day.

Even this far north the snow banks are now pretty well thawed out. With the coming of the finer weather and the picking up of business in general, the other kind, too, are rapidly thawing.

Can it be that the women of the country who are urging administration support of legislation "to remove existing discriminations against American women," are willing to go the entire way?

The San Joaquin valley raisin crop for the past year sold for petty close to $50,000,000—which is rather awe-inspiring when one stops to think of the awful kick reputed to be contained in a single raisin.

That some of the "royalty" of Europe are getting down pretty close to their uppers is evidenced by the fact that the Duke of Hesse has been reduced to selling his bed room furniture. The next step will undoubtedly be an interesting one.

Ximenes, famous Italian sculptor, was heard to remark after viewing the paddock fashion parade at the Longchamps opening, which this week ushered in the Paris season, "I have not seen a perfect leg or arm yet, but in a similar crowd in New York I could have picked dozens." From the lengthy newspaper accounts which describe the opening it is evident that if those on parade had possessed the necessary requisites of limb, Senor Ximenes would have seen them.

Consistency is the last item considered in the movie drama, it would seem. For ins: In a scene laid in Alaska some half century ago, the heroine wears a very up-to-date coiffure and the latest thing in the way of fur coats; slides down hill on a modern toboggan and takes the time from a wrist watch. The smiling, curly-haired hero first appears in a nifty-belted-back tweed coat and a well-fitting pair of army boots which might have seen service in the late A. E. F., and later strums a love ditty on a ukulele.

Why Pick On Us?

Thief River Falls clothing dealers are in receipt of a folder from a prominent Iowa dealer in which he says:

The woods are full of amateur economists who claim that prices of clothing, underwear, hosiery, shirts, sweaters, sleepingwear, etc., will shortly return to pre-war levels.

Will they?

Yes, sure they will—

When hard coal is back at $9 per ton;
When railroad fares are back at 2c per mile;
When house rent is back at $25.00 per month;
When gasoline is back at 10c per gallon;
When telephones are back at $1 per month;
When a square meal is back at a quarter;
When farm labor is back at $25 per month;
When gas is back at 90c;
When shaves are back at 10c;
When the freight rate from N. Y., now $1.84, is back at 97c;
When street car fares are back at a nickel;
When money is back at 5 per cent;
When cooks are back at $5 per week;
When hair cuts are back at a quarter;
When movies are back at a nickel;
When a car-wash is back at a dollar;
When ice cream is back at a dime;
When a doctor's call is back at two bucks;
When a newspaper is back at a penny.

For the love of Mike, why expect the manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer of clothing and furnishings to go the route alone? Why pick on us? Aren't we Americans all in on this proposition together? Haven't we got to work it out together? Well, then, havn't we, the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of clothing and furnishings gone much farther and faster than the average in reducing prices and making readjustments?

We'll say we have! We're ahead, way ahead of the procession. Now let the barbers and the movie houses, and the Standard Oil, and the soft drink parlors, and the landlords, and the hotels and restaurants, and the draymen, and the bankers cut their prices and catch up with us.

Easter Sunday Misplaced; Came Just One Week Early

Easter, as far as fine weather and fine feathers are concerned, came to Thief River Falls just one week later than the scheduled date. Sunday, March 27, was a day of blizzard and cold, the thermometer registering 6 degrees below zero at 7 a. m. Sunday, April 3, was as fine a day as could be ordered, with the balmiest of winds blowing softly from the southeast. The maximum temperature was 67 degrees above zero. Walks in all sections of the city were gay with the gayest colors of fashion's spring season. Bonnets, suits, spring coats and low shoes, which had been placed back in their wrappings with disgust on the morning of March 27, were again brought to light on Sunday and donned to the accompaniment of song. Even the newly-arrived robins and other migratory birds seemed to outdo themselves in song to prove that the cold weather was a thing of the past for a period of many months. The car owner, whose foot has been itching to "step on 'er," in many cases managed to get the jitney out of the moth balls and ease her over the road a bit.

Yes, it was a great day!

Editorial.

As the end of the school year draws near, there are a few students who realize that a high monthly grade average will exempt them from the necessity of taking the state examinations. Just what effect this will have on the majority can not be foretold, but it is to be expected that some will take a decreased interest in their studies when they feel that their credits are assured, and there is no need for particularily remembering what they learn to help them in writing the state exams. It is true that reviewing some subjects is tiresome to the student who has learned the same thing quite well the first time it was gone over, but, although the value of some of our subjects may be more as brain developers than for their practical information, most of them are supposed to serve us after we leave high school, and it will profit us to take advantage of the opportunity for reviewing and fixing more firmly in our minds the knowledge we have been working the whole year to secure.

What about the school song?

Some time ago an article appeared here urging students who are poetically inclined to write an appropriate song for our Lincoln high school. To this time no response has been made to the appeal and we are still without a real school song. This is not because we lack people with poetic inclinations, because we have had ample proof of ability in this field from contributions to our High School Progress. Verses, although not Shakespearian in style or theme, have been published occasionally in these columns. Why isn't it possible for someone to create a suitable school song set to a wellknown snappy tune? Students, put your thinkers on one of these reposeful spring evenings and let us have a real Lincoln High school song before the school term is over.

The Home Stretch.

Now that Easter vacation has passed we are starting out on the "home stretch." What does this mean to you, Seniors? Does it mean simply that the greater part of your High school life is behind you and that there are only two and a half months more to skim through before you will be free? Are you sitting back contentedly and letting your lessons slide just because this is your last year, and you think you can afford to?

If this is the way you feel, you are taking the wrong attitude toward your life. You should try to wind up your school year with as much enthusiasm and pep as you began it with. Don't neglect your school work. If there is any doubt about making your credits, work, and if there is no danger of your flunking; work just the same, to bring your average up as high as you can.

Take an interest in your class affairs. Boost the 1921 "Prowler." The fact that it has already gone to press does not mean that there is no more work to be done in connection with it. It has yet to be sold. Then plug for the Class Flag. Help make it a big success by advertising it. Lastly, show that you are staunch and supporter of your class by paying up your class dues.

Don't let the Home Stretch drag along. There will be plenty of time for idleness when school is over. Let's buckle in and make it snappy!

Athletics and Attendance.

During the past athletic season of both foot ball and basket ball the students of Lincoln high school have been very lax in their attendance to all athletic activities that are so helpful and needful for the success of the school. The attendance for the past football season as a whole was very poor. It is true that the team was not of the very highest quality but nevertheless the attendance should not have fallen down. The standard of the team whether it be high or low should not make the attendance decrease. As a rule in practically every other school the spirit behind the boys whether they be good or bad is 100 per cent.

The outcome of the basket ball season's attendance as a whole is better than that of he football season, but has not yet attained the standard which it should.

The following, or 1921-22 season, of athletics is going to be one that the school can be proud of, and one in which the attendance should be 100 per cent perfect.

The school and city can both count on a team that will be a winner in both football and basketball.

The football team is expected to be exceedingly strong as very few of this year's regulars are leaving school and those that remain all have at least one or two years of experience in first team work.

The basketball team will also be one that can easily be a winner as only one of the first team men is leaving. So let us all turn out and increase the percentage of attendance at least 60 per cent, and also help the boys to be winners, and put Lincoln high school on the map bigger than ever.

Do You Borrow Books?

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Do you borrow books? It is a commendable habit, though it is a more decent and a better practice to buy books. Still, the lover of books is not averse to having them enjoyed by others. He seldom is niggardly of his favors in this direction until he has been victimized so often by the dishonesty of those he has favored that he is compelled to appear churlish rather than suffer cumulative loss.

The man who borrows a book from a friend and refuses to return it may not be a crook in the scientific definition of that term, but in the opinion of the book lover he will stand as a mighty near relative of the fellow who purloins other things of value.

Emerson says: "One may soon come to see that he had better have broken his own bones than to have ridden in his neighbor's coach, and that the highest price he can pay for a thing is to ask for it."

So far as the dishonest or negligent book borrower is concerned, let us hope the Concord sage is right. But it is to be doubted whether morals, metaphysically or otherwise enjoined, are much considered by the gentry.

One regrets the loss of a good book. It is not always, nor perhaps often, the intrinsic value of the book which counts for much, but every worthwhile book has a sentimental value to its owner; it is a friend, a prized companion, a solace, a comfort, an inspiration. Often it is impossible to replace it.

There must be general agreement with Emerson that "he is base—and that is the only base thing in the universe—to receive favors and render none."

But, frankly and brutally, to borrow a book and keep it essentially is as unmoral as if it had been stolen.

They Came Back.

"When I was a little child," the sergeant sweetly addrest his men at the end of an exhaustive hour of drill. "I had a set of wooden soldiers. There was a poor little boy in the neighborhood and after I had been to Sunday school one day and listened to a stirring talk on the beauties of charity I was softened enough to give them to him. Then I wanted them back and cried, but my mother said: 'Don't cry, Bertie, some day you will get your wooden soldiers back.'

"And, believe me, you lob-sided, mutton-headed, goofus-brained set of certified rolling-pins, that day has come."—The American Legion Weekly.

Normal Department.

Ellen Nelson, who has been seriously ill at the Physicians hospital, is recovering. On account of her prolonged illness, it is probably, she will have to drop her work for this year. The Normal girls expressed their sympathy by sending flowers.

An eighth grader was writing a business letter and turned to his older sister for suggestions: "Is it yours confectionary that should be used in the closing of a letter," meaning (yours affectionately.)

Lucille Blaska, who has been absent for the past week, returned on Monday to resume her duties.

Miss Johnson in music class: "Did you use your pitchpipe while doing rural practise?"

Florence Burns (not wishing to tell a lie): "Well we had them along."

At State Contest.

The sixth annual declamatory contest held at the Studio Theatre of Minneapolis on March 24 proved to be one of the best contests held during the six years of the league's existance. The contestants were the pick of the high schools of the state who won first place in the earlier elimination contests. The participants had strong competition to overcome, but all accredited themselves very favorably. As an average the orations given were above the standard.

Those placed as the first three in the boys' declamation division were, respectively:

Stanley Nelson, Buffalo, "A Vision of War"; Truman Overli, Windom, "The Wandering Jew;" Theodore Francher, Fairmount, "True Americanism." Other towns represented in this division were: Bemidji, Ortonville, Virginia, Warren, Lanesboro, Thief River Falls and Winona. In the girls' division those winning the first three places were, respectively: Marjorie Gullickson, Moorhead, "The Littlest Rebel"; Ruth O'Connell, Lakefield, "Madame Butterfly;" Frances Klune, Chisholm, "Jeanne D'Arc". Other towns represented in this division were: Warren, Alexandria, Hutchinson, St. James, Hayfield, Rochester and McIntosh. The presiding officer of the contest was Supt. G. Holmquist of Warren, and the judges: Miss Luella Bender of the Northwestern Conservatory; Supt. C. C. Baker, Grand Rapids; Supt. M. L. Jacobson, Moorhead, and E. S. Hatch of St. Louis Park.

Thief River Falls is proud that its representative, Edward Fiterman, giving, "Liberty or Death," was placed among the contestants. This very fact has aroused a keen interest among the student body, for such work, and it is anticipated that before many years pass Thief River Falls declamers will take their place among the leaders and the league contestants will look to Thief River Falls for their competition in this work.

Sophomore Class Party.

The Sophomore class is preparing for its annual banquet, which is to be held at the high school gymnasium on the evening of April 15.

Committees have been appointed to arrange the details of the party, such as program, refreshments, and decorations. It is rumored that a number of unusual and clever features are on the program, and we anticipate that anyone who misses this crowning social event of the year for the class of '23, will have reason to regret it ever afterward.

Junior-Senior Banquet.

On Saturday evening, April 2, the juniors entertained the high school faculty, school board and seniors with a delightful banquet.

The Junior-Senior banquet is a time-honored custom of Lincoln high and the juniors of 1921 have worthily lived up to the tradition.

The banquet was held in the city auditorium which was decorated in a most attractive manner. Green and white, the junior class colors being used. The green and white crepe streamers were strung in profusion from all parts of the auditorium and floated majestically on the breeze that was created in the building. The banquet opened by a social hour which was spent in the balcony, preceding the grand march to the banquet hall which was lead by the school board, faculty and speakers. As each couple marched into the hall they were assigned tables and a most delicious banquet dinner, which consisted of the following was then served:

Fruit Cocktail
Creamed Chicken
Baking Powder Biscuits
Mashed Potatoes, Peas in Timbales
Hot Buttered Rolls
Waldorf Salad Saratoga Flakes
Olives
Coffee Ice Cream Cake
Salted Nuts

An orchestra was procured which rendered selections all through the dinner.

Following the dinner was a well arranged and interesting program which consisted of toasts and musical numbers. The program opened by the song:

"Minnesota, Hail to Thee"—Audience.

Welcome—Gregory Werstlein, Junior Class President.

Response—Dreng Bjornarna, Senior Class President.

"The Mountain Climbers"—Dr. Froehlich.

Vocal Solo—Miss Iverson.

"Steep Ascent"—Mr. Pierce.

Piano Solo—Miss Poppitz.

"The Snow Line"—Mr. Ziegler.

"Avoiding the Pitfalls"—Miss Elliott.

"Lookout Point"—Miss Patrick.

"Auld Lang Syne"—Audience.

The remainder of the evening following the banquet was spent in dancing and at 11:30 all returned to their respective homes.

A great deal need not be said of the success of the banquet as it has been pronounced one of the best banquets that has ever been given by all who attended.

Address By County Agent.

County Agent J. J. McCann spoke at the Lincoln high school Thursday morning as the fourth of the series of faculty programs, on the subject of "Vitamines," one of the very important elements in the human food ration.

Although Mr. McCann is, perhaps, better known to the community as a promoter of "more and better livestock," he said that people are more important than livestock. "The future of civilization," he said, "depends on education. Education in turn depends on the schools, the success of the schools on the health of the students, and health is dependent on food." Thus by a simple mathematical process of substitution we find that the future of civilization depends the food rations of the school children of today. This has been proven by examinations of students who regularily fail to make their grades, a great majority of them being found physically defective. When the average cost of educating a child in this country is considered, the amount of money wasted in trying to educate defective children who are unable to benefit by it, is alone an important matter, although the retarding influence on the progress of civilization by a great number of physically and mentally deficient men and women is by far the more serious.

Good health demands a well-balanced food ration, for children as well as for livestock. A complete ration contains five elements: Carbohydrates, fats, protein, mineral matter and vitamines. Carbohydrates and fats produce heat and energy. Proteins are needed particularily by children, to permit a normal growth. The necessity of minerals has been proven by experiments with cattle, as it was found that cattle fed only on the products of this county, the soil of which is lacking in phosphates, developed an unusual craving for wood, rags, and tin cans. It was for a time thought that a proper combination of carbohydrates, fats, and protein made a complete ration, but this has recently been found to be lacking in something. The fifth requisite to a complete ration is known as vitamines, which, although they have not yet been chemically isolated, are known to be abundant in milk, eggs, and alfalfa. Oleomargarine and other butter substitutes contain no vitamines. Oleo was formerly used at all the state institutions, but as it was seen that the inmates did not thrive on it and suffered from strange maladies, it is now only used at the state reform school. An experiment was made with two groups of rats, the first of which was fed a perfectly balanced carbohydrate-fat-protein ration, while the second was fed the same ration with a vitamine-containing substance added. The rats in the first group sickened and died one after the other; those in the second group not only thrived, but grew and fattened. After a time vitamines were fed to the few remaining rats in group 1, who immediately began to regain their health, and were soon as fat and healthy as those in group 2.

Several diseases have been found to be caused by a lack of vitamines. Eye trouble may often be due to an insufficient portion of this substance in the food ration. The Chinese, who eat largely rice, which contains very little vitamines, have often suffered from strange, unaccountable ailments. When they were fed milk and other vitamine-containing foods, they rapidly recovered."

"Fish," said Mr. McCann, "has often been called a brain food. If this were so, some of you undoubtedly ought to eat a whale. But the truth of the matter is, that fish contains a large percentage of vitamines, which promote the general health, and thus really, indirectly, increase the brain power."

"People may be divided into two classes: Those who work and those who don't. The workers may again be divided into the practical people and the dreamers. The dreamers perform a more valuable service to humanity than many realize. It was dreamers who first conceived the idea that vitamines really are important. So if you see anyone gazing rather blankly around the room, don't condemn them immediately as being lazy and worthless. They may be thinking about vitamines."

A Bit of Poetry.

Francis kept a'looking
Over towards Ruby's way,
And I'll bet that he was a'wondering
What she, in answer, would say.
If he could get courage to ask her
To go to see Bill Hart some night.
He sure is a mighty fine actor
And, oh boy, how he can fight.
But then there is Kermit against him,
And Math, with his nice curly hair,
If Francis should see them about it
But two against one isn't fair.
So opening his book they call English,
He thought that he'd sure have to quit,
And be like that old Enoch Arden
He'd call it a day and forget.
—Apologies to William Shakespeare.

Physicial Examinations.

The high school students have had their eyes, ears, throat, nose and teeth examined during the past week. The examinations have been conducted by Dr. Froehlich and the school nurse, Miss Johnson. These examinations are given every year, and a record is kept of a child's condition each year, from the time they enter the Kindergarten until they leave school.

If the child is defective in any way the parents are notified and advised as to what treatment should be given. The results of this examination have not been determined as yet.

Central Notes.

The names of the girl scout patrol which collected the largest amount on Saturday for the China Relief fund was the "Gray Wolf Patrol." The girls being Maxine Johnson, Murial Loken and Ella Monsebraten. These girls collected $57.61. Those of the "White Swan Patrol," were Elizabeth DeCremer, Ruth McGilvery and Dorothy Fuller. These girls collected $28.22.

Paulino Parenteau, one of the students of the eighth grade, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the local hospital. She is on the road to recovery.

On Thursday and Friday the eighth and seventh grades took their state examinations in arithmetic, grammar, American history and Geography.

Wildcat Herron is practising as a dentist, he specializes in extracting teeth. For recommendation apply to John Hendry.

The Social Science class had a very interesting debate Tuesday and Wednesday, the topic debated was "Resolved, That Immigration should be Restricted." The affirmative were given the unanimous decision.

I wish I was a rock,
A sittin' on a hill
A doin' nothing
All day long,
But just a sittin' still.
I wouldn't sleep;
I wouldn't eat;
I wouldn't even wash;
I'd just sit still
A thousand year
And rest myself,
By Gosh!

Personals.

Miss Johnson: "The next number on the program will be two numbers by the Boys' Glee club."

Miss Selma Newton returned Monday evening after spending a few days with relatives and friends near Hazel.

Miss Grace Bakke returned to her school duties in this city Monday afternoon, after spending the Easter vacation with relatives near St. Hilaire.

Great catastrophe enacted Wednesday morning! High school dignity takes a route downstairs. In other words: If anyone is desirous of finding out a speedy way of going downstairs apply to Prof. Zeigler.

Wanted by Elmer Johnson—A commercial law hand book that he might answer correctly.

Fellow Fans—It is time that you work into condition, for you may be wanted on the field, where battles are lost and won.

Edward Fiterman returned from Minneapolis Saturday evening just in time to enjoy the last course of the Junior-Senior banquet.

Lynn Halverson left for Crookston Monday afternoon.

Leland Schuster, Marguerite Burns, and Elnore Dahlen left for Grand Forks Monday afternoon, where they will resume their studies at the university.

It has been rumored that teachers wish to be paid what they're worth. They probably will but we are afraid some may——.

James Helle, a member of the class of '20, was in the city last Monday enroute to Grand Forks where he intends to be employed during the spring months.

Teacher in English IV: "Does Emerson give you facts or inspiration?"
Clarence K.: "Perspiration."

Leslie Biglow, accompanied by his parents, left for Grand Rapids Friday, where they will make their future home. Leslie will continue school there.

Dramatic aspirants for the class play have been re-inhabiting cellars and atties in secluded rehearsals.

You can always tell a Junior by his silly looks and frowns,
You can always tell a Sophomore by the way he jumps around,
You can always tell a Freshman by his green look and such,
You can always tell a Senior but you cannot tell him much.

Final tryouts will be given Monday evening for the class play, "All of a Sudden Peggy," which will be given by the Senior class in the near future.

"Why do you always call your girl, 'Postscript'?"
"Because her name is Adeline More."

When the first speaker at the Junior-Senior banquet opened his speech with: "Juniors, Seniors and Friends," we didn't mind it so much as we thought it was a mere mistake on the part of the speaker, but when the next speaker and the next, and the next, through to the last speaker began his speech with the same words: "Juniors, Seniors and Friends," we began to believe they meant it.

Sylvia Pierson, a graduate of the class of '20, visited in town over Saturday and Sunday.

Lois Strubble is back to school again after spending two weeks at home entertaining the mumps.

The Sophs were intrusted to their honor while writing an exam Wednesday when Miss Dix left the room for a part of the period. The Sophs were very honorable and did not exchange any knowledge, although the reason may have been, partly—well, maybe nobody had anything to tell.

Jim, getting witty: "You may think you're witty, but the guy that wrote "Snowbound" was Whittier."

Jim: "Did you hear about the great singer, Milton Lund?"
Allen F.: "No, what about him?"
Jim: "Since he quit school to work in the bakery he can't sing any higher than dough."

"Why is it that Nora has such a long face during school hours?"
"I don't know, but I guess she is always waiting for night (Knight) to come."

Ivan L. didn't have his English 1, because of the deplorable absence of Albert S.

The senors voted at a class meeting Tuesday, to reduce the class dues from $1.50 to $2.50.

"What is the cause of the earth cooling quicker than water?"
Math B.: "Oh, that's because the earth exposes (disposes) of the heat quicker than water."

Misses Violette and Myrtle Krohn returned to this city Tuesday evening to resume their studies, after spending their spring vacation with their parents.

Dottie Krafthfer returned Tuesday evening from her home at Mahnomen to resume her studies here.

Northrup News.

Thursday and Friday, before Easter vacation, Miss Whipps' room gave a series of five plays, 4 of which the pupils worked up without any coaching. The admission charged was 5 cents to children and 10c for grown-ups. The total sum collected amounted to $11.35. This money will be used for the Chinese Relief fund.

Miss Nepper has been confined to her sister's home in Superior, Wis., due to illness. Mrs. Froehlich has been substituting for her.

There is an epidemic of the baseball fever among the Northrop pupils and many of the cases are quite serious. As yet no means have been taken to stamp out the epidemic, but it has been reported that even some of the girls have contracted the fever.

Dime Novel Discussed.

Boston Transcript: For more than 50 years the dime novel held the attention of a large class of readers, its beginnings, as estimated by Dr. Van Doren, coinciding with the death of Cooper in 1851. "It was in that very year," he says, "that Robert Bonner bought the New York Ledger and began to make it the congenial home of a sensationalism which, hitherto most nearly anticipated by such a romancer as Joseph Holt Ingraham, reached unsurpassible dimensions with the prolific Sylvanus Cobb, Jr. From the Ledger no step in advance had been taken by the inventors of the dime novel, which was started upon its long career by the publishing firms of Beadle & Adams of New York in 1860. Edward S. Ellis' 'Seth Jones, or the Captive of the Frontier' (1860) one of the earliest of the sort, the hero formerly a scout under Ethan Allen but now adventuring in western New York, sold over 600,000 copies in half a dozen languages. Though no other single dime novel was perhaps ever so popular, the type prospered, depending almost exclusively upon native authors and native matter. At first the old frontier of Cooper and then the trans-Mississippi region, with its Indians, its Mexicans, its bandits, its troopers, and above all, its cowboys, among whom Buffalo Bill (Colonel William F. Cody) achieved a primacy much like that of Daniel Boone among the older order of scouts."

The fecundity of these writers of dime novels was amazing. Albert W. Aiken averaged one long novel a week for a considerable period, and Colonel Prentiss Ingraham wrote in all over six hundred. "They were exciting, innocent enough, and scrupulously devoted to the doctrines of poetic justice, but they lacked all distinction, and Frank Norris could justly grieve that the epic days of Western days found only such tawdry Homers. In the fourth quarter of the century the detective story rivaled the frontier tale; after 1900, both though reduced to the price of five cents apiece, gave way before the still more exciting and easily comprehended moving picture."

Fresh Fail in Spelling

The following is the spelling record of another high school. Do the students of the Lincoln high believe they could do better?

"One hundred and fifty of the 450 who took freshman make-up spelling quiz last Saturday afternoon failed to pass the examination with a grade of 90. The words were chosen from a list in Wooley, and 50 were given out in the examination. Ten words misspelled meant failure.

"Two freshmen misspelled their instructors' names in endorsing their papers. Twenty-one misspelled the word, professor, and two the word rhetoric. The worst paper corrected by Prof. Frank W. Scott of the department of English, misspelled 23 out of 50 words.

"Professor Scott prepared a list of the words most frequently misspelled by the 150 failures. They are as follows: irresistible, misspelled in 120 cases out of 150; exhilarate, 111; villain, 87; mischievous, 81; dining room, 57; embarrass, 54; rheumatism, 50.

"Those freshmen who fail to pass the spelling tests before the end of the year will be put under the charge of the committee on students' English until such time as they shall work off their spelling deficiencies.

"A student will not be allowed to get a degree from the university until he has successfully passed the spelling tests, that is, with a grade of 90 or above."

T. P. L. Holds Public Meeting.

Under the auspices of the Teachers Progressive League a public meeting was held in the Singer hall on Saturday evening of last week. The following speakers were present: Co. Supt. Geo. M. Gunderson, Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Miss Dora Perry and Mayor John Bratrud, all of Thief River Falls. The topics on which each speaker dwelt was well worth hearing and most surely should be of some importance to all who were present. At the conclusion of the program lunch was served. This no doubt was not the best time of the year to have the meeting on account of bad roads, but since many of the schools are soon to close it was necessary to have the meeting now. However, a large crowd was present. The teachers wish to thank Mr. Singer for the free use of the hall and Mrs. Singer for the assistance she gave in lending her stove and utensils for the making of the coffee, etc.

Fire Destroys Lien Home.

The Nels Lien family had the misfortune to have their house destroyed by fire on Monday, March 28. It was a very windy day and the family had all they could do to save themselves from the flames. The cause is unknown. The fire started upstairs and the flames had such a start when discovered that it was too late to save the house or any of its contents. Friends and neighbors of the unfortunate family gathered and surprised them with several useful articles of clothing, etc., on Sunday afternoon. The Liens are temporarily occupying the vacant house on the O. W. Sundahl place.

Among those who have had sales of late and are about to leave for other parts of the country are George Solberg, who leaves for Fargo, N. D.; Carl Prucha, who leaves for Canada, and Hans Svare for Pelican Rapids, this state. We regret to see these families depart from our locality but, however, we wish them the greatest of success in their future homes.

L. B. Johnson is busily engaged in constructing a machine shed these days. H. C. Iverson is assisting in the work. Iver Iverson, too, has got the building habit and has already improved his farm with an up-to-date smoke house.

Olga Sigrud of Reiner is employed in the Roysland home during the opening of the busy spring season.

Misses Edith Shosten and Sophie Kribechek have returned from Crookston, where they recently graduated from the school of agriculture. Selmer Anderson and Henry Fjeld have also been in attendance at this school during the year.

Rural Mail Carrier Rustad has started his Ford route again in spite of some bad roads. Ted seems to have more sympathy for our old friend, the horse, than for the Ford.

Henry Hovet was on the sick list last week.

Olof Komplien is laid up with an injured foot.

L. B. Johnson had the misfortune to lose a valuable cow the other day. The cow slipped on the ice and was injured in such a way that it was found necessary to kill her.

Z. J. Hole entertained a few of his bachelor neighbors on Saturday evening. The evening was spent in general conversation resting mainly on farm problems.

The Erie Ladies' Aid was entertained by Mrs. C. J. Ekwall on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Bessie Hegland completed a successful term of school in the Lyabakken school on Friday of last week and left on Saturday for her home in Mayfield.

Miss Hanna Swanson of St. Hilaire is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Aubol. Miss Swanson is recuperating after a long siege of illness.

The Komplien family has moved to the A. Gulbrandson place, which they purchased some time ago. Mr. Komplien has rented his other farm near Erie to E. A. Tanner.

Next Sunday, April 10, at 2:30 p. m., Rev. Hoyum of Esplee will conduct religious services in the Dahlen school house, district 14.

WOOL GROWERS CONTINUE PLAN NOW EMPLOYED

Executive Board of State Federation Again Recommends Forming of Pools.

Six Million Pounds Sold in Ten States Last Year and Fair Price Received.

Holding Remainder of Clip to Prevent Complete Demoralization of Market.

The method of handling this year's wool clip of the state was taken up at the meeting of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation executive board held March 10 and it was unanimously voted to recommend to all county wool growers associations the continuation of the plan of wool marketing that was started last year. That is, the marketing of the county wool clip through the forming of county wool pools, storing locally, or selling through National Wool Marketing agency. It was also voted to recommend to all counties producing any amount of wool, and which did not pool their clip last year, that they do so this year. This plan would be carried out as last year through the cooperation of the Livestock Breeders association and the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.

The wool market during the past year has been somewhat discouraging to the wool grower. This has been true no matter whether the wool has been marketed locally or through the national wool pool. Wool which has been marketed through the national wool pool, however, will net the grower close to one-third more than he could have sold his clip for locally.

The following statement from the National Wool Warehouse & Storage company shows the present status of the wool situation:

"About 15 percent of the Farm Bureau pooled wool has been moved at conservative values since the first of the year. The importation of foreign wools has been a bearish factor and has prevented any great activity in domestic wools. However, 6,000,000 pounds have been sold from the Ohio, Michigan, North Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Indiana and Kansas Farm Bureau pools. The prices average about 40 percent of last years values for the various grades. For quarter blood, this means that the price per pound ranges from 20 to 28 cents; for three-eights blood, from 25 to 30 cents; for fine staple, from 33 to 40 cents; and for low quarter, from 20 to 23 cents. Farmers should understand that this price was based fundamentally upon the figure at which the same grade of foreign wool could be placed in the Boston market. C. J. Faucett, in charge of the wool pool work of the A. F. B. F., says that so long as foreign exchange is demoralized; the clip from abroad will continue to set the price. The demand has generally been for coarser low grade wools, although we have moved some of the fine medium and half blood staple from Minnesota at 28 to 29 cents, some of the half blood clothing at 27 cents and some quarter blood staple at 25½ cents."

From the above you will note there remains a large percent of the last year's clip unsold. When it will be sold it is impossible to say. It would be unwise at this time to throw our surplus on the market, for by doing so, what wool market we have would be destroyed. Indications are that the future wool market will depend largely upon foreign exchange and the enactment of a protective tariff.

Consideration should immediately be given the marketing of this year's wool clip. It is urgently recommended that you get in touch with the director of your County Wool Growers association and in case you have not a wool growers association that you take it up through your township organizations and decide on how you desire to handle your this year's clip.

Should you desire to call a meeting of your wool growers association or of wool representatives from the different township organizations, arrangements will be made for a representative from this office or from the Livestock Breeders association to be present at this meeting. In order to save railroad fare, a schedule of these meeting should be worked out by this office. We would have to know about what date you would desire yours.

Considerable saving can be made in the purchasing of wool twine and wool sacks if all county orders for the same are combined into a state pooling order by the Federation. If your association desires that the Federation purchase wool twine and wool sacks for you, please inform this office of the quantity of each.

ROSEWOOD

Two Meetings on Friday.

There were two Farmers club meetings staged last Friday evening. The New Solum Farmers club held a well attended meeting at the Sunshine building, and simultaneously the local club held their monthly meeting at Rosebank. Both meetings featured the usual proceedings and the New Solum club also gave a young peoples program. Lunch and merriment concluded both meetings.

Young Peoples Society Meets.

The Swedish Young Peoples society held their monthly meeting at the Congregational church in town last Saturday evening, and was well patronized. Rev. Werner Drotts of Viking gave a short talk, and lead a number of sacred hymns, after which the customary sandwich luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Vixie, former residents of South Dakota, have moved to this vicinity this week, having leased the Mrs. Styrlund farm which they will operate in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. August Hellquist and daughter, Bernice, from Yakima, Wash., arrived here this week and will spend the immediate future with the Hellquist brothers here. Mr. Hellquist has been engaged at farming and fruit raising in the West for a number of years but recently sold out and it is his intention to make Minnesota his home in the future.

The Sagmoen-Nordhagen saw mill will commence work on the Poplar Grove farm, east of town this week and is sawing from three to five thousand feet of lumber and square material every day. The Mellem Bros.' logs were the first to be sawed and included about 10,000 feet.

Mrs. Mary Rafteseth and daughter, Irene, accompanied by Mrs. Rafteseth's father, Mr. Hanson, left Tuesday evening for the latter's home near Grygla, where Mrs. Rafteseth will make her home for some time.

The following pupils from Rosebank and Dist. No. 34, took the state examinations before the local teacher, Mrs. Ebba Sagmoen, last Thursday and Friday: Delma Dols, Simon and Arnold Nakken, Gladys Swenson, Alma Blomberg, Myrtle Mellem, and Pearl Mellem and Christine Thompson and Carrie Ueland, from Dist. No. 34.

In the campaign recently carried on throughout the public schools of Marshall county in behalf of the Near East relief, the local district (Rosebank) won first honors in contributing the largest cash sum of money of any one room schools in the county. This was due chiefly through the diligent work of the teacher, Mrs. Sagmoen, and a letter of acknowledgement has been sent her by County Superintendent David Johnson of Warren. The amount contributed was $40.25.

A telephone message to Swen Swenson on Monday morning announced that his largest residence on Main street in Thief River Falls, had burned to the ground the same night. Fire is thought to have started from defective electrical wiring. Loss is partly covered by insurance.

Miss Bertha Remmem returned to her school work at Thief River Falls on Monday evening after spending Easter with the Anton Gullseth folks.

Johnny Halder spent Tuesday at Warren looking about for summer employment.

Miss Viola Axelson shopped and visited at Thief River Falls from Tuesday evening until Thursday.

Selmer Sorenson left last Tuesday for Thompson, N. D., near which place he will be employed during spring work.

Carl Ranum has spent the last few weeks here assisting his brother, Benhard, with his erection of a new residence.

Jim Thompson returned on Tuesday from a five days' visit with his folks at Gully.

Ted Thompson was up from Thief River Falls last Tuesday after a load of machinery from his former renting place.

Plowing and discing on the highest sandy fields commenced the beginning of the week, and with the prevailing weather it is certain to assume that by the latter part of the week field work will have commenced in general.

O. A. Flunn, a former Rosewood resident and now of Thief River Falls, was in town last Friday to attend the Mrs. Mary Rafteseth auction sale.

An anti-saloon league lecture will be given at the Congregational church next Sunday, April 10, at 8:00 p. m. A traveling lecturer will speak.

Adolph Borgen left on Saturday evening for Thief River Falls near which place he will be employed for some time.

Mrs. O. M. Holson of Warren is visiting this week with her daughter, Mrs. Carl Mellem.

Swen Swenson returned on Thursday from Fergus Falls where he has spent a few days on personal business.

Harry Mytom gave a dance at his home last Saturday evening. Invitations were extended to a large number of young folks.

The oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ranum was taken to Thief River Falls last Monday to receive medical attention.

Pete Stromberg of Thief River Falls, and former section foreman here, was in town between trains last Monday to visit and attend to business.

Mrs. Selmer Haugen left last Friday for Angus where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. Abe Stroble, over Sunday.

Thomas Thoreson is Sundaying at Thief River Falls visiting with his sister, Mrs. O. H. Rylin.

A carload of feed was shipped in at the local elevator last Tuesday.

H. Jacobson of Wannaska is a visitor this week with his daughter, Mrs. Julia Axelson and family.

Percy Hanson left last Friday for Angus where he will be employed during spring work.

Mrs. T. J. Taggert and daughter, spent Monday at Warren where the former is receiving medical treatment.

Herbert Carlson purchased a Ford car from Victor Mosbeck last Monday.

Mrs. Victor Mosbeck who has been assisting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Chas. Sagmoen, during the latter's illness, was taken ill the latter part of the week and had to return to her home.

Clifford Hasby returned on Monday after Sundaying with friends at Thief River Falls.

Emil Hellquist, Emil Anderson, Emil Anderson and Adolph Haugen were among Saturday business visitors at Thief River Falls.

ST. HILAIRE

Daniel Patterson, Pioneer, Dies.

The entire community was greatly grieved on Monday morning when a message from St. Paul arrived stating that Daniel Patterson, one of our pioneer residents, had passed away during the night. Mr. Patterson, who had been failing for several months, had entered St. Luke's hospital in St. Paul for treatment, but a week previous so his death came as a sudden shock to all. His remains arrived here on Tuesday morning, accompanied by his wife, who had been with him, and his daughters, Inez of St. Cloud and Ann, of Coleraine. Funeral services were conducted from the home on Thursday afternoon, Rev. J. B. Smith of Thief River Falls officiating. Interment was made in the Swedish cemetery east of town. The many beautiful floral offerings bespoke the sympathy of friends and neighbors. Mr. Patterson leaves to mourn his death, his widow and son, Donald, and seven daughters, Mrs. Oscar Gunstad, Mrs. C. F. Brantner, Mabel, Inez, Ann, Olive and Margaret. The community feels keenly the loss of one of its leading citizens who had commanded the respect and esteem of all during his many years of service and work here.

Dr. C. Swanson returned Wednesday evening over the Soo to his home at Minneapolis, having been called here as a witness in the court case between the St. Hilaire School Dist. No. 102 and Mr. McAdams, contractor. He also made a brief visit at the S. M. Hoff home.

Louis Cathelineau, Jr., left the latter part of the week to be employed by Glenn Martz, county surveyor at Litchfield, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Swanson, residing in Rocksbury township, are the proud parents of a baby boy, born on March 31.

Gerald Stephen came Wednesday from Crookston where he has been a student at the Northwestern Agricultural school.

Mrs. Oscar Gunstad and Miss Mabel Patterson shopped and visited at Thief River Falls between trains Saturday.

Schools closed Friday and the teachers and pupils are enjoying a week's vacation.

Mrs. A. F. Hall was a Thief River Falls shopper Saturday.

Miss Anna Vik, who has been employed at Virginia the past season, arrived Friday for a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arne Vik.

The Misses Blanche Hoff and Edith Nelson left Friday evening via the Soo for a week's visit at the Dr. Swanson home at Minneapolis. Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Thirty-two and 81-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by John C. Casey and Mary Casey, his wife, Mortgagors, to Geo. G. Johnson, Mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of April, 1915, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 15th day of April, 1915, at 11:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 53 of Mortgages, on Page 230, and

Whereas, the said Geo. G. Johnson, Mortgagee (his full true name being George G. Johnson) died on the 6th day of December, 1918 and at the time of his death was a resident of the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota; and whereas, Perl W. Mabey was, in due proceedings had in the Probate Court of said Pennington County, appointed administrator with Will annexed of the estate of said George G. Johnson, Decedent, and duly qualified as such; and whereas, Letters of Administration with Will annexed of the estate of said decedent were duly issued to said Perl W. Mabey, by said Probate Court, bearing date the 13th day of January, 1919, a certified copy of which was duly recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 16th day of March, 1921 at 9:00 o'clock A. M., in Book "J" of Miscellaneous, on Page 110, and

Whereas, said Perl W. Mabey, as administrator with Will annexed of the estate of George G. Johnson, Decedent, did duly assign said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby to The Pennington County Land and Loan Company, a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota, by written assignment dated the 6th day of June, 1919, which said assignment was duly recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 16th day of March, 1921, at 1:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 65 of Mortgages, on Page 116 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now Therefore Notice Is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The Northeast Quarter (NE¼) of Section Twenty-one (21), in Township No. One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North, of Range No. Forty (40) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian, in Pennington County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 7th day of May, 1921, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $32.81, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 19th, 1921.

TAX RETURNED; NEARLY $84,000 IS APPORTIONED

Division is Made of Amount Paid in to County During January and February.

State Retains But Small Portion of Total—Schools Come in For Large Share.

Thief River Falls Gets $22,041.87 Out of $37,688.57 Going to Districts.

Eighty-three thousand six hundred and twenty-two dollars and eighty-seven cents in cool coin of the realm poured into the Pennington county coffers through the hands of County Treasurer John Gullingsrud between January 1 and March 1, according to records on file in that office. This tidy sum represents tax payments for the first half of the year, 1921. It is small in comparison with other years owing to the fact that the Minnesota legislature during February ruled that tax payers be given an extension of one month's time, or until April 1, in which to pay taxes on assessed personal property. The $83,622.87 is distributed as follows:

State taxes	$ 7,141.85
County taxes	20,270.38
City and Vill. taxes	13,023.53
Township taxes	8,424.22
Prin. and Int. on St. loan	5,026.46
School taxes	29,733.43
	$83,622.87

City Gets Biggest Share.

In addition to the $29,733.43 paid in to the treasurer's office on the 1920 levy for the school fund, $7,307.50 was received from the state, making a total to be apportioned for school purposes of $37,040.93. State school aid was paid at the rate of $2.60 for each of the 2,923 pupils in the rural, village and city schools of the county. County Auditor T. P. Anderson is this week distributing warrants to the schools for the first tax apportionment of 1921. Of the $37,688.57 which is being paid into the treasuries of the school districts, the city of Thief River Falls, district No. 18, gets approximately 59 per cent, the village of Goodridge, district No. 8, 8.44 per cent and the village of St. Hilaire, district No. 102, 5.2 per cent. The remainder is distributed among the seventy-odd districts as shown in the following tabulation:

What Town Can Beat This?

By having sold during the month of February, $1,438.85 worth of Government Savings securities, Hudson, Wisconsin, appears to have established a record for Ninth district towns of that size, the sales amounting to 42 cents for every man, woman and child there.

Why Not Run For Governor?

Saving money is a state of mind. If you want to be governor of that state you need only one vote—your own. The fee which you pay to file is a 25c United States Treasury Department Thrift stamp or, if you prefer, a $1 stamp or a $5 stamp. If you file often enough, you will soon have a $25 or $100 or even a $1,000 Treasury Savings certificate. The last four mentioned securities are always worth more than you paid for them. Some state of which to be governor.

DEMAND FOR CATTLE CONTINUES LIGHT

Outlet For Both Killing Class of Cattle and Stockers and Feeders Below Normal.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Minn. Department of Agriculture.)

Monday's Opening.

South St. Paul, Minn., April 4, 1921 Cattle 2,500, market slow, mostly steady to weak. Calves 400, steady, top $7.00. Hogs 7,500, market mostly steady with Friday, range $7.50-$9.75, bulk $8.25-$9.50. Pigs strong to 25c higher. Top and bulk $11.00. Sheep 1,100, market steady to weak. Top wooled lambs $9.35. Choice ewes $5.75-$6.00.

Although cattle receipts at the local market continue below normal showing considerable decrease from those of a week ago, the general undertone to the market at the present time is weak owing to a considerably reduced outlet for both killing classes of cattle and stockers and feeders. Packer buyers and city butchers claim that conditions of dressed beef markets are such that cattle marketed thru these channels at the present time are all showing losses, and that they must reduce live costs.

Buyers efforts today to reduce costs of killing cattle met with little success, and the market opened steady to weak, with last week's close. Good beef steers which are the best grade coming to the local market at the present time are quotable up to $9.00 or $9.25, both heavy and light weight steers of that grade selling for the latter price during the past week. Best steers in today's trade sold at $9.00, with all others of the common and medium grades selling from $7.00 to $8.75. Strictly choice heifers are quotable to $8.00, or better, with young cows on the heifer order selling as high as $7.50, and bulk of she stock selling from $4.50 to $7.00. Packers are purchasing a few canner and cutter cows from $2.00 to $4.00, and bologna bulls are going largely from $4.00 to $4.50, with a few choice ones up to $4.75. Packer top on veal calves at present is $7.00. Bulk of heavy feeders of desirable kinds are selling from $7.00 to $8.00, with strictly choice ones quotable to $8.75, and bulk of stocker steers weighing under 750 pounds are selling largely from $6.00 to $7.00, with real choice ones quotable up to $7.50.

The hog trade was on the weak side every day except one during last week, prices looking about 75c lower during the period. Trade today opened largely steady with last Friday, top $9.75, with range from $7.50 to $9.75, and the bulk from $8.25 to $9.50. Lambs are opening mostly to a steady to weak basis with prime handyweight wooled lambs selling today at $9.35. Sheep and yearlings opened practically steady, with choice handyweight ewes quotable from $5.75 to $6.00.

Weekly Market Review.

(Quinn-Shepherdson Co. Minneapolis)

Cold weather accompanied by frosts throughout parts of the Southwest in the forepart of the week caused some apprehension of damage to wheat that had jointed, but with a moderation in the temperature and reports confirming not only absence of damage but actual benefit, and private estimates of a winter wheat crop running from 630,000,000 to 675,000,000 based on the present condition and acreage, the news was too much for a tired market to hold up. Buyers freely liquidated and consequently new low levels were established.

There is unquestionably promise of super-abundant wheat production in the southwest. Quite naturally with such a prospect the large southwestern farm reserves are noticeably being marketed more freely. While it is true that the crop is by no means secured and that in the interim of sixty days a reversed situation may be encountered, nevertheless the immediate market trend is governed by actualities, not possibilities.

At the lower prices foreigners took considerable more of our wheat on Friday and Saturday. This new export business, estimated for the two days between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 bushels, checked the decline and rallied the May delivery price about five cents over the low point.

At the moment there is but very little to report favorable to higher coarse grain prices. An upward movement in wheat should be reflected sentimentally in better prices for corn, oats and barley, or a renewed export business of large proportions should at the present extremely low prices somewhat stimulate a sick market. It can be expected also that at the low price farm supplies will be sold grudingly and only through absolute necessity. On the other hand, in view of the heavy weight of stocks both in the farm reserve and at the primaries, it is difficult to find investors.

While the steady export business, decreasing wheat visible and liquidation of last week is counteracting the influence of the bright prospects of new winter wheat, as we view the general situation no important changes during the current week will likely result in the absence of new developments.

Word From the West.

Editor Times: I will once more ask the Times editor to publish a few lines so that you may see I am well back here in Ferndale after my recent trip to Thief River Falls.

My return journey was fine, the train being on time all the way out and no mishaps of any kind. Through the Cascade mountains we had very nice weather and the scenery there is great. But most wonderful of all is to see how the railroad is built. In many places it looks as if the rails were laid on shelves along the mountainside. It seems at times as if it runs back and forth in a zig-zag in order to get down and when I see a comparatively small train with two monster engines hitched to it I realize they must have some climbing to do.

Many passengers traveling for the first time don't see and understand how the railroad is running. They might see a track up on the mountain and it may so happen that they see two and it would be impossible to realize that the very same train on which one is riding could have come down those very tracks.

Arriving at Ferndale last Friday afternoon I was met at the train by my two girls, Gertrude and Olive, who were waiting for dad to come home. Walking down from the depot I had to stop several times to look around and said to my girls: How nice it is here. Only last Sunday I had to borrow a fur cap from Mr. Ramstad while going to church in Thief River Falls, while here everything is green, the sun is bright and the flowers in bloom. I have often been asked where I would prefer to live if I had to make a choice—here or back in Minnesota. My answer has always been that the climate is better here in Washington but as concerns the people I would rather live in Thief River Falls than any other place.

I enjoyed my visit at the old home very much and thank every one of my friends for their kindness. Especially am I under obligations to Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Ramstad and Mr. C. Olen for the hospitality extended during my stay.

This is my third letter to you through The Times and I feel as if I was sending a personal communication to all my friends. Best wishes to you all,

O. I. OEN.

ED. FOLEY TELLS OF A BIG CHANGE

Eats Better, Sleeps Better and Works Better Since Taking Tanlac.

"I have found out by my own experience with Tanlac that what the people have been saying about it is every word the truth," said Edward Foley, 213 West 28th St., St. Paul, Minn., a valued employee of the Globe-Wernicke Co.

"I was broken down in health, bothered day in and day out with my stomach, kidneys and nerves. My appetite had dwindled down to nearly nothing and my stomach caused me all kinds of trouble. It kept me worried all the time because I couldn't eat, for I had always been used to three of the biggest kind of meals every day.

"My kidneys also bothered me and my nerves kept me restless and irritated all the time. My sleep was all broken up, I wouldn't more than get to sleep before I would wake up again. I was so weak I never felt fit for work and just could manage to pull through the day.

"But I got hold of Tanlac some back and I began to pick up right off. I took three bottles and the way they built me up is more than I ever expected. It seems that meal time will never come now and I can eat anything anybody else can without a sign of trouble. My kidneys and nerves are in fine order and I sleep as sound as a healthy baby. I have picked up all the way round and am strong enough to tackle any kind of work."—adv.

Too Few Applicants.

The Civil Service commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Thief River Falls and other cities throughout the United States for law clerks, typists and multigraph operators, for positions at Washington, D. C., applicants were not secured in the number desired, and that these examinations will again be held on April 13 and May 4, respectively. Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to the secretary of the civil service board at the local post office for detailed information and application blanks.

Attends State Meeting.

R. M. Wilson, delegate of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association to the meeting of farmer organization representatives from other sections of the state at the recent meeting in St. Paul, returned Thursday. Mr. Wilson says that there was a good attendance and much interest displayed in the outcome of the national meeting to be held in Chicago this week. The program mapped out by the Committee of 17 was endorsed and delegates chosen to attend the Chicago convention. Two delegates were chosen from the Farm Bureau Federation and one each from the following organizations: Equity League, Grain Dealers association, Grange, Society of Equity.

BOARD IS ASKED TO RECONSIDER FORMER ACTION

Petition Requests School Directors to Reinstate Dropped Commercial Department.

No Action Taken at Meeting Monday, Matter Being Taken Under Consideration.

Will Advertise For New Bids on Erection of Authorized East Side School.

A petition requesting the continuance of the high school commercial training department for at least the coming year was presented to the board of education at that body's regular meeting on Monday night. The petition was circulated by J. J. Richter, P. J. Keating and P. W. Roark and bore the signatures of approximately 150 tax payers of the city, many of whom have children attending school at the present time. This action was taken following the board's decision of March 21 to discontinue the high school agricultural course, the commercial department and to reduce the staff of the home economics department to one instructor, in order to lower the operating cost of the schools.

The reasons for the request as given in the petition were: That the commercial course is one of four years duration with the principal subjects, typewriting and stenography, studied during the third and fourth years; that if the department is not continued it will not be possible for students already entered upon the course to finish their studies; that juniors will be compelled to completely change their courses for the year, and without the fourth year of work, the previous three years study will be of but little value to them. It was also stated in the petition that 32 juniors are at present enrolled in the commercial department.

The petitioners were not represented at the board meeting. No action was taken in the matter other than a vote of the board to take the matter under advisement.

Re-advertise for Bids.

The board later voted to advertise for bids on the erection of a new school building on the site now occupied by the Knox school, bids to be opened at the regular meeting on the night of May 9. Should the bids be thought too high, as was the case last June, all will be again rejected.

The voters of the city at a special election held on March 29 last year authorized the sale of bonds in the sum of $135,000 for the erection of the building to replace the Knox school. Bids for the work were opened on June 21, when it was found that the lowest price at which the building could be built was $104,300 or approximately $25,000 more than the architects had estimated. Consequently all bids were rejected. Contractors gave uncertain labor and transportation conditions as the reason for the seemingly high prices asked. Conditions having been relieved to a large extent, much lower bids are expected on May 9 and, if sufficiently low, construction work on the building will undoubtedly start at once. If not, all will again be rejected.

The plans as drawn up by the Minneapolis firm of Sund & Dunham call for a beautiful 14-room building of strictly modern construction. The old Knox structure will be wrecked and the material used as far as possible.

The teachers' committee of the board reported many applications received but no contracts entered into. Teacher agencies are reporting that the demand for competent teachers will not exceed the supply and that any rush to fill vacancies at this time is uncalled for.

Col. Leach is Candidate For Mayor of Minneapolis

Col. George E. Leach, commander of the 151st field artillery of the Rainbow division, on Monday accepted the nomination for mayor of Minneapolis after having first declined the honor. A large number of former Rainbow division men in this section will watch the campaign with deep interest. He will be opposed in the race by Thos. Van Lear, a former mayor of the mill city.

SPRING SESSION OF ADAMS PRESBYTERY

Pastors From All Parts of District Meet in Two-Day Session at Church Here.

To regular spring session of the Adams Presbytery was held at the Twentieth Century Presbyterian church in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Large and enthusiastic meetings were held in the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, the session coming to a close at 3 o'clock on the second afternoon. Rev. L. P. Warford of Bemidji opened the two-day conference with an inspirational address on Foreign Missions. At the popular meeting in the evening of the same day Rev. Carl Perrin of East Grand Forks delivered the Moderator's sermon. Music was furnished for all meetings by the Young Peoples choir of the local church. Reports of permanent committees and routine business of the Presbytery were disposed of with great dispatch, bringing about an early conclusion of the conference. Among the delegates present were:

Rev. F. J. Hibbard, Crookston; Rev. L. P. Warford, Bemidji; Rev. Carl Perrin, East Grand Forks; Elder C. F. Mix, Crookston; Rev. E. J. Clark, Hallock; Rev. J. R. McLean, Kelliher; Rev. W. F. Grundy, Tenstrike; Rev. J. M. Gray, Fisher; Rev. E. A. Hall, Brooks; Rev. Goss, Euclid; Rev. Evans, Red Lake Falls; Elder McDonald, Fisher; Elder F. R. Davis, Plummer, and Elder H. W. Kinghorn, Rev. Clinton Cook, Rev. R. L. Barackman and Elder G. L. Sterns, all of Thief River Falls.

COUNTY DISPOSES OF $115,000 DITCH ISSUE AT 6 PER CT.

Commissioners Also Withdraw Appropriation of $1,200 For Repairs on Long Bridge.

The board of commissioners of Pennington county at a meeting here on Thursday effected the sale of county ditch bonds aggregating $115,000 to Gates, White & Company, St. Paul financial firm. Of that sum $89,000 is for the construction of ditch No. 68 and the remaining $26,000 for repair work on ditch 70. The bonds were sold at par and will bear an interest rate of six per cent. The contract for the construction and repair work was let to the American Drainage company of Thief River Falls on February 25. Dredges are already being moved to the scene of operations east of here and work will start as soon as conditions will permit.

A petition for repairs on judicial ditch No. 13 in Reiner township was also heard by the county board on Thursday. The county engineer has been instructed to make a survey; and a hearing set for May 3 at the Pennington county court house.

A resolution was passed by the commissioners cancelling an appropriation of $1,200 to the town of North made on February 3, 1920, for the purpose of assisting in making repairs on what is known as the Long bridge across Thief river near the north outskirts of this city. Voters of the township at the 1920 election authorized the making of necessary repairs but the town board did not proceed with the work. It was again voted at the March election of this year to repair the bridge in question at a cost of not more than $4,000.

The resolution drawn up and passed on Thursday states that it appears to the county board at this time that it is unwise to expend any money upon bridge work that does not comply with the requirements of the state highway department and that the appropriation be considered cancelled unless it shall be shown to the board that the bridge is repaired or rebuilt in compliance with the same.

LAND BANKS MUST RESUME GRADUALLY

Ability to Meet Demand Will Depend on Success of Bond Drive Now Being Made.

L. A. Lampert, secretary-treasurer of the Valhall branch of the Federal Land bank, returned this week from a conference of Executive Council and officers of the bank at St. Paul. He states that the future ability of the branches to take care of the farmers in their neighborhoods will depend upon the success of a drive now being made to sell the bonds of the parent institution. Whatever money is secured in this manner will be prorated among the branches and the Valhall will naturally come in for its share. What this will be Mr. Lampert was unable to discover.

One thing was made plain at the conference. Activities must be resumed very gradually because of the general financial condition of the country. Efforts will be made to take care of borrowers who are in actual need of the money and applications will be closely investigated. This leaves the bank's status somewhat indefinite as regards this spring's business but it is hoped that matters will so shape themselves that fall demands can all be met.

Goldsmith of Dakota to Meet Kollen on April 22

Charlie Goldsmith of Crystal, N. D., and Henry Kollen of Greenbush will wrestle here at the Lyceum theatre on Friday night, April 22, the winner to take all proceeds in addition to a $200 side bet. Goldsmith has defeated such men as "Sailor Jack," Harry Nick and Christ Pearson. Local fans know the ability of Kollen and if the North Dakota man can produce his reputed skill, the match will prove something worth seeing. The two huskies will wrestle at catch weights. Cal Farley, who has just returned from Los Angeles where he wrestled Walter Miller for the worlds' welter-weight championship, will referee the match.

EARLY REVIVAL IS INDICATED IN BUILDING LINES

Local Concern Ready to Construct Homes to be Sold on Easy Payments.

Standard Oil Plans in This City Awaiting Outcome of Paving Controversy.

Work on $40,000 Building at Oakland Park Sanatorium Will Soon be Begun.

With the advent of fine weather a season of spring building starts in Thief River Falls and augurs well for the remainder of the year. Construction work has already started on a residence for H. A. Pratt on Markley avenue north. The contract is in the hands of The Prichard company.

The Winton-Nichols Lumber company will furnish building material for a six-room residence to be erected on Kendall avenue south at a cost of approximately $3,500 by Otto Geske, another, a residence on the East side of similar size and approximately the same cost for W. K. Hoffer and a seven-room house, costing $3,800, on the West side across from Squaw Point, for H. O. Tommerdahl. Work will start at once on the last three jobs. All will be of most modern construction thruout.

H. C. Johnson, local manager of the Nortz Lumber company, on Wednesday, issued the statement that in view of the house shortage existing in Thief River Falls his company planned to build several dwelling houses during the coming summer, but that the plan hinged to a large extent upon the paving of the city streets. President Nortz stated when in the city recently that should the march of progress carry thru the paving project, the company would show its faith in the future of the community by the immediate erection of houses for sale on most attractive terms. This plan was pursued at Wahpeton last summer immediately following a paving program, and proved highly satisfactory to all parties concerned.

In addition to the above described buildings, the city council on Tuesday night granted permits for the erection of several small warehouses, garages and repairs on business blocks, among the latter being a permit issued to Louis Christianson to build a brick addition to his building on LaBree avenue, which is at present occupied by the Palace clothing store. A new front has already been placed in the Knudsen building on Third street, formerly occupied by C. B. Bradley. The Christofferson Grocery company is moving a large stock of merchandise into the new quarters from the building on LaBree avenue, and will be ready to serve the retail trade in a very short time.

Contractors and material dealers are of the opinion that the above indicates only the beginning of a general resumption of building operations in the city. It is known that the Standard Oil company is anxious to begin work on the erection of warehouses on the property recently acquired for the purpose on the east side of Bridge street. At the time the tract was purchased the concern's representative was led to believe that the paving matter was settled and that there would be a large quantity of dirt available for filling in the places from which a heavy overburden of sawdust must be removed. Mr. Mahle, representing the company, was in the city last week and stated that if this filling had to be shipped in it would make the cost of construction prohibitive.

In addition to the above the Oakland Park Sanatorium commission will soon begin the erection of a $46,000 nurses' home and administration building.

The owners of one of the finest building sites in the city have for some time had under consideration the erection of a business block 40x100 feet and final decision depends upon the closing of a rental contract. It has been requested that further details in regard to this particular matter be withheld for the present.

FAMOUS ST. OLAF CHORAL SINGERS TO APPEAR HERE

Finest Organization of Its Kind in the Country Will be Heard Late in June.

June 21 has been set as a tentative date for the appearance here of the St. Olaf choir of 55 voices, one of the foremost musical organizations of its kind in America. The event is already being looked forward to as the greatest musical event in the history of Thief River Falls. Credit for securing the appearance here of the choir is extended to Dr. O. F. Mellby, himself a graduate of St. Olaf College, Northfield. Arrangements are not completed but the choir's concert of the classic sacred music may be given under the auspices of the Young Peoples' society of Trinity Lutheran church.

The choir under the direction of F. Melius Christiansen has become one of international fame. A tour of the South has just been completed with a concert given in the St. Paul auditorium on Monday night. A year ago the organization gave recitals in all the leading cities of the East and in every instance received whole columns of favorable comment at the hands of the foremost musical critics. The singing of the choir, under the baton of Prof. Christianson, has been pronounced as unexcelled. It is reported that people drive hundreds of miles or travel equal distances by train to hear the singers. Everywhere they have been enthusiastically received.

The most successful concert of the present season was given at St. Joseph, Missouri, on the night of April 4 before an audience of thirty-five hundred at the opening of the national convention of musical supervisors. Press comments state that Christiansen and his singers were applauded for ten minutes after being forced to give two encores at the close of the program. According to a recent announcement by Manager Hanson, the choir has been invited to appear with the New York Symphony orchestra next December 31. This is considered one of the highest marks of recognition in the musical circles of the country.

PAVING INSPECTED; NO AGREEMENT AS YET IN EVIDENCE

Impossible For Council to Take Any Action Before Working Basis is Reached.

The many residents of the city who gathered at the council chambers for the regular meeting on Tuesday evening with the expectation of hearing big developments in the paving case, were greatly disappointed. Nothing of moment turned up. F. F. Haynes, acting as spokesman for a committee recently appointed by those in favor of paving to meet with the opposition, stated that he had hoped to have a definite report to submit but, while the inspecting party of four was striving to arrive at a decision, such had not been done. T. L. Melgaard, T. P. Hamre, R. McGinn and Carl B. Larson formed the inspecting party which visited many cities in Minnesota as well as Canada during the past ten days for the purpose of ascertaining which kind of paving is giving the greatest satisfaction. The council heard Mr. Haynes' report but took no further action.

The remainder of the evening was taken up by routine matters. The contract for painting the wagon bridge across the Red Lake river on Bridge street was let to Mousley & Glines at a price of $575. Building permits for one residence, several small warehouses and garages and repairing of buildings were granted, and the extension of sewer mains and laterals discussed, after which the council adjourned until Friday night.
